In response to a clause in the invitations each one present is expected to tell why she is a spinster. At the table, whose menu includes old fashioned edibles, such as hot biscuit, cold chicken, gold and silver cake, preserves and tea a-plenty, each member is expected to respond to a toast with speech or song appropriate to the occasion. At a tea of this kind given recently at a fashionable winter resort the "Maiden's Prayer" was skillfully rendered by a venerable spinster, while another brought down the house by a spirited rendition of

Jane and I have just been thinking
What a glorious world 'twould be
If all the men could be transported
Far beyond the northern sea.

A photograph of the group is a usual feature of the spinsters' tea.

Concerning Short Sleeves.

Short sleeves have been worn on nearly all occasions for almost a year now, but last summer the shirt waists still were made with deep lace cuffs. The question now comes up as to which style of sleeve is to be worn on a separate bodice, and at present it looks much as though the controversy were going to degenerate into a long and hard fought feud. It is a relief, of course, to feel that one's cuffs are not always soiled, thus making a perfectly fresh waist look anything but neat. But, on the other hand, a short sleeve on a simple shirt waist seems strangely inappropriate. Then, again—and this is an all important item—elbow sleeves on a white waist worn with a dark skirt cuts the figure and gives it a most unbecoming line.

A Mother to the Girl.

The woman who had lost her maid at the moment that she was expecting visitors went to the janitor in her distress, hoping that he might be able to find some one to help her out. He was a Hibernian and effusively sympathetic. "Shure an' it's too bad," he assured her, "an' you afther bein' a mither to that girl!" As the girl was as black as a negro could be, the woman took the compliment with reservation.

To Make Tablecloths Last Longer.

When tablecloths are beginning to get shabby in the middle or at the folds, a few inches cut off at one end and one side will completely alter the place of all folds and will give the cloth a new lease of life.

THE USEFUL SCREEN.

A Comfort For the Business Woman Who Lives and Sleeps In One Room.

So strongly is modern apartment life forcing the necessity for economizing space upon the up to date housekeeper that she is obliged to use every method to obtain it. Many business women who live and sleep in the same room and perhaps do a little cooking there, too, will find in the screen their greatest ally. It may protect the couch—their bed by night—from too close inspection. The tiny gas stove and the little dining table may be concealed behind its folds, and it may hide the washstand and towels. If the home is more ambitious and there are several rooms, the screen has still its part to play.

It is so simple to make and the results obtained are so satisfactory that it may be well to give a few suggestions as a guide to any who wish to attempt the task.

First determine upon the size of the screen, the height of the panels, their width and whether two, three or four shall be used. A screen of good proportion is one formed of three panels, five and a half feet high by two feet in width. Have a frame made by the carpenter, or, better still, make it yourself if you are clever at such work. It is a simple matter to form the skeleton of strips of light pine from an inch to an inch and a half in thickness. Only the outside pieces and two crosspieces are required to brace the frame and make it taut and firm. Once the frame is completed the rest is easy.

Now stretch over the frame some figured burlap that can be secured for 12½ cents a yard. Choose this for the face of the screen. Place the frame upon the floor. Tack the edge of the burlap to the top piece of the frame and stretch tightly and tack to the lower piece and sides. In doing this the edge of the burlap should be drawn over the corner of the wood, so that when the back is covered in the same way all the surface is smooth except the rim of the screen. This rim is then treated by a covering of gimp or braid or a narrow piece of burlap hemmed and bound. Fasten it on with brass headed tacks, and the panel is completed. Light brass hinges join the panels, and the screen is ready for use.

Many other cheap fabrics may be used to cover these screens. Figured burlaps, blue denim, creton or inexpensive tapestries all make admirable coverings.

STURDY BABIES.

In every house where Baby's Own Tablets are used you will find rosy sturdy, good natured children because these Tablets cleanse the stomach and bowels, aid digestion, and thus bring perfect health. Ask any mother who has used the Tablets and she will tell you there is no other medicine so good. Mrs. Jas. Hall, of Beach Hill, N. S., says: "My baby was troubled with indigestion, was cross and peevish, and rapidly losing flesh. I got Baby's Own Tablets and less than a box cured him and he has ever since enjoyed good health and is growing splendidly." Mothers should remember that this medicine is absolutely safe and can be given to the weakest, tenderest baby or to the sturdy, well grown boy or girl with equally good effect. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Roast Partridge.

Pick, singe, draw and truss a brace of partridges, spread over the breast portion with butter or dripping and roast in front of the fire or in the oven for twenty minutes to half an hour, basting the bird frequently. Most people like this bird cooked rather underdone.

READY TO SERVE.

The addition of a pat of butter mixed with a good pinch of pepper and a grate of nutmeg inserted in the body of each bird before roasting improves the flavor. Untruss the birds, dish them up, garnish with water cress and fried breadcrumbs, and serve with rich, brown gravy, which should be flavored with the giblets.

Name and Menu Cards.

At ceremonious dinners where there are many guests it is usual to have name cards at each place, so that there may be no confusion and the guests can tell where they are to sit. These the hostess usually prepares herself by writing the name of the person for whom the seat is intended upon a small card, either plain or gilt edged. Sometimes dainty name cards of water color paper are used, with a flower or some other simple device painted in one corner. The name cards should be put on the top of the dinner napkins at each plate.

When menu cards are used—and these are only necessary at very large and formal functions—one card is all that is needed for every two guests, and it is either laid on the cloth or, placed in one of the small gilt or silver wire easel frames that come for the purpose between the plates of the lady and gentleman who have come out to dinner together.

Orange Sponge.

Soak one-quarter of a package of granulated gelatin in one-half a cupful of cold water; then stand over hot water until dissolved. To a cupful and a half of sugar add one-third of a cupful of boiling water and stir over the fire until it forms a clear syrup; take off, add a pint of strained orange juice and the dissolved gelatin and set aside to cool. When the mixture begins to thicken add a pinch of salt to the whites of five eggs and whip to a stiff froth. Stir this into the orange mixture and whip slowly and steadily until the entire mass is spongy and thick enough to keep its shape. Fill dessert glasses and before serving garnish with strips of candied orange peel.

Useful to Know.

Careful housekeepers may be glad to learn that after having bought a table oilcloth and brought it home a wise thing to do is to warm it thoroughly before unfolding in order to prevent its cracking, something it is apt to do in cold weather.

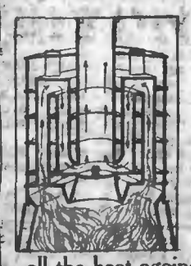
BISON FURNACE

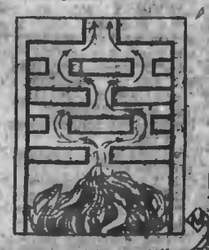


Twice as much heating surface is covered by the fire in a Bison Hot Water Furnace as in any other.

The flames are drawn up through the side flues, then down and to the chimney through the middle flue.

Burns all the gas and traps all the heat against the top section.

In other furnaces the fire travel is practically a direct one to the chimney, and much valuable heat escapes, the important top section getting less than any of the others.



The Bison has more good heating points than all other heaters combined.

TO AN OLD LOVER.

There is silvery frost in your hair, old boy,
There are lines on your forehead, too;
But your clear eyes speak of the peace and joy
That dwell in the heart of you.
For the passing of youth you have no regret,
No sighs for the summer gloam
And the lovers' moon. They are with you yet,
In the light of the lamp at home.

In your summer of youth, in that sunny hour,
That will come to you never again,
When you wooed your love, as the bee the flower,
The sweets that you gathered then
You have hived and stored for your later life,
And your heart is the honeycomb—
Ah! I've seen your face when you kissed your wife,
In the light of the lamp at home.

Oh, you rare old lover! Oh, faithful knight!
With your sweetheart of long ago,
You are many days from the warmth and light
Of the summers you used to know;
But you need not yearn for the glamour and gold
Of the fields you were wont to roam
Oh, the light for the hearts that are growing old
Is the light of the lamp at home.

A TYPEWRITER RECORD.

Miss Fritz Wrote 2,887 Correct Words In Half an Hour.

In spite of the unpleasant state of the weather, a large number of interested spectators were present at St. George's Hall, Toronto, one evening recently, to witness the typewriter speed demonstration of Miss Rose L. Fritz. Miss Fritz was the winner in a contest held recently in Chicago, her record being 2,289 correct words in one half an hour. That night she endeavored to break her own record, and how far she succeeded is shown by the fact that she wrote 2,887 correct words in the same time limit, thus exceeding her record by 598 words. It might be said that the copy from which Miss Fritz wrote was entirely new to her, being matter taken from a newspaper of recent date.

It as noticeable that the operation of the typewriter seemed to depend on the action of the fingers and wrist, the muscles of the arm, apparently, not being brought into play. This, no doubt accounted for the smoothness and lightness of her touch, and, although the machine was manipulated with marvellous rapidity, it was singularly free from that nerve-racking click that accompanies the operation of the majority of typewriters. Her finished copy, which was handed to the audience for inspection, was marked by an evenness and smoothness in its typed letters, which gave the impression that each key was struck with the same degree of precision and force.

Miss Fritz allowed herself to be blindfolded, and wrote from dictation, a letter comprised of one hundred words in fifty-five seconds. She also, still blindfolded, wrote a second letter of one hundred words, and having omitted a word, after the bandage was removed from her eyes, inserted the word in its proper place before taking the paper from the machine. This was accomplished in fifty-nine seconds. In fact in many different ways, Miss Fritz proved herself to be a thoroughly capable mistress of the machine.

Lloyd George was addressing a meeting in Wales, and his chairman said: "I half to introduce you to the member of the Carnarvon Boroughs. He have come here to reply to what the Bishop of St. Asaph said the other night about Welsh Disestablishment. In my opinion, gentlemen, the Bishop of St. Asaph is one of the biggest liars in creashon; but he have his match in Lloyd George!"

San Francisco Has Long Been Used To Earthquakes

panic through the streets. Many were caught by the falling roofs and walls, and in the poorer districts the tenements collapsed like eggshells, crushing and suffocating their inmates before they had time to escape. In many cases fire finished the work of death, catching the victims as they were pinned still alive under the debris.

To arrest the spread of the fire along Market street many buildings were dynamited.

The track of one railroad was depressed four feet or more for a distance of three miles. At one point in the city the earth cracked open for a distance of six feet, leaving a yawning chasm of fathomless depth.

The destruction of all telegraph wires, except one belonging to the Postal union, made it almost impossible for the stricken city to communicate with the outside world. The severe injury to the Western Union and Postal offices, also the Associated Press, greatly added to the difficulty.

The practical destruction of six or eight blocks, coupled with the immense loss of life and damage to property throughout San Francisco and the entire coast region, makes this the worst earthquake disaster in American history, exceeding even the historic Charleston earthquake of a few years ago.

San Francisco has suffered from many slight seismic shocks, one of them occurring about a year ago. At that time a long article appeared in one of the papers, signed by a professor in one of the observatories near by, stating that there was no particular danger from these tremors of the earth's surface. The coast region, according to this writer, was newer than parts of the country farther east and was therefore settling. He said people should feel no alarm, as nothing serious was liable to happen.

Evidently the earth's crust in the Golden Gate region has been doing some more "settling."

The most severe earthquake San Francisco has known prior to the present one was in 1868. Quite a little damage resulted, though nothing remotely comparable to this. It was the 1868 shakeup that was made famous by Mark Twain. The most surprising thing the genial Mark saw at that time was the opening up of the ceiling of his room, the lips of the orifice working to and fro like a mouth and a brick slipping through and held in suspension, like one lone tooth on the jaw of an old man.

The last earthquake that occurred in San Francisco was in January, 1900. Several distinct shocks were felt early in the morning, causing the vibration of buildings all over the city. The chief building affected was the St. Nicholas hotel, which was severely shaken. The walls collapsed in certain parts of the structure, guests were thrown out of their beds and furniture was destroyed.

In 1904 there was a severe seismic disturbance in Los Angeles, which was felt throughout the city and for a radius of several miles around.

Too Much to Ask.

A traveler in the highlands observed while at a tavern in a small village a very beautiful collie. At his request the owner was pointed out to him, and he asked the man what he would take for the dog.

"Ye'll be taking him to America?" the Scot asked cautiously.

"Certainly, if you sell him to me."

"I no coul' part wie Rob," the dog's owner then said emphatically. "I'm muckle fond-like o' him." And liberal offers were no inducement.

To his astonishment, the traveler later saw the dog sold to a drover for half what he had offered and after the drover had disappeared requested an explanation. "You said that you could not sell him," he remarked.

A twinkle came into the highlander's eyes.

"No; I didna say I'd no sell him. I said I couldna part wie him," he said. "Rob'll be hame in two or three days fra noo, but I couldna ask him to swim across the ocean. Na; that woul' be too muckle to ask."

A GUARANTEED CURE.

Read this letter. Read it twice. You have never heard such good news before—if your kidneys are sick. It tells how to be free of pain—how to have all your old-time health and vigor.

"I have been for years a sufferer with pain in the back and across the kidneys. There was scarcely a minute, day or night, that I was free of pain, and when I attempted to pass urine, the pain was almost unbearable. A friend of mine in Portage la Prairie, who was similarly afflicted, strongly advised me to try Gin Pills, as they had cured him. I bought a box of Gin Pills, and in less than a week, to my great delight, found myself without pain. I have had to go as often as every 20 minutes to urinate and several times during the night. Since taking Gin Pills, I sleep through the entire night and am not more than ordinarily inconvenienced during the day. I can earnestly recommend Gin Pills to anyone suffering from pain in the back, kidneys or bladder.

Mr. G. O. C. GOWLER, Portage la Prairie."

Your druggist has Gin Pills, or will get them for you. 50c box—6 for $2.50.

If you will send us your name and address and tell us the paper in which you have read this we send you a trial box of Gin Pills absolutely free. You will get such relief that you will gladly continue the treatment until cured. Do it to-day—now—and start to cure yourself.

City Of The Golden Gate And Its Place In American History

Stricken City Long Permeated With An Air Of Romance.

IN THE DAYS OF VIGILANTES

How the Metropolis of California Was Purged of Disorder—Lynching of Casey—The Days of the Forty-niners—Town Depopulated by the Rush of Gold Seekers.

SAN FRANCISCO, the earthquake stricken city, has long been permeated with an air of romance and adventure. Nowhere may one turn without being reminded of the legends that have been woven around the forty-niners and their immediate followers. The names of the streets and of the business blocks, such as Kearney, Sutter, Montgomery, Dupont, Flood, Crocker and Sharon, bring to the mind of the visitor long forgotten stories of riot or adventure and of fortunes whose vastness once excited his wonder or made him incredulous.

The site of the city was first visited by Europeans in 1769, and in 1775 Bucareli ordered a fort, presidio and mission founded on the bay. One year later, the year of the Declaration of Independence, the Spanish settlers began the work, and when Vancouver, the explorer, visited the place in 1792 the presidio represented the military authority, while the pueblo and mission stood for the civil and religious factors respectively. The mission was secularized in 1834 and a town laid out the year following.

CITY HALL, WHICH WAS WRECKED.

In 1846 an American man-of-war, under command of Commodore John B. Montgomery, entered the harbor and hoisted the stars and stripes over the town. Mexico, which succeeded Spain as the owner of California, was then at war with the United States, and the act of Commodore Montgomery ended her dominion over San Francisco. Montgomery appointed Lieutenant Washington A. Bartlett to be Frisco's first alcalde, or mayor, under the new regime. Under Spanish and Mexican rule the town was a sleepy, unprogressive place, but with the coming of Americans and the discovery of gold in 1848 there came an era of growth and hustle. This did not eventuate at once, for the first news of the discovery of gold practically depopulated San Francisco.

The town was smitten as by a plague, and one historian thus describes what happened: "Its houses were left unoccupied and unprotected, its former trade ceased, its lots fell to a small part of their value, its two weekly newspapers were suspended, and the town, deserted by the bulk of its inhabitants, was at one time without a single officer clothed with civil authority."

After the first rush to the gold diggings the town began to regain its lost ground, and ere long the influx of gold seekers gave quite an impetus to its growth. The town was incorporated in April, 1850, and the first common council elected proceeded with diligence to plunder the city treasury. The same year the state was admitted to the Union, and when the steamer Oregon brought the news—there was no telegraphic communication in those days—business was entirely suspended and the entire population rushed to the wharfs to welcome the harbinger. The town had about 10,000 inhabitants at that time, and when the people were informed that the signal flags of the Oregon indicated that California was a sovereign state of the United States of America "a universal shout arose from 10,000 voices on the wharfs, in the streets, upon the hills, housetops and the world of shipping in the bay."

In its early history the city suffered from several disastrous fires. Between December, 1849, and June, 1851, six conflagrations played havoc with the growing young town. Better buildings were planned and several fire companies were organized. These were steps in the right direction. It was also discovered that the fires were started by criminals who profited by the confusion.

This fact and the inefficiency and corruption of the city government led a large number of citizens to organize the famous vigilance committee which ruled the place in 1851. Quite a number of crooks were lynched by the committee, others were driven out, like John Oakhurst, the leading figure in Bret Harte's "Outcasts of Poker Flat," and the city went through a purification process that was of great benefit to it.

The aspect of San Francisco at this time was not inspiring to inflowing gold seekers. It was a straggling medley of low, dingy adobes, frail wooden shanties, born in an afternoon, with a sprinkling of more respectable frame houses and a mass of canvas and rubber habitations. It was mainly a city of tents, rising in a crescent upon the shores of the cove. From Clark point it skirted the land to Telegraph hill, along the Clay street slopes, tapering away to the California street ridge. The larger number passed to the southwest shores of the cove, beyond the Market street ridge, a region sheltered from blustering winds and provided with good spring water and named the Happy Valley.

Stockton street, stretching from Sacramento to Green streets, presented the neatest cluster of dwellings, and Powell street was the abode of churches, for of the six churches in existence in the middle of 1850 three graced its sides and two stood upon cross streets, within half a block. Mason street, above it, was really the western limit of the city, as Green street was the northern. Beyond Mason street ran the trail to the Presidio, past scattered cottages, cabins and sheds, amid dairies and gardens, with a branch path to the Marine hospital, on Filbert street, and another to the North Beach anchorage, where speculators were planning a wharf to attract settlement.

After the vigilance committee disbanded the criminal element became bolder, and in 1856 the crime and corruption in the city had become intolerable to those who wished to live a decent and orderly life. When Editor King of the Bulletin, who had denounced the thugs, was murdered by James P. Casey, a new vigilance organization was created, and in a few days Casey and another murderer named Cora were executed in front of the committee's headquarters. Many lawbreakers were later put to death, and the regime of the Californian "bad man" came to an end.

It has been asserted that San Francisco is the most cosmopolitan city in the world, and by cosmopolitan is meant a population from all parts of the world. Not long ago the records indicated that 43 per cent of the people of the city were born in foreign lands, not in two or three different countries, but in practically every land under the sun. According to the national census reports for 1890, San Francisco had a total population of 298,997. Of these 172,186 were native born and 126,811 were born outside of the United States. Fully half the grown persons in the community removed to California from alien lands, while a large percentage of the other half and of the general body of children were of foreign parentage. In 1900 San Francisco had a population of 342,782, of which 34.1 per cent was foreign born.

San Francisco has long been famed as one of the "wide open" cities of the United States. As in the days of 1849, the gambler devotes himself to his vocation with little interference from the authorities. Prior to the earthquake two of the most prominent corners in the city were occupied by gambling dens. One of them, known as the Cafe Royal, has been a veritable gold mine for its proprietors.

The California supreme court has rendered a decision to the effect that the game of draw poker is not a game of chance, but involves judgment and other elements as well as chance or luck, and because of this decision these places are permitted to be maintained.

They are frequented by a hard looking crowd of men, and many scandals are told associated with these places. A visitor's life is probably safe in these resorts, but his money is not. It is said that the son of the premier of British Columbia was fleeced of $8,500 in the Cafe Royal a few years ago. He lost $1,500 in cash, but stopped payment on $7,000 in checks.

San Francisco has forty-seven square miles of territory, or about 30,000 acres, within the municipal limits. The finest residences are on Nob hill and Pacific heights, both of which districts command magnificent views of the bay and the Golden Gate. The city has six large parks and twenty-two small ones, and Golden Gate park occupies over 1,000 acres.

Trip With Mr. McCaig Over Alberta Ranch

Interesting Story of a Day With an Old Herder on an Alberta Sheep Run—Habits and Peculiarities of Ranch Sheep.

Mr. James McCaig, for some time a member of the staff of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, and well-known for his sheep-ish penchant for the shepherd side of the stock industry, often writes interesting letters to the Globe. One of these reproduced below, furnishes interesting reading, and shows Mr. McCaig's advanced development in literary style, although it will be seen that his wits still go woolgathering.

Calgary, April 14th. — The story of the sheep business in the Canadian west will never be written large. Following the Indian the cattleman has practically owned the country. This was perhaps not a matter of design on the part of the cattleman, though the progress of the country has found the cattleman not only possessed of wide range, but of an accompanying influence relatively large beside that of the sheepman. Cattle have been free rovers, while the range for sheep has been studiously limited and kept against enlargement. It is to be said, of course, that limitation of the sheep range is a necessity, because range cattle will not follow on ground that has been "sheeped." If both were allowed to range at will sheep would close against cattle much greater proportionate range than they are entitled to by numbers and importance. The limitation of the sheep area is not wholly responsible for the want of expansion of the sheep business. Sheperding is dependent for its success largely on the demand for wool, and until recently our superstructure of manufacturing has not been a large feature of our industrialism, and wool has been quite low in price. Cheap clothes! Oh, no; it would be an impeachment of the growing time to wear cheap clothes.

The Shepherd Unsung.

But this is not what I started to talk about. Ralph Connor gave us the nicest kind of native cowboy romance in "The Sky Pilot." Somebody will give us a homesteader romance soon, but the simple shepherd is to have no strut at all. His business is being modernized, too, quite rapidly. He is getting away from the simple life. The organizing instinct is changing the single owner to the corporation. In a few scarce privileges on little streams running through the sage brush are corralled for ten miles; the adjacent outlying land does not need to be bought for it is of no use to anyone without water. A "home ranch" is put up and a radius of sheep camps for winter are spotted about five or six miles apart; sheds and hay corrals are built, and the winter hay supply removes much of the risk from the business. The daily supervision of a foreman does the office of the bi-monthly camp tender. The shepherd is further from nature and closer to business.

Some Play a Lone Hand.

The single hands are not all gone. The hurricane deck of a cayuse is is the best place to get the prairie feeling and likewise to get any place. Some of the prairie trails are all right for an auto, but the other day two men started over the irrigated lands east of Lethbridge with a machine that cost one of them lots of money. Twenty miles out it gave a few chortles and stopped. Walking on for a mile or two the motorist spied the smoke of a shack kept by Bill Forbes, who is running a band along Chin Coulee.

"'Do you keep a monkey-wrench?"

"Naw, keep a sheep ranch. Some monkey in sheep, but the man that keeps a monkey ranch in Alberta is a fool."

This is what Bill told us a week later. There were two of us, and we decided to reach camp in the evening and get the whole of next day for sight-seeing. The cayuses were a little beady and rolled us a bit on the start, but by-and-bye we got closer to our Mexican saddles, and cantered out into the Alberta air.

Into the Fold.

The patter of unshod hoofs on prairie trails or through the cured grass across prairie is the nicest kind of music. The feeling of getting along, getting good exercise, and the finest air in the world is worth a transcontinental trip. While the setting sun was throwing a golden glow over the tawny grass ahead of us we were dipping down the west side of the Coulee with the shack and corrals in sight. Bill was back a mile on us on the east side, a dark speck above the approaching band. The leaders were already trotting to camp down the narrow parallel sheep tracks; the dogs were held back, and the rear of the band were busy catching a last evening bite. The coming to camp started the music of the sheep bells. The leaders were slow to enter, but with the help of the dogs and a little hi-hi-ing from the rear the band came on as one undulating mass. The stream started into the corral and milled about and filled it amid a great pandemonium of bleating. The crones and halt were brought up, the gate swung to, the wooden latch fell comfortably into place, and the bleating died fitfully down into appreciative night silence.

Bill has the name of keeping the cleanest and best sheep camp in Alberta, and in a confidential moment he even admitted himself there was no need of being untidy. His is a short-order house. He can bring a beefsteak and a bunch of fire together faster than any kitchen operator in the profession. We did the rest. Pork, beans and sour dough are not household words with him. He believes there is health in fresh meat and is a first-class breadmaker. The art of hospitality is going to be hard to lose on the prairie. The sheep herder wanders far from camp in the course of the day, but the door is always on the latch and the table set for the wayfarer. If the herd is at home no questions are asked of a hungry man. Sheep camp hospitality makes no distinction between the missionary and the horse-thief. The problem of assimilation looks easy from these cases. It will be the missionary's fault if he does not get next.

The Morning Grazing.

The clanking of ice in the pitcher along the hall is all right in its place in the morning, but the scent of good coffee and the soft paddle of the big spoon in the porridge pot have it skinned to death. The corral had been opened before dawn, and a few had filed out or hesitated in the gap. By the time breakfast was over the band were clustered about the lumps of rock salt lying about, and before the sun was over the horizon the leaders were stringing up the sheep trails on the side of the coulee in long lines; the crones were already clearly behind. On the bench the sheep spread to right and left in a broad face, and in this way the grazing goes on until high noon. After the morning fill the sheep cluster on little knolls for a couple of hours' "nooning," and the shepherd sits on the prairie and eats his pocket lunch of bread and meat and drinks his bottle of tea. At 1 or 2 o'clock the band is already loading for water, and it takes about an hour for all to drink. The slow and weak have to be brought up; the strong drink and return to grazing of themselves. In all, a circle of six or eight miles is grazed over in the course of a day.

Guarding Against Storms.

Every day is not a fine day on a sheep ranch, and the work of the shepherd requires foresight and care. With a bad morning sky the shepherd will drive his band out against the wind, so that if a storm comes it will drive his flock back to camp instead of away from it. In a bad storm sheep will not go against the wind, but will stop and "mill" about and it requires great patience on the part of the shepherd and sagacity on the part of his dogs to break off a string and start the band ahead. Dogs will sometimes run above the backs of the massed herds to break off a clot. Bands are sometimes driven over cutbanks by storms, and are piled up and smothered in the snow. Sometimes when the front of a herd stops, those behind will pile up on top of them, and many will be smothered on the open prairie. In Alberta bad storms are not common, but in Montana and Wyoming shepherds are sometimes lost and frozen in such storms.

The isolation of the work is worse than its hardships. Shepherds sometimes become queer through being too much in their own society, but this does not apply to conditions in Alberta and Saskatchewan, as daily intercourse is the rule rather than the exception.

OUR BEST ADVERTISEMENT

Perhaps more than once when passing a shop window your attention has been held by a legend to the effect that "A satisfied customer is our best advertisement." Usually the patrons of a great transportation concern like the Canadian Pacific Railway are content with good service and do not express their satisfaction in as many words, but just occasionally a more appreciative traveller voices the opinions of the silent majority, and behold—"our best advertisement."

"Vancouver, B.C., March 20th.

"E. J. Coyle, Esq.,
Passenger Department, C.P.R.,
Vancouver:

"My Dear Sir,—Permit me, before embarking for the Orient, to express my high appreciation of the courteous attention extended to me by yourself and other officers of the company. My room on the "Empress of Japan" is all that could be wished for, and will contribute much to the comfort and satisfaction of my trip across the Pacific. It will always afford me pleasure not only to speak in high terms of the completeness of the Company's travelling equipment, but to make any practical acknowledgment in my power of the kindness that has been shown me.

With best wishes, believe me,

Yours faithfully,

A. SUTHERLAND."

A GOOD HORSE TO BREED TO

Messrs. William and Henry Elmhirst, of Villiers, P.O., have purchased the famous trotting stallion "Directum" in the United States, and this season he will be at the service of farmers who wish to raise high bred trotting stock.

"Directum" comes of a famous family, and has proven his right to be called a good producer. He is the sire of Little Fred, 2.06 1-4; Minnie D, 2.17; Jubilee, 2.24 1-4. Directum was sired by Directatum, and is a beautiful mahogony bay, fifteen hands three inches high, and weighs 1,190 pounds, bred by A. W. King, Leroy, N.Y.

The C.M.B.A. Ball At Mount Irwin

Delightful Social Function Was Enjoyed.

Special to The Examiner.

Mount Irwin, April 23rd. — The farmers of Galway are doing some seeding this week, although the weather is cold and disagreeable.

The ice is now out of Swamp Lake, and the drives of logs there are going to be put in motion at once.

Messrs. Jim Sheeshan, John and Robert Dalton, along with several others, went to drive logs on the French River; they have reported since that they had to walk 60 miles before they arrived at the place where the logs were situated.

Messrs. Robert Collins, Edward Sheeshan, Joe and Charles Doherty, went east to drive for the Dickson Co., Peterborough.

Mr. Joe Cain has returned from the North West after a very short stay. He reports that it is of no use for any man to go out, as all the land is taken up and that there are large numbers unable to procure homesteads. He reports that some of those who went from Galway are having a hard time at present.

The long looked for event in Galway the C.M.B.A. ball took place on Easter Monday. It was a success from every view-point. The attendance was not large, about fifty couples being present, thus everyone had plenty of room to enjoy themselves. The supper was both a credit to the association and to the ladies who supplied it. Refreshments were served in the hall and everything progressed most favourably.

As Lent has passed and the young folks have had their fun subdued for some time in the past they intend to make up for it in the future by having an occasional dance.

The people about Galway way was a failure this year, and maple sugar is a scarce article this spring.

Mr. J. Richardson has rented Mr. Allan's house near Mount Irwin, and intends living there this summer.

The Stress of Excitement.

Once, some years ago, the principal hotel in a Thumb village took fire at 2 a.m.

A restless dyspeptic happening to peek from his window, saw the fire.

Calmly going to his sleeping apartment—it was a bitterly cold January morning and snow lay in banks and heaps everywhere—he put on his heavy socks and heavy boots, got his winter cap, pulled down the ear-flaps, placed a heavy scarf about his neck, and dashed into the street, yelling in a voice that awoke the whole town:

"Fire! fire! fire!"

At 5 a.m., a villager remarked:

"Say, why don't you go home and put on your clothes?"

For Blank was in his nightgown!

In Labour Circles There is Little Prospect of any Trouble on May 1st This Year.

Some Unions Have Been Granted an Increase in Wages—The Demand for Labour Good.

Tuesday next, May 1st, is the date upon which the rates of wages adopted by the different labour unions come into effect. In view of this fact the Examiner yesterday interviewed several well qualified to speak on such a subject, as to the general outlook for labouring men during the season now at hand.

The result of this investigation has revealed the fact that 1906 should be a good year for labouring men, and in only an odd case has there been and sign of trouble. Most of the labouring men are getting the wages considered by them as just, and consequently there is little discontent with present conditions.

The scale of wages for carpenters, as adopted by the Carpenters' Union, it is learned, will be 25 cents per hour. The Bricklayers' Union has also adopted the same as last year, the minimum figure being 35 cents per hour. According to one contractor most of the men are getting 40 and 45 cents. The moulders, as was noted by the Examiner a few days ago, are demanding a ten per cent. increase in wages. The new scale of wages adopted by the Painters' Union at a meeting some time ago, goes into effect on May 1st, and though it is said that some of the employers will oppose this demand, no serious difficulty is expected.

As far as the building trades are concerned, this summer promises to be one of the most successful in the history of the city. The amount of building to be done this year is larger than ever before. There will be a number of large buildings, such as the fire hall, and a south ward school, in addition to a very large number of residences, principally in the southern and western portions of the city. This boom in building will make things hum for the men employed in the building trade.

Mr. J. J. Hartley and Mr. W. J. Johnston, two prominent contractors of the city, both agreed, when seen by the Examiner, that this summer would be a busy one for the building trades. Mr. Hartley said that there would be more building done in the spring if it were not for the shortage of brick. Messrs. Curtis and other manufacturers in the district, had scarcely any brick on hand this spring, owing to the fact that it was impossible to manufacture during the winter. The construction of the Sandstone Brick Company's Works will remedy this, as the factory will be able to turn out 24,000 bricks a day all the year round.

THE SAN FRANCISCO FIRE AND EARTHQUAKE

MARKET STREET FROM SECOND STREET WEST.

FIRST SAN FRANCISCO NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED AFTER THE EARTHQUAKE

On Wednesday, April 18th, the day that San Francisco met its fate, as soon as the fact was learned that there had been an earthquake, the Examiner wrote to the San Francisco "Call," "Examiner" and "Chronicle," asking for copies of their papers telling the story of the catastrophe. At that time it was not expected that the disaster would have assumed such proportions as to destroy the newspaper offices, but such was the case, and on the day of the earthquake the Call and Examiner buildings were totally destroyed, making it impossible for either of them to issue a paper. On the following day, however, a joint paper printed in the office of the Chronicle, which is on the Oakland side of the city, was published. To-day the Examiner received a copy of this paper and a facsimile of the first page of this issue is given below in reduced form.

SAN FRANCISCO, THURSDAY, APRIL 19, 1906

EARTHQUAKE AND FIRE; SAN FRANCISCO IN RUINS

Death and destruction have been the fate of San Francisco. Shaken by a tremblor at 5.15 o'clock yesterday morning, the shock lasting 42 seconds, and scourged by flames that ragedi llametrically in all directions, the city is a mass of smouldered ruins. At 6 o'clock last night the flames seemingly playing with increased vigor threatened to destroy such sections as their fury had spared during the earlier portion of the day. Building their path in a triangular circuit from the start in the early morning, they jockeyed as the day waned, left the business section, which they had entirely devastated, and spread in a dozen directions to the residence portions. As night fell they had made their way over into the North Beach section and springing anew to the south they reached out along the shipping section down the bay coast, over the hills and across toward Third and Townsend Streets. Warehouses, wholesale houses and manufacturing concerns fell in their wake. This completed the destruction of the entire district known as the South or Market St. How far they reached across the channel, cannot be told as this part of the city is shut off from San Francisco papers.

NO HOPE LEFT FOR SAFETY OF ANY BUILDINGS

San Francisco seems doomed to entire destruction. With a lull in the raging of the flames just before dark, the hope was expressed that with the use of

ANDREW CARNEGIE

—THE GREAT STEEL KING—

VISITS THE CITY

Passed Through Peterboro' To-day, and Talks Pleasantly of His Visit to Canada.

Is Greatly Pleased With What He Has Seen So Far---Remembers Peterborough.

Peterborough is not often favoured with a visit from a King, but this morning one spent a few minutes in the city. He was not a crowned monarch, but he was a King just the jurt the same—a Steel King.

Andrew Carnegie, the industrial magnate, passed through Peterborough on he 11.38 C. P. R. expretss today, in his private car, Loretto, which was attached to the regular train.

The train remained here of course, just its regular time, so that "Andy" did not have much opportunity of seeing the city.

The fact that Mr. Carnegie was passing through Peterborough was known to only a few persons, consequently not many outside of the usual crowd of station employees and travellers were there when the train pulled in.

when the train arrived at the station Mr. Carnegie was enjoying a light lunch, but received the reporters graciously, and spent a few minutes chatting about things in general. He expressed the pleasure he had experienced during this trip to Canada. He had been very pleasantly surprised at the air of prosperity which he had noticed in Toronto, and in fact in Canada generally.

Peterborough was a city he had heard of. In fact he thought his secretary, Mr. Bertram had told him that this city had considered his library scheme. At any rate he was under the impression that there had been some proposal looking towards his making a grant to erect a library here, while all he had seen of the city was what his vision from the coach within had given him he thought it was a pretty nice little city, and worth more than the few minutes he was able to spend here.

He was going to Ottawa, he said, where he was to open a new library.

By his appearance Mr. Carnegie would never be taken as a celebrity. The most striking impression on an observer is his smallness of stature. He is not much more than five feet in height and of slight build. His 70 years seem to rest easily upon him, for though his hair is white, his movements are active, his eye clear, and there is colour in his cheek. Perhaps Mr. Carnegie's saving grace of Scotch humour has helped him to remain young.

As the train started to pull out Mr. Carnegie again warmly clasped the hands of the reporters, and was good enough to say he was glad to meet them and to learn something of the "Electric City."

Lamented Death Of Mrs. J. L. Hughes

A Well Known and Greatly Respected Resident Enters Into Rest.

Last night Mary Jane Sloan Hughes, wife of Mr. J. L. Hughes, died at the family residence, 302 Park street, aged 70 years. The late Mrs. Hughes was one of the oldest residents of the city, one of the best known, and none knew her but to hold her in the very highest esteem. She was born in Kingston on Nov. 15th, 1836. On her nineteenth birthday, Nov. 15th, 1854, she was united in marriage to her surviving husband, and in 1861 they removed to Peterborough where they have lived ever since, our most highly respected citizens. To their marriage were born nine children, one dying in infancy, and eight surviving—five sons and three daughters. The sons are in order of age, Andrew, of Palouse, Washington State; Fred, of Spokane, Wash.; Frank, of Butte, Mont.; and Howard and Bruce, of Montreal. The two latter were with their late mother at the time of her illness and death as well as the three daughters, Mrs. (Rev.) R. W. Sharpe, St. Peter's Reserve, Man.; Mrs. J. Colin Grant, Toronto, and Mrs. W. T. Spencer, of Marshall, Texas. The late Mrs. Hughes is survived by one brother and two sisters—Mr. Andrew Sloan, of Port Huron, Mich.; Mrs. J. W. Allice, of Rochester, N.Y.,—now and for several days in the city,—and Mrs. Thomas Wilson, of Crescent Springs, Kentucky. Mrs. Hughes' last illness was prolonged and severe, borne with the patience and consideration for others, which was so marked a feature of her character.

Towards the last she was quite conscious of the coming great change and was for her own sake anxious to be released from suffering. At the last she was happy in this that she was surrounded by the most of her surviving relatives and was able to bid them good-bye and leave with them her last counsel. At the very end she lapsed into unconsciousness and gently drifted out of this life, passing peacefully and almost imperceptibly into rest and peace eternal. Mrs. Hughes as a wife, mother and neighbour, fulfilled her duties with great earnestness and singleness of purpose. While not demonstrative or effusive, in her kindness, she was known to her intimate friends as possessing and practicing an industrious charity, whether it was manifested in numberless little deeds of kindness to her neighbours and friends, or in abundant and practical kindness to the poor and suffering; and now that she has passed to her reward there are many who will rise up and call her memory blessed. It is given to few others to make so little parade of goodness and to live it and practice it to so great a degree. Her husband, her family, her neighbours and the community at large, will miss her in all the capacities in which she filled her place so faithfully.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 302 Park street, on Monday afternoon, April 30th, at 3 o'clock, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Judgment Reserved In The Last Case

The Spring Assizes were concluded yesterday afternoon when the final case, that of Ruetosh vs. Spry was finished. In the case in which the evidence was concluded yesterday at 4 o'clock. His Lordship Justice Anglin reserved judgment. The case arose over a dispute over a portion of land which the defendant Louis Spry sold to the plaintiff Fred Reutosh. Mr. D. O'Connel appeared for plaintiff and Mr. Geo. Edmison for the defendant.

Half Holiday Plan Is Advocated

Clerks Would Greatly Appreciate Such a Move on Part of Merchants.

The clerks in the various business houses on George street are discussing the question of a weekly half holiday throughout the summer months, and would greatly appreciate such a movement on the part of the merchants. The scheme was tried some years ago and proved a success. For some reason, however, the system lasted only one year, and has since been dropped. It is a question which the merchants might well consider seriously.

"DUG" HAMMOND VERY POPULAR

The Toronto Star of Wednesday, referring to a popular young Peterborough man, says:

"One of the most popular of horse show visitors, is the Trinity College School Rugby captain of two years ago, Mr. Douglas Hammond, of the head office of the Bank of Montreal, who is here for his holidays. Mr. Hammond is always a most popular and welcome visitor here among Toronto young men, especially in social, college and athletic circles."

Mr. R. H. Shepherd Heir To Estate

Mr. R. H. Shepherd, a foreman at the Canadian General Electric works, left yesterday morning for England, where he will look after an estate to which he fell heir some time ago. It will be remembered by Examiner readers that last January Mr. Shepherd received word from the old country informing him of the death of an aunt, Miss Agnes Robinson, of Kendall, Westmorelund, and that he had also become heir to a legacy of six thousand pounds, principally in real estate.

Mr. Shepherd when leaving had not definitely decided whether he would remain in England or not, as all depended on future developments. He will, however, be greatly missed by many of his fellow employees, and chiefly by the C. G. E. ngling Club, of which he was a prominent member.

A PROMINENT CITIZEN

The picture above is one which almost everyone in the city should identify. The gentleman represented is an almost life-long resident of Peterborough, and is still here, hale and hearty, as he was 30 years ago, when the picture from which this cut is made was taken.

This will be the last of this series of pictures of present Peterborough gentlemen in their early days.

This is Mr. Bright's first address to young men since his arrival in the city.

On entering a business place always insist on having your wants attended to at once, regardless of how many are ahead of you. This is a good way to exhibit your ingrained boorishness.

Two Places Broken Into Last Night By Thieves

Jas. Hayes and Michael Burns Arrested by P. C. Stewart on Suspicion—Canadian Canoe Company's Premises Entered and Tools Stolen—An Entrance Was Also Forced at Mr. W. E. McCall's Blacksmith Shop, but Nothing, It Is Thought, Was Taken—Prisoners Remanded for One Week.

Burglars are again at work in Peterborough, and the police are right after them. Last night the Peterborough Canoe Company's factory was broken into, and the blacksmith shop of Mr. W. E. McCall entered. The thieves got into the Canoe Company's building through a window on the north side. They knocked down some patterns that were near the window, but did not injure them. After they had entered the building they broke into the office, but did not secure anything there. They then went upstairs to the workshop and stole some bits and a brace, and three or four iron planes of different sizes, besides other tools. Some of the bits are very small—not much more than half an inch in length. One box contained 30 small bits, and all but two or three were taken.

P. C. Stewart went to the scene of the robbery this morning between 9 and 10 o'clock, and saw Jas. Hayes and Michael Burns sitting on a log near the Cereal Company's railway siding, about 150 yards above the C. P. R. bridge. He took both of them into custody, suspecting they were connected with the burglary. None of the missing tools were found on their persons.

The blacksmith shop of Mr. W. E. McCall, George street, was also broken into. The entrance was effected through the front door, the lock being destroyed. Up to the present time Mr. McCall has missed nothing from his premises. The instrument used to force an entrance was a piece of steel over a foot in length that has originally been a piece of a train brake.

At the police court this morning Burns and Hayes pleaded not guilty to a charge of vagrancy that has been preferred against them for the present. No evidence of any kind was offered, and the prisoners were remanded for a week.

"I don't understand why I have been arrested," said Burns; "I have means of support and board at the Clancy House."

"Well, there is your companion," said His Worship, referring to Hayes.

Hayes had nothing to say outside of pleading not guilty.

"If the tools are found in the meantime I will take that into consideration," said the Court; "if they are not found, why the Central prison is a good place for such men!"

Lakefield Train And Its Victim To-day

Some Dog Stories of Saturday Morning—Owners Refuse to Buy Number 13 Tag—What Happened to One Who Did.

This morning the Lakefield train was responsible for a death. A dog, the property of Mr. Duncan Cameron, got in the way of the flyer, and was injured so seriously that a revolver was used to relieve its sufferings. Talking about dogs, the fact that the dog tags are not selling as rapidly as they should, and the slowness of their sale, is giving the chief some anxiety. The dog killed this morning was a tagless animal, and see what its fate was. This will no doubt be a warning to the several hundred dog owners in Peterborough who have so far neglected to purchase the little piece of metal entitling their canines to a legitimate existence. It appears that there is an aversion on the part of some persons to buying No. 13 tag, and this was emphasized the other day, when a man went into the city office to buy a tag. Twelve had been sold, and his would have been the thirteenth. When he learned this fact he refused to buy it, and left the office, stating that he would come back later.

Probably he had learned of the fate which befell Mr. Jas. Yelland's dog a few years ago. It appears that Mr. Yelland bought No. 13 tag and put it on his dog, a valuable hound, one night. When he went out the next morning the dog was dead.

Member for West Peterborough Tells the Members of the House of Commons of the Great Benefits Which its Completion Will Confer Upon the Whole District of Central Ontario.

The following is a continuation of Mr. R. R. Hall's speech, from yesterday.

Mr. Hall. If it is a foregone conclusion how is it that the leader of the opposition down to 1904 did not know whether it was a ditch, a canal or a waterway. I would like to know what the hon. member for East Simcoe, (Mr. Bennett,), the hon. member for Victoria and Hallton, (Mr. Hughes), and the hon. member for East Northumberland, (Mr. Cochrane) have been doing when we find the leader of their own party showing such a lack of knowledge with respect to the Trent Canal.

Mr. Bennett. He had not listened to your speech.

Mr. Hall. Not to take up the time of the House, but simply to impress upon it the importance of the Trent canal waterway system, I would quote from the report of the deputy minister of Railways and Canals, to show what really does constitute that system. He says:

"The course as originally contemplated and modified, is as follows:

"Through the River Trent, Rice Lake, the River Otonabee, and Lakes Clear, Stony, Lovesick, Deer, Buckhorn, Chemong, Pigeon, Sturgeon and Cameron, to Balsam Lake, the summit water, about 165 miles from Trenton; from Balsam Lake by a canal and the River Talbot to Lake Simcoe, thence across Lake Simcoe to the Severn River; then by the Severn River to Georgian Bay, Lake Huron; the total distance being about 200 miles, of which only about 15 or 20 miles will be actual canal."

This report expressly points out that in that distance of 200 miles, there will be only 20 miles of actual canal, the balance being a connection of a series of lakes and rivers.

Mr. Sam Hughes. May I ask the hon. gentleman from whose report he is reading?

Mr. Hall. The report of Mr. M. J. Butler, deputy minister of Railways and Canals. Now the fact of the matter is, this is simply a connection of waterways. I find that the surface area of the lakes on the line of the Trent Canal is 140 square miles. The surface area of the lakes at the head of the dams recently transferred from the Ontario to the Dominion Government is 100 sq. miles. The lakes tributary to these waters have an area of 100 square miles. So we can readily understand that, on the line of the Trent waterways, there are lakes immediately upon the line of the waterway, which being stretched into a river, would make a stream 140 miles long, and one mile wide, and this in the short distance of 162 miles between Balsam Lake and Trenton. Then, that does not take into consideration the fact that there are 92 miles of river as well, including the Otonabee and the Trent. In addition to that there is the surface area of Lake Simcoe and Lake Couchiching to be taken into consideration, and these lakes have an area of 283 square miles. So, in the whole of the Midland district there are waters having a combined surface area of no less than 628 miles, in a total basin of 3,000 square miles. That is to say, over one-fifth of the entire basin consists of water. Therefore those who do not look upon the Trent waterway as being an important factor to be taken into consideration in dealing with the question of the through Canadian route have not given the matter the consideration, which, I, believe the importance of the subject demands.

Now, the question arises, in view of the facts that I have already given, what has been done and what still remains to do? I find that there is a distance of 127 miles between Healy's Falls and Kirkfield which has been made navigable. Healy's Falls is 11 miles below Hastings and 13 miles north of Trenton. Of these 43 miles between Healy's Falls and Trenton, 19 1-2 miles between 9-mile Rapid and Percy's Landing are already navigable, so that only 23 1-2 miles require to be improved. Kirkfield is 17 miles east of Lake Simcoe. The construction of the work is proceeding as rapidly as possible and it is expected that in July this year the connection will be made between Balsam Lake and Lake Simcoe, which will add 3 miles to the 127 miles actually completed waterway, making a total of 158 miles of inland waterway right in the heart of the Midland district.

Now, as to what remains to be done. The Commission have pointed out that upwards of $5,000,000 has ben spent on the canal down to date. What will it cost to finish the work that still remains? I wish to refer, first to the south end, to the canal construction between Trenton and 9-Mile Rapid, and between Percy Landing and Healy's Falls.

Mr. Sam Hughes.—Would it not be well for the hon. gentleman (Mr. Hall) to send for the Minister of Railways and Canals (Mr. Emmerson) that he may have the benefit of all this wisdom. I am surprised that the minister is not in his place.

Mr. Hall.—As that point has been mentioned, I may ask the hon. gentleman (Mr. Sam Hughes) if it would not be wise to send for the leader of the Opposition (Mr. R. L. Borden.)

Mr. Lennox.—The leader of the Opposition has been here constantly since the session opened until to-day he is away on business.

Mr. Fowler.—The leader of the Government (Sir Wilfrid Laurier) is not here either.

Mr. Hall.—There is an alternative route proposed between Rice Lake and and Lake Ontario, a distance of about thirteen miles. I do not propose to consider the question which of these proposed routes should be taken, as the matter is under investigation and will be reported upon by the engineers. And then, again at the north end, all that requires to be done is to canalize 14 miles of the Severn river. There are alternate routes of construction there which, as the engineers are making a survey of them with a view to reporting, I do not intend to deal with. But the fact is that there is only about 23 1-2 miles of river to canalize at the south end, or to build a canal 13 miles long and, at the north end to build a canal about 13 miles long from Lake Simcoe to Georgian Bay or to canalise about 14 miles of the Severn river. So it will be seen that the whole system is very near completion. It could be completed in two years if the necessary appropriations were made and the expenditures carried on.

Sections Benefited.

Now, what country would be tributary to this canal when opened—speaking merely from an inland standpoint? There is already a completed branch to Port Perry at the head of Scugog lake. Pigeon river extends to Omemee, Burnt river to Kinmount, Gull river to Minden, and Holland river to Newmarket. These are branches of the canal which it would be to the advantage of the country to have opened up and which would give cheap transportation to an exceedingly large section. The tonnage carried last year on the Trent canal notwithstanding that it was hemmed in and had no outlet either to the north or to the south, was in the neighbourhood of 150,000 tons. There were upwards of 2,000 lockages made at Young's Point, a point 16 miles north of Peterborough. Were the canal opened up at both ends, there is no doubt that a great local trade would be done on this canal system, apart altogether from the facilities it would afford as a thorough route for grain. I wish therefore that some of the local advantages which would be derived from the construction of this canal. I would refer particularly to the city of Peterborough, with the facts and figures concerning which I am more familiar. I refer to this for the reason that I take it that the situation of Peterborough is a clear index of the advantages that would be derived for other towns and villages on the line of the Trent Canal. For, whatever benefit it may be to the county of Peterborough, it would be of like benefit to all the counties along the route. Take the item of coal. The consumption of coal in the city of Peterborough last year was 43,430 tons. The rate on coal from Suspension bridge to Peterborough by rail is $1.25 a ton. The coal is delivered in Oswego, at 15 cents a ton cheaper than at Suspension bridge. Freight between Oswego and Trenton or Port Hope is 25 cents a ton, and the rate between Port Hope and Peterborough, by rail, though only a distance of 30 miles is 80 cents per ton. On coal alone the freight from Trenton to Peterborough, were the canal completed would not be more than 25 cents per ton. On that basis there would be a clear saving on coal to Peterborough of 75 cents a ton, or on the amount consumed last year, a total saving of $32,500. Now the Portland cement works at Lakefield as was shown by Mr. J. M. Kilbourn, the manager of these works, stated when he was one of a deputation that recently interviewed the government on that question, on the basis of 75 cents a ton, would save on coal $35,000 a year.

Saving to County.

Taking the whole county of Peterborough, the saving in coal alone would be upwards of $90,000 per year. The total imports from foreign countries to the city of Peterborough for the year 1905, amounted to $2,352,739. A great part of that was iron, steel, fibre, coal and other produce of heavy kinds, the very articles from which return cargoes could be obtained by barges plying between Midland and Montreal, freight of a kind which would naturally go that way, attracted by cheaper rates. The amount of customs duties collected at Peterborough last year was $335,597. Taking the cost of construction of this Trent Canal at $5,000,000 the interest on that at 3 per cent, would be $150,000 a year. Therefore we collected at the port of Peterborough alone twice as much revenue in customs as would pay the interest upon the entire cost of the construction of the balance of the canal. I find in looking over the trade and navigation returns that there is not yet a record of the amount of goods exported from the city of Peterborough, nor the direction which they take. It is therefore not possible to get exact figures on that point. But I may say generally that there are millions of dollars worth of grain, flour, cheese, butter and manufactured goods of all kinds that go not only to Montreal, but also to the west to supply the population out there. There are also 1000 barrels of cement per day produced at the village of Lakefield, which is exactly the kind of commodity which cheap transportation and cheap freight rates would tend to encourage. It must be apparent that water communication on the Trent standpoint, and taking the city of Peterborough as an index, must be of incalculable benefit and advantage to every county along the line of that canal.

A Grain Route.

Now I come to the indication of the commission that the canal can be used as a grain route for the carriage of grain from the North-West, particularly from Midland to Montreal. In the first place as was pointed out by the hon. member for Simcoe, (Mr. Bennett) Midland is a nearer point on the great lakes than either Buffalo or Port Colborne. Vessels can go from Midland to Fort William is about one third of the time, the reason of the fact that the distance is only about one-third as great, and therefore it naturally follows that boats can economically operate between Fort William and Midland. In addition, the importance of the port of Midland as a point on the Georgian Bay is further indicated by the fact that the Grand Trunk propose double tracking their road. The Canadian Pacific Railway also propose building a line either from Victoria Harbour or Midland to the city of Peterborough, in order to connect with their main line leading down to Montreal. I may further point out that the Trent canal route for the carriage of grain, taking it from the elevators at Midland, is 250 miles shorter than by way of Port Colborne and the Welland Canal. Midland is also 500 miles nearer to Liverpool, than by way of the Erie canal and Buffalo and New York. So that taking these advantages into consideration it seems apparent that Midland is the point where grain might be economically brought with a view of taking it to other ports, and that the Trent waterway affords cheap barge transportation between Midland and Montreal.

I have here a statement prepared by Mr. L. Richards, the traffic manager of the American Cereal Co. When this company located their works in Peterborough and spent upwards of a million dollars in buildings, they took good care first to look over the railways of Canada, and to look over the rest of the province of Ontario, to find the very best facilities for shipping their products and supplying their large business. Before making this large expenditure they went into very careful calculations. They examined the different routes, whether by way of Port Colborne, or Midland or Victoria Harbour. They carefully enquired into all the advantages, and came to the conclusion that the Trent waterway was destined to be one of the routes whereby the cheapest transportation could be furnished as part of the link in carrying grain from the Northwest to the seaboard. They figured the matter out in this way according to Mr. Richards:

Cost of steam barge and tows, capacity, earnings and expenses per month and season of seven months:

One steam barge, steel, 20,000 bushels		$25,000 00
Three barges, 25,000 bushels each at $10,000 00		30 000 00
		55,000 00
Midland to Montreal—
Capacity Steamer 20,000 Three Barges 75,000	bushels wheat
Total..... 95,000
	02	cts. per bushel.
	$1,900 00
	2½	trips per month
	950 00
	3,800 00
	$4,750 00	earnings per month
	2 900 00	gross expenses
	1,840 42	net per month,
	7	months.
	$12,882 94

Equal to 23.22 per cent on $55,000.

Down load paying freight. Returning empty. Figuring two trips per month—

Earnings.....	$3,800 00
Expenses.....	2 900 00
Net.....	890 42
	7	months.

Equal to 11.33 per cent on investment.

I may say that this rate of 2 cents per bushel is made upon the condition of the barges returning empty, that is to say, the steam barge would return empty from Montreal.

Mr. J. T. Schell.—Would the hon. gentleman allow me to ask him at what rate per bushel he is carrying that grain?

Mr. Hall.—Two cents a bushel. Now, as I say, these figures were very carefully prepared by Mr. Richards on behalf of the American Cereal Company at the time they made their investment in Peterborough. They figured out that they were prepared to put the necessary amount into a fleet of steam barges and tow barges in order to accommodate their works at the city of Peterborough, and still further works that they propose to establish. Now, that being the case, it becomes important for us to consider what is the present freight rate upon wheat that is carried from Midland to Montreal. I find that, on the export basis, the rate is four cents per bushel from Midland to Montreal; or, in other words, it is 6.66cents per hundred pounds from Midland to Montreal by rail on the export basis. According to the evidence which was given before the Transportation Commission by Mr. Richards 2 cents per bushel is the cost of carrying that wheat by steam barge; that is to say the carriage of grain by way of the Trent waterway as compared with the best rate that that is now obtained from the Grand Trunk Railway or the Canadian Pacific Railway would involve a saving of three and a third cents per hundred pounds. Other evidence was produced to show that four full barges could be taken in one tow and that the rate would be considerably less than two cents, but the fact of the matter is that the difference in favour of the Trent waterway as a part of the system of carrying grain from Midland to Montreal would be three and a third cents per hundred pounds.

This calculation is based upon the assumption that these barges would return empty, but no doubt that would not be the case because there would be ample freight to be obtained. As freight was obtained from time to time the grain rate would be correspondingly less.

The remainder of Mr. Hall's speech will be published on Monday.

THE HOW AND WHY OF IT.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the parts of the fruit that do you good. Apples, Oranges, Figs and Prunes are pressed—the juices separated from the tough, woody fibre—and concentrated. Then—(and this is the secret of "Fruit-a-tives")—one more atom of bitter principle from the orange peels is forced into the concentrated fruit juices. By this process—one of the most remarkable achievements of the age—the juices are made stronger, and many times more active medicinally. Finest tonics and internal antiseptics are added, and the whole evaporated and pressed into tablets. "Fruit-a-tives" are the greatest tonic, laxative and blood purifying medicine ever discovered.

The Campaign For Pure Seed

Farmers' Field Meetings Will be Held in This District.

The cost of labour in fighting weed, insect and fungus pests, which like the poor are ever with us, is one of the most serious problems with which farmers have to contend. The Seed Control Act has had the effect of increasing the price paid to farmers for their pure seed and of reducing the price for their low grade seed. An even greater discrimination in prices is likely to follow. New weeds continue to be introduced. The trade in agricultural seeds has been a fruitful means for spreading them. The shipment, for feeding purposes, of screenings from Western grown wheat to points in the Eastern Provinces is another source of immediate danger that should not be overlooked. The noxious nature of new weeds that are being introduced in various ways is seldom well understood or their danger appreciated by farmers until they have become well established.

The Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture are more than ever alive to these dangers which threaten to become a serious loss in crop production, and in the eastern provinces they are co-operating again this year in holding field meetings during the month of June, when weeds, insects, fungus diseases and plant growth are most in evidence.

Seventy of these field meetings are being arranged by Supt. G. A. Putnam, in connection with the Farmers' Institute System of Ontario. The services of Prof. Lochhead of the McDonald Agricultural College at Ste. Anne de Bellevue have been secured to conduct similar farmers' nature study meetings in the three Maritime Provinces.

Here is provided an opportunity for farmers to get at first hand information that cannot be given or demonstrated in hall meetings during the winter.

Prospects Are Bright

---SAYS MR. G. A. GILLESPIE---

For The Dairy Industry

Factories in the Peterborough District Will Open for the Season on Monday—North Smith and Daisy D. Factories Have Been Rebuilt—New Creameries at Haliburton and Other Places.

The various cheese factories in the Peterborough district will begin their season's operations on Monday and the industry will be in full swing again. The eastern factories have already opened for the season and have been manufacturing for the past two weeks.

The opening of the Peterborough factories will be welcomed by the farmers especially, to whom it will mean an easy and convenient market for their milk. Indirectly it will have its effect upon the price of butter as many farmers will from now on cease to manufacture that commodity for sale on the market here and will send almost their entire output of milk to the factories.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, of the firm of White and Gillespie who is the representative in this district of Mr. D. Derbyshire, for dairy supplies and as such is closely identified with the various phases of the dairy industry in this district and generally has given the Examiner some interesting information about the prospects for the coming season.

Mr. Gillespie was of the opinion that the prospects were very bright. There would be about sixty factories in operation in the Peterborough district.

The North Smith factory which was destroyed by fire last fall has been rebuilt and will be in a position to begin operations on Monday with the rest of the factories. Mr. Gillespie's firm supplies the machinery for this building. The North Smith factory will be under a new management this year and will be conducted by the Selwyn Dairy Co. The Daisy D. factory which was also completely destroyed by fire last fall is being rebuilt although it would not be ready to open on Monday. This factory when was built originally by a company has been purchased by Mr. G. A. Barton and will be conducted by that gentleman. The other factories will all open Monday and all will be doing business this year. Several new creameries have been built in the district since last year These are the creameries at Haliburton, Victoria Road and Harwood.

What are the prospects for this district? Mr. Gillespie was asked and the reply was that they were very bright, even better than last year.

"Was last year an average year?" was the next question asked Mr. Gillespie, who explained that last year was an exceptionally good one and from present indications this season will be even better.

The highest price reached last year was 12 1-2 cents, which was a high figure.

Asked as to the prospects of the industry throughout the country generally, Mr. Gillespie said that they were very bright both for cheese and butter. Both of these articles are scarce in England and will bring a high price there. Last year Canadian butter in England reached a higher standard than ever before.

Mr. Gillespie received word this week from a factory in the Picton District which began operations some time ago, that they had sold their April Cheese for 12 5-8 cents. The May cheese will not bring this price however, as the Picton factories have been first in the field.

The Peterborough factories have had a well-deserved reputation in the past for the quality of the cheese turned out and this promises to be sustained this season. The Dairyman's convention held in January must have left a good impression on the Peterborough dairymen who were present and the pointers given should be of great assistance to the makers and owners in this district. The effect should be shown in an improvement on the quality of the cheese turned out this year.

Acknowledge Gifts To Building Fund

Y. W. C. A. Ladies Auxiliary Return Thanks for Donations Received—$80 Has Already Been Subscribed—Have Abandoned Plan of Holding "At-Home."

At the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. held on Thursday afternoon, April 26th, the secretary was instructed to acknowledge the kindly reception accorded the members when they called at many of the homes in the city, soliciting small subscriptions in aid of the furnishing fund of the Y.M.C.A. Building. Although some of the collectors have not yet called in their districts the sum of eighty dollars has already been realized and the ladies are very much pleased with the result of this new plan which they have adopted.

They are doing this this year instead of holding At Homes and similar entertainments to which people have been asked to contribute refreshments in the past and they feel that in this way a great deal of labour is being saved and a clear profit is being realized.

PETERBOROUGH LADY'S BRILLIANT RECORD

In the list of the students of Queen's University, Kingston, who have won their degrees at the recent university examinations appears the name of one of Peterborough's clever girls, Miss Marguerite E. O'Connell, B.A.

Miss O'Connell began her successful student life at the Congregation de Notre Dame, Peterborough, from which she passed the Entrance and obtained the highest marks in the Province of Ontario, and won two scholarships. Her collegiate course at the Institute, under Principal Fessendon, was exceptionally creditable. She passed all the departmental examinations successfully each succeeding year, and graduated with high honours. Her university course has been equally brilliant. She has received her Specialist Degree in English and Modern's, and stood second to the gold medalist in German. The Examiner joins with Miss O'Connell's many friends in extending their heartiest congratulations.

WORK SOON TO BEGIN ON KINNEAR WAREHOUSE

Some time ago the Examiner recorded the fact that Messrs. Kinnear & Co., wholesale grocers, had decided to erect a new warehouse on George at the corner of Dalhousie.

Yesterday a start was made to remove the old structure standing on the site for the new building. The old rough cast house now being torn down has stood for many years, but will now give place to what will be the largest wholesale grocery warehouse in the city. Messrs. Kinnear & Co. will erect a large brick building with all modern conveniences. It is understood that work will be commenced on it in a short time, and that an effort will be made to have it completed during the summer.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Miss Ada Jackson, who died at Warsaw, March, 1906.

As fades the golden sunset when the day's brief toil is o'er,
And the shadows of twilight deepen, o'er the windswept sea and shore
So we saw that her bark was drifting away, from these gloomy shores of light
But we knew that her ship would anchor safe in celestial seas of light.

Not as a flash from a lightning cloud in the calm of a dreadful storm,
But like as the gleam of a star at night, lights up our hearts forlorn,
So through a rift in the passing cloud, which overhung the strand
We saw 'twas the hand of the Pilot steered her ship to the Happy Land.

Not with a dread of Jordan's wave or tremor at Death's cold chill
She placed her trust in the Saviour's love, nor doubted His sovereign will
And though the earth is full of pain, she knew He had power to save
And placed her hope in God and looked to the world beyond the grave.

In the long, lone hours of the quiet night, when many a pilgrim slept
The Angel of Death came soaring by and left our hearts bereft,
But the peace which passeth all earthly calm, had graved on her face so dear
The heavenly look of a soul unmoved by the tumult around it here.

And we laid it away—the casket fair—for the jewel had gone above
To form a gem in the crown of Him whose grandest name is Love;
And now, when we think of our loved one safe, away from from Death's dread sting
We'll remember His promise—we all shall meet in the Home of our Heavenly King.

April, 1906. LILA E. CALDER.

Mr. Richard Rork Returns To City After Long Absence

Brother of Mr. Thomas Rork Comes Back to Peterborough After 34 Years Absence—Is Much Surprised to Note its Marvellous Growth—City Has Almost Entirely Changed in its Appearance Since Mr. Rork Left.

SOME PLACES NEARLY BEYOND RECOGNITION

Peterborough has certainly changed in the last few years so that a citizen who left the place, say fifteen years ago, would be much astonished by the remarkable strides of advancement made by this progressive place during his absence, but the surprise of Mr. Richard Rork, brother of Mr. Thomas Rork, of the Inland Revenue Department, who has not seen Peterborough for 34 years, may well be imagined when he arrived here from Michigan about two weeks ago. Since Mr. Rorke's departure new industries, new residences, new banks, and not least of all thousands of new citizens are here.

Mr. Rork was a highly respected citizen during his residence here and his many friends were glad to welcome him to Peterborough and extend to him hearty greetings and congratulations. He was formerly a foreman with the John Ludgate Lumber Co., coming to this city from Norwood over 40 years ago with the late Jas. McWilliams, father of Mr. J. B. McWilliams.

Th Cereal Works, the Canadian General Electric Company's plant, the Cereal Company's Dam, the Cordage Works, the Shovel Works, and many other new buildings and constructions filled Mr. Rork with surprise. He remembered Peterborough as the Peterborough he left years ago and while he expected that the place had grown considerably during his protracted absence he had not anticipated seeing the bustling, thriving and wide awake industrial town that greeted him when he made a tour of the city. Mr. Rork being connected with lumbering while here naturally had a marked recollection of the old mills and small dams that used to be just above the Hunter street bridge. They are all things of thee past now, having been supplanted by the American Cereal Works and its monster dam. Mr. Rork has no recollection of any buildings west of the Roman Catholic Church and that district is now one of the most important residential centres of the city. The present market hall was not erected when Mr. Rork lived here and the only market building was small structure that stood about the centre of where the "market square" now is. One of the first questions he asked when he saw the commodious market hall was "Didn't the old building use to be in the centre of that square?" George street is totally different from what it was 34 years ago. High and spacious buildings now tower where little stores used to be. Peterborough has truly assumed a new garb since Mr. Rork was a citizen and it was hard for him to believe that the present large and prosperous city that he saw on his visit here was the same comparatively insignificant, may it be termed? place he left 34 years ago. He was much surprised at the great change and much pleased as well. He also noticed a great change in the rural parts. In the agricultural districts, when he resided here, a brick house was a rare thing, but now nearly every farmer has one. The land, too, is in a much higher state of cultivation and the country sections generally point, to much greater wealth and prosperity.

When Mr. Rork left Peterborough he went to Saginaw Michigan, and has resided in that state ever since, living in Johannesburg his present place of residence, during the greater part of the time he has been there.

He came here about two weeks ago and departed for his home last Tuesday.

Mr. Rork also visited Norwood, his native village, and while there was the guest of his sisters Mesdames Robt. Wigmore and Robert Parker. He was also most hospitably entertained by Mr. Robert Ferguson, his first cousin, Dummer.

HE FEELS LIKE A NEW MAN

He Tells How Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Braced Him up, Cured His Indigestion and Made a New Man of Him

"If I could only live without eating, I should be perfectly happy," says the poor dyspeptic, "but the moment I put a morsel of food in my stomach the trouble began." That's just it. So long as the stomach is kept it is filled with food then the roubble begins. Now this is just where Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets score. They assist in digesting the food thereby giving the tired, worn out stomach a rest.

"I was troubled with indigestion for years," writes Mr. Charles W. McBeth, of Ripples, Sheffield, Sunbury County, N.B., "and could find nothing to cure it. Everything that I set seemed to lie like a weight on my chest and made me feel real bad. But I was advised to try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and I found them a wonderful medicine, forr they cured me completely."

ARRANGING FOR THE PROGRAMME

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says: The committee on arrangements for the Peterborough Baptist Association, consisting of Rev. A. H. Brace, of Peterborough, and J. H. Lockie, of Brighton, and the pastor of the Baptist church of this place, Rev. W. Quarrington, met in town this week to arrange the programme for the meeting to be held at Brighton on June 19-21.

A PRETTY MATRON OWES HEALTH TO PE-RU-NA.

MRS. ANNA N. KAISER,
Had Suffered Severely From Pelvic Catarrh—Cannot Praise Peruna Too Highly—Read Her Letter.

MRS. ANNA N. KAISER, Two Rivers, Wis., was a sufferer from pelvic catarrh to such an extent that she could scarcely do her own work. In describing her symptoms, she wrote:

"I have such terrible backaches and pains below my shoulder blades, way down my back and across my hips, and at times pains in the pelvic organs, so that I am not able to lie down or sleep. I also have pains through my left side and am afraid I may be getting heart trouble."

"I feel much stronger and do not get nervous as I used to. The pain is entirely gone, except when I work a little too hard. The medicine has done me wonderful good. I am taking Peruna and Manalin. My bowels are also in good condition."

Reports Her Cure.

After continuing the treatment a short time longer, Mrs. Kaiser reports her cure, as follows:

"I must drop you a line to let you know that I am well now and cured with your medicine. I must thank you for the advice you gave me.

"The medicine is something wonderful. I cannot praise it enough for the good it has done for me and I hope many others will be freed from their suffering.

"I have advised others who are suffering as I did to consult you and many are taking my advice. If ever I need medicine again, I know that Peruna will help me."

Dr. Hartman's Advice.

To every woman suffering from the symptoms above indicated, Dr. Hartman extends an earnest invitation to write to him for medical advice.

MILITARY NEWS OF LOCAL INTEREST

BY OUTPOST.

Signalling Corps.

The Peterborough Rangers will have a signalling Corps this year. The corps will be instituted early in May immediately after the examinations of the officers. Two of the latter will be members of the Corps and as there is considerable work in connection with learning the signals, Col. Miller does not wish this to conflict with their present arduous studies—hence the delay in organization.

Altogether this new body will consist of eighteen, two being selected from each company, who, together with the above mentioned officers make up the entire number.

An instructor will be obtained as soon as the corps is inaugurated to explain and teach the signals some of which are of a complicated nature.

However, no regiment can be considered complete without this acquisition and as the Peterborough Regiment is considered one of Canada's best, this new proposition of Colonel Miller's becomes essential.

The value of this work is readily seen in warfare. When communication by speaking becomes impossible, it is necessary that signals of some description be used to convey messages from one point to another. In day time coloured flags are utilized and by means of lanterns at night silent messages are sent from one place to another.

Col. Miller has had this project in mind for some time and the idea will no doubt meet with the unanimous approval of the regiment.

Certificates Presented.

The Non-Coms. of the 57th Regiment who successfully passed their examinations a couple of weeks ago will be given their certificates next Tuesday night at the weekly drill.

R.M.C. Examiners.

The following officers are authorized to conduct examinations for admission to the Royal Military College:—

London—Lieut.-Col. Peters, Capt. C. Hill, Lieut. G. A. MacBeth.

Toronto—Lieut.-Col. J. Galloway, Capt. J. G. Burnham, Lieut. F. S. Morrison.

The Brantford Trip.

The annual trip of the regiment this year promises to be one of the best in the history of the local Rangers. The invitation from the city of Brantford and its acceptance in the early part of the season had the effect of arousing great interest in the regiment. The boys have something to look forward to and this has been a great impetus in filling up the ranks so early and also in getting up the drill work. The officers report that the work of the different companies has been unusually encouraging and there is no doubt whatever, but that the 57th Regiment will give a good account of itself in the western city on Dominionh Day.

Results of Labour.

Every company of the regiment has now been filled to its capacity, Col. Miller states that it is the earliest in the history of the Rangers that the regiment has reached its maximum strength. The fact is greatly due to the untiring efforts of the officers in charge. They have all worked hard in bringing in recruits and have vied with one another in having their respective companies filled as early as possible.

Route for March Out.

The first march out of the Regiment for the season will be on Tuesday night providing the weather conditions are favourable. The band will, of course, be in attendance and the old familiar redcoats will once again be seen on the streets.

The regiment will leave the drill hall shortly after eight o'clock and march down George to Simcoe, from Simcoe to Aylmer, Aylmer to Hunter, Hunter to Water, up Water to Brock and thence to the Drill Hall.

The officers have taken great pains with the drill this year and the quality of marching promises to eclipse that of other years.

The New Armoury

The proposed new Armouries are being eagerly looked forward to by the military men of the city. With such a Regiment as Peterborough can boast of, the present drill hall is altogether inadequate. Winter drill is practically cut off on account of the severe climatic conditions of the old drill shed and these cannot be remedied until the building is replaced by modern armouries befitting the standing of the Peterborough Rangers among the regiments of the province.

Chief Government Architect Dewart of Ottawa is at present preparing the plans for the new Armouries which will soon be submitted to the authorities.

It is quite probably that when the structure is completed, the maximum number which each company may contain will be raised.

MARTYRDOM DESCRIBED

Kingston Man tells how he Suffered and How he was Released.

"For years a martyr," is how Chas. H. Powell of 105 Raglan Street, Kingston, begins his story. "A martyr to chronic constipation, but now I am free from it and all through the use of Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill."

Many who are now suffering from this complaint will be glad to learn from Mr. Powell's story that there is hope for the most stubborn case. He continues: "I was induced to try Anti-Pill by reading the testimony of some one who had been cured of constipation by it. I suffered for eighteen years and had taken tons of stuff recommended as cures, but which made me worse rather than better. Doctors told me there was no cure for me."

Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill is for sale by all Druggists or by The Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Mr. Powell will verify every word of these statements.

SATURDAY, APRIL 28, 1906.

THE YUKON.

During the past ten years the output of the Yukon gold fields has amounted to $174,802,000, an average of nearly twelve millions a year. The figures by years are as follows:

1897, $2,500,000.
1898, $10,000,000.
1899, $16,000,000.
1900, $22,225,000.
1901, $18,000,000.
1902, $14,500,000.
1903, $12,750,000.
1904, $10,500,000.
1905, $8,327,000.
Total since 1897, $114,802,000.

It will be noticed by the above table that 1900 was the summit year, and that since then the output has been gradually dwindling. This is not to say, however, that the gold fields of the far north are likely to be soon exhausted. The industry — it has reached the character of an industry—has taken on more regular conditions, and the yield, though smaller than in the rush years of the past, will, it is expected, be continuous for many years to come. A sub-Arctic region, which has, from the time of the discovery of the country, been regarded as having no greater value than so much iceberg, has become a source of great wealth production. The Yukon has amply justified its existence, in less than ten years it has yielded enough gold to build the Transcontinental Railway from ocean to ocean.

THE CANAL, ANYWAY.

The Lindsay Watchman-Warder seems desirous of a controversy upon the question of the outlet of the Trent Canal. This at present is not a debatable question. The Government has made provision in the form of surveys, etc., to assist in determining the southern route as between Port Hope and Trenton, and until this material is compiled and made available for purposes of comparison the question of the selection of the best route is in abeyance. The Warder warmly advocates the Port Hope route, and in reply to the Examiner's suggestion that the Trenton route is preferable in respect of making power development better available, it says:—

Our editorial of last week concerning the outlet of the Trent Canal, has occasioned a kick from the Peterborough Examiner. It says that the reasons advanced in favour of the Port Hope route, and the suggestion that perhaps a better service could have been done by developing the water powers and establishing trolley lines, area not well founded.

The Trent Canal ought to be finished. There is no doubt about that, and it ought to be done as quickly as possible. It has already cost the country over $3,000,000. Last year it yielded the sum of $3,768.04 direct revenue to the Government. It would serve the people and the Government much better if it were finished, and after so much being expended it will be said by most people that it ought to be finished, notwithstanding the great service it has done as an election dodge, and its further possibilities in that line.

But it ought to be finished by the quickest and best route and at the least expense. The least expensive route, and the best route, is the Port Hope route. Making that the otulet will not prevent the use of the Trent River and Bay of Quinte route if found desirable afterwards, nor the development of waterpowers below Rice Lake.

Peterborough is all right for water power. It has the lift look for a scenic attraction, and the canal as an opening to upper lakes, and railways to the frontier. Lindsay is not fearing for lack of water power either. But all this aside, many engineers and business heads will contend that the canal if it is completed and used will put out of utility more water powers than its construction will aid in creating. * * * A canal is not in it with trolly lines and railways. Peterborough is a pretty swift town, but there is no business man in its precincts would defy the fates of competition by shipping his output around the curves of the Trent, and the clam waters of the Bay of Quinte.

The Warder does not know the minds of Peterborough business men very well when it asserts that they would not use the canal. There are many industries here which are anxiously awaiting the Trent Canal as the summum bonum is the way of transportation. The canal will be, when completed, both a national and also as a local benefit—whither its southern outlet be by Trenton or Port Hope.

AN ILL-ADVISED CHANGE.

Ottawa Free Press.

A striking example of the folly of the Whitney Government in removing a capable officer of the License Department from office for no other offence, than that he is a Liberal is provided in this city. For years Thomas Smith filled the position of license inspector for the city of Ottawa with acceptance, doing his duty fearlessly and penalizing at every opportunity all violators of the License Act. With the coming of the Whitney Government to power, Mr. Enright was appointed to the position, Mr. Smith being summarily dismissed, having refused to resign.

The showing of the new incumbent of this office as compared with that of his predecessor in the number of convictions is a lamentably weak one. During the past year License Inspector Enright only secured five convictions, as compared with 28 obtained by Mr. Smith in the previous year. This disparity cannot be accounted for in any other way than that the new license inspector has not performed his duties as faithfully as his predecessor. There has been no improvement in the observance of the law, as the number of convictions last year was quite as large as in previous years. These convictions, however, were made by others than the license inspector. According to a statement prepared and presented to the License Commissioners at their meeting on Tuesday, 30 of the convictions were secured by Detective Ryan, seven by Detective McLaughlin, of the Ottawa police force, and nine by the special Provincial officers from Toronto, who visited the city.

The imprudence of discharging a good officer to appoint another of inferior ability, to say nothing of the act, is very apparent in this particular case.

A MODEL CITY.

The American journals, are only as a rule, beginning to take Canada seriously, to recognisantly discuss her resources and possibilities, and appreciate the fact that commercially, and industrially she is a force to be reckoned with on the continent. The New York Sun, which, by the way, writes on a higher level than most of its contemporaries, has the following in reference to the terminus of the National Transcontinental Railway:

"Canada has one of these rare opportunities. She has a chance to build a model city. The western terminus of her Grand Trunk Pacific line from ocean to ocean will be at a place which it has been decided to call Prince Rupert. The new railway is a national enterprise, and as such the Dominion Government has practically full control of the plans for the new city at the western end. Its location is some four hundred miles north of the present city of Vancouver, and not far from the mouth of the Skeena River and only a short distance from the southward projection of Alaska. The region is now practically a wilderness and Canada has a chance to build a city as it should be. She can lay out broad streets, plan sewer systems, provide for ample parks, reserve suitable plots for public buildings and impose restrictions upon the class of structures to be erected in particular districts."

These suggestions from our friendly rival are all worthy of consideration. "The region which is practically a wilderness," will not long remain a wilderness, but be the centre of a thriving commerce — a hive of industry — one of the crowded gateways on the highway between two hemispheres.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Whitney Government license bill has become a license law, and now we have the doctrine of equal rights exemplified by the provision which makes three equal to five.

Mr. Whitney said in his place in the House that the money represented by the two million loan to revive the Soo industries "might as well be thrown into the lake." Yet his Government, with an air of proprietorship of the idea, introduces legislation to extend the guarantee for a year. Mr. Whitney must be sorry sometimes for talking too much all the time.

Provincial Treasurer Matheson, who achieved the brilliant accomplishment of selling gilt-edged Ontario bonds at 96 cents, did not exhaust all his brilliancy in that one great act. His reasoning is as brilliant as his action. He says that taxation of railway earnings is an indirect tax because it can be shifted to the users of a railway, but a tax on mileage is a direct tax, and therefore within the constitutional power of the Province to impose. This is about as lucid reasoning as the statement of the western postmaster, who announced that "the postoffice has been removed from where it was to where it is now." Almost any railway company would make a shift to shift the burden of a tax on its patrons, whether it was on mileage or earnings.

Christian Scientists REPORT A YEAR OF Satisfactory Progress

Annual Meeting of First Church of Christ Scientists Held Last Night—A Feature of Meeting Was Presentation to R. J. Todd—Reports Presented are Adopted—In Five Years no Deaths Recorded Among Membership.

Last night the members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, held their annual business meeting, which was very harmonious and satisfactory, as the reports show. After receiving the different reports, the President of the Church, Mr. R. J. Todd, gave a short address, thanking the officers and members for their co-operation in the work during the past year. Mr. Todd said, in part, that while they were not unmindful of the guiding hand of their Heavenly Father in enabling the officers to bring out the results that the reports show, he wished to call attention to one, and a more important factor in this work. Jesus said his followers should heal the sick as well as the sinful. As Christian Scientists they claimed to be followers of the great healer of mankind. Had they proven their claim? If not their theory was worthless. When they, with the mind's eye looked over the five years since he undertook the work of managing the Church and seeing the many temptations of sickness. And some very severe, almost at the ports of death, as well as other discords that have been overcome, and note that in those five years they had not been called upon to follow a member of their flock to the tomb, they were led humbly and gratefully to say in the words of Jacob, "Truly God is in this place."

Mr. Todd said that it was due to the consecrated life of Mrs. Eddy and the spiritual interpretation of scripture as taught by their text-book, "Science and Health, with key to the scriptures", accompanied by the spirit and mind that was in Christ Jesus, that they had been enabled to do the little they had done. He then expressed their love and gratitude in humble, consecrated and holy lives until they each the stature of the fullness of Christ."

The election of officers then took place, the officers for last year being re-elected on the first ballot.

Mr. Todd was presented with the following address and a valuable volume of Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures", by Rev. Mary B. G. Eddy, being one of the three hundred and ninety-fourth edition, of 1000 copies:—

Peterborough, April 27, 1906.

Dear Mr. Todd.—As members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, we desire to express our appreciation of your work as Leader in this field during the past year, and of your faithful energetic efforts to build up this Church on a solid basis.

We are grateful to God for the overcoming of many claims of evil which have tried to usurp the power of the All Powerful during the year, and we rejoice that these milestones are past. We hope that we may now press on to the high goal striving, watching and praying for that mind to be in us which was also in Christ Jesus, "Till we all come to the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto the perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ."

As a token of our appreciation of your services on behalf of our Church, we ask you to accept this pocket edition of our text-book "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures" by Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy, and we hope that it will be of service to you in proclaiming and demonstrating the healing gospel of Truth and Love contained in its pages.

Signed on behalf of the Church.

JAS. C. BORLAND, Clerk.

G. A. YOUNG, Treasurer.

Mr. Todd replied in a few well-chosen words, remarking that this was substantial evidence that the barrel of meal and the cruise of oil had not yet failed and that the past year has proven that God does provide a table in the wilderness.

Mr. R. S. Todd read the annual auditor's report, as follows:—

Editor Post Card Column:

At the conclusion of the "Tenderfoot" production at the Grand the other night, the theatrical company, which is an American one, were considerate enough to sing the National Anthem. It was very exasperating to loyal Britons to see the few Peterborough people who honoured the anthem by standing up and remaining quiet until it was concluded. Most of the audience proceeded to don their coats, wraps, etc., and hustle out of the theatre as if they were after a doctor or on other urgent business. That was not the first time this season that the occurrence happened and the theatre goers who participate in this practise and who consider their manners somewhat above the average, should be ashamed of themselves. It is to be hoped that in future no matter where the National Anthem is heard in Peteborough that the hearers will respect it before everything else.

Yours, etc.,

LOYALTY.

Interesting Event in St. John's Church Next Month.

The "Grand Moving Tableaux," to be given by the A.Y.P.A., of St. John's church, in the Guild Hall, on May 16th, promises to be a very popular event. It will consist of three acts. In the first part "Camp Life in South Africa;" and in the second part "Gipsy Life in Spain," will be realistically depicted. In the first "The Call to Arms," "Saluting," "Sworn in," "Good bye," "The March," "Dinner," "Buglers," "Awkward Squad," "Three Months Later," "Campfire," (and programme,) "Sentry Go," (with jokes, etc.) "The Battle Field," and "The Soldier's Return."

In the second part, "The Camp," "Fortune Teller," "King's and Queen's Reception," "The Wedding," "The Tinker," "The May Pole," and "The Camp Fire."

All will be artistically presented, interspersed with solos, choruses, and jokes.

In the third part "Britannia" will be tendered a birthday surprise party by Canada and her nine daughters. All the characters have been well chosen, and those who are fortunate enough to be present will no doubt enjoy the event. The same programme has been given in Kingston, Brockville, Ottawa, and several other places, and was always received with crowded houses.

"WOOED AND MARRIED AND A'"

BURNHAM-KENDRY NUPTIALS TO-DAY

A pretty "Lily of the Valley" wedding was that celebrated this afternoon at two o'clock, when, in the George street Methodist Church, Miss Gertrude Kendrey, only daughter of Mr. Jas. Kendrey, ex-M.P., for West Peterborough was united in marriage to Mr. George Clarence Burnham, of Toronto, district engineer for the Allis-Chalmers, Bullock Company, of Chicago and Montreal, third son of Mr. Zaoh. Burnham, of Otonabee. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Crothers, and was witnessed by a very large number, in addition to the 150 invited guests.

Both young people are well known in the city, where they have grown up, and where they have won many friends, and for this reason the event had a special significance to a great many persons. Some time before the hour set for the wedding, a large crowd gathered at the church, and when the bridal party drove up promptly at the hour mentioned the church was well filled.

The bright sunshine outside but reflected the happy spirits of those participating in and witnessing this pleasing event.

At the Church.

Upon the arrival of the party at the church, which was crowded, the ushers, Mr. Carl Waldinger, Boston; Mr. Frank Burnham, city; Mr. Robin Collins, Toronto, and Mr. Llewellyn Hall, city, led the procession into the sacred edifice, and following were the pages, Masters Wallo Nickels, of Toronto, and Heber Rogers, with the pretty flower girls, little Miss Madelineline Rutherford, cousin of the bride, and Miss Dorothy Langfeldt and the bride's flower girl, Miss Ruby Sharpe, cousin of the bride, bearing a handsome basket of forget-me-nots. The maid of honour, Miss Madge Davidson, preceded the bride, who entered the church on her father's arm as the wedding march, from Lohengrin was played by Prof. Milner.

At the altar the bridegroom and groomsman, Mr. Herbert Burson, of Montreal, were met and the impressive ceremony at once was proceeded with, Rev. Dr. Crothers, pastor of the church pronouncing the words which made the young couple man and wife.

The church was handsomely decorated in honour of the occasion, the colour scheme being green and white. In front of the choir loft and the altar there were drapings of soft white cloth, relieved with sprays of smilax, while the floral ornamentation consisted of Easter lilies, palms, spirea and asparagus ferns.

The Costumes.

The bride was attired in a beautiful Empire gown of soft white liberty brocade, veiled with white chiffon. The waist was formed of a jacket of Irish crochet hand made lace, with V front of rose point lace and touches of the same lace on the sleeves. The full, soft skirt was of crepe chiffon, with ruches of silver cloth and tiny rosettes of chiffon. The bride wore a tulle veil with lilies of the valley and carried an old fashioned bouquet of the same flowers. A pearl collar, the gift of the bridegroom also formed part of her costume.

The bridesmaid, Miss Madge Davidson wore cream silk mull over taffetta, with short tulle veil, and wreath of pink rosebuds. She carried a large bunch of American Beauty roses, and wore a pearl cross, the gift of the bride.

The bride's flower girl, Miss Ruby Sharpe, presented a pretty picture, wearing a frock of white organdie with Valenciennes lace insertion. She carried a basket of forget-me-nots. The bride's gift to the flower girl was a handsome gold bracelet which she wore during the ceremony.

Mrs. Kendrey, mother of the bride, was costumed in reseda green silk, with rose point berthe and a black hat trimmed with plumes.

Mrs. Burnham, the groom's mother, was gowned in rich black silk, trimmed with whits lace and applique. Her bonnet was of jetted net with touches of whits.

Miss Burnham, sister of the groom, wore a cream serge and brocaded dress and white chiffon hat.

Mrs. Ely wore a handsome imported costume of corn coloured crepe de chine, adorned with pompadour silk and opal trimmings. Her hat was of black net with handsome ostrich plumes and opal trimming, while her cloak was of rich, black lace.

Mrs. Frederick Cass was dressed in a renaissance lace gown over pearl grey taffeta. She wore diamond ornaments, and a hat of white Irish crochet lace trimmed with white ostrich plumes completed her costume.

The Reception.

After the ceremony, and while the register was being signed the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March floated throughout the sacred edifice. On leaving the church the bridal party repaired to the residence of the bride's parents on Water street, where a reception was held at which a large number of guests was present. The house was artistically decorated with American Beauty and Queen roses, while Marguerites and Bridesmaids roses adorned the tables in the the large marquee located on the lawn, from which refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnham, after receiving the congratulations of their friends, left with several of the guests in a special car which was attached to the 5.15 C.P.R. express. They will spend their honeymoon in Toronto, Detroit and other points. On their return to the Queen City they will take up their residence at 170 University Avenue, where the bride will be at home to her friends during the last week in May. The brides' going away costume was a grey worsted cheviot with Eton jacket adorned with touches of blue, and vest of black and white silk. She wore a polo sailor hat trimmed with bows of black and white ribbon and black quills.

The presents, which in point of quality as well as quantity, evidenced the popularity of the bride, included two handsome Mission chairs of English waxed oak with red leather seats and one beautiful arm chair of fumed oak with dark green seat from the employees of the Auburn Woollen Mills, of which Mr. Kendrey is President and Managing Director. The groom's gift to the best man was a diamond scarf pin, while to each of the pages he presented gold cuff links. The bride's gift to each of the flower girls was a dainty gold pin.

Among the guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice J. Taylor and the Misses Taylor, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McIntosh, Toronto; Mr. R. B. Murrice, Montreal; Mr. Carl Weldinger, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cass, New York; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. H. Ely and Mrs. Ed. Bennett, Tarrytington-on-the-Hudson, N. Y.; Miss Clint Cunningham, Frankfort, Ky.; Mr. W. B. Northrup, M.P., Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cragg, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Philpott, Toronto.

OBITUARY.

KATHERINE VOUX.

Another of Peterborough's octogenarians has passed away in the person of Katherine Voux, wife of John Laviolette, at the age of 81 years. Mrs. Laviolette had not been in good health for the past five years, but it was only during the last six months of her life that illness became acute. Her death was due to complication of diseases combined with old age. She has been a resident of this city for about 47 years and has always been a respected lady by all who knew her. Besides her husband she leaves three daughters, all of Peterborough, Mrs. Briou, Mrs. Lefave, and Mrs. Belleveau. She is survived by a brother and sister residing in Montreal. The funeral will take place on Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence, 874 Water street; will proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the St. Peter's Cemetery for interment.

LUCY PETERS.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Peters, Parnell street, will sympathize with them in the death of their infant daughter, Lucy Lyoella, this morning, aged 3 months and 15 days. The funeral will take place on Monday morning at 10 o'clock from the family residence, 33 Parnell street, and will proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. A. H. Brace, of the Park street Baptist church, will conduct the funeral services.

LINDSAY'S MILLS BUSY SEASON

The Lindsay Post says: The amount of timber to be cut by the Carew mills this year will be large, and on Thursday of last week Mr. Carew commenced operations at the mill with a force of 60 men. The stock this year is the heaviest and largest for a number of years. One of the busiest tugs on the Scugog waters is Mr. Carew's Beaver, which was sent down last Tuesday to Sturgeon Lake for a small tow to keep the mill running till the large drives come in.

THE LATEST SPORTS

LINDSAY MAY YET HAVE TEAM

Lindsay may be in the Midland Baseball League after all this year. The Post says:—

There is still an agitation in Lindsay for a senior ball team. We have been so accustomed to a fast ball team that to do without one would make a long tame summer in Lindsay. It has been suggested that if the ball players will offer their services, without looking for a price and secure a first-class pitcher, the trick can be done in a short while. Of course any moneys left over at the end of the season would be distributed among the players. Now, let us hear from you, sports and players.

OSHAWA JUNIORS HAVE CONFIDENCE

A despatch from Oshawa says:—The Shamrocks of Oshawa, who last year finished in second place in the Inter-Association League, will this season place a team in the junior C.L.A. They expect to have an excellent team this year, and will make a strong effort to capture the championship of their district, which is composed of the strongest junior clubs in Eastern Ontario. Port Hope, Peterborough, and Millbrook, the other teams in this district, also have strong teams, and the winner should nearly carry off the junior C.L.A. championship.

TENNIS CLUB WILL HOLD A MEETING

The Nicholls Oval Tennis Club will meet at the Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday night at 7.30. All members are asked to be present as business of importance will be transacted.

FOOTBALL

The schedule of the Midland League games is being drawn up this afternoon and judging from the number of representatives of outside clubs who are in the city to-day, the league promises to be a flourishing one.

The clubs who have notified the secretary of their intentions of entering are Lakehurst, Fenelon Falls, Omemee, Lakefield, Harwood, Cobourg, Bowmanville and the Peterborough Quakers, the last two placing teams in both the intermediate and junior series. However, it is expected that a number of other clubs who have not written, will be represented in the league which this year will no doubt eclipse all past records in football.

Government Bills are Up And Considered

More of Them Introduced in the Ontario Legislature.

AGRICULTURAL MEASURES

Sanitary Inspectors For Cheese and Butter Factories—Amendment to the Local Drainage Act Gives Power For the Appointment of Additional Officer—Discussion of Mining Bill in Committee.

Toronto, April 28.—The session of the Legislature yesterday afternoon was comparatively short, and the attendance was slim, but several Government bills of importance were introduced, and considerable business was transacted.

One measure gives authority for the division of the Province into two sections for the administration of the drainage law, and empowers the appointment of an additional referee. The Opposition questioned the appointment of an additional officer, pointing out that other bills brought in have provided for a number of berths. Hon. Mr. Ross thought that if the House sat until July there would be very few people in the Province for whom an office would not have been provided. One of three bills brought in by Hon. Mr. Monteith provides for the appointment of sanitary inspectors for cheese and butter factories.

In committee on the mining bill the Opposition was again prominent, Mr. MacKay continuing his vigorous fight against the indefeasible title proposition.

His Honor the Lieut.-Governor was present before the business session commenced, and gave the Royal assent to 57 bills which have passed the House, among them being the following:

Bills Assented To.

To Incorporate the Synod of the Diocese of Algoma of the Church of England.

Respecting the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines.

To Amend the Act to Preserve the Forest from Destruction by Fire.

To Incorporate the Executive of the Provincial Y. M. C. A. of Ontario and Quebec.

Authorising Certain Payments under the Public Libraries' Act.

Respecting County Houses of Refuge.

To Amend the Act for the Improvement of Public Highways.

Respecting Agricultural Associations.

To Amend the Ontario Elections Act.

Respecting the Town of Port Hope.

To Amend the Ontario Medical Act.

Respecting Local Municipal Telephone Systems.

Respecting Prospectuses Issued by Companies.

To Further Amend the Pharmacy Act.

To Amend the County Courts Act.

To Amend the Liquor License Law.

To Amend the Act Respecting Aid to the Algoma Central Railway and Associated Industries.

The Supply Bill, embodying the main estimates.

The Attorney-General introduced his amendment to the statute law in the Legislature yesterday. There are twenty sections.

Frauds in Cheese-Making.

Hon. Mr. Monteith introduced a bill to amend the act to prevent frauds in the manufacture of cheese and butter. Mr. Monteith said this was to meet the views of the dairymen.

Another bill introduced by the Minister of Agriculture was entitled "An Act for the Suppression of Foul Brood Among Bees." It repeals the old act. The only important change is that the appointment and direction of apiary inspectors is taken out of the hands of the Ontario Beekeepers' Association and will in future be under the control of the Minister. More than one inspector may be provided for carrying on the work and appointments are to be made by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council instead of by the association.

Council For O. A. C.

A third bill amends the Act Respecting the O. A. C. It provides for the appointment of an advisory board in accordance with the recommendation of the university commission. Its members are to consist of the deputy minister of agriculture, who shall be chairman, the president of the college, three graduates or associates of the college and two practical farmers who are graduates. Under the old act this board was composed of not more than seven practical farmers and no provision was made for the representation of the graduates and associates of the college.

A number of bills were read a third time, among them being that respecting the Gamey money in the Court of Judicature.

Several bills were taken up in committee and Mr. Foy moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Devolution of Estates Act.

The House spent some time in committee on Mr. Cochrane's mining bill. Mr. Mackay objected strongly to the powers given inspectors, but the provision was defended as in the interests of the people.

Call It "An Outrage."

Toronto, April 28.—Local Socialists have passed a resolution denouncing the action of the Postmaster-General in excluding the Appeal to Reason from the Canadian mails "as an outrage upon the principles of free discussion," and they declare such policy on his part as establishing a press censorship as bad as that existing in Russia.

Shoots at Superior Officer.

Winnipeg, April 28.—Sergt. Foy of the Royal Canadian Mounted Rifles, quartered in Fort Osborne Barracks here, shot at Sergt.-Major Doherty with his rifle yesterday, as the result of a quarrel while on parade. Foy was arrested and will be tried by the civil authorities.

AN EX-MAYOR GIVES UNSTINTED PRAISE

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are the Very Best Medicine I Ever Used for Kidney Trouble."

Mr. Robert Sheppard, Ex-Mayor of Gananoque, Ont., Testifies to the Merits of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Gananoque, Ont., April 27. —(Special.) — "I suffered off and on for over four years from kidney trouble," writes Mr. Sheppard of this place, and though I tried many remedies and was under a doctor for a long while I get no better. I had Bright's Disease slightly, Lumbago, pains in my loins, and at times all over my body. My skin was dry, hard and burning. I could not sleep. The least exertion made me perspire fearfully, and my blood was so bad I broke out in boils all over the neck and back. I was in this state when I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and in an incredibly short space of time the boils disappeared. I recovered my health and now I am quite cured."

MONTREAL HARBOR BOARD

Bill For Reorganization Before House—Hon. Mr. Brodeur Explains Its Provisions—Wants Broader Plan and Hopes For the Making of Eight National Ports Fully Equipped—The Fruit Marks Act.

Ottawa, April 28.—The adoption of several unimportant bills was the net result of a dull and listless day in the House, yesterday. The bills for improving the legislation respecting the marking and packing of fruit and reorganizing the Montreal Harbor Board were again discussed in committee, and allowed to stand over for further consideration.

To Regulate Export.

Mr. Fitzpatrick introduced a bill to regulate the exportation of electric power, oil, fluids and gases. The bill aims to control the export of electricity, petroleum and natural gas. Persons now or hereafter engaged in the exportation of electricity, petroleum and gas must take out a license within a limited time, revokable by the Minister of Public Works. The Government to make regulations and fix fees. Export without license, or to a greater extent than specified in the license, is forbidden.

Mr. Maclean hoped that some day the control of export by the Government would be extended to nickel, lumber and pulpwood, and other raw materials.

The bill was given a first reading.

Mr. Fitzpatrick's bill to amend the Canada evidence act, and Mr. Fisher's bill to provide for the collection and publishing of labor statistics, were given third readings.

Export of Fruit.

Mr. Fisher's bill to amend the fruit marks act was taken up in committee and discussed, the committee rising and reporting progress.

Mr. Fisher's bill concerning leprosy was considered in committee and finally passed. The bill provides for the appointment of a medical superintendent of leper colonies, thereby bringing them under complete Government control.

National Ports.

Mr. Brodeur's bill to reorganize the Montreal harbor board reduces the board from eleven to three, but the system remained. In his opinion all rivers and harbors should be under one responsible head. He deprecated the slow progress made in improving the St. Lawrence route between Montreal and Quebec. This bill was intended to produce relief. He favored making not only Montreal, but also Quebec, St. John, Halifax, Victoria, Vancouver, Midhead and Port Colborne national ports, and equipping them thoroughly.

After some debate it was agreed that the whole subject of transportation should be discussed by the House on Monday.

Leave was granted to the promoters to withdraw the bill respecting the Vancouver and Northwestern Railway Co.

To Get Control in Canada.

The bill before the Railway Committee yesterday which asked, among other things, power to build through the Yellow Head Pass to Edmonton, produced vigorous objection from Senators McMullin and Kirchoffer against American lines being allowed to take up all the available passes through the Rockies. There seemed to be an organized attempt by outside interests, they said, to corner all these passes. The bill stands for further consideration.

G. T. P. Subsidiary Co.'s

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway commission bill, authorising the issue of debenture stock to the amount of $35,000,000 for the equipment of the road was reported yesterday by the Railway Committee of the House of Commons. The Minister of Justice stated that as he understood this legislation, it would not interfere with the Government mortgage, as the issue provided for ranks after the Government lien.

The next bill taken up was that for the incorporation of the Grand Trunk Pacific Branch Lines Co., with power to build some twenty-two named connecting with the new transcontinental line and such other branches as the Governor-in-Council may approve. The bill will be further considered next week.

Civic Control of Streets.

Ottawa, April 28.—The delegation from Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec, and also from the Union of Municipalities, and other cities of the Dominion waited on Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. A. B. Aylesworth and Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick in the Premier's office yesterday forenoon. The Ontario Government could not be represented at the interview, owing to the Legislature being in session, but the following telegram from Hon. J. P. Whitney was received during the day by the Union of Canadian Municipalities:

"You are authorized to say that the Ontario Government is in hearty sympathy with the principle of the control of streets and highways by the municipalities."

W. D. Lighthall, the honorary secretary of the Union of Municipalities, introduced the delegation, several members of which spoke for control of their streets, and to give the power to expropriate and also control of franchises.

Ellen Terry's Jubilee.

London, April 28.—At the close of the performance at His Majesty's Theatre last night, at which Ellen Terry had a remarkable reception, in a pretty scene the presentation of the Play-goers' Club silver casket and an address in commemoration of the actress' jubilee was made. The scene was one of indescribable enthusiasm and Miss Terry could not voice her feelings in words.

The Insurance Inquiry Still In Progress

Mr. Junkin Tells Whole Story of the Pellatt Matter.

REPARATION BY SIR HENRY

Manager of Manufacturers' Life Does Not Think It Right to Loan Money on Its Own Stock, Although It Had Been Done—Some of the Methods of High Finance in the Lime Light.

Toronto, April 28.—Mr. J. F. Junkin, managing director of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Co., began his third day on the witness stand before the Royal Insurance Commission yesterday morning.

To Mr. Tilley, Mr. Junkin finished recounting the names of committees that had to do with the Manufacturers' Life here and elsewhere.

He was asked if any policyholder had ever asked for information or any list of policyholders had been issued. Witness said "No." If a policyholder were to ask for a list of policyholders entitled to vote, he would turn to his card system. He would not be compelled to furnish such information by law. If he thought it was some rival agent he would decline.

Policyholders in Company's Hands.

"He would get the information if he was prepared to vote in a certain way; if not he probably would not get it; he would be practically in your hands?"

"Yes."

This matter had never been tested. He was asked if he knew why policyholders were put on a different basis from shareholders regarding voting by proxy. He said his company simply followed the old charter under which policyholders must come personally and vote.

"There is no way by which policyholders are supplied with information as to who are entitled to vote that you know of?"

"No."

The Call Loans.

Mr. Shepley, the senior counsel for the Government, took his first turn at examination during the morning. He sought from Mr. Junkin more complete information regarding the call loans which Mackenzie and Mann obtained from the Manufacturers' Life. The first loan was for $125,000, a part of which was devoted to the purchase of the 4,000 shares which the two directors held. The stock was hypothecated for the loan, and Mackenzie and Mann also gave as security the Inverness Railway bonds. To this security the Inspector of Insurance objected, and the Manufacturers' Life substituted other bonds. The first loan of $125,000 to the railway firm was supplemented by a later and smaller loan when they were amalgamated, the total amount being $138,000, which was loaned in this instance to Mackenzie and Mann, Limited. For this Mackenzie and Mann gave as collateral 1,600 shares of Canada Lake & Ocean Navigation, 1,650 shares of Imperial Rolling stock, and 8,566 shares of Vancouver Gas Co. The 4,000 shares of stock in the Manufacturers' Life purchased by Mackenzie and Mann were also pledged.

Loan Money on Own Stock.

"Did you think it was right to advance money on your own stock?" asked Mr. Shepley.

"I don't think it is."

Turning to the charter of the Navigation Co., Mr. Shepley showed that it was a special charter, not under the general act. Mr. Shepley called attention to the names mentioned in the incorporation.

Witness said he knew that Mackenzie and Mann were connected with the navigation company, but considered this no reason why its shares should not be accepted as security by his company. There were few large companies in and around Toronto with which Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann and Pellatt were not connected.

Methods of High Finance.

Mr. Shepley, however, went into the ethics of the transaction and asked Mr. Junkin if he considered it objectionable that the members of his board of the Manufacturers' Life should be members of the board of a company borrowing money from the Manufacturers' Mr. Junkin would not admit that it was wrong. He thought that the principle was not bad. As managing director of the Manufacturers' Life he would not refuse to accept Toronto Railway stock, for instance, although Messrs. Mann, Mackenzie and Pellatt were members of both boards. He was prepared to say that he would accept the stock of any company. In short, he would buy a good investment for the Manufacturers' Life no matter where he found it. He wanted to find the cheapest market always.

"And the directors of other companies would naturally look for the highest market to sell securities," remarked Mr. Shepley; "don't you see any conflict of duty, when the same directors are on each board?"

"A conflict of duty would not necessarily arise," was Mr. Junkin's answer.

Crow's Nest and Dominion Coal.

Under examination Mr Junkin then proceeded to explain the investment of the company in Crow's Nest and Dominion Coal. The company secured 202 shares of Crow's Nest Pass and 1,825 shares of Dominion Coal. The price of the stock dropped and Mr. Junkin saw ten of the directors who were mainly responsible for accepting the security, and they agreed that they should personally stand the loss.

These ten directors formed the Prudential Securities Co., with the object of taking the stock off the company's hands and holding it until the market improved. The insurance company advanced $28,500 to certain of the directors on $30,500 of securities ("a narrow margin," commented counsel), but the remainder of the $240,000 was put up in cash. The sale of the stock to Mackenzie and Mann and its repurchase was a nominal sale, the witness admitted, and Mr. Shepley tried to make the witness say that the repayment of Mackenzie and Mann's loan and their borrowing it back again was a similar temporary device. "They didn't give you their cheque until they were sure they would get it back again?" said Mr. Shepley.

On Sir H. M. Pellatt's Advice.

On the beginning of the afternoon session, Mr. Shepley asked the witness if Col. Pellatt, the vice-president, was the broker for the company and who advised the sale of the different stocks.

Col. Pellatt was on the finance committee, said witness. He advised the sale of stock in conjunction with other members of the board of directors.

"I see on May 16, 1902, cheque from Manufacturers' Life for $30,000, and on May 19, you are credited with 500 shares Canadian Pacific and 50 shares of Commercial Cable, leaving a debit balance of $74,000. Then again there are interest cheques. Am I right?" asked counsel.

"Yes."

"Then I see no more items until August, when Pellatt appears the debtor to the amount of $74,000, which was balanced by a sale of stock. When did you begin to give Pellatt security when you gave him orders to buy?"

"If we did not pay outright, Pellatt held stock until he received our cheque."

"Was this purchase of C. P. R. on Sept. 30, 1902, 100 shares, to be paid for in installments. Did Pellatt owe the company on this date $103,360?"

"No, that is not accurate."

"What is the correct transaction?"

"Col. Pellatt referred to the matter of Dominion Steel as a profitable investment. It was then selling above 60, and in his opinion, would go to par."

"Was it a dividend-paying stock?"

"No."

"Was it authorized under the act?"

"No."

"Did Pellatt deal in the stock himself?"

"No."

Promised "No Loss."

Witness had hesitated, but Col. Pellatt seemed so confident that the directors finally decided to buy. Col. Pellatt had promised that he would see that the company would make no loss.

"When the stock started to go down was the matter reported to the finance committee."

"I saw him myself, but we did not see the committee."

"Was the desirability of keeping such a transaction out of the minutes gone into with Pellatt?"

"Not at that time. I told Col. Pellatt that he would have to assume the loss himself. This he agreed to do."

"But the stock was still dropping?"

"Yes."

"Now at the departmental enquiry it seems the C. P. R. was hypothecated to Pellatt. How did he come to have it?"

"We could not pay for Steel stock, so we sold 400 shares of Commercial Cable to get a loan from the bank f[illegible] carry the stock."

THE CALL BUILDING, ALSO DESTROYED.

"Who do you mean by 'we'?"

"Mr. Junkin."

"Was the board consulted?"

"No."

"How did Pellatt come to have the C. P. R. stock?"

"Later on we bought 400 shares of Dominion Coal to improve the Steel transaction. Col. Pellatt had sold the Commercial Cable and we gave him 400 shares of C. P. R. to take the place of Cable."

Knew It Was Improper.

"You knew that this was an improper transaction?"

"Yes."

"None of these transactions appear in the securities account?"

"The Steel and Coal do not. The others do."

"On March 31, 1903, there is a deal of 400 Dominion Coal delivered and 400 C. P. R. received. Why was that?"

"To help out the Steel."

"Then that is how Pellatt got the 1,000 shares?"

"Yes."

"When this advanced stage was reached, was the board then told of the stock gambling?"

"No."

"When was it brought to the attention of the board?"

"The next October."

"Was there anything done in 1903 about the matter?"

"Yes."

"What was done?"

Squaring Things.

"Col. Pellatt took over the Coal and Steel and paid for the stocks himself. We made him a loan of $46,000 on his property at the Beach. Then on other securities we loaned him in all $101,800."

"Did you then tell the finance committee that all this occurred by Col. Pellatt hypothecating an unauthorized investment?"

"No."

"You are responsible for the resolution passed at a meeting of the board re the transaction which was improperly conducted?"

"Yes."

"Did Col. Pellatt tell you that his own transactions had been disastrous?"

"Yes."

Junkin Takes Blame.

Mr. Shepley then referred to the minutes of the finance committee meeting held in October, 1903, when it had been decided to give a loan to Col. Pellatt on the ground that he could not deliver 1,000 shares of C. P. R., which he had bought for the company and hypothecated.

"Who gave this explanation to the finance committee?" asked Mr. Shepley.

"I did," said Mr. Junkin.

"That is the explanation given to the insurance department by Mr. Junkin was an incorrect version, fixed up to induce the company to make a loan to Col. Pellatt to pay for investments in Dominion Coal and Steel, about which the board knew nothing?"

"Yes."

"What is the history of the transaction since that?"

"Everything is paid off."

Had Solicitor's Advice.

Witness took the responsibility of this. He said he had consulted the solicitor before preparing the resolution placed before the finance committee on the subject. It was left to the committee whether or not the mortgage given by Pellatt should be registered.

"When the department found this mortgage, you did not tell them the real terms of the transaction?"

"No. I just showed the resolution."

"Then this is the first time you have told anyone the real facts?"

"Well, I said something about it when the affair was being discussed at Ottawa."

Pellatt Had Made Reparation.

S. H. Blake, K. C., said, addressing the commissioners:

"I wanted Your Honor to give me an opportunity of asking these questions. I am representing Mr. Pellatt. He has done wrong in the way in which these transactions have been presented, but he made every restitution in his power by paying up the whole loss to the extent of $79,000."

When questioned further on "business ethics," the witness held to the same moral ideals that he had propounded at the morning session.

The Prudential Co.

Mr. Tilley—"Who were the ten directors that formed the Prudential Securities Co.?"

"Messrs. D. B. Mann, Wm. Mackenzie, S. G. Beatty, Lloyd Harris, Col. Pellatt, J. Mason, E. R. Wood, E. J. Lennox, J. F. Junkin and A. E. Patterson."

"This company was not formed as a paramount one to carry on the business of buying and selling stocks?"

"No."

Counsel then read the agreement between the Prudential and the Manufacturers' Life.

"This company was formed to take care of the unauthorized investments—18, 25 Dominion Coal and 202 Crow's Nest Coal. But there were also transferred to the Prudential some Mexican Power and Ontario Electric Development stocks?"

Mr. Junkin said that the Prudential had borrowed from other sources as well as Manufacturers' Life. The Manufacturers' Life had been reimbursed by directors for the loss on Crow's Nest Coal and Dominion Coal. They then formed the Prudential to reimburse themselves.

The court adjourned till Tuesday at 10.30 a. m.

Coal Operators As They Were.

New York, April 28.—The anthracite mine operators, through their sub-committee of seven, yesterday replied to the latest propositions of the mine workers for an adjournment of the existing differences in the anthracite fields, refusing to modify their position heretofore announced. "Your propositions are wholly inconsistent with our position in the premises, from which we have not varied," the operators say. And then in conclusion: "We trust that on Thursday next the deliberate judgment of the anthracite workers will result in an acceptance of that proposition (to renew existing relations for three years)."

Boy Drowns.

Grenville, Que., April 28.—A drowning accident occurred yesterday morning. Adolphus Tassie, aged 13, son of Cyrille Tassie, fell into the locks and was drowned.

The Kidneys and Uric Acid

THE ALL-IMPORTANT WORK OF THESE FILTERS OF THE BLOOD AND HOW THEY MAY BE KEPT HEALTHY BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

When the whole vital process of digestion and assimilation of food is completed there still remains the work of removing from the blood the uric acids, salts and water, and this can be accomplished only by the kidneys. The failure of the kidneys to perform this work reacts on the whole digestive and filtering systems, chokes up the liver, and by means of the circulation of the blood sends the poisonous waste matter through the entire body, giving rise to pains, derangements and disease.

Among the early indications of kidney disease may be mentioned:

Backache.
Fickle appetite.
Deposits in the urine.
Frequent desire to urinate, especially at night.
Rheumatism and sciatic pains, constipation and diarrhoea alternating.
Dropsical swelling.
Scanty, dark-coloured urine.
Persistent loss of flesh and weight.

Prompt relief is obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and by persistent treatment the kidneys are restored to health and activity.

No medicine which acts on the kidneys alone can possibly prove effective, because in the great majority of cases the liver and bowels are also deranged. Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, they bring about satisfactory results in the most complicated cases.

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose at bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular, healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the consequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy, or other equally dreaded ailments. SUFFERED AGONIES FOR FOUR YEARS

Whole Foot Nothing But Proud Flesh — Tried Different Physicians and All Kinds of Ointments — Could Walk Only With Crutches — Ohio Man Says:

"CUTICURA REMEDIES THE BEST ON EARTH."

"In the year 1899 the side of my right foot was cut off from the little toe down to the heel, and the physician who had charge of me was trying to sew up the side of my foot, but with no success. When he found out that wouldn't work, he began trying to heal the wound with all kinds of ointment, until at last my whole foot and way up above my calf was nothing but proud flesh. I suffered untold agonies for four years, and tried different physicians and all kinds of ointments. I could walk only with crutches. It is sixteen months ago since I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for my limb and foot. The first two months the Cuticura Remedies did not seem to work, but I kept on using them both. In two weeks afterwards I saw a change in my limb. Then I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment often during the day and kept it up for seven months, when my limb was healed up just the same as if I never had trouble.

"It is eight months now since I stopped using Cuticura Remedies, the best on God's earth. I am working at the present day, after five years of suffering. The cost of Cuticura Ointment and Soap was only $6; but the doctors' bills were more like $600. You can publish my name and refer any one to write to me about Cuticura Remedies. I will answer all letters if postage is enclosed. John M. Lloyd, 718 S. Arch Ave., Alliance, Ohio, June 27, 1905."

MISS ROGER'S RECITAL.

That Peterborough is the possessor of a pianist of finished skill and marked ability was clearly demonstrated by Miss Alice Roger in her recital in the Y.M.C.A. last night. To say that she achieved a triumph is but expressing it mildly. The large audience was thoroughly appreciative of Miss Roger's efforts, and at the conclusion of the programme she was warmly congratulated by her many friends upon her success. Miss Roger was assisted by Mr. Harold Jarvis, the well-known tenor, and Mr. H. M. Field, the famous Canadian piano virtuoso. The programme presented by these talented entertainers was most delightful, and no better proof of this can be offered than the fact that every number was heartily encored. The recital may be properly termed, and without detracting in any way from previous functions of a like nature, one of the choicest musical treats of the season. The programme was admirably chosen from the viewpoint of artist and audience alike, and the whole effect was most pleasing.

To Miss Roger a great deal of praise for the success and pleasure of the evening is due. Her brilliant playing was such as to evoke the heartiest commendation and admiration on the part of her audience. Her selections, which included numbers of a heavy, mature, as well as lighter and brighter composition, was one that amply demonstrated her ability as a pianist. In her programme she displayed a brilliancy of tone and mastery of technique that indeed merited the highest possible praise and was deserving of the warm manifestations of appreciation that were shown by her hearers. Miss Roger is an artist of which any city might be justly proud, and in her work last night she may be said to have surpassed all her previous efforts, as she never seemed in better form than on the occasion of last night's recital. Miss Roger's numbers, in all of which she was compelled to reply to an enthusiastic encore, were Beethoven's Sonata, op. 10, No. 3, "Presto Largo e Mesto"; Chopin's Ballade, op. 47, Liszt's Liebestraum No. 2; Grieg's Schmetterling, op. 43, No. 1, and Frühlingsnacht, by Schumann, in all of which she was most successful.

Mr. Field appeared with Miss Roger in Arensky's suite for two pianos, "Romance." This number was one of the gems of the evening, and the merit of the performance was recognized by the audience.

Mr. Jarvis, than whom no Canadian vocalist is better known or better liked in Peterborough, was in splendid form last evening, and his magnificent tenor voice was never displayed more effectively. His selection of songs last night covered a wide range, and the audience were given an opportunity to hear him in heavy as well as lighter composition, in both of which he appeared equally at home. His numbers were the aria Recondita Armonia, from Puccini's "La Tosca"; "Du Bist Eine Blume," by Miss Roger, Newton's "The Gift," and "Resignation." The exquisite little song, "Dearie" was perhaps the finest of his recall numbers.

THE TRIUMPH OF BETTY.

It will doubtless please the theatregoers of this city to learn that the new play, to be presented here, "The Triumph of Betty," affords Miss Thurston the greatest scope and opportunity for her talents she has ever had. It is from the pens of W. A. Tremayne and Irving Hall, who gave most brilliant promise in their last play, "The Light of Other Days."

"The Triumph of Betty" calls for many qualities that Miss Thurston displayed in her great success, Lady Babbie in "The Little Minister." This production will appear at the Grand on Thursday, May 3.

ODDFELLOWSHIP
—IN EARLY DAYS, AND IN PETERBOROUGH

To-morrow the Anniversary of Order's Institution in America Will be Celebrated.

Some Interesfing Historical Facts Connected With Early Days of Order.

TO-MORROW, not alone in Peterborough, but in almost every place where there is an Oddfellows' lodge, the members of that Order will attend divine worship, and sermons, appropriate and necessarily eulogistic of the work of the Order, will be listened to.

It may not be generally known, that on the Sunday nearest to April 26th in each year, the Oddfellows Lodges, wherever practicable, attend church in a body, but this is the case, and the reason that this date commemorated in Oddfellow circles is because of the fact that on April 26th in the year 1819, the first Oddfellow Lodge on the continent of America was instituted. It is reasonable, therefore, and fitting that this date should be looked upon as a memorable one by the members of one of the most notable fraternal Orders in existence.

The natal day of American Odd Fellowship, was the 26th of April, 1819. The attempts made prior to this date, to establish the Order here failed, or the sickly and sporadic growth became absorbed in the vigorous family planted by Wildey. The circumstances attending this historic event are here briefly presented.

Thomas Wildey was born in London on the 15th day of January, 1782. On reaching manhood he was initiated into an Odd Fellows' Lodge, in which he distinguished himself by his zeal and integrity.

This was prior to the formation of the Manchester Unity, so that the body to which he belonged, existed and worked according to the early mode of self-institution.

Desirous of spreading the Order, to which he was so ardently attached, he, with others, started a new Lodge, styled Morning Star Lodge, No. 38, located in London.

Until 1817, he continued to be actively interested in the work of the Order, and many from place passed through the chairs. The cheering news and favourable reports received by him from countrymen here, decided him to seek in this new and highly favoured land, a fairer fortune. He possessed hope, health and industry, sure passports to prosperity anywhere. The exigencies of civilized community, as to cause such an increase in so short a time.

The Ontario Oddfellows, however, particularly to those who are members of encampments, the date of April 26th has a peculiar significance, for on that date the anniversary of the institution of the Order in America, teh first Encampment in Ontario was organized at St. Catharines in the year, 1861.

In this connection a reference to the introduction of the Order into America, and some of the incidents of its early history, and growth, following its introduction may be of interest to the general public and will be particularly interesting to the members of the Order.

The operations and work of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, are so quiet and unostentatious, that there is a lamentable ignorance even upon the part of a vast number of those who take a most active interest in the work of their Lodges, and in ministering to the necessities of those members with whom they are directly associated. The Order has been in existence comparatively but a few years, not exceeding two hundred at most, yet in that short period of time, it has attained to an importance which is truly surprising. The first half of the eighteenth century, is given as the date of origin but tradition, that lying jade, carries it back to a much earlier period. The place of its birth was England, and it seems to have been an organization of mechanics and labouring men, united for social purposes and to aid its members to obtain employment, as well as to assist them pecuniarily, when in need. So popular was the institution that it increased rapidly, and in 1837, from actual returns, the number of adult male members belonging to the Manchester Unity of Oddfellows was 617,587, being an increase of 11,605 during the year, and the number of juveniles, young men from sixteen to twenty-one years of age, was 31,375, making a grand total of 648,962. Other Orders of Oddfellows exist.

As rapid as was the increase of the Order in England, it was very slow compared with the growth of the great American Branch of the Order. This Branch, self-constituted in Baltimore, in the State of Maryland, April, 26th, 1819, by five English Oddfellows, with Thomas Wildey at the head, has during the sixty-eight years of its existence, increased so that on January 1st, 1887 from actual returns, its adult male members numbered 517,303, and the number of female members of the Rebekah Degree was 33,958. Surely there must be something true, and good, and noble, in an institution which takes such a hold upon the popular feeling, in an enlightened and commerce had greatly mollified the hatred and animosities engendered by the late war, so that he did every reason to expect the full fruition of his hopes.

As was natural to a stranger in a strange land, he immediately sought to make the acquaintance of his fellow countrymen residing in the city of Baltimore. Among the first of these he met was John Welch, an Odd Fellow. Animated by his former zeal for the Order, and feeling the loss of his wonted field of labour, and its allied social pleasures and advantages, he at once took steps to form a Lodge. The requisite number was five so that with three the way to success would be clear. They advertised for the lacking number in the Baltimore American, at first with partial success. They inserted the following in the same paper on the 27th of March, 1819, and met with complete success:

"Notice to Odd Fellows. — A few members of the society of Odd Fellows will be glad to meet their brethren for the purpose of forming a Lodge on Friday evening, 2nd of April, at Seven Stars, Second street, at the hour of 7 p.m."

This last advertisement brought to the rendezvous a certain Richard Rushworth who, with John Duncan, and John Cheatham, whom they met a month before, completed the charmed number. They had all been initiated into the Order in England, and so far their qualifications were correct. On that memorable 26th day of April, they, in accordance with the ancient custom, self-instituted themselves a lodge, which they named "Washington Lodge of Odd Fellows."

Thus their frail bark was launched upon a wide and unknown sea. How would the voyage end, and to what haven go? Still their buoyant spirits and energetic natures augured well for their ultimate success. They presented the Order to the world. God's problem awaiting man's solution. The seed that was to grow into such a mighty oak, was this day planted. They could not foresee the result; the soil to them was unknown, untried; they contributed their all to success, patient labour and constant vigilance, and that, too, in the face of bitter opposition.

They met at the public house of Thomas Lupton, the place designated in the above advertisement; and after the formal opening of the Lodge, Thomas Wildey was installed Noble Grand, and John Welsh, Vice Grand. The other offices were distributed among the rest of the brethren.

The Order was now started on its mission to fraternize the world, and disseminate everywhere its peculiar doctrines of Friendship, Love and Truth. In 1817, the Manchester Unity made a number of radical changes in the work of the Order. In fact for several years prior to this date the Unity was engaged in evolving order out of chaos, in constructing a suitable ritual, and a practical code of laws for its better regulation. As these changes and additions were unknown to Wildey and his brethren, the work performed by them was necessarily not in harmony with that of the Unity. They learned this fact from a Henry M. Jackson, who arrived in Baltimore shortly after the institution of the Lodge. It appears that Mr. Jackson came to America with the prime object of introducing Odd Fellowship. He was ignorant of the fact that the Order already existed here. He visited the Lodge of the "Seven Stars," and obligingly instructed the brethren aright in the work, and placed them in possession of all the information necessary to work in conformity with the regulations of the Unity. In September, 1819, the Lodge numbered nineteen members. This fruident showed them the necessity fraternal union with that rapidly growing branch of the Order in England, the Manchester Unity. At this time, and while the brethren were in this frame of mind, P. G. Crowder, of Preston, England, visited Baltimore. Brother Crowder, at their request, promised that on his return he would present to the proper authorities their petition for a charter and for future fellowship. Upon his return he presented the petition to his own lodge, which promptly granted the ORIGINAL CHARTER FOR WASHINGTON LODGE.

This charter was not received by this lodge until October. On the 23rd of that month it was accepted, and the lodge was then considered to be legally established. At the election in this month, Noble Grand Wildey was re-elected, but not without opposition. Washington Lodge was not altogether a happy family at this time; discord and dissensions had arisen, and the consequent result of disintegration was going on, to end at length in the withdrawal of the dissatisfied.

Those who withdrew desired to form a new lodge to be called "Franklin Lodge," and to work under a charter to be obtained, if possible, from the Manchester Unity.

Their application to the Unity for a charter, of course, failed, as Washington Lodge, under its charter, was the Supreme Mother Lodge, with untrammelled and sole jurisdiction to respect to the granting of charters. After the formation of the Grand Lodge of Maryland and the United States, Franklin Lodge received a charter from that body on August 22, 1821. The lodge was instituted on the 15th of September, 1821, and is still earnestly at work promulgating and practicing the principles of the Order.

Coming down to local conditions, it will be interesting to the older members of the Order to read an account of the institution of the Order in Peterborough. In a book entitled "History of Oddfellowship in Canada," published in 1899, by the Committee on History, James Woodyatt, P. G. M.; C. T. Campbell, P. G.M., and J. B. King, secretary, the following reference is made to the circumstances surrounding the institution of Otonabee Lodge:

Early on the following morning in the year 1846, D. D. G. M. Murney and the Belleville brethren started for Peterborough, leaving the "missionaries" to follow more leisurely. Their leisure, however, instead of being devoted to sleep, as it might well have been, was occupied in giving instructions to the officers of Ontario Lodge. A ten hours' trip over not the smoothest of roads, brought the deputation to Peterborough — away in the back woods, as it might justly be termed in those days. It was late in the evening, but the Belleville brethren, who had arrived an hour or two before, had stirred up the people, and all were ready for business. Two members of No. 2 were resident here, George B. Hall, M.P., and L. Ferguson, and three members of No. 6, Chas. Perry, a cousin of J. Ham. Perry, now P. G. M. of Ontario; Wm. Cluxton, and Henry Easton. It was necessary only to confer the degrees on Brothers Cluxton and Ferguson, and the charter members of the new lodge were fully qualified. A room in the Court House was secured through the kindness of Sheriff Congor, who was initiated the same evening, and Otonabee Lodge No. 13 duly instituted, with the following officers: George B. Hall, N.G.; Chas. Perry, V.G.; Wm. Cluxton, Secretary; Henry Easton, Treasurer. Immediately afterwards eight of the leading citizens were initiated, and the work was done in good style. They had the use of the entire Court House; a full supply of paraphernalia had been brought from Belleville; all the brethren were in excellent humour for work, and as the ritual for these days (it was the old ritual) allowed considerable scope for a live-

Seed Potatoes At The Market

The Attendance Was Small on Account of Seeding Time.

Seeding time in the country always causes small markets. To-day on this account only a few farmers appeared and there was a visible dearth in farm products. Vegetables, however, were very plentiful, especially potatoes.

Those who have gardens in the city were after seed potatoes to-day and the gardeners in anticipation of this had a large quantity to offer. These sold at 80 cents generally while those for eating were offered at $1.00 and $1.10 per bag.

One load of fine Northern Spies this morning sold rapidly at 35 cents per peck.

Fresh fish—Lake Ontario Mullet—were offered at 20 cents per dozen. Veal sold at 7 and 8 cents per pound.

A few loads of young pigs about a month old were offered at $5.00 per pair. A unique commodity for sale this morning was two thoroughbred Fox Terriers. The owner asked $4.00 each.

Poultry has again made an appearance, a number of chickens, turkeys, geese and ducks being present.

A HEAVY FINE FOR FISHING

Timothy Finnigan, a young Lindsay man, charged with unlawfully angling in the Scugog River, was arraigned before County Police Magistrate McSweyn in Lindsay yesterday, and was fined $19.22.

Magistrate McSweyn said that in all probability in the next case the fine would be $50 and costs—which is the maximum fine—and that in any case the amount would be raised. He told the young man that by confessing, he had saved himself $20, or probably more.

Privations Of The San Francisco People Told By Mr. A. Bell

Mr. F. E. Bell Receives Letter From His Son—The Horror Which Has Fallen Upon the City Too Awful for Words—Happily the Bell Boys Escaped—Are Camping Out Now.

Mr. F. E. Bell has received a letter from his son, Arthur, in San Francisco, confirming the telegram previously sent, to the effect that he and his brother were safe.

As indicating the privations and inconveniences to which the survivors have been put, Mr. Bell stated that while he was writing the letter, he and his sister-in-law were sitting back to back on the only chair they had left. He was writing on a box on his knees, while his sister-in-law was writing on the sewing machine.

In part, Mr. Bell's letter was as follows:—

It took considerable discussion to decide what date to put on this letter, as so much has happened since the 18th that it seems an age and would fill volumes. When we looked out first, there was a cloud of dust, and every chimney levelled to the roof. I went down as soon as possible to see the extent of the damage, but had no idea it would be so fearful. At 8 o'clock we left a telegram in the office, but are not sure at all that it was sent, as very shortly after, that whole district was swept by the flames. Our greatest worry is that you have not received the telegram. All the city east of Vanness street is gone. What was not destroyed by the earthquake took fire, and what was not burnt was destroyed by blasting. We saw great flats and apartment houses go up in the air and fall a mass of ruins. As a person writing in the paper said, the pen of the most powerful writer would be unable to describe the awfulness of that shock—to feel the house go up and down and from side to side, all the time making the most hideous noise. Glad to say our bank escaped.

The writer added that he would write again in a few days.

The Provincial Health Authorities Will Be Here

Drs. Hodgetts and Smith Will Meet the Board of Health and Finance Committee To-morrow in Reference to New Hospital—Will Visit Hilliard Property.

Word has been received from Dr. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, and Dr. Bruce Smith, inspector of Public Charities, that they will be in Peterborough tomorrow to meet the Board of Health, and Finance Committee of the council, in reference to the Isolation Hospital. It was thought by the local authorities that these gentlemen would be in a position to communicate much valuable information about a contagious diseases hospital, and accordingly they were asked to visit Peterborough.

Dr. Smith and Dr. Hodgetts will arrive on the noon C. P. R. train, and will be met at the station by Mr. Eyres, chairman of the Board of Health, and by Ald. Mason, or some other representative of the Finance Committee. They will go to the Hilliard property and will inspect the site selected for the new hospital by the Board.

At 2.30 a joint meeting of the Board of Health and the Finance Committee will be held, at which the provincial authorities will go into the matter thoroughly.

The Prominent Citizen Series

Last Picture Was Published on Saturday.

Saturday saw the publication of the last picture in the series of prominent Peterborough gentlemen. That given that day was of Mr. F. J. R. Mitchell, but he must have changed some since the picture from which the cut was made, was taken, for only one person identified him, Mr. W. B. Armstrong, who telephoned in within fifteen minutes after the paper went to press.

This feature has proved a very popular one with the readers of the Examiner; deep interest having been taken in it. Soon after the first picture was published, readers simply overwhelmed the office with old time pictures of their friends, which they would like published. It was impossible to publish all that were offered, but as many as could be handled were given.

A new feature will be commenced in a short time.

WHY WE LOVE ART.

A love of the beautiful and symmetrical is born in every man. Cultivation of this innate love makes it a talent. We all admire the well-groomed, well-dressed man, and we agree that the Semi-ready tailored man has the advantage. There is the certain style and distinction in Semi-ready clothes which makes for the self-possession that achieves success. In this city and district the exclusive franchise for the sale of Semi-ready clothing is held at Crossman's.

Former Norwood Merchant Dead

Late Mr. P. W. Reynolds a Prominent Business Man.

Special to The Examiner

Norwood, April 30th. — One of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of this town passed away on Sunday morning, in the person of Mr. P. W. Reynolds, who for a great many years has been identified with the interests of Norwood, and has been practically a life long resident. Mr. Reynolds some months ago was taken ill with typhoid fever but recovered from the attack nicely, and was in fact in splendid health until about a week ago when he was stricken ill with la grippe, and his system, weakened, no doubt, by the fever, was unable to stand the strain and he passed away on Sunday morning at 6.45 o'clock.

The late Mr. Reynolds was, prior to his retirement about three years ago, a merchant in Norwood, and was the respect of the citizens by his straight and upright dealings. Although of a quiet and retiring disposition he was a man who recognised his public duty, and for many years acted as a member of the school board and was for some time treasurer of that body. He was a prominent Liberal in politics.

The late Mr. Reynolds is survived by his wife, who, unfortunately, is herself in a very serious state of health, and two daughters, Mrs. Harry Buck, and Miss Grace Reynolds, both of whom live in Norwood.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday at 2.30 o'clock, from his late residence to the Norwood cemetery.

ABOUT THE EXAMINER

On Saturday the Examiner instituted a new feature, and one which will, no doubt prove very popular. In future, during the summer, at any rate, the Examiner will issue its Saturday paper at 1 o'clock. Announcement of its intention to do this was not made prior to Saturday, because for that day it was largely an experiemnt, but it worked so satisfactorily that it has been decided to issue at that hour every Saturday, as indicated above. In its effort to do this it is hoped that the Examiner will have the co-operation of advertisers and those contributing to the paper in any way. In future church notices and copy for advertisements for Saturday's paper must reach this office not later than 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon to insure their publication on Saturday.

It is assumed that advertisers will appreciate the fact that the publication of the early paper on Saturday will benefit them more than any others, since they will be circulated among the farmers early in the afternoon before they leave the city, while they will also get into the hands of the subscribers in time for them to look over the advertisements and prepare to make their Saturday night purchases.

To get out a paper at one o'clock on Saturday, and issue a twelve or sixteen page paper, as the Examiner has been forced to do, by reason of the increase in advertising patronage, means that there has to be some pretty swift work done in the few hours of Saturday morning. The Examiner staff takes this work, gladly and willingly, and it is hoped that those in whose interests it is taken, the readers and advertisers, will give the staff all the assistance in their power.

A final word: Please get advertising copy and church notices in early on Friday.

MR. STEVENSON HAS HEARD FROM SAN FRANCISCO

Mr. Jas. Stevenson is in receipt of a letter from his neice, Miss Swayne, of San Francisco, who reached Fort Tutten, New York, just before the earthquake, and who has received a letter from relatives in San Francisco, describing the awful havoc there.

The letter says, in part:

—"Alameda was terribly shaken. One of our chimneys fell, and the chimney of our next neighbour fell through the kitchen window, crashing right into the room. The bric-a-brac in our parlour was all broken. One beautiful big statue of the water-carrier, the one Bertie brought for mother from Vienna, was broken into a hundred pieces. Of course, this is nothing when we consider that we all escaped injury. The earthquake shocks kept on continuously throughout the day, and we were all get nervous that everyone sat outside the houses. Later on we went inside and slept upstairs. The explosions in the city were awful, and the dynamiting could be plainly heard. Looking over to the city only a cloud of black smoke could be seen. Our houses, which we rent in S. F., were not in the burned district, but we do not know, yet how badly they were damaged. Of course, Louis' warehouse must have gone. Bert, Mr. R. Swayne, Jr., saved his papers, but has lost heavily as far as his real estate is concerned.

He had one piece of down-town business property, for which, a few weeks before, he was offered $130,000, and he got rentals from the buildings on it of $400 a month. This will take a long time to rise in value again. All our friends have suffered in S. F. terribly, and we can hardly realize our great city is no more."

VALUABLE TOOLS STOLEN FROM MR. McCALL'S SHOP

Mr. W. E. McCall, the George street blacksmith, whose shop was broken into on Friday night by burglars, is a heavy loser. On Saturday morning Mr. McCall did not notice anything missing, but during the afternoon found that the robbers had stolen some of the most valuable tools in the shop. These were a number of taps and dies which were enclosed in a wooden box about 2 1-2 feet long by 1 foot wide and were worth about $25.

The instruments are used for cutting threads on bolts and were purchased from Butterfield & Co., of Rock Island, province of Quebec.

It seems the thieves were well up in the blacksmith line and knew just what tools were valuable.

Mr. McCall says that few unacquainted with the value of blacksmith tools would have chosen the dies and taps.

Select Pastor For Springville

Special Meeting of Presbytery Will be Held To-morrow.

To-morrow afternoon a special meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery will be held at Springville to moderate a call to the Presbyterian church there. It is expected that Rev. John McKendry, B.A., a graduate of Knox College, Toronto, will be the choice of the congregation. Mr. McKendry has preached there three times and created a very favourable impression, indeed.

THE FUNERAL WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

The funeral of the late Mrs. William Bullen took place yesterday, from the family residence corner of Sherbrooke and Rubidge street, to the Little Lake cemetery, and was very largely attended.

The service at the house was conducted by Rev William Major, rector of All Saints church. The pall bearers were Messrs T. Hooper, J. Edgar, W. Bullen, W. H. Dayman, F. Wise and F. E. Bell.

A number of relatives of deceased were present from Lindsay and Bobcaygeon.

The floral offerings were very beautiful and numerous, a cab being required to convey them to the cemetery.

MISS MAY WINCH SAFE AND WELL

Mr. R. J. Winch received to-day word from his daughter, Miss Mary Winch, from San Francisco, stating that she was safe and well. Miss Winch has been in the City of the Golden Gate all winter, and naturally her parents are greatly relieved to learn of her safety.

One Ingredient of Zutoo

Is soda—just old-fashioned soda, that our grandmothers took to settle the stomach.

The principal ingredient—the one that stops the headache, is a vegetable ingredient, imported for us from Japan. It wont hurt you any more than will the soda.

The other ingredients of Zutoo are just as harmless.

If you knew what the drug cures contain, and their ultimate effect on the system, you would discard them at once and take Zutoo, which is harmless as

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way:

She has been feeling "out of sorts"

Mme Josephine Rinville

for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart-beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her periods she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up: you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Madame Josephine Rinville, Mastai, Que. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I suffered for four years with female troubles—inflammation of the stomach and fallopian tubes which caused me violent pain and often torture, so much so that I could not walk at times and attend to my daily duties. Life was misery to me. I was so blue and despondent I did not know which way to turn for relief. I had tried the doctors but they did not help me. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I bought a bottle. I am glad that I did so, for I am well and strong to-day and the world looks bright, for I have perfect health, thanks to your medicine."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Keep Big Stones Off The Streets

Citizen Finds Fault With Manner in Which Gravel is Distributed.

A well known citizen this morning called attention to the manner in which the gravel is being put on roads in different parts of the city. He said that big stones were being placed on the roads mixed with the smaller gravel, a procedure which was not only likely to cause trouble, but that was also far from being economical. People, he said, were fined for riding their wheels on the pavement, and when they travelled on the roadway they were bounced by these large stones. It was a method that was one hundred years old, at least. "Why, they wouldn't build roads in Burleigh like that!" he added in confusion.

IN OLDEN TIMES.

People Were Content To Take Things Easier Than Now.

If our forefathers could behold the modern locomotives, automobiles and electric cars, they would hold up their hands in astonishment.

The stage-coach was fast enough then—people were more content to take things easy.

They used to be satisfied with any sort of a hair lotion that came along—if it did not prevent Baldness they thought it was because Baldness could not be prevented.

It's different now. People know that germs cause Baldness, and that Newbro's Herpicide kills the germ, thus curing Dandruff and preventing Baldness.

Many Dogs Yet Without Tags

Only 208 Had Been Issued at Noon To-day.

This is the last day for the taking out of dog tags, and although the city clerk's staff has been busy today in handing out the never-changing style in dog neck-wear, there must be a large number of dogs without their new spring adornments. At noon to-day the number of tags issued was 208, while last year the total number was 853.

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., On Possibilities Of Canal

Member for West Peterborough Tells the Members of the House of Commons of the Great Benefits Which its Completion Will Confer Upon the Whole District of Central Ontario.

The following is the conclusion of Mr. Hall's speech on canal matters:

I might further point out the fact that the rates that are made by the Grand Trunk Railway and Canadian Pacific Railway from Midland to Montreal are made to compete, as far as possible, with the carriage of grain from Buffalo to New York by competing lines. As far as the railway facilities are concerned they have got their freight rates down to practically the hard pan basis when they have them down to four cents a bushel between Midland and Montreal. I am quite aware of the fact that the rate varies, that they sometimes carry at even a less rate than four cents a bushel, but the question is as to the profit they make out of it. It does not seem to be perfectly clear that the Trent waterway is one that does furnish a means whereby the cheapest transportation can be obtained between Fort William and our Canadian ports. It does furnish a link, and I am glad to see that the Transportation Commission evidently regarded it as a very important link.

In order that we may appreciate the facts and figures a little more clearly, it is important to compare the general cost of the carriage of grain by way of barges and by rail. The cost of the Trent Canal per mile when completed will be about $47,169. The average cost of railway construction, I suppose, will be in the neighbourhood of half that amount. The total capacity of a barge that would operate on that canal would be about 750 tons. It would cost from $8 to $10 per ton for barges for the carriage of grain. The ordinary railway car for the carriage of grain coasts in the neighbourhood of $30 per ton, or three times as much per ton as the cost of barges. Then again, there can be no question whatever that the cost of moving freight by water is much cheaper than of moving it by rail. In the first place, to take a very simple illustration, a horse will draw two tons three miles per hour on a horizontal road. On a horizontal steel track it will draw fifteen tons three miles an hour, while on water it will draw from sixty to one hundred tons three miles an hour. Therefore, it is perfectly apparent that motive force—and motive force cost money—is much cheaper in propelling by water than by rail. The cost of keeping the canal in repair is nothing as compared with the cost of maintaining and operating a railway line. There is not the same expense to be incurred, and therefore I say that when you take into consideration the fact that we have the means right in the very heart of the Province of Ontario of establishing a 750-ton barge canal which will have a capacity of carrying practically two and a half tram loads of grain from Midland to Montreal. I think you will admit that it is a matter deserving of the most serious consideration, and that the canal is a work which should be immediately gone on with as part of our national system of grain transportation.

Then, referring for a minute or two to the handicap that inland towns are placed under by reason of the canal not being completed, let me say that it is a well known fact that in so far as railway companies in Canada are concerned, so long as a town or city has not the facilities to get water communication, it is taxed to the utmost limit that the business will stand as far as freight is concerned. The canal will, therefore, be the means of opening up and developing a very large section of country — no less than a thousand miles of shore line right in the heart of the province of Ontario. I find that for the carriage of grain to Peterborough the rate is the same as to Montreal; that is to say, for the carriage of grain from a town like Midland to Peterborough, the railway companies charge as much freight for the carriage of that grain from Midland to Peterborough, as they do from Midland to Montreal. Then, if you grind that grain in Peterborough the milled product has to pay five cents per hundred pounds from Peterborough to Montreal. I believe it is perfectly apparent that there is a handicap against local people who endeavour to grind grain in transit, when instead of simply having to pay the ordinary shunting charge, they have to pay no less than five cents per hundred pounds for the privilege of getting their grain left over to be ground in a place like Peterborough. If the Trent Valley Canal were built that would certainly be overcome. In order that we may appreciate the importance of a tax of five cents per hundred pounds upon milling operations from the local standpoint, we will take into consideration what it amounts to upon a 500 barrel mill. In the operation of a 500 barrel mill this means a tax against the local company of no less than $20,000 per year. The investment in a 500 barrel flour mill altogether, with its accompanying elevators, would be about $200,000; that is to say, a handicap of $20,000 a year in freight rates upon a mill of that kind is a handicap that will pay ten per cent. upon the money investment. We must take into consideration the fact that the figures I have given apply where you have the advantage of having lake and rail.

But it is also interesting to compare the freight rates that are given to places in the United States where the grain is carried through Canada, and the rates that are afforded to Canadian millers:

	Cents.
All rail freight, where it is intended for export when manufactured in the United States, 80 lbs. of light oats from Chicago to Montreal...	9.2
180 lbs. rolled oats, Chicago to Montreal...	21.6
140 lbs. offal, Chicago to Montreal...	16.8
That is, 400 lbs. mill product	47.6
Or equal to 11.9 cents per 100 lbs. for the carriage of mill products from Chicago to Montreal by way of either the Grand Trunk or Canadian Pacific Railway and connecting lines.
It is important to bear this in mind when we come to compare and consider what it means to bring oats from Chicago to Peterborough by all rail for export, and when those oats are ground in Peterborough and sent on to Montreal. In that case the matter stands as follows:
All rail, freight, for export, manufactured at Peterborough:	Cents.
Freight rates on 400 lbs. of oats, Chicago to Peterborough ...68
On 80 lbs. of light oats, Peterborough to Montreal... ... ... 9.6
180 lbs. rolled oats, Peterborough to Montreal... ... ...16.2
140 lbs. Peterborough to Montreal... ... ...12.6
Total for 400 lbs... ... ...$1.064

This is equal to a rate of 26.6 cents per 100 pounds for the carriage of oats and mill products from Chicago to Peterborough and Peterborough to Montreal. But the rate when the mill product is carried from Chicago to Montreal is 11.9 cents per 100 pounds, which places the Canadian oatmeal miller under a handicap of no less than 14.7 cents per 100 pounds.

On a 500 barrel mill this would amount to $190 per day. On a 1500 barrel mill, of $540 per day, or on a mill to a capacity such as that erected in the town of Peterborough for the grinding of oats, it amounts to a handicap of no less than $162,000 a year.

When we find that our local industries are being handicapped and bled white to the very last dollar that they can stand by the railway companies, I ask you Mr. Speaker, is it not important for us to adopt every means in our power in order to relieve our local industries from such a handicap as they are under in reference to railway freight rates? There is no doubt that the Railway Commission does afford a certain amount of relief, but it does not afford the relief that would be given by establishing the best possible facilities for water communication. I might further point out that the effect of this policy pursued by the railway companies of practically bleeding white the industries that are established is to retard the development and progress of other industries. We have on the line of the Trent waterway magnificent water powers that are undeveloped, owing to the fact that favourable freight rates cannot be obtained. If this canal were built the milling industry along the Trent canal would be stimulated and water powers would be developed. Let me give an illustration of the loss that the neglect of these water powers involves to the country. Two and a half pounds of coal produces one horse power per hour, when power is generated in large units by a thoroughly equipped and up-to-date engine and boiler. Two thousand horse-power will run a 5,000 barrel flour mill. That is to say it takes 18,000 tons of coal, according to these figures, to operate a 5,000 barrel mill 300 days in the year, that is that 18,000 tons of coal grind 6,750,000 bushels of wheat per annum, operating for 300 days in the year, 24 hours per day. That is to say that 20,000 horse-power will grind 67,500,000 bushels of wheat in a year, being an amount equivalent to the entire amount of grain that is grown in the Northwest for export. The freight rate handicap against the development of 2,000 horse-power for a 500 barrel mill is $200,000 a year, but for 10 such mills, representing 20,000 horse-power, it would mean in the neighbourhood of $2,000,000 a year. That would be upon a basis of 20,000 horse-power, but it is no exaggeration to say that upon the line of the Trent waterway there is upwards of 100,000 horse-power that is capable of being developed. That is to say, on account of the people of Canada permitting a most valuable asset of this kind to remain undeveloped and to allow that country to be handicapped by railway abuse, we are allowing to run to waste practically, power which it would take one million tons of coal to produce and for this we are paying to the coal producers of the United States Upward of $4,000,000 a year. It does seem inconceivable that if all these matters are taken into consideration we, in the Province of Ontario, where there is no coal to be found, at least in the older parts of the Province, but where we are blessed by a bountiful Providence with abundant water power, have not been able to open up that route whereby we could turn that power into money. We are to-day upon the Trent waterway by reason of not having the canal completed, practically permitting 1,000,000 tons of coal to burn or to go to waste each year. So far as the Trent water route is concerned, I think I have made it clear that grain can be carried by it at 2 cents a bushel, and that if we had the water power on the line of the Trent waterway developed we could have that grain ground into flour. Now, the question comes up for consideration, is it to the advantage of this country to have our wheat, our raw material, shipped out to Great Britain and foreign countries in that form, or is it better for us in Canada to have that grain ground into flour here, to have the necessary labour employed in this country, to have the wages spent in this country, and to have the benefit of the other attendant advantages that would flow from it, such as machine manufacturing establishments and other incidental trades that would arise from having that grain ground in Canada.

I contend that it is of the utmost importance to Canada from every standpoint, that the grain that is grown in Canada, the raw material which we produce, should far as possible, be sent out to the foreign markets in its manufactured state.

Now, what are some of the advantages that we in Canada derive by reason of having our grain ground in Canada? In the first place, the offal from the grain produced makes the very best fodder for our cattle and hogs. In addition to that, the offal from this grain keeps our cows in a much better condition, and they give a larger quantity of milk. We are in a much better position to prepare them for the market when we keep them fat and healthy. That is something that can be done with the offal produced from our grain, and it is not taken into consideration when we allow our grain to be shipped to Great Britain instead of having it ground in Canada. Now, I have pointed out that we have low freight rates on the Trent waterway, and we have abundant power available to grind five times the amount of grain at present grown in the Northwest. I have further pointed out that the offal produced from the grain would be of great importance to us. The Trent waterway has a shore line of no less than a thousand miles, so that the offal produced from the grain can be distributed cheaply and economically to every part of the Midland district, and this offal can be sent by barges down the St. Lawrence and to other parts of the country at an exceedingly low freight rate, so that our farmers will have the cheapest possible fodder for their cattle and hogs. Then, the question of having this offal consumed in Canada has an important bearing on the position Canada occupies to-day in regard to the export of cheese, butter and bacon to foreign markets. Last year Canada exported upwards of $24,000,000 worth of cheese; of this the province of Ontario exported no less than $17,000,000 worth. Last year Canada exported $7,000,000 worth of butter and $12,000,000 worth of bacon. When you take into consideration these important exports, you can form some conception of how vitally the farmers of this country are interested in the raising of hogs and cattle, and in having them supplied with proper fodder; and we cannot obtain fodder more cheaply and economically than by having our grain ground in Canada. The home consumption of cheese, butter and bacon is in the neighbourhood of $50,000,000 a year. These large figures show how vitally the farmers of the whole of Canada, and particularly the farmers of Ontario, are concerned in the cattle and hog industry. When we realize the returns that come to them in money from the proceeds of the sale of these products in foreign markets, we can readily appreciate how important it is to them to have their grain ground in this country, and the resulting offal disposed of cheaply and economically. Therefore it does mean much to us to have that Trent waterway, which furnishes low freight rates the necessary amount of power, and the means whereby this offal can be cheaply produced and used as fodder for our cattle. Moreover, the opening up of that route would stimulate manufacturing of all kinds. Another matter that is worthy of consideration is the position which the Canadian miller would occupy in competition with foreign mills. As matters stand now, the freight rate on flour is commonly less than that on grain; but we have to take into consideration all the various factors involved in the question whether or not grain can be as economically ground in Canada as in mills erected, say, on the Liverpool docks. In order that hon. gentlemen may correctly appreciate the situation, I may say that the local freight rate on grain from Liverpool to Manchester, notwithstanding the fact of the ship canal, is as much as the rate from New York or Halifax to Liverpool. I have stated that the local rates in England are exceedingly high, for instance, on the product of a mill at Liverpool shipped to other seaport towns; so that the rates charged by the ocean vessels do not handicap Canadian mills in favour of the English mills as much as might be supposed.

Dillon Sent Up For Trial On Charge Of Murder

Preliminary Hearing of the Suspect in the Carden Case Took Place on Saturday—Dillon Had Little to Say Except That He Did Not Know "What He Was There For."

William Dillon, who was arrested on a charge of murdering Henry Miller, both of Carden township, and at the time of the murder were both living with Mr. Wm. McNulty, a farmer living about six miles from the village of Kirkfield, had his preliminary hearing Saturday before County Magistrate John McSweyn, at the Court House. The accused had no counsel and had little to say concerning the charge, except that "he did not know what he was here for and did not understand anything about it."

Mr. A. P. Devlin, County Crown Attorney, conducted the prosecution. The witnesses were Dr. J. W. Wood, Coroner; Dr. Ross, of Kirkfield, who held the post-mortem examination; Wm. McNulty, the farmer, at whose place the crime was committed; Duncan McGinnis and Daniel Finn, neighbours of McNulty, who were the first on the scene, and Wilfrid Coad, of Kirkfield, who was engaged to make a plan of the immediate vicinity and environments of the crime.

County Constable Foster produced as "exhibits," the axe that inflicted the wounds, some chips on which were blood, a piece of the covering of the lounge in the house of McNulty, on which Dillon lay after the man had been found dead; a piece of the buffalo robe which partly covered the lounge, and some scrapings off the wooden part of the latter, on all of which is what is supposed to be blood, which also was found on the door-knob.—Lindsay Post.

FLOWER GATHERERS STARTED BIG FIRE

A serious fire was very narrowly averted yesterday in Smith township. It appears that a number of young persons were in Mr. J. H. Garbutt's woods, gathering wild flowers yesterday morning. They started a fire, and left without extinguishing it. The result was that the conflagration spread until it had assumed large proportions. Mr. Garbutt happened to be at home at the time, and when he noticed the fire it was getting perilously near the fence, separating the woods from the barnyard, and had it not been for prompt work there is little doubt that the barns and probably the house would have been destroyed. As it was the fire was not extinguished until four o'clock in the afternoon. About four acres were burned only.

Too much care cannot be exercised by persons starting fires in woods.

Mr. Garbutt states that persons found in the woods in future will be prosecuted. He did not object to the use of the woods for innocent pleasure but when they burn his property up, it is time to stop.

MORE ABOUT THAT UNFORTUNATE DOG

In the Examiner on Saturday the death of a dog killed by the Lakefield train was recorded. A jocular remark was made to the effect that it did not carry a tag and that its death might be the punishment. It appears that the owner resents what he says was an insinuation that he did not pay his dog tax, and states that he has had the dog for two years and has paid the usual $2. A tag had not been bought this year, yet, but there was no intention to "do" the city out of its just due.

Of course the Examiner knows that this was the case and the remark about the dog being tagless was intended for a joke. However, it must have been a poor one.

To Loosen The Cough

AND BRING ABOUT A THOROUGH CURE OF COLDS, USE

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

It is sometimes dangerous to stop a cough.

The aim should be to loosen the cough, relieve the tightness and pain in the chest, and aid expectoration, so that the obstructing and irritating mass may be passed out of the air passages.

This is exactly what is accomplished by the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

It is not a mere cough mixture, and not intended to stop the cough, but rather to cure the cold.

If you have tickling in the throat, pains and tightness in the chest, sensations of irritation, of oppression or suffocation this great family medicine will afford almost instant relief, and thoroughly overcome the cold which gives rise to these symptoms.

Not only is Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine a positive cure for croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, asthma and severe chest colds, but is also a preventive of all diseases of the lungs.

It has time and again proven its right to a place in every home, and is the stand-by in thousands of families.

Miss Ada O'Brien, Cape Cove, Gaspe County, Que., writes: "Eight months ago I was taken with a severe cough, which lasted three months, and though I had tried all sorts of medicines, they failed to do me any good. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and I was completely cured by two bottles. I can recommend it as a splendid medicine."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle.

Good Men Are Not All In The Church To-day

But They Would be Better if They Were Inside It—This is the Opinion of Rev. E. A. Langfeldt—An Interesting Sermon Preached in St. Luke's Yesterday--Church Connection Conductive to Good Living.

FIRST OF SERIES OF SUNDAY DISCOURSES

That there are good men outside the church, but that they would be better if they were inside, was the opinion expressed by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, in his sermon last night, on the subject, "Are there any good men outside the church?" He did not dispute the fact that there were many good men outside the pale of the Christian Church, but this fact must not be taken as an argument against the church, because indirectly their goodness was the result of Christian influences.

In the introduction to the sermon, Mr. Langfeldt said that some anxious Christians might question the wisdom of discussing such a question in church, but he felt that there could be no harm done by discussing the truth, and it must be admitted that there were many good men to be found outside the church.

The Rechabites were the first examples furnished in history of a class of people who were not identified with the church, and were still moral people. They were a temperate people and in many respects were admirable examples. The question might then be asked, if one can be good and virtues without church, what is the use of church connections. Unhappily, however, the majority of outsiders are lax in their morals, and it is only an exception to find that one who is unidentified with church is living a strictly moral life. The churches are the principal instruments in spreading Christian Christian knowledge, but, of course, they have not a monopoly in that function.

The speaker said that there were many beautiful wild flowers, but only the most exquisite blending of colouring was obtained by cultivation. The church to-day, he said was the chief spiritual garden of the world with Jesus the chief gardener.

Some of the reasons why men remained out of the churches were discussed by the speaker, one of them being the inconsistencies of church members. It was, however, hardly fair, to compare the worst inside the church with the best of those outside.

While theoretically it was quite possible to be good out of the church it was only in rare instances that it worked out in practice.

The sermon was most interesting, and was the first of a series on this popular subject.

Local Option In Birtle, Manitoba

"A Dummer Boy" Writes to Tell About It.

A former resident of this county, signing himself "A Dummer Boy", writes from Birtle, Man., to the Examiner saying:—

Some people in the East have the nerve to say that local option is a complete failure in Manitoba, others say it "Don't work" but there is a fellow here and his only complaint is that it "works" too well.

Detective Cox, of Winnipeg, visited Birtle for a couple of days last week and as a result M. Chubb & Co., contributed $150.00 to the King's strong box and costs $198.50 of a total for having in stock beverages stronger than the statutes permit in a local option town. This was the first offence. They have the promise of free board and striped clothes for a second offence. Cheer up ye temperance workers of Peterborough County, there is a bright future awaiting those who are doing their best to stamp out the thing that means ruin to so many of our brightest and best young men. We are on the winning side.

THE HORSE HERE TO STAY.

The success of the Toronto Horse Show demonstrates that the horse, as against the motor car, is still in the running. It was once thought that the electric car, the bicycle, and the automobile would turn the horse out to grass, but these have not had that result. These things may come and go, but the horse goes on forever. The human love for the animal, closest in quality of affection and response to kindness of the brute creation will never die out. There's a sense of companionship in the use of a horse that does not come from any other form of movement and association, especially the malodourous automobile and the growling street car. The bicycle at one time had a tremendous vogue, but as a vehicle of pleasure it soon palled and became an ordinary article of convenience, as a wood-saw or washing machine. The horse came into favour again in an increased degree to suffer a moderate eclipse by the motor car. That will have its day, and the horse will resume his sway. This noble animal has been associated with human interest in a very intimate form from the earliest history —from the time that the horse and his rider went under in the Red Sea, to the present day. Poets have sung the horse, painters painted him, warriors bestrode him, and fair ladies caressed him and fed him lumps of sugar in all past time, as will they do all through the cycles of the coming time, while grass grows and water runs.

THE DOUKHOBORS.

A great outcry was raised against the Doukhobors because of the fact that it was asserted that their peculiar beliefs would prevent their assimilation into the stream of Anglo-Saxon citizenship. This is only partially correct. Some of the stricter sort do not believe in the use of horses and other animals for work; they have employed steam ploughs, and the result of this shrewd solution of a straight-laced religious belief has been turned to such good account by Peter Veregin, their leader, that no community of farmers anywhere in the world has more or better labour-saving machinery than the Doukhobors. Some of them objected to men of their beliefs being merchants or store-keepers, the personal and individual profit being antagonistic to their communistic doctrines. Veregin took advantage of these convictions to establish co-operative stores, buying at wholesale in Winnipeg and the East large stocks of all necessities, getting big discounts, and enabling his people to buy standard farm commodities cheaply. Under Peter Veregin's leadership the Doukhobors have become one of the most remarkable communities existing in the world to-day, doing business on the most modern and business-like methods. Of this, last Wednesday's Winnipeg Free Press afforded most striking proof, for it contained more than three columns of closely printed matter, the report of the annual meeting of all the Doukhobor communities. This was inserted by them as an advertisement in order that the people of Canada might be informed as to their progress and present conditions. The annual meeting in question was regularly constituted, three delegates — two men and one woman—being present from each of the 44 villages, and the nine members of the executive committee. The report, which is done into quaint, archaic English, states that during the last three years of community life, the Doukhobors have purchased over $600,000 worth of goods, and have, by the system of bulk purchases, effected an aggregate saving of over $150,000. It gives a number of examples of the economies made by this means. The executive committee was re-elected, with some additions. The meeting decided that in future horses should not be worked when the temperature was lower than 20 degrees Reaumur (—13 degrees Fahr.) to build a flour warehouse at Yorkton, and a flour and oatmeal mill at Veregin, and to purchase 100 more teams of horses. The matter of the erection of a Doukhobor hospital was discussed, but action was postponed until it could be referred to the several villages. It was further decided that a number of large railway contracts should be taken during the present season, and the executive was instructed to purchase oats, scrapers, wheelbarrows, shovels and other supplies and equipment for this purpose. After commenting upon the shrewd financial management of the community, The Free Press says: "When it is remembered that five years ago between seven and eight thousand of these people were put down in three districts of Western Canada, with no capital, but strong hearts and willing hands, not one in a thousand having even the faintest knowledge of English speech or Canadian law, or modern methods of business or agriculture, whom more than two centuries of ravine, pillage and oppression under Russian conditions, had taught them to regard all organized governments as tyranny, whose property had been repeatedly confiscated, whose women had been maltreated, whose leaders were condemned to Siberian mines, and who had in successive years been driven at the point of Cossack lances to perish in the depths of winter on the snowy slopes of the Steppes—when these things are thought on, the advance made by the Doukhobors in those five years, is one of the sociological wonders of modern times." The community idea may, for some time, work against assimilation, but if this does not come as rapidly, it in a satisfaction to know that the community—this little imperium in imperio—is doing a good work on modern lines of operation to develop the resources of the country. The Doukhobors may not help fight our battles in the way of shedding the blood of our brothers, but they are doing good work in fighting the forces of nature and conquering them.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Sir William P. Howland has undergone a successful operation for appendicitis at the age of 96. This is a marvelous feat of endurance, and shows that at least one of the so-called fathers of Confederation — or rather, perhaps, contemporaries is bound to be the last survivor.

The two-thirds local option majority clause will be retained in Hanna's liquor license bill. The Conservative majority in the Legislature says so, and that majority, the Galt Reformer says, is big enough to say anything, thanks to the vote and influence of the temperance people who are now metaphorically tearing their hair on account of the action of the Whitney Government.

The London Advertiser says:—
The decision of the Dominion Government to build a new canal at the Soo, greater than the present one, calls attention to the unparalleled commerce of the upper lakes. The busiest waterway in the world lies between Lake Superior and Lake Huron, and an increase of the canal facilities is necessary to forestall the growth of the Canadian west.

All this goes to show the increasing necessity of completing the Trent Canal.

The Hamilton newspapers learn from Saturday's Globe the term Hogtown, employed by them as an euphemism on Toronto, has a malicent as well as moral opositeness of origin. The Globe re-published a paragraph from its issue of April 28, 1856, just half a century ago, in which it is pointed out that promenaders on King street would enjoy themselves better if they did not have to encounter "a litter of pigs at every corner."

OBITUARY.

Mrs. John Morrison, of Cavan, was in the city to-day with her husband, and on the way home was stricken with paralysis. Mrs. Morrison was feeling well when she left home, and without any warning fell helpless into her husband's arms. This is the second paralytic stroke Mrs. Morrison has had, and it is a singular co-incidence that the first which she had about two years ago was received under similar circumstances. She was driving home from Peterborough on that occasion too.

The unfortunate lady was attended by a Peterborough physician this afternoon.

CHEATED BY COUNTERFEITS

Asks for Protection of the Public Against Dishonest Substitution.

The Slater Shoe Company claim that many forms of substitution are practised in some towns and cities by shoe dealers who cannot get the Slater Shoe agency. Outside of the three largest cities in Canada, there is only one Slater Shoe Store in each city. The Slater Shoe is easily known by the Slater trade mark. The president of the Slater Shoe Company in this issue offers a reward for the detection of any dealer who knowingly or unknowingly infringes their trademark. "The law on this point is very explicit." The warning issued by the Slater Shoe Company will be followed by a vigorous protest in some of the cities. "We cannot afford to have our patrons cheated by clumsy counterfeits," said Mr. Slater. It

NEW VAUDEVILLE CIRCUIT PROPOSED

A despatch from Toronto announces that representatives of a vaudeville circuit are in Canada arranging for a circuit to consist of about 30 United States cities, together with London, St. Thomas, Toronto, Peterborough, Hamilton, Berlin, Guelph, Kingston, Ottawa, Brantford, Woodstock, Quebec, Sherbrooke and Montreal. The intention is to give one week stands in the bigger cities and three nights weekly in the smaller Canadian cities. The promoters say that their intention is to erect houses capable of seating 1,500 and 1,800 and to have popular admission prices.

It is understood that in case this new circuit is arranged, the Grand Opera House in Peterborough will in all probability be used if possible.

St. John's Annual Report Presented From Pulpit

At Yesterday Morning's Service by Rev. Canon Davidson Marked Increase In Communicants--Praise for the Auxiliary Bodies of the Church--Urged Better Attendance at Holy Communion Services.

Instead of the usual sermon yesterday morning Rev. Canon Davidson, as his usual custom on the second Sunday after Easter, gave his annual report for year ending Easter Sunday, 1906.

In substance, he said:—

The Holy Communion which is the greatest service of the Church, and on which is placed the most importance, was attended by 2,823 Communicants for year ending Easter, 1906, as compared with 2,430 in 1904 and 2,630 in 1905, which shows a healthy increase. The attendance at Holy Communion on Easter day was in 1903, 271; 1904, 303; 1905, 309 and 1906, 390. Baptisms for past year was 43 infants and 6 adults; in 1904 and 1905 the average was 32. Marriages to Easter, 1906, was 55 and funerals 9. The attendance at the eleven o'clock service on Sundays has materially increased and at seven o'clock service p. m., decreased. The attendance at the Lenten Services this year was noticeably smaller than in former years, owing, no doubt, to the disappointment in the attendance of those clergymen who had arranged to come, and on account of the rector's absence in Chicago and St. Louis. He then spoke of the gift of new frontals for the altar and furnishings for the chancel by the members of the Chancel Guild and he eulogized the work of this devoted band of workers, who had been instrumental in making the Chancel appear more beautiful and more Church-like in the past year.

The work in the Sunday School has been successfully carried on and in the Men's Bible Class this has been a banner year. He said that during the year between 875 and 900 calls had been made by him. The Girls' Guild, Young People's Association and Brotherhood of St. Andrew, had made a very large number of calls and done a large amount of noble work. In the Brotherhood of St. Andrew alone over 300 calls had been made. This organization was doing especially a very noble work, which is telling on the attendance of men at the church services. The very unfortunate collapse of the Rev. Mr. Tandy just after the last Easter services, after a month's successful work in this parish was very much felt and so far although the Church Wardens and himself had advertised for a Curate, capable of taking charge of the choir, they had not been successful in securing one. He then spoke of the good work of the King's Daughters among the poor, and in answer to the late appeal made on their behalf from this pulpit, between $40 and $50 had been contributed towards the carrying on of their noble acts of charity.

Too much, he remarked, cannot be said of the work done by the choir, and they merit more than casual praise for their self-sacrificing efforts to better the services of praise and he hoped that they would be at least rewarded by the providing of a more commodious vestry for their use towards which $350 was given on Easter Sunday and $300 more was voted by the vestry, making a total of $650 for that purpose.

In speaking of his absence for his annual vacation of a month and his official duties in connection with the Diocese, he did not feel his responsibility for the conduct of the parish work and assistance of clerical supply during his absence.

Occasional services had been held at the gaol and Protestant Home by himself and at the Hospital by the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

He urged the congregation to keep up the increased attendance at Holy Communion and to make this means of grace more devotional.

The report of the Poor Fund was also given and was a very satisfactory one.

Bouquet For Bereaved Parents

Kindly Act of Sympathy on Part of Roselle Knott and Company.

The train which brought the Roselle Knott company to the city on Saturday, struck an infant son of a G. T. R. section man, about a mile west of Blackwater Junction, and instantly killed the child. The company while in the city sent a beautiful bouquet of Easter lilies to the bereaved parents, with expressions of deepest sympathy.

REV. A. BRIGHT'S ADDRESS AT Y.M.C.A.

Rev. A. Bright, the new Assistant Pastor of St. Paul's church, gave his first address to the men of Peterborough at the meeting in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon. He spoke on "The Greatest Hero," pointing out first the characters of a true hero, and showing how all of these were fulfilled in Jesus Christ. He was a hero before whose name, character and deeds, all of earth's heroes paled into insignificance. He strongly appealed to young men to follow the Greatest Hero—Jesus Christ.

Before the address Mr. John Miller sang a very appropriate solo and in a very impressive manner.

Anniversary Sermons Preached At St. Paul's

Large Congregations Were Present at Both Services Yesterday—Rev. Dr. McTavish of Toronto Was the Preacher of the Day and Delivered Two Forcible Discourses—Liberal Contributions.

SPECIAL MUSIC WAS RENDERED BY CHOIR

The twenty-first anniversary of the enlargement and re-opening of St. Paul's church was observed on Sunday and proved to be highly successful.

There were large congregations in attendance at both the morning and evening services.

The choir, under the direction of Mr. John Crane, provided special music, which was much enjoyed and liberal contributions were received toward the liquidation of the church debt.

The preacher of the day was Rev. Dr. McTavish, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, Toronto. His discourses were able, thoughtful and impressive, and much appreciated.

In the morning he spoke from Hebraws 12th chapter and 1st verse: "Wherefore, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin, which does so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us."

In opening the speaker said a congregation, at anniversary time, should place itself in an attitude of review. It was a period, to use a commercial phrase, of stock-taking.

We have become the custodians of the success and progress of the past, and are expected to contribute to them. We should be inspired by the recollections of the deeds of those who are gone. A hero was a man who lived and worked for an ideal, although he may not have attained it. Success is not in realizing but in striving, if in line with God's will and purpose. We must set aside everything that will stand in the way of our progress. A sin is an act contrary to the will of God. We need to be a living force — not to be carried along by others. The question for us to determine should be, Is it a help or a hindrance to the best kind of living. Christ set His face towards the highest life, and so should we. We should not be content with "good enough" in the Christian life, as such a course was the enemy of the best.

It might be said that giving up certain things was a sign of weakness rather than that of strength. Yes, if for the sake of giving it up only, but not if it is for the purpose of conserving and preserving our strength. It must be remembered that life is never impoverished by surrender, and sacrifice, but enriched. By denial we do not weaken but make our lives stronger.

We must endow life with a more definite and consecrated purpose. We must have an ideal plan in life. We must possess consecration and patience. Patience in the race means enduring—sticking to it. We must depend upon Christ as our model and source of power. We cannot separate the model and source of power. A model without power is a mockery, and power without a model is a menace. All our own efforts are bound to end in failure, but, by and through the power of Christ, all failure can be turned into magnificent success.

In the morning Messrs. Wm. McIlroy and James Dawson sang a duet in good voice, "Hark, Hark My Soul" by Nevin. Miss Moore contributed in splendid form, "He Shall Feed His Flock," from the "Messiah," while Miss Davies gave "Come Unto Me," from the "Messiah," with excellent effect. The anthem, "Spirit Immortal," by Attila, was most capably and satisfactorily rendered.

Miss Davies and Mr. Freund favoured the congregation with "Love Divine, All Love Excelling," by Stainer, in fine style, while Gounod's "Sanctus and Benedictus" was the anthem by the choir, the solo being ably taken by Miss Davies. This contribution was much appreciated. By special request, the anthem, "Spirit Immortal," which was given in the morning, was repeated after the evening service. The members of the choir, and their faithful leader, Mr. Crane, deserve much praise for their efforts during the day.

Veteran Fire Horse Fred Is Dead At Last

For Seventeen Years the Famous Grey Has Served the City—Has Had a Long and Eventful Career—Two Running Mates Dropped Dead Along Side Him.

Fred, the best fire horse the city has ever had, and one of the once famous team of greys, died this morning in his stall at the firehall. Fred was probably the best known horse in Peterborough. For 17 years he was attached to the fire department, and the corporation has never had a more faithful servant. Fred was purchased 17 years ago, when he was five years old, and has served the city ever since. For 14 years he attended nearly every fire that occurred in Peterborough, and was regarded by the firemen and citizens generally as indispensable as the fire engine or any other fire-fighting apparatus. He saw his first running mate drop dead on George street, while the faithful pair were going to a fire. A second team mate of his also died in the harness while on duty. Harry, the third grey associated with Fred, died in the fire-hall stables.

For the last three years Fred has not been on active duty in the fire department. He still lived in the stables there, and was used on some occasions. The place once filled by the greys, has been taken by a younger and more vigourous team of bays, and now Fred has gone. If there is such a thing as a heaven for horses, Fred has earned a place there.

He was a great favourite with the firemen and the drivers who have handled him during his long connection with the department. His wisdom was proverbial, and he never gave any trouble.

"The best fire horse the city ever had or ever will have for that matter," was Driver Wallace Parnell's eulogy.

MISS LIZZIE REID TELLS OF HER ESCAPE

Letters are beginning to come to the city from the survivors of the San Francisco disaster. On Saturday night Mr. R. H. Reid, 171 Park street, received a letter from his sister, Miss Lizzie Reid, telling of her escape by the narrowest possible margin from the place where she was staying. While she escaped with her life, her belongings were practically all lost The letter was written two days before she had an opportunity of posting it. She had to take it to Oakland, and her description of the difficulty she experienced in reaching there are very graphic.

Mr. Reid expects another letter in a few days giving further particulars.

MONEY WAS STOLEN FROM A RESIDENCE IN CAVAN

That burglaries are not confined to the city alone was shown by a theft in Cavan township one evening last week The residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Hatherly, was entered, ransacked, and money and other valuables were stolen, while the occupants were at the barn milking the cows. A number of drawers and desks were thoroughly searched by the thief or thieves, but the extent of the robbery is not yet known.

No definite clue to the perpetrators of the burglary have yet been obtained by the police, but the hired man is suspected. He left that evening, and the police, who are working on the case have traced him as far as Toronto.

THE "POST CARD" WAS A SHOE BOX COVER

An evidence of the straights to which the people of San Francisco have been put, is furnished by a post-card received to-day by Mr. F. E. Bell from his son, Clarence. It was written in lead pencil, and the "post-card" itself was part of the cover of a shoe box. There was no stamp attached to it, as it was impossible to buy either stamps or post-cards. The card said:

April 23, 1906.

Dear Dad and All—Hope you got Art's letter and our telegram. We are doing well in a nice house. Grub is plentiful; soldiers keep good order. What we long for is a bath. The bank will start as soon as we get a permit. Love to all. CLARRY.

LICENSE COMMISSIONERS WILL MEET TO-NIGHT

To-night the adjourned meeting of the License Commissioners for West Peterborough will be held, when the applications for shop licenses will be dealt with. At this meeting the question of the Cavanagh House license will be disposed of. It will be remembered that at the meeting last Monday night action on the Cavanagh House application was deferred until to-night in order to give the owners an opportunity of disposing of the property.

It is understood that to-day an order of objection was issued against the present tenant, but it was not carried out, and later it was stated that Mr. Cavanagh was making an effort to raise money to buy the property. The matter will probably have been decided by to-night.

Only $300,000 Available For San Francisco

East Spends Balance Of Congress' $2,500,000.

THOUGH FRISCO NEEDS IT

Statement of Dr. Devine of the National Red Cross Declares Many Will Need Care For Months—Loss of Homes and Property In San Francisco Has Not Been Exaggerated—Washington Ladies' Methods.

San Francisco, April 30.—Surprise was caused yesterday when James D. Phelan, chairman of the finance committee, announced to the citizens' committee that he had been given to understand by Secretary of Commerce Metcalfe, representative of President Roosevelt, that only $300,000 of the $2,500,000 appropriated by Congress for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers, was available, and that sum represented the extent of financial assistance that might be expected from that source.

The citizens' committee of fifty, headed by Mayor Schmitz, now administers the affairs of San Francisco, though the military have immediate control of patrolling the city and distributing supplies.

Mr. Phelan announced Saturday that Secretary of War Taft had transmitted to his order $300,000, which he said was the first recognition the secretary had made of the relief work, and added that he had been informed by Mr. Metcalfe that the Secretary of War had expended the remainder of the relief fund for the purchase of supplies in the east.

Secretary Metcalfe corroborated Mr. Phelan's statement. Mr. Phelan said that there was only $518,000 available cash to his order at the mint, and the strictest economy would be necessary.

"We need money," said Mr. Phelan, "and the country should not be led into the belief that millions are on hand to relieve the destitute people."

Both Mr. Metcalfe and Dr. Devine endorsed Mr. Phelan's remarks and volunteered to apprise Washington of the situation.

The generous appropriation of Congress had been counted on by the finance committee as an available fund for necessary relief expenses, and the knowledge that only a small amount of this would be placed in their hands caused a shock.

Burns Up Valuables.

Business men who attempted Saturday to secure assets from safes dug out of the earthquake and fire debris met with disaster. Several of the safes containing books, records, stocks, bonds and negotiable securities were forced open. The instant the latent heat in the interior of the thick strong boxes came in contact with the first rush of air there was a blaze, and in an instant the contents were consumed.

'Frisco's Need is Urgent.

Dr. Devine of the national Red Cross has issued a statement in which he says:

"It is important for the entire country to understand that the loss of homes and property in San Francisco has not been exaggerated. Sick and delicate persons will need care for months. Inmates of institutions which have been burned and destroyed must be established elsewhere on some plan yet to be devised. Families which cannot get started otherwise may be given a helping hand.

DROPS 1,600 FEET.

Chris. Curry of Milton Meets Awful Death at Rossland.

Rossland, B. C., April 30.—Christopher Curry was killed at Centre Star mine at 12.30 p. m. Saturday. The skip became fouled in the headworks with rock, and Curry went in the skip-way to take the rock out, lost his balance and fell, striking the railing at collar of the shaft, and bounced into shaft, which inclines at 35 feet into 100, fell 1,600 feet and was almost torn to fragments by projections.

Curry was 25 years old, and a native of Milton, Ont. He is a brother of Samuel Curry, formerly a conductor on the Red Mountain Railway. Deceased had only been working in the Centre Star mine for three weeks.

GRANGE STRIKES BENTONG.

Sinks Chinese Steamer and Thirty Are Drowned.

Singapore, Straits Settlements, April 30.—The British steamer Haversham Grange, having on board 3,000 Russian troops, bound from Vladivostock for Odessa, arrived here Saturday and reported having been in collision in the Straits of Malacca with the Chinese steamer Bentong. The latter sank, and 30 of the 101 Chinamen on board the vessel were drowned. The Haversham Grange brought the 71 survivors to this port. Her forepeak is full of water.

Children Poisoned By Candy.

A DIFFERENCE IN LUNGS.

In the Edinburgh University three human lungs lie side by side. One is of an Eskimo and is snow white. In life, this would be ruddy with rich blood. Another is that of a coal-miner and is black. The other is of a town dweller and is a dirty slate gray, as are the lungs of most city residents. That's why consumption thrives in cities.

One reason why Scott's Emulsion does so much to keep down consumption is because it helps to keep the lungs clean and supplies them with rich, red blood. It makes the lungs germ-resisting. If the body is run down and health is at a low ebb Scott's Emulsion will build it up quickly and permanently.

Tabah Trouble Has Assumed Serious Stage

Peace of the World Threatened By Sultan of Turkey.

BRITISH WAR OFFICE ACTIVE

German Finger In the Pie Seen at Constantinople — British Garrisons In Egypt to Be Reinforced — Cruiser Will Make It Its Business to See If Boundary Posts Have Been Removed As is Alleged.

London, April 30.—The patience of Great Britain with Turkey over the Tabah affair is about exhausted, and it was understood at the Foreign Office yesterday if the Sultan does not soon accede to the British demands there will be another demonstration before a Turkish port.

The British Foreign Office holds that the Turkish commissioner at Cairo is largely responsible for the present situation, and that probably he is led by German scientists and merchants at Cairo to believe that Germany will support Turkey's aggression.

The British cruiser Minerva left Port Said for El Arsh yesterday in order to ascertain whether it is true that the Turks have removed the boundary posts at certain points.

King Edward Hurries Home.

Naples, April 30.—King Edward and Sir Charles Hardinge, permanent under secretary of the British Foreign Office, who is in attendance upon His Majesty, have received many despatches from Premier Campbell-Bannerman and Foreign Secretary Grey in regard to the trouble with Turkey over the Tabah boundary dispute, and, according to report, the King has issued instructions that the firmest attitude be assumed by the British officials. His Majesty is also said to have consulted with Lord Rosebery on the subject. He will cut his tour short, leaving for England on Monday.

of New York, president of the Aero Club of America, and Charles Jerome Edwards of New York, made an ascension Saturday in the big balloon Centaur in the presence of 3,000 people.

The balloon landed safely at Woodville, Conn., at 6.30 Saturday night. It traveled fifty-five miles, and it is understood the men in it hoped to reach New Haven, but this idea was given up as darkness approached.

Montreal, April 30.—The greatest panic which has struck the Montreal stock market for years developed Saturday. Prices from the opening of market at 10 o'clock commenced to tumble and in the first hour and a half there were recessions all the way from one to five points. Many brokers let shares slide.

Renewal Of The Terrorist Work In St. Petersburg

MURDERED IN THE STREET

Obnoxious Police Magistrate, Who Took Active Part In October Massacres, Victim of Revenge at Odessa — A Jewish Girl's Bad Aim Saved Assistant Chief of Police—Another Killed a Policeman.

Odessa, April 30.—The chief of police who played such a prominent role in the October massacres here, and a policeman were assassinated by revolutionaries here Saturday in broad daylight.

The plot was wide-reaching and contemplated also the assassination of Assistant Chief of Police Politvchenko and several other policemen. A young girl named Jerebtzvo threw a bomb at Politvtchenko on the way to the hospital to visit one of the wounded policemen. Her aim was poor and Politvtchenko was unhurt. The girl was gravely wounded by Politvtchenko's orderly.

Bomb Misses Mark.

Warsaw, April 30.—At Ozenstechowa, in Russian Poland, Saturday a bomb was thrown at the carriage of the chief of police while he was returning from a funeral. The missle exploded, killing a policeman.

Sentenced For Mutiny.

Keiff, Russia, April 30.—The trial of the regiment of engineers which mutinied last fall has been completed. All of the officers were acquitted, but three non-commissioned officers were sentenced to death, 19 privates were condemned to hard labor and 52 were consigned to a disciplinary battalion.

An Attempt to Assassinate.

St. Petersburg, April 30.—A member of the "fighting organization" yesterday attempted to assassinate Col. Min, commander of the Seminovsky Guards, in revenge for the part taken by his regiment in putting down the Moscow revolt. A uniformed officer, a young man, had called several times at the residence of Col. Min and requested to see him. The manner of the man excited suspicion, and he was arrested yesterday when it was found that he was a disguised revolutionist and was armed with a revolver and a dagger.

Russian Colonel Murdered.

Lublin, Russian Poland, April 30.—Lt.-Col. Pugol, chief of the gendarmerie at Cholm, was murdered Saturday night. The assassin escaped.

Running Against Government.

St. Petersburg, April 30.—The elections of Saturday show that the tide against the Government is rising instead of subsiding, for instead of a more conservative element the candidates elected are even more radical in their opinions than those chosen April 8. In many cases the peasants named representatives with views which are even more extensive than those held by the constitutional demands.

The Government has been trying desperately to win the support of the peasants, realizing that without it the Government will be in a hopeless position.

Dreaded Insomnia.

"I was afflicted with nervousness and dreaded insomania, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me."—Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont.

Wm. Hendrie, Sr., Very Ill.

Hamilton, April 30.—William Hendrie, Sr., is growing steadily worse, and his condition Saturday night was considered very critical. He is very weak, and it is feared that the end may come at any time.

USED UP AND TIRED OUT

MEN AT THE OFFICE
WOMEN IN THE HOME
CHILDREN AT SCHOOL

Every day in the week and every week in the year men, women and children feel all used up and tired out.

The strain of business, the cares of home and social life and the task of study cause terrible suffering from heart and nerve troubles. The efforts put forth to keep up to the modern "high pressure" mode of life in this age soon wears out the strongest system, shatters the nerves and weakens the heart.

Thousands find life a burden and others an early grave. The strain on the system causes nervousness, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faint and dizzy spells, ship beats, weak and irregular pulse, smothering and sinking spells, etc. The blood becomes weak and watery and eventually causes decline.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

are indicated for all diseases arising from a weak and debilitated condition of the heart or of the nerve centres. Mrs. Thos. Hall, Kaldon, Ont., writes: "For the past two or three years I have been troubled with nervousness and heart failure, and the doctors failed to give me any relief. I decided at last to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial, and I would not now be without them if they cost twice as much. I have recommended them to my neighbors and friends.

Midland League Schedule Drawn For The Season

Peterborough Quakers Play First Game on May 19--Twenty-one Teams in the League--A Prosperous Football Year in Sight--Games Over by July 1st--Some Trouble Over the Trophy.

A meeting of representatives from the different clubs in the Midland Football League, was held in the Y. M.C.A. building on Saturday afternoon, at which the schedule of games for the coming season was drawn up, and other matters of importance discussed.

The Peterborough Quaker Intermediate Team will play their first game at Bridgenorth on May 19th, and the Peterborough second Quaker second team will meet the Norwood High School aggregation on May 12, at Norwood.

Altogether there are twenty-one teams in the league, seventeen of these being in the junior series. There will therefore become lively doings in the football world this year, especially in the junior series, the inauguration of which has created a widespread interest in the Midland district.

Those present at the meeting included Dr. Davitt, Bowmanville; Ed. Renton, Norwood; Fred. Jopling, of Bridgenorth; Dr. Morgan, J. E. Sullivan, and Percy McFadden, Peterborough.

In the absence of the president, Mr W. McIlroy, the chair was occupied by the hon. president, Dr. Morgan.

Mr. J. E. Sullivan, who was the Midland League representative at the O. F. A., meeting, in Toronto, on Easter Monday, gave a report of the business transacted, affecting the League. The Ontario Association, he said, was greatly pleased that the Midland League was commencing a junior series this year, and were also much interested in the league, as a whole.

The question of obtaining the trophy from the Locust Hill Club, who refused to give it up to Bowmanville, last year's champions, was next considered.

The secretary had written the former, notifying them of the decision of the executive, and in, reply, said they would not hand it over, nor would they enter the league this season.

The matter was left in the hands of the executive.

Each club has the privilege of appointing two referees for games outside of games in which they have no interest.

Dr. Davitt and Mr. F. Kerslake of Bowmanville, and Messrs. J. Moore and P. Fitzgerald, of Peterborough, were the only appointments made on Saturday.

It was also decided that the final games must be over by July 1st.

The junior series was divided into eight groups, and the intermediates into two. The following is the schedule and the grouping decided upon:

The local club would like to arrange a game with Brantford for the holiday, and a return game for July 1st, when the 57th Regiment will visit Brantford.

Junior Quakers For Norwood

Will Play Norwood High School at Big Celebration.

Norwood will have a big celebration on the 24th of May. Preparations are already shaping for a gala day in sports and there will probably be a football and one or two baseball games there on the Queen's birthday.

Mr. Ed. Renton, manager of the baseball team, was in the city on Saturday, and arranged with the Peterborough Quaker Junior Football team to play a game of football with Norwood High School on that date. Mr. Renton was not certain what baseball teams would be present, but expected that Havelock at any rate, would give them a game.

BASEBALL BOOMS IN NORWOOD VILLAGE

Mr. Ed. Renton, Norwood, was in the city on Saturday attending the Midland Association Football meeting in the interests of the Norwood High School. Besides a football team the eastern village, he says, will also have a baseball team and, in fact, the interest is fading from the former game for which the village is noted and is being centred on baseball this season.

Mr. Renton is looking after the training of the ball players and there is no doubt that Norwood will have an excellent baseball nine on the diamond this year.

LAWN BOWLING

Should Be Warning To Local Council

Chatham Druggist Sues City for Making Isolation Hospital Out of His Home.

A despatch from Chatham says: "A. L. McCall, druggist, has instituted suit against the city. His son fell ill with scarlet fever some time ago, and the health authorities made of his home an isolation hospital, not having one the property of the city."

A local gentleman, well qualified to speak on such matters, informed the Examiner that in all probability Mr. McCall would win the case. He pointed out that the law distinctly says that the municipality must provide an isolation hospital for contagious disease patients.

The case should act as an incentive to the local council to do all in their power to assist the Board of Health and to complete the proposed isolation hospital as quickly as possible.

Fell Off Water Wagon Early

John Green Was Drunk at Eight O'clock This Morning.

With a jag of considerable proportion, John Green, who boards on McDonel street, toddered into the police court this morning to answer to a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

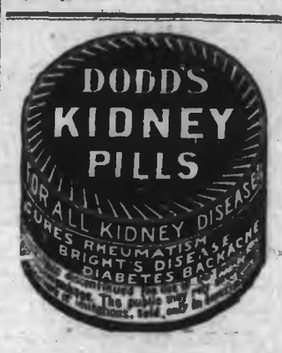
John was an early bird, and like the one of which the proverb speaks, caught the products of the "worm." He was corralled by P. C. Stewart this morning.

"Perhaps I am guilty in one sense of the word," was the answer he made the magistrate.

The latter, unfortunately for John, considered that he had gotten his liquid refreshments on Sunday and charged the usual Sunday price, $5. Green had no money and to Castle Nesbitt will be his business address for the next fifteen days.

PETERBORO' MAN BOUGHT BUSINESS

The Campbellford Despatch says: The afternoon train from Peterborough to-day brought a passenger who will in future be numbered among the business men of Campbellford. This gentleman is Mr. W. C Kirk, of Peterborough. He was only in town about an hour before he made a quick purchase of Mr. Patrick Heaney's liquor business. Mr. Heaney knew nothing of Mr. Kird before his arrival in town, and had no intention whatever of disposing of his business which for the past sixteen years he has carried on successfully.



Does Your FOOD Digest Well?

When the food is imperfectly digested the full benefit is not derived from it by the body and the purpose of eating is defeated; no matter how good the food or how carefully adapted to the wants of the body it may be. Thus the dyspeptic often becomes thin, weak and debilitated, energy is lacking, brightness, snap and vim are lost, and in their place come dullness, lost appetite, depression and languor. It takes no great knowledge to know when one has indigestion, some of the following symptoms generally exist, viz.: constipation, sour stomach, variable appetite, headache, heartburn, gas in the stomach, etc.

is constantly effecting cures of dyspepsia because it acts in a natural yet effective way upon all the organs involved in the process of digestion, removing all clogging impurities and making easy the work of digestion and assimilation.

Mr. R. G. Harvey, Amelianburg, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with dyspepsia for several years and after using three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I was completely cured. I cannot praise B.B.B. enough for what it has done for me. I have not had a sign of dyspepsia since."

Do not accept a substitute for B.B.B. There is nothing "just as good."

Editor Post Card Column:

Will Peterboroughh audiences ever learn to conduct themselves properly at the conclusion of a performance in the opera house. On Saturday evening their conduct was a little worse than on previous occasions which to anyone that has attended the opera house frequent will be saying a good deal. As the curtain was falling after the last act there was a wild rush for coats and hats and the door. The result was that when Miss Knott came from behind the scenes to make her final bow to the audience, she looked out upon a surging sea of waving overcoats while half the audience was disappearing through the exit. What must this distinguished actress have thought of her own Canadian people as exemplified in a Peterborough audience. I would suggest to the orchestra that they refrain in the future from playing the National Anthem. In that case it could not be dishonoured by the audience and the substitution of a quick march might help the gathering in their desire to get out as quickly as possible.

Asking forgiveness for again bringing up this subject, I am

Yours,
DISGUSTED.

Annual Church Parade Of Local Oddfellows

Large Turnout of the Brethren of the Three Links Last Night at Murray Street Church—Eloquent Sermon Preached by Rev. F. J. Scott on the Subject of the "New Humanity."

The annual church parade of the local lodges of Oddfellows was held last night to the Murray Street Baptist Church. There was a very large turnout of the brethren and a large congregation as well, so that the seating capacity at the church was barely adequate to accommodate the gathering. The pastor, Rev. F. J. Scott, preached an eloquent and forcible sermon on the subject "The New Humanity."

Rev. Mr. Scott spoke from the text Ephesians IV. 13. "Till we all come in the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ." This verse, said the speaker, meant the new humanity of a perfect uniformity, built from the ashes of the old. There was no doubt but that all desired a new, a perfect humanity. People although they often did wrong to their brethren and acted with diabolical selfishness still had a social or racial instinct. We feel united to the entire human race and feel also that it is summarized in our hearts. Deeper than the national hatred against another nation was the love in man's heart for man. Men built cities not for their generation, but for the generations to come, trees were planted for the benefit of those living a hundred years after. The government, educational, industrial and ecclesiastical institutions all told the same tale, of a desire for the new humanity.

Passing on, the speaker next dealt with the elements of the new humanity "Will it consist of a perfect state, physically?" he asked. He doubted very much if this would be the case in this world. The outward conditions would never be ideally perfect here. The new humanity would be a moral and spiritual one. It would be a perfect unity, the most socialistic and democratic unity ever known. The new humanity would be a vital one. People were naturally inclined to unity, but barriers arose up between them. There was the national barrier between men and the barrier of language, of social caste, the dislike of the black man by his white brother. If these things could be wiped out the golden day would come.

The new humanity, according to the speaker did not necessarily include all humanity. It would embrace only those who had faith in and an experimental knowledge of Jesus Christ. Adam's followers belonged to the old humanity and Christ who was the second Adam was the head of the new humanity which included all those who had faith in the Son of God.

Rev. Mr. Scott next discussed the manner of entering the new humanity.

REV. J. SCOTT
Who preached the annual sermon to the Oddfellows yesterday.

First of all man must have faith in and an experimental knowledge of the son of God. He urged upon them to experience Jesus Christ in their hearts, to trust Him and accept Him as their Saviour. Secondly they should formally identify themselves with some religious organizations. He advised his hearers to do this taking God's words as a guide. They were not to join such an organization, however, unless they had experience of Christ. The Church of Jesus Christ was ordained by God.

The speaker at this point referred to statements often published in the press which were injurious. They were that the Church should deal directly with the political, industrial and social problems of the day. If she did so, Mr. Scott argued, she would be missing her function. This the speaker was to instruct and inspire men. Two words which summed it all up were "Instruction and Inspection." The church aimed to make good Christians and they would become good citizens The speaker expressed his appreciation of the noble work being done by the Oddfellows. The caring for the sick and needy was mentioned as one of its most important branches in the work of the order.

Passing on Rev. Mr. Scott, said that there were men who never found time to come to church on the Sabbath or attend Prayer meeting, but who nevertheless were always present on lodge night. This was helping the inferior order at the expense of the superior. He urged upon his hearers never to make their lodge their religion. They were not to let their philantrophy be confined to their order alone. There was a danger of this in all orders even in the church. Neither were they to do these things under compulsion. They were to do them heartily and earnestly.

The Oddfellows held a short meeting in their lodge rooms after the service when resolutions of thanks were unanimously passed to the pastor, choir and church officials for their kindness.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER.

The performances at the Grand Opera House last week were fittingly concluded by the production of "When Knighthood Was in Flower"—Charles Major's renowned romance, dramatized by Paul Kester in five acts. For a Saturday night performance the audience was unusually large and one that listened with fascinated interest throughout. As a play portraying the customs of the golden days when Knighthood was in flower, it was particularly fine and the story lost none of its effectiveness by its transference to the stage. Under the personal direction of the distinguished actress, Rosella Knott, a Canadian by birth, the realism of history of the sixteenth century is materially strengthened by its capable dramatic transformation. Roselle Knott plays the role of Mary Tudor, princess of England, and sister of King Henry, the Eighth, in a remarkably vivid manner, and around her and her lover Charles Brandon, captain of the King's Guard, the whole story revolves. The fascinating glances and speeches of the pretty Princess on several occasions are brought to bear upon her brother, the King, in order to save the head of her lover, but finally to protect him she is compelled to marry Louis, the King of France, against her will. He, however, dies in a short time and by a series of happy occurrences she becomes the wife of Brandon which marriage is finally recognized by the King. Miss Knott is accompanied by a capable cast and the scenic appurtenances and costumes are quite in keeping with the nature of the times they were designed to represent. Altogether the play was an excellent dramatisation of very interesting, historical events.

THE HOLY CITY.

"The Holy City," the religious drama that comes to the Grand tonight will no doubt be greeted by a large house. The company is an excellent one, is finely staged, and the production is presented by a very cabable caste. The "Marins" as portrayed by J. Harrison Taylor, is excellent, and also Marie de Beau is a charming "Salome," who takes her part in a most adequate manner.

The "Buster Brown" Opera Company will be at the Grand on May 9th.

Good News From The Doomed City Of Golden Gate

Mr. Albert Weatherhead Hears From His Mother and Brother Who are Safe.

Mr. Albert Weatherhead, 834 Water street, received letters to-day from his brother, Bruce, and mother, who are at present in San Francisco, and who have escaped the great disaster. Although they are safe they were forced to flee from the burnt district in which their residence was, and have been living since the earthquake in one of the parks.

Mr. Weatherhead in his letter stated that at the time the letter was written — last Monday — the city was a burning wilderness. A thousand policemen were patrolling the streets and shooting down those who were caught robbing the dead. He saw 32 shot the day the letter was written.

Mr. A. Weatherhead stated that his mother was leaving for home soon and expects her in the course of a week or ten days.

ENTERTAINED THE GERMAN CLASS

Mrs. Rupert Gliddon very pleasantly entertained the members of Miss Weir's German class, to a "Kaffeeklatsch," at the Conservatory of Music on Saturday. A very enjoyable time was spent by the members present, and Mrs. Gliddon's hospitality was greatly appreciated.

Improvements To Bowling Green

Grounds Will Soon Present an Attractive Appearance.

The Lawn Bowling Club is having its grounds on the corner of Brock and Aylmer streets, fitted up, preparatory to the Bowling season, in a very artistic style.

The northern boundary of the grounds is being extended about 12 feet, and a new wire fence will also be placed on that side. The space between the sidewalk and the fence is being filled in with clay and the ground along the fence will be boulevarded so that the bowls will remain inside.

The grounds have been rolled and the spots affected by the ice during the spring, seeded and sprinkled with fine earth. The work is well under way, Mr. James O'Keefe having the contract.

Also a large arc lamp has been placed in the centre of the grounds and there will no longer be a deficiency in light.

The work of beautifying the green will be completed soon and the Peterborough Bowling Club will no doubt have one of the finest grounds in the province for their games this season.

STRANGER'S TEA WAS GREAT SUCCESS

There was a good attendance at the monthly strangers' tea at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday evening, young men being present from Sudbury, Stirling, Scotland, four from different parts of England, Smith, Bowmanville, Toronto, Whitby, Sussex, Eng., and Glasgow, Scotland.

The tea was provided by the ladies of St. John's church, Mrs. Rupert Gliddon being convenor of the committee.

Expectant Mothers

should take "Bu-Ju" during this trying time. The extra strain, weight and undue pressure on the delicate organs often irritate and inflame the kidneys. This not only increases the danger of childbirth, but places the health of the baby in jeopardy.

DICKSON COMPANY SELLS LIMITS AND GOOD WILL; PRICE WAS $600,000.00

The Biggest Business Deal in History of Peterborough Took Place Here This Morning—A Syndicate of Canadian and American Capitalists Buys Extensive Business of the Local Company—Head Office of New Company Will be in Peterborough---W. D. Lummis, of Toronto, President.

The Dickson Company, a concern which has been in business in Peterborough for two generations has sold out to a new syndicate, which will have its head office in this city, and which will carry on actively the operations formerly carried on by the Dickson Company.

This is, without doubt the largest business deal ever consummated in this city, and the news that Peterborough is to secure the head office of this new company of capitalists of unlimited means, will be very welcome to the citizens.

The papers conveying the business to the new company were signed this afternoon, when the secretary-treasurer of the company was in the city.

The Company owns practically all the timber in Cavendish, and about half of Anstruther, including many square miles.

In reference to the above the following official statement was issued by Messrs. Roger & Bennet to-day. This firm represented the Dickson Company in the transaction:

Probably the largest transaction which Peterborough has ever experienced took place quietly this morning in the law offices of Messrs. Roger & Bennet, on Water street, between Mr. J. C. Shook and Mr. G. M. Roger, as representing the Dickson Company, and Mr. Henry J. Bartlett, of Orillia, as representing a syndicate of Canadian and American capitalists, when the Dickson Company's plant and business changed hands at a price in the neighbourhood of $600,000.00.

The citizens of Peterborough will be pleased to learn of a deal which introduces into the city new business blood of the very finest quality, and capital equal to all the demands which the highest enterprise may desire to command.

The transaction will not prejudice the interests of the city in any way, as the business will be carried on and the manufacturing be done at the mills at Lakefield and Peterborough as heretofore. The Dickson Company will saw out the logs on hand and the purchasers will take possession of the drives now on the way down on their arrival at Lakefield, and also the mills for the purpose of sawing them up as soon as the sawing of the logs now on hand is completed.

The purchasers are forming a company, of which Mr. Wm. D. Lummis, of Sarnia and Toronto, will be the president, and Mr. Henry J. Bartlett, of Orillia, the secretary-treasurer. This company will have its headquarters in Peterborough, from which point its extensive business interests will be controlled.

The purchasers acquire a five years use of the mills at Lakefield and Peterborough, but the property in these mills, and in all other Peterborough lands, remains in the Dickson Company.

It has been known by those in inside circles for some litttle time that the deal closed to-day was under consideration, so that to those the announcement of its consummation will not be any surprise.

The Dickson Co. has for so many years been looked upon as a part and parcel of Peterborough, that it will be hard to realize that the interests of the firm, so far as the lumber business is concerned, have been transferred to a new concern.

The oldest residents of the city can hardly remember when the Dickson Company was not in the lumber business here. At first it was small, of course, but it gradually increased until it became one of the largest in the province, and, as the price paid for the property to-day, shows, one of the most wealthy.

DUMMER HOTEL CLOSED TO-DAY

Special to The Examiner.

Warsaw, May 1st. — Local option comes into force here to-day, and an unaccustomed stillness pervades the atmosphere. The Morgan House bar and hotel gates were closed at midnight and the hotel, which has served the public for so long a time, became private property this morning.

Mr. Frederick Nicholls Talks About Proposed C. G. E. Co. Extension

Says a Decision Will be Reached in a Very Few Days—The Company Has Recently Purchased a Block of Land North of Albert Street—General Manager of the Company in the City To-day—Something Doing Soon.

Mr. Frederick Nicholls, general manager of the Canadian General Electric Company, is in the city to-day. It is practically certain that his visit to Peterborough means much to the city. The company is considering extensive additions to its works, and there is little doubt that Mr. Nicholls' visit to-day will have a very material effect on the the decision which will be reached in respect to these extensions.

To The Examiner Mr. Nicholls stated that the purpose of his visit was to look over the situation. Questioned as to the extensions, Mr. Nicholls said that the company had not yet decided as to whether the new works would be erected here or not, but that it would be decided in a very few days.

It is known, however, that last week the company purchased a considerable block of land lying south of that at present held by them. This property is on the north side of Albert street, and the price paid was over $2,000.

It is quite within the range of probability that in a very short time the announcement of the company to enlarge their works here will be officially made.

PETERBOROUGH MEN GOING TO COBALT

A number of Peterborough people left for Cobalt yesterday, and the prospects are that a number of others will go in the near future. The railway offices have received numerous inquiries from prospective residents of Cobalt, and it is quite probable that within the next few weeks several Peterborough men will be there searching for the precious metal.

Ten Days in Jail For Trespassers

Toronto Youths in Trouble With the C.P.R. Detectives.

Norman Henry and John Carroll, two Toronto boys, appeared before Mr. H. Rush, J. P., this morning, in answer to a charge of trespassing on the property of the C. P. R., at the local station.

The pair were gathered in last night by C. P. R. detectives Brown and Wright, who are on special duty throughout the province in rounding up tramps and vagrants. They told a story of walking from Toronto, saying that they had left the Queen city at eleven o'clock on Saturday night. The detectives believe that they beat their way on a freight train.

The boys pleaded guilty to a charge of trespassing and were fined five dollars with the alternative of ten days in gaol. Time was more plentiful than money with the pair and they will be found on the hill for the next few days.

How Senator Cox Got His Start

His Early Association With Robt. Jaffray.

Among Canadian financiers, Robert Jaffray, president of the company which controls the Toronto Globe, and George A. Cox, president of the Canada Life, the Bank of Commerce and other institutions, are familiar figures. For years there has been a tacit alliance between the two. This was brought about in the olden days, when the Midland Railway of Ontario was an independent and struggling road. The story of the deal, which brought Cox and Jaffray together is an interesting one. At the time Cox was a plain everyday citizen of Peterborough, Jaffray a wholesale grocer in Toronto. Jaffray was a friend of the Hon. George Brown and through him was introduced to Mr. Lyle, a Scotch gentleman holding £6,000 of Midland Railway bonds. The M. R. was in a bad way and George Brown suggested that Jaffray should be placed on the Board of Directors. The suggestion was complied with and Jaffray agreed to act, provided he was given an associate, with a local knowledge of the road. In a few days, Jaffray discovered his man—George A. Cox—and the two soon put the M.R. on its feet. This story is told with considerable more detail in The Busy Man's Magazine for May.

Will Peterborough Land This Industry

Brantford Screw Company Looking for New Location--Peterborough Would Suit the Company Well--The Manufacturers' Committee Will Likely Make a Bid For It--Reasons for the Removal.

There should be a good chance for Peterborough to secure a new industry. The Brantford Screw Company is looking for a new location, and it would seem that Peterborough should appeal to the Company as a desirable location. A despatch from Brantford says that that city is almost certain to lose one of the most important of the growing industries of the city. The announcement is made to-day that the Brantford Screw Company, not having enough room in their present factory on Dalhousie street, are intending to seek a location in another city.

The announcement was made to-day by Ald. Lloyd Harris, who holds a large interest in the company. He explained the position that they find themselves in at the present time, and stated that they were so placed that it was almost impossible to do anything but seek a location in some other city. Their present quarters are much too cramped and small, and there is no room for an extension that would meet the occasion. The company officials have tried to find another location in the city, especially in the Holmedale, but their efforts have not been crowned with success. "We could find a location in the Holmedale all right," said Mr. Harris, "but, of course, there is no use locating in that section unless there is going to be good railway facilities. We would not think of building our factory there until the switch was an assured thing." He further added that outside of the Holmedale no suitable site had been found in the Other Cities Want Company.

When asked if the Screw Co. had opened negotiations with other cities, Ald. Harris replied that other cities had been negotiating with them. There are several important industrial centres in Ontario very anxious to secure the firm, and the best of inducements have been held out in several quarters. When questioned as to what places were concerned in the matter, he replied that for the present it would be better not to mention names, but that an announcement would be made very shortly.

Almost Certain to Leave.

When asked as to the probable outcome of the negotiations, Ald Harris stated that it was "practically certain" that the company would decide to remove their works from Brantford and locate them in another city.

Ald McWilliams, chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council, was communicated with to-day in reference to this matter, and stated that his committee had no knowledge that this industry was likely to leave Brantford, consequently no effort had been made to induce them to locate in Peterborough.

There is no doubt that Peterborough would be an ideal place for an industry such as a screw works, and it is probable that the Manufacturers' Committee will take what steps are deemed necessary to bring its advantages before the officials of the Company.

No Negligence On Part Of Street Railway Company

This Was the Finding of the Jury in the Case of Snowden vs. Radial Railway Company--Case Lasted Over Three Hours--Accident Was Due to Want of Precaution on Part of the Driver--The Evidence.

The Division Court case of Wm. Snowden vs. the Peterborough Radial Railway Company for damages sustained by his 'bus in a collision with a street car, came up yesterday afternoon before His Honour Judge Weller, and a jury, judgment being awarded to the defendants.

The case was one that created a great deal of interest, and it was three hours and fifteen minutes from the beginning before the jury submitted their verdict. Eight witnesses in all were examined, six for the prosecution, and two for the defence.

Mr. D. W. Dumble was counsel for Mr. Snowden, while the interests of the defendants were looked after by Mr. Dennistoun.

In opening the case Mr. Dumble explained the accident that happened to the plaintiff's 'bus on the morning of February 12th last. The conveyance was being driven from the C. P. R. eight o'clock train by Edward McDonald, to the Snowden House. Between Sherbrooke and King streets the driver crossed the road and was struck by a southbound car in charge of Motorman Londerville, and badly smashed. The one occupant, Frank White, was injured.

Edward McDonald.

Edward McDonald was the first witness that was called by the prosecution, and to Mr. Dumble he said he was driving the 'bus on the morning of the accident, and in attempting to cross the street to save running into the National 'bus, was struck by the car. There was no gong rung and the car was not checked in speed until after the collision. The car was travelling at the rate of twelve miles an hour at least.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness said he had driven the 'bus for about eight years. He was driving on the left hand side of the street, and knew he was on the wrong side but drove on that side for safety. The seat of the 'bus was low, and he couldn't see past the National 'bus. He went on to the track without first looking up, but trusted to the sound of the gong. The horses were on the track before he saw the car, which was then about three lengths ahead. It went about four lengths after striking the 'bus before stopping. It had been his practice to drive on the left hand side of the road.

J. R. Elliott.

J. R. Elliott, driver of the National 'bus was the next witness and gave evidence that he was driving in front of the Snowden House 'bus on the morning of the collision. A buggy and a street car were coming down the street and he slowed up to let them pass. He saw the motorman jump to catch the lever when opposite to him, and saw sparks fly from the trolley wire. There was no gong sounded. He turned his head and saw the Snowden 'bus struck.

To Mr. Dennistoun he said he passed the advancing buggy crossing the track, and he always watches for cars whenever he crosses.

Alexander Reid, Frank White and John Reid the Oriental driver, were also called and gave evidence. Mr. Snowden testified to the amount of the damage done.

The Defence.

For the defence two witness were called. John Londerville, motorman, and H. Bradburn, conductor. The main points of their evidence was that no person was in front with the motorman, that the gong was sounded, and the car slowed as quickly as possible. Motorman Londerville had no idea that the Snowden House 'bus was going to cross the the track. He rang the gong because the Snowden House 'bus was behind the National.

The counsels and judge then addressed the jury, which retired, and returned in 15 minutes with the following questions answered:

1. Was the defendant company guilty of negligence? No.
2. Was the 'bus driver guilty of negligence? Yes.
3. If so, in what did that negligence consist? Being on the wrong side of the road, and turning without proper precaution.
4. If the 'bus driver was guilty of negligence, could the motorman, by exercise of reasonable care, have avoided the collision? No.
5. What damages did the plaintiff sustain? $80.

Judgment was then awarded to the defendants.

The jury consisted of the following: D. Doherty, Alex. Dickson, V. E. Davey, Dexter Dawe, Thos. Duncan.

Maccabees Aid Stricken City

Local Tent Grant $10 Towards General Fund.

To assist the suffering of the stricken city of San Francisco, the Board of Trustees of the local Tent of the Knights of the Maccabees voted $10 at the last regular meeting towards the general funds being raised by that order.

There are in all 5,000 tents of Maccabees and the assistance they have rendered has been no inconsiderate amount. The Supreme Tent, Port Huron, Michigan, alone granted $5,000 towards the fund.

The City's Gift Has Reached Sufferers

Steamer "Amur," Carrying Peterborough's Gift of Quaker Oats, Left Vancouver Last Wednesday--A Correspondent From That City Writes Describing Steamer's Departure--Peterborough Has Made a Good Name for Herself in the West.

Peterborough's contribution to the sufferers at San Francisco has, before this, reached its destination. A letter from Vancouver tells of the departure of the steamer carrying the gifts of the Canadian people. A correspondent, writing to this paper from Vancouver, says:

It may be of interest to the readers of The Examiner and to the people of Peterborough generally to hear that their contribution to the relief of the San Francisco fire sufferers has created many favourable comments in this city.

The C. P. R. steamship 'Amur, which has been very kindly loaned by the owners for the purpose of conveying part of Canada's contribution, sailed at noon to-day (April 25) for the scene of destruction. While at the dock witnessing her departure, I was very much surprised when I discovered the name of the old town stretched from mast to mast. The inscription read something like this: "From Canada's Horn of Plenty—Relief from Victoria, Vancouver, Peterborough, Montreal, Woodstock, Winnipeg, Quebec and New Zealand."

The money contributed by Canadians has been mostly spent in Vancouver on purely Canadian goods. British Columbia's contribution consist mostly of canned salmon, flour and potatoes.

Quite a large crowd congregated at the docks to witness the Amur's departure on her errand of mercy. Amid the excitement a staging, with three sailors who were painting the Empress of China, broke throwing them into the water. One unfortunate fellow never came up, but the surviving two were quickly picked up by a small boat, none the worse for their bath.

The Amur was given three hearty cheers by the crowd as she pulled out from the docks. It is intended to try and make a record run to 'Frisco, and, as the Amur is a very fast boat, it is altogether likely that she will.

The Queen sailed Saturday evening with about 100 tons of provisions from this city. On the trip down the coast to 'Frisco she picked up a large amount of supplies at Seattle, Tacoma and Portland.

In closing, I may say that Peterborough has certainly made a great name for herself by the products she sends west. All electric cars are equipped with C. G. E. motors, whilst many of the sawmills are equipped with machinery from Wm. Hamilton's. Peterborough canoes and Quaker Oats are equally popular.

The Shop Licenses Were All Renewed

Appeal for Reconsideration of Those Cut Off Was Useless --The First Order Stands---T. Cavanaugh Given One Month to Dispose of Stock---Bartenders Paid Licenses.

The five applications for shop licenses in the city were given consideration last night by the License Commissioners, at their adjourned meeting. The holders of shop licenses all applied for renewals, and they were granted. They were as follows:

Alex. Elliott,
F. J. R. Mitchell,
J. C. Sullivan,
Charles A. Kelly,
A. Rountree.

The hotel license of T. Cavanagh was extended for one month to enable him to dispose of his stock of goods.

Mr. G. W. Hatton appeared before the Commissioners on behalf of J. M. Brooks, E. Cassidy, and W. Overend, whose licenses were taken away. He asked that the matter be reconsidered and advanced reasons why in their opinion, they were not being fairly dealt with.

The appeal was useless, however, and the former order of the Commissioners now stands. The licenses will be cut off at the time specified at the meeting on Monday last.

Thirty bar-tenders' licenses have been issued, and Mr. Cochrane to-day carried the $60, received from that source.

The Peterborough Club has also paid its license of $50, the first time that a license fee has been received from that club.

Lye Factory Added To Peterboro' Industries

Mr. Geo. Stevens is in Possession of a Secret Process and Has Started a Factory--Four Thousand Cans Will be Turned Out Daily--Already There is a Large Demand for This Product.

Another industry has been added to Peterborough's ever growing list. The latest addition starts in a small way but is one that gives promise of speedily developing into bigger things.

Mr. George Stevens, of East City, is in possession of a secret process for the manufacture of lye from ashes, and has already started operations at his residence on Douro street.

A room has been equipped with the necessary machinery and the manufacture of Stevens' lye has already commenced. So far 11,000 cans have been turned out, and the product has found a ready sale in Peterborough, only a few hundred cans remaining in stock. Mr. Stevens' plant when in complete working order will turn out from three to four thousand cans per day. He will employ at first about ten hands, two men to run the machinery and eight girls to label the cans. This number he expects to increase in a short time, if the demand for the new lye continues as it has commenced.

Already the product is attracting attention outside of the city and he has made a shipment to Napanee, and next week he will send a shipment to British Columbia.

The process of manufacture is said to be a most simple one. One of the machines in the factory is capable of sealing three or four thousand cans per day, and this mechanism is perfectly controlled by one man. The machinery was installed by G. W. Green and Alexander and Miller.

The new lye is said to be of a superior quality, and there is already a great demand for it among the merchants of the city. Mr. Stevens will commence in the near future an extensive advertising campaign, and will put the merits of his new product before the public.

ELECTRIC WIRING.

"It is alleged by the firemen that the Toronto post office fire was caused by electric wires. This is not accepted by the electrical inspector of Canadian Fire Underwriters Association. Still there is room, says thee Toronto News, for a reasonable doubt as to the adequate nature of the wiring, and the matter should be investigated. Under present regulations there is very often a good deal of careless work possible in installing an electric lighting system. This should be made impossible." The same remarks apply, no doubt, in a general way to the condition of electric wiring in Peterborough, where there is no inspector of electric wiring, something which especially needs to be carefully looked after. While the majority of those engaged in the work may be competent and careful yet in every trade there are careless persons who seem constitutionally unable to do work rightly and thoroughly when there is an opportunity for scamping, such as is bound to present itself when there is no system or inspection. The importance of perfect electric wiring cannot be over-estimated. Without it there is lurking danger of fire in inaccessible places, and at hours when there is least preparation to meet it. Defective electric wiring is a hidden danger inviting destruction with the stealth of an earthquake. Our city authorities might well turn their attention to the subject of providing inspection of electric wiring. The competent workman will welcome it, for he is not afraid to submit his work to the most rigid test. The careless workman will have to welcome it.

POLITICS AND THE LICENSE LAW.

Another illustration of the gross abuse of the administration of the license laws by the Whitney Government is furnished in Windsor. Last year the new board of commissioners, appointed by the present government, cut off four hotel licences. There was a hue and cry from the license losers and their friends, but the board stood firm. Then the malcontents circulated a petition asking for the board's dismissal. The commissioners came under the reproach of the local party machine and the member, Dr. Reaume. They were told that their action had been highly detrimental to the party interests. Wires were pulled with such effect that at the expiration of its year's term of office, the entire board was swept away, and a new one appointed, of proved political orthodoxy. One of the first acts of the new commissioners has been to restore the four licenses cancelled by their predecessors. The Windsor Record says there is no reason for the restoration, except it was fulfillment of a promise made to party heelers. The board, it says, was appointed for the express purpose of reviving the four licences. Windsor has new hostelries, and the Record comments on the fact as follows:

"Windsor does not need these additions to its licensed houses. In fact as it is, there is scarcely standing room in the hotel field. Woodstock for, example, has eight hotels, and this is about the proportion in places of that rank. Following out this ratio, a dozen licenses would be sufficient for Windsor.

"Aside from the social aspect of the question, this multiplication of hotels is a poor business policy. It cannot fail to react injuriously on the quality of the hotel service, which must deteriorate in exact proportion to that increase."

The Government is not committed to the reduction of licences, although Mr. Whitney, when in opposition, declared for it: but the premier and the provincial secretary, since assuming office, have solemnly declared that politics would not intrude into the administration of the license law. The Government's career has been strewn with cynical violations of this pledge. — London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Toronto last year determined to keep down its tax rate and in consequence achieved a civic overdraft of $270,000. Yet with an increased rate there might still be a shortage. It would appear that as a rule municipal bodies cannot resist the temptation to indulge in extravagant expenditure; and the more money there is available, the greater the temptation to spend.

There seems to be a general advance in the prices of strong drinks in the hotels of the province. This seems to be an unmixed evil—it would be a mixed evil, some would think, if the dealers mixed water with the cup that cheers instead of elevating the price. The price goes up and the drink goes down still, for there are those to whom strong drink seems to be a necessity of life to be had and consumed in spite of price.

The influence of the San Francisco earthquake extends actively beyond its immediate vicinity. Hon. Mr. Matheson, the provincial treasurer, has gone to New York in connection with the repayment of the "Soo" guarantee which became due May first. It is understood the company intends making a payment of not less than $1,000,000, and would have discharged their entire obligation of two millions had it not been for the San Francisco fire upsetting some of the arrangements it had made with capitalists.

The earthquakes in California is a reminder that the world is still in the making, and that in the immense laboratory in its interior there are processes going on of which we know nothing. In the late Professor Shaler's phrase, the globe is not the dead thing of the common thought, but respires like a living organism, its crust rising and falling like the waves of the sea, although the periods are too long for the generations of man to take note. Earthquakes occur somewhere every hour, although usually so slight as to be detected only by the delicate finger of the seismograph. In Central America they are as common as thunder-storms, and unless unusually severe notice of them hardly gets into even the local papers.

In his last letter to the London Chronicle, Mr. John A. Hobson, in describing the stream of immigration into the Canadian West, declares, the News points out, that of all the new stock, that from the United States is by far the most valuable, for the forty thousand odd farming folk who now yearly come up from Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, are not only experienced in the same agricultural life, but they bring with them considerable capital, take up larger tracts of land than the European, and work it with all the skill and enterprise which American life has endowed them. Most of them are Americans of the older stock, who have sold their farms for good prices and are moving across the frontier to take up better land bought from the Canadian Pacific Railway, or some land company at a few dollars an acre. The average value of the movable property these immigrants bring with them is about $1200 per man, not to mention his bank account; most of them, therefore settle with every prospect of success. These men, Mr. Hobson says, mostly accept Canadian nationality, and are likely to play a most influential part in the political and economic future of the country.

MAKING A MORNING COAT FOR A CORPULENT FIGURE

One of the chief features of the Semi-ready tailoring is that corpulent figures are dealt with as easy as an ordinary 36-inch chest, and no other system has been devised to fulfil these conditions as does the Semi-ready.

The great secret in cutting all coats is to secure the measure as they exist on the figure, and then no difficulty will be found in producing from the Wardrobe Semi-ready garments, large or small, with this unique and popular system.

By the Semi-ready system 525 different suits of different sizes for different physique types can be made from one cloth pattern. The chances are 525 to 1 in favour of Semi-ready. In this city and district the exclusive franchise for the sale of Semi-ready clothing is held at Cressman's.

Everybody Agrees

that COD LIVER OIL and IRON are beyond question the greatest medicines known. Then why does not everybody take Cod Liver Oil and Iron? Simply because most people cannot take the Oil and few can digest the Iron in any ordinary form. These difficulties have been entirely removed by the introduction of FERROL, in which the Iron is scientifically combined with the Oil, rendering the Oil palatable and the Iron digestible. While is manufactured from the best quality of Cod Liver Oil (the whole of the Oil) and is richer in oil than any other emulsion, and while it contains just the right quantity of the best form of Iron and Phosphorus, it is so scientifically prepared that not one person in a thousand finds any trouble in taking it, and infants digest it without difficulty. Moreover the well-established value of the Oil and Iron is immensely enhanced by the process of manufacture, and as the formula is freely exposed it is not to be wondered at that physicians everywhere have fully endorsed FERROL and used it largely in their practice. FERROL is invaluable for the treatment of any kind of Lung or Bronchial troubles, while for wasting diseases it has no equal, and

Another Case Of Dog Poisoning

Mr. W. R. G. Higgins' Big Newfoundland Is the Latest Victim.

A large Newfoundland dog belonging to Mr. W. R. G. Higgins, was poisoned with strychnine last night or early this morning. The dog was very much valued by its owner and he feels its loss keenly. The reason for the dastardly act is hard to find as the dog was a quiet animal and rarely went away from the house. Mr. Higgins is indignant and will severely punish the offender if he succeeds in catching him.

$31,119.18 Receipts At Custom House

The returns at the local Customs House show the receipts for the month of April this year to be $31,119.18.

This is a large amount for April, and is indicative of the fact that the trade of the city is ever on the increase.

This amount is more than the total receipts for last year at Lindsay customs house, which amounted to about $27,000 for the year.

OBITUARY.

WALTER ARCHBOLD.

The sad death of Walter Vernon Kemp, the eleven months' old son of Rev. W. and Mrs. Archbold, of Roslyn, of the diocese of Ontario, occurred at the residence of Mr. E. Morphet, Aylmer street, yesterday morning.

Mrs. Archbold had been visiting her mother here for a few weeks, and it was only a short time before the death of the little child that illness was noticed. Rev. Mr. Archbold arrived in the city last night, on hearing the sad news of the death of his son. The numerous friends of the parents, who are well known here, sympathise with them in their great loss.

The funeral will take place this afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery. Rev. Mr. Major will officiate.

Funeral of the Late Mrs. Jas. L. Hughes

Laid at Rest in Little Lake Cemetery.

Yesterday afternoon the funeral of the late Mrs. J. L. Hughes was held from the family residence, 302 Park street, at 3 o'clock. The service at the house was conducted by Rev. J. W. Jolliffe, and consisted in the singing of the hymn, "Rock of Ages, Cleft for Me," the reading of appropriate Scripture and an address by Rev. Mr. Jolliffe, who paid a pathetic and well deserved tribute to the memory of the deceased lady, indicating the many virtues, which characterized her in the several relations of wife, mother and neighbour, which found a responsive answer in the hearts of those who know her best and could best appreciate the truth of the tribute paid. This was followed by prayer and the singing by Miss Clara Belleghem of "Home at Last." The casket was piled high with floral offerings, a beautiful symbols of the flowers strewn in many a pathway by the late Mrs. Hughes in her lifetime. The remains were followed to the Little Lake Cemetery by a long cortege of citizens, and at the cemetery the beautiful burial service was recited, in the warm hush of the spring afternoon, the bright sunshine illuminating the depths of the grave wherein the casket was lowered, as the light of hope of future reunion lightened the gloom of hearts darkened with human sorrow.

Those present as chief mourners, were Messrs. J. L. Hughes, Howard and Bruce Hughes, Montreal, sons; Rev. R. W. Sharpe, Manitoba, and Mr. J. Colin Grant, son-in-law. The pall bearers were Messrs. H. E. Hawley, Dr. Morrow, Geo. Webber, T. O. Rush, J. T. Stenson and F. R. Yokome.

Better Than the Money.

—Are the good reports we receive of our medicines every day. Confirmed cripples are now working, and recent cases of rheumatism are cured in two or three days. DR. ROSCOE'S RHEUMATIC REMEDY is working wonderful cures in this district. Ask your druggist for it. eod

A Good Medicine.

—The patient getting discouraged with his physician's treatment, asks his opinion of Dr. Roscoe's Rheumatic Remedy. He replies, "It is a good medicine but it would kill you." In his present condition he may as well be dead, so "kill or cure," he takes the medicine and is perfectly well in a few days. We have frequently heard this. 3eod

An Explanation.

—In Saturday's Examiner an article in respect to the Y.M.C.A. appeared, and the heading gave a wrong impression to the reader. It stated that it was the Y.W.C.A. and that a subscription was being taken for the Building Fund, whereas it should have read Y.M.C.A., and should have referred to the "furnishing fund." To those who read the article the matter was made plain, but its heading was misleading.

Expressing A Drunk.

—The Lindsay Post says:—Drunks are not expressed into Lindsay, but it looked mighty like it Saturday evening about 6.45, when Chief of Police Nevison was seen conveying a very much intoxicated Indian to the lock-up in the C.P.R. express wagon. The Chief located his man behind Chung Sun's laundry on William street, and took the easiest way of getting him to the dungeon. The question now is, "Where did he secure the liquor?"

The SECRET of the NATIVES

A GREAT AND VALUABLE DISCOVERY

THE mysterious rites connected with the healing art, as practised by the natives of that wonderful land, Australia, will now never be fully revealed. It is well known, however, that so well did the Australian natives know the medicinal virtues of certain roots and herbs that when first discovered by the great English navigator, Capt. Cook, they were practically free from disease. Capt. Cook wrote of them :—

"I did not observe [among the natives] any appearance of disease or bodily complaint, or eruption of the skin, or marks of any ; and the most severe wounds heal most rapidly. Very old men, without hair or teeth, show no signs of decreptitude and are full of cheerfulness and vivacity."

This was eventually found to be due to the use by the natives of certain vegetable herbs and essences which for untold ages they had known as medicines. Scientists noted well this fact and gradually came to recognize the vast superiority of natural vegetable remedies over the harmful mineral products so widely and commonly used.

One day the Australian public were informed that they could obtain a household remedy made up in the form of a small bean ; that this remedy was of purely vegetable composition ; that it was entirely different to the ordinary medicines and preparations so widely sold and that it was a certain cure for biliousness, indigestion, liver complaints, headache, constipation and allied disorders.

Many people did not believe that this new bean was any different to or better than the ordinary medicines in every day use. Others purchased a box for the novelty of the thing. As in all discoveries, however, the test of time was brought to bear upon this preparation, and with what result? Family after family tried this new discovery and proved that it WAS superior, that it did unfailingly cure indigestion, constipation, biliousness, etc., and thereupon they not only adopted it as their family medicine but recommended it to their friends. The demand for the (then) new "bean for the bile" increased so rapidly that the proprietors found themselves behindhand in executing orders to the extent of 40,000 boxes. Notwithstanding all efforts made to overtake the demand, the unexecuted orders soon amounted to over 70,000 boxes.

This can well be understood when it is known that orders like those reproduced with this article from Messrs. F. H. Faulding, the great Adelaide wholesale house, and Messrs. Kempthorne, Prosser & Co., were frequently coming to hand, as annexed.

Specimens of large orders placed for Bileans, showing how they were appreciated by the Australian public, to whom they were first introduced :—

MESSRS. F. H. FAULDING & CO., the large Wholesale Druggists of Adelaide, wrote :

"Dear Sirs,—Please supply as early as possible another parcel of 30,000 boxes of your Bileans. We might mention that this is the biggest order for any one line we have ever given ; but from the commencement the demand has been so great and shown such big increases that we feel justified in ordering the above quantity.

"Yours very truly,
"(Sgd) F. H. FAULDING & Co."

In New Zealand also the demand for this handy and effective specific was equally great.

MESSRS. KEMPTHORNE, PROSSER & CO., Wrote :

"Dear Sirs,—We will take to the extent of £2,000 worth as a first order ($10,000) to handle and control the business.

"Yours truly,
"(Sgd) KEMPTHORNE, PROSSER & Co."

Within a few years so phenomenal was the success of this great vegetable remedy that it was decided to introduce it to the teeming millions of the Old Country. No sooner was this decision known than a leading English wholesale house, which had a branch in Australia, foreseeing the demand which would speedily arise when this "bean for the bile" was introduced to England, placed a "first order" for £20,000 worth $100,000 of boxes for their English house. Bileans speedily became, and are to-day, the leading English family medicine. Over 750,000 doses are taken throughout Great Britain every day of the year.

Under the title of "Bileans for Biliousness," (pronounced Bile-eans), this unique remedy has now been introduced into Canada, and Bileans for Biliousness are now obtainable from all Canadian druggists and storekeepers at 50c a box.

The proprietors are particularly anxious that right from the first introduction, Bileans for Biliousness should not be confounded with ordinary medicines. Bileans operate mildly, never cause pain or inconvenience, and are yet so searching that they eradicate the diseases and ailments for which they are compounded, completely from the system. They contain no alcohol.

WHAT BILEANS ARE AND WHAT THEY DO!

What Are Bileans?—Bileans are a purely vegetable medicine, which is a cure for indigestion, liver complaint, biliousness, headache and all the symptoms and ailments arising out of stomach and liver disorders. It is well known that liver medicines hitherto in use mostly contain bismuth, mercury and other harmful mineral products, and rely upon these ingredients for their temporary effects. But these mineral constituents are very injurious if taken for long, and produce such effects as that of loosening the teeth, causing the hair to fall out, etc. Bileans are different and superior. They are purely vegetable and contain no trace of any such harmful ingredients as the above. In taking them there is no fear whatever of any harmful secondary effects. They cure that which they are taken to cure, and do not leave behind them evils worse than the original ones.

Take headache or dizziness. These arise not from defective sight or brain trouble, but from stomach or liver disorder, or both. Bileans cure these ailments by striking not at mere symptoms, but at real causes.

What Bileans Cure.—Bileans cure the following disorders : Headache, constipation, piles, liver trouble, indigestion and all digestive disorders, female ailments, skin eruption, biliousness, sick headache, bad taste in the mouth, foul breath, dizziness, fainting, burning noises in the head, feelings of uncomfortable fulness even after a light meal, anaemia, debility, etc. They also act as a general tonic, and by improving the tone of the whole system enable it to throw off colds, chills, etc. They improve the general circulation, and are a boon to pale-faced girls and weak women. For all purposes to which a household remedy is put Bileans will be found of excellent service.

How Bileans Act—Bileans are so compounded that they operate directly upon the liver and stomach. Here again they differ from the operation of other medicines. Most medicines taken for, say, constipation, cause purging more or less violent, clear the intestines out for the time being, but leave the cause of the Constipation untouched. To take such a medicine is like trying to empty a barrel placed over a spring. You may empty it but immediately you stop the emptying process it will rapidly fill again.

Just so in indigestion and all stomach troubles. Bileans do not, like ordinary medicines, merely remove the fermenting food. To do that is to give relief certainly, but it is no cure! Bileans tone up the secreting glands of the stomach and intestines, regulate the flow of gastric juice, stimulate the muscles of the digestive organs to healthy action, and thus remove the root cause of digestive disorders.

Bileans May Be Obtained from all druggists and medicine vendors at 50c per box. Should your druggist be temporarily out of stock order direct from the Bileans Co., Colborne street, Toronto. A box will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price.

Free Sample Box To obtain a free sample box of Bileans for Biliousness cut out the coupon, and post it, with full name and address, and two cent stamp (to pay return postage), to THE BILEAN COMPANY, COLBORNE STREET TORONTO. This will allow you to test Bileans without cost, and the proprietors feel that to allow the public to test the merits of Bileans free is the surest way to win public favor.

PROOF OF WHAT BILEANS WILL DO

Biliousness and Sick Headache Cured

Mrs. Pearson, of Trafalgar Street, Bury New Road, Manchester, was cured of biliousness by Bileans after every other remedy she had tried had failed. Relating her experience to a local press representative, she said : "From a child I have been subject to biliousness and sick headache. Indeed, it may almost be said that I inherited these dreadful maladies, for my mother was afflicted with them even to a greater extent. They began with a sensation of dryness in the throat. This would be followed by retching and sickness, which persisted for so long that often I felt sore all over. When an attack came on I could not get ease, no matter how I tried, and sometimes, although unable to stand, to lie down was misery. I tried every remedy that anyone told me of, but if I got any relief from one or two of them at first, after a few days I found I received no permanent relief from any of them.

"One day, on my husband's advice, I got a box of Bileans, and the effects of even the first box were very gratifying. I continued with this remedy, and as I did so the dryness in the throat seemed to pass away, as well as the uncomfortable fulness in the stomach and the dimness of sight. After taking a thorough course of Bileans I found myself quite cured, and I have had no return of the ailments which troubled me for so long."

Scarcity Of Labour Takes Much Water

Difficulty Experienced in Getting Logs Over the Dams —Not Enough Men to Get Work Done in Reasonable Time—Superintendent of Trent Canal Issues Instructions to the Men in Charge of Dams—Must Get Logs Over Expeditiously.

A despatch from Ottawa says: "Lumbermen are expected to have difficulty in bringing out the winter cut, small as it was this year. The trouble is not due wholly to a lack of men. Not enough men are left in the camps to start the spring drives, and the situation may prove critical. As a prominent lumberman put it this morning, 'The men left the woods in the early fine weather. It looked too much like summer.' The snow of two weeks ago helped out the smaller streams, but until the spring rains come more freely there will not be water enough to start the drives—with or without men."

Inquiry at the office of the Superintendent of the Trent Canal to-day, gives the information that the conditions in the streams in the north country are in a somewhat similar state. Mr. McClellan states that while there is sufficient water available to meet all ordinary requirements, the fact that there is a scarcity of labour available for work on the drives, makes it much longer to get the drives over the rapids, etc., subsequently a much larger volume of water is required than if the lumbermen had a sufficient number of men to get the logs over in a reasonable length of time.

Mr. McClellan has given instructions to the men in charge of the dams, that the logs must be driven over these without delay, as the absence of spring rains makes it imperative in the interests of navigation that the water be carefully conserved.

"May Day" Is Quiet; No Labour Troubles

Moulders Were Given Increase of 5 Per Cent. in Wages --All at Work This Morning--Nearly 100 Men Affected---Other Trades Are All Working as Usual--Some Have Been Given Higher Wages.

"May Day" was ushered in quietly so far as labour troubles were concerned. The threatened strike of the moulders was averted, and to-day they were all at work as usual.

It is understood that a satisfactory settlement was effected and that the men were given an increase of 5 per cent. over the wages formerly paid, which the men agreed to accept as a compromise. They asked 10 per cent., and the average wages will now be $2.62 1-2 a day. This increase affects something less than 100 moulders. Had the strike taken place it would have very seriously interfered with the operations of the various works, since, if the moulders went out it would mean that the output of the other departments would have to be curtailed.

In the other trades everything is quiet. The painters, at their last meeting, adopted a new wage scale which went into effect to-day.

Some of the other trades passed new wage scales earlier in the year, and the increases commenced on April 1.

The general prospects, so far as labour is concerned in the city, are good, and it looks as though Peterborough's reputation as a city without strikes will be maintained.

Patrick McAuliffe Goes To Kingston

Man Sentenced to Term in Penitentiary Left to Enter Upon His Term To-day--Hopes to Get Out Earlier Than Three Years and Six Months.

Patrick McAuliffe was taken to-day to Kingston to enter upon his term of three years and six months imprisonment in the penitentiary. He was in charge of F. J. A. Hall, Deputy Sheriff, and Ormond Bradburn. They left Peterborough this morning on the 8.25 train for Belleville and will arrive in Kingston this afternoon. A few of McAuliffe's friends were at the station to bid him goodbye.

The prisoner seemed fairly cheerful, and hopes by good conduct to shorten his term of confinement.

THE PRICE OF DRINKS ARE HIGHER TO-DAY

To-day the drinkers are up against it. In all the city hotels the prices of drinks were raised. The big "schooners" of beer are no longer served for five cents, while those who want something stronger have to pay 15 cents for imported case liquors, and the 5-cent whisky is a thing of the past. A tour of the hotels to-day elicits the information, however, that business proceeds about the same. There is not perceptible decrease in the number of customers in the bars.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS BY TORONTO HEALTH OFFICER

Dr. Chas. A. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, and Dr. R. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Public Charities, who are in the city to-day with regard to the Isolation Hospital, also visited the old Methodist cemetery and the West Ward School.

Dr. Hodgetts, on being asked by The Examiner his opinion regarding the conditions of these two places, would not say very much. In referring to the cemetery, the health official said he would simply like to ask the trustees of the grounds and the old settlers and relatives who had ancestors buried there if it were not a sacrilege to allow the fences to remain fallen and cattle to roam about the graves.

There was a bill, he said, at present before the House, dealing with cemeteries, and there was no doubt but that there would be a radical change made in the old Methodist cemetery in the near future.

The West Ward School.

On being asked what the thought of the sanitary conditions of the West Ward School, he remarked that he was not in a position to make any official statement at that time, but would like to have the parents of the children attending to make a visit and see if the sanitary conditions agree with those in their own homes.

In one room, he said, there was a disagreeable odour after the window had been up for over an hour. Sixty children in one room, he added, were entirely too many.

Final Meeting Held Yesterday

Philomathean Literary Society Held an Enjoyable Meeting.

The Collegiate Philomathean Society held their last regular meeting of the year on Monday afternoon. July and examinations are drawing near, so the minds of the pupils must settle down to things more serious than literary societies.

A most enjoyable programme was presented, commencing with a recitation by Miss Maggie Edwards. Miss Katie Leary next played a very pretty and effective piano solo, "Come Back to Erin," Claribel.

The debate, resolved, "That city people are greener in the country than country people are in the city," was the next number. The affirmative, composed of pupils from Lower I., who had challenged their rivals of Upper I., was upheld by Katie Leary, Frances Stone, A. Bruvendor and Art Sawers. Their opponents were Kathryn Burnett, E. Coughlin, Fred. Hall and Herbert Johnston.

This debate proved to be the most amusing one in the history of the society. The audience wore a perpetual smile. Indeed, these new members could give many of their seniors lessons in oratory.

The judges were Miss Margaret McGrath, Messrs. Stanley Madill and William Harvie. Their decision was given in favour of the affirmative. So let all city people beware of running from a red-headed turkey when next they visit the country.

Miss M. Theobald sang a delightful solo, which received much applause. This was followed by a very pathetic recitation by Miss Lela Haskill.

The meeting was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

ADDRESSES GIVEN ON HOME MISSIONS

The regular meeting of the Presbyterian Guild of St. Paul's church last night took the form of a missionary meeting, and proved a very profitable one. Interesting and educative papers were read on home missions by Mrs. MacPherson and Mrs. Hall. Rev. Mr. Bright also addressed the meeting on the same subject. A solo was rendered by Miss Anderson in an excellent manner, and was much appreciated.

The Rural Deanery Meeting In Cobourg

Business Session Held This Morning---A Good Attendance of Clergy--Many Matters of Synodical Business Transacted---Rev. Rural Dean Davidson President.

Special to The Examiner.

Cobourg, May 1.—The meeting of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland opened last night in St. Peter's church, last night, the sermon was preached by Rev. A. J. Fiddler, M.A., of Colborne, while Rev. Canon Davidson read the lesson.

This morning at 7.30 Holy Communion was observed, the celebrants being Rev. Canon Spragg and Rev. Canon Davidson.

Morning prayer was conducted, and at 10 o'clock the business session opened, with Canon Davidson presiding, and the following clergymen present: Rev. E. W. Pickford, Norwood; Rev. H. Caplan, Havelock; Rev. H. Creswick, Brighton; Rev. Chas. Brooks, Grafton; Rev. Canon Spragg, Cobourg; Rev. Wm. Burns, Hastings; and Rev. Chris. Lord, of Apsley.

Letters of regret were read from Ven. Archdeacon Warren, of Lakefield; Rev. W. Major and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of Peterborough, and Rev. A. J. Read, of Campbellford.

A feature of the session this morning was a paper read by Rev. H. Caplan, of Havelock, on "Messianic Prophecy."

A number of matters of synodical business were transacted this morning, and the meeting was harmonious and helpful.

Canadian Northern Railway Line Will Be In Peterborough

Mr. D. D. Mann Credited With Having Said That Inside of Six Years His Road Would Run Through This City--Another Railway for "Electric City"--Surveys for Route Already Made--An Announcement Which Will be Welcomed.

"Inside of six years the Canadian Northern Railway will be running through Peterborough." This statement was made by Dan Mann, and Dan should know, since he, with Wm. Mackenzie owns that Railway and the James Bay Railway, the name given the southern Ontario branch of of the C.N.R. The statement quoted above was made to the Traffic Manager of one of Peterborough's largest industries in the presence of a gentleman who is in the city to-day, and lives here.

The following article from the Ottawa Free Press will be of considerable interest here, since the line which will go to Ottawa will also pass through Peterborough. That much is assured now. The Free Press says:—

The next trunk line of railway to enter the city of Ottawa will be the James Bay Railway, running from Key Inlet, at the mouth of the French River, on the Georgian Bay, to Montreal, via Ottawa and Hawkesbury. From Key Inlet to Ottawa the distance traversed will be between 240 and 260 miles, and engineering parties are now out in the wilds selecting and surveying the line which will come to Ottawa by the shortest cut. What towns it will touch on its way are not known, nor could Mr. Wm. Mackenzie of Mackenzie & Mann give any information as to route when questioned by a Free Press reporter. The line from Ottawa to Hawkesbury has been surveyed already and plans have been filed with the minister of railways and canals. The route is close to the river all the way. It is expected that a line of boats running between Port Arthur and Key Inlet will form a link in the transportation system of Mackenzie & Mann, which includes the Canadian Northern and James Bay Railways.

The first regular meeting of the Elizabeth Bell Auxiliary of St. Andrew's church was held last night. There was a large attendance and the meeting proved profitable and interesting. Rev. J. G. MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE HOLY CITY.

The old Jerusalem was vividly portrayed to the audience who witnessed the production of "The Holy City" at the Grand last night. For over two hours and a half they lived among the scenes of the New Testament. The presentation of Clarence Bennett's great religious drama was in every way most successful. The scenic investiture was sumptuous. Among the striking scenes were Herod's palace, the temple of Jerusalem, the crucifixion after Michael Angelo's great master-piece, and the grand finale, the transformation of the holy sepulchre, the resurrection and the flight of the angels, and last the gates of the New Jerusalem.

The play deals with incidents in the life of our Lord, and was presented with considerable dramatic power. Marie de Beau, as Salome, achieved great success in the difficult role, and J. H. Harrison Taylor as Marinus displayed great ability. Fred. Siebke made a most impressive high priest, and Walter Sherwin as John the Baptist, won great favour by his interpretation of the part.

"THE TRIUMPH OF BETTY."

The new play which dainty Adelaide Thurston is presenting this season, "The Triumph of Betty," has received praise as being one of the most delightful entertainments of the season, and it will appeal to the most particular of theatre goers. The date for Miss Thurston's appearance here is Thursday, May 3rd, next. This is another great treat and no one should miss seeing Miss Thurston.

Girls Arrive For Barnardo Home To-night

105 Landed at Philadelphia Yesterday.

Philadelphia, April 30.—One hundred and five girls from the Dr. Barnardo Homes of England, en route for Canadian homes, to be adopted made a pretty picture on the decks of the Friesland before they took the train to-night for the great Northwest of the New World. They are in charge of Alfred B. Owen, of Toronto, the Canadian agent of the Barnardo Homes. They will go at once to Peterborough, which is the distributing point for the girls. The chubby-faced group of 105 girls were admitted to be the pick of the Homes.

Recently 235 boys were landed at Portland. Agent Owen said that he would receive 500 more in May.

Inquiry at the Barnardo Home here gave the information that the girls referred to above would probably reach here to-night. They will at once be sent out to the places from which they have received applications.

Sanitary Condition Of West Ward School Is Reported Very Bad

Dr. Hodgetts Inspected the School Yesterday But Declined to Make Any Statements for Publication—Parents are Invited to Visit School and See for Themselves.

"While you are waiting for my report, invite the parents of the pupils attending the school to visit it and see for themselves what conditions exist there," said Dr. Chas. A. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, to The Examiner yesterday, on his return from a visit of inspection of the West Ward School. Dr. Hodgetts, who was accompanied by Dr. R. Bruce Smith and Messrs. Wm. Eyres and R. Neill, of the local Board of Health, visited the school at the conclusion of the meeting in reference to the Isolation Hospital.

When seen by The Examiner he declined to make a statement as to the sanitary conditions of the school, preferring to make a report in writing to the Board of Health. From his remarks, however, and those of the gentlemen who accompanied him, it was gathered that the school was, sanitarily, in a very bad condition, and that steps will have to be taken at once to remedy the trouble.

The chief fault seems to lie in the fact that the school is overcrowded and that the system of ventilation is far from being perfect. Disagreeable odours permeate the entire building, and this state of affairs cannot help being injurious to the health of the pupils in attendance. Sixty pupils in one room means very great overcrowding.

Parents might do well to follow Dr. Hodgetts' suggestion and visit the school to satisfy themselves as to the sanitary conditions.

Wholesale Bakery The Latest Industry

Incorporation Granted to "Peoples Bakery of Peterborough, Limited"—A Company Composed of Local Capitalists to Engage in Bakery and Confectionery Business on Large Scale—Capital Stock is $50,000—Plans of the Company Yet in Formation Stage—Mr. H. Mulhern the Moving Spirit.

The last issue of the Ontario Gazette contains notice of the incorporation of the People's Bakery of Peterborough, Limited. This is an entirely new concern, and it is understood that the intentions are to embark extensively in the wholesale bakery and confectionery business in Peterborough. A large plant will be installed, and a modern confectionery business established.

The directors of the company have been working for some time on the project, but their plans have been kept pretty much to themselves, so that very few outside those immediately associated with them are familiar with the details of the scheme.

Generally, however, the powers granted the Company by its charter are to, "carry on the business of wholesale and retail bakers, pastry cooks and confectioners." The share capital of the Company is to be $50,000, divided into 2,000 shares at $25 each.

The head office of the Company is to be in Peterborough and the provisional directors are James Murty, Alexander Elliott, Homer Orren Fisk, Frank Adams and Henry Mulhern, all of this city. Mr. Mulhern who has been the leading spirit in the organization of the Company, and who has worked out the details, is in the hospital, ill, so that it was impossible to obtain any information from him as to the plans of the Company.

It was learned, however, that at the start the Company will go into the manufacture of bread on an extensive scale, both wholesale and retail. Later on it is the intention to branch out into the other lines of confections.

One of the provisional directors stated to-day that the Company had not yet decided on the location of their plant, but that at a meeting of the directors, which will doubtless be held shortly, this, and other details would be decided on.

The Springville Church Gives Call

To Rev. Mr. McKendry, B.A., of Knox College.

At the special meeting of the Presbytery, held at Springville yesterday afternoon, Rev. Dr. Torrance presided, and a call was extended by the Springville church to Rev. Mr. McKendry, B.A., of Knox College, to accept the pastorate of that church. At the meeting of the Presbytery which will be held in Toronto next week in connection with the meeting of the Synod, the call will be considered, and it is quite probable that it will be approved.

The "Dreadnaught" Plans Stolen To The United States?

A Great Naval Scandal Unearthed in London—Believed That Naval Office Official Stole and Disposed of the Plans.

Special to The Examiner.

London, May 2.—A great naval scandal has developed over the mysterious disappearance of the plans of the new battleship Dreadnaught. It is believed the plans have been sold to a foreign power by a navy department official. Suspicion is directed towards America, owing to the announcement that the United States intends immediately to construct a battleship on improved Dreadnaught designs.

The Grand In The New Theatre Circuit

Local Opera House Included in One of the Biggest Theatre Mergers Ever Proposed—New Concern Will Have Capital of $50,000,000.

A Toronto despatch says:

A theatrical merger in which Torontonians are interested has been effected in New York. The gigantic combination is one involving a capitalization of $50,000,000.

Among the promoters of the coalition are Klaw and Erlanger, B. F. Keith, E. F. Albee, Kohl & Castle, Morris Moyerfield, Martin Beck, and presumably Stair & Havlin. This group of men control the majority of the theatres in the United States, whether devoted to high class drama and musical plays, popular price theatricals or vaudeville, and to be without the pale of the alliance means to be th ecompetitor of a force that has never been equalled in the theatrical world.

The Canadian theatres involved in this massive merger are the three Sparrow houses of Montreal, the Grand, Majestic, Princess and Shea's in Toronto, and the entire chain of houses at present controlled by A. J. Small, with the exception of London, in which city Mr. Small will have a new theatre.

The merger is an indication of the big fight which is about to be waged against the so-called independents and outside vaudeville interests.

Mr. T. MaDonough, Treasurer of the Grand was communicated with to-day and he stated that he had been in telephonic communication with Mr. Small this afternoon, and learned from him that the despatch was correct, the deal had actually been closed and the local opera house was on the circuit controlled by the $50,000,000 syndicate. The action was taken, he added as a means of protecting the business against the proposed independent houses.

Moose Jaw Man To Peterboro' For Land In Calgary District

A Case of "Carrying Coals to Newcastle"—Mr. R. H. Leary Tells of the Demand for Western Land—Will Take a Special Party Out About June 14th—Has 200,000 Acres for Sale Near Red Deer.

Here's a case of "carrying coals to Newcastle," with a vengeance. Mr. R. H. Leary, the other day received a letter, two letters, in fact, from persons in Moose Jaw wanting to buy land at Calgary from him. Both of the letters stated that they had seen his advertisement in the Weekly Examiner. This shows the anxiety to buy land in that country, when a man in Moose Jaw, 1,500 miles nearer the land to be sold than Mr. Leary, writes to him to buy.

Mr. Leary has recently taken another big block of land to sell. This block comprises 200,000 acres in the Red Deer district, 100 miles north of Calgary, and is in one of the finest agricultural districts in the west, a district to which thousands of settlers are flocking each year.

In addition he has a tract of 20,000 acres south of Calgary, at High River in the heart of the ranching district. This town is 40 miles south of Calgary, and in a section which in recent years has made remarkable progress. A large number of Peterborough men have taken up land in that vicinity, and Mr. Leary has had a number of enquiries from others as to the prospects for securing good land for farming in that section. The prices range from $7 per acre up.

Mr. Leary expects to take a car load of prospective settlers to the west about June 14th. He has engaged a special car, and will personally conduct the party. He states that from the enquiries he has already received he is confident that this year there will be a very large sale of land in the west, and the settlers are fairly pouring into that country.

Concerning San Francisco.

WHEN San Francisco was first located by the Spaniards about the year 1776, it was called Yerba Buena meaning good herb, because herbs considered to possess great medicinal qualities flourished in great abundance on the neighbouring hills. A town was first established in 1839, and in 1845, it contained one hundred and fifty inhabitants. In 1847 the name was changed to San Francisco, and soon afterwards the gold excitement brought an increase of shipping, which in two or three years with other branches of trade, made the city an important commercial centre. According to the census of 1900, San Francisco had a population of 342,782.

GOOD LUCK ON TROUT EXPEDITION

Mr. T. J. Parker, the expert fisher of Peterborough, accompanied by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. I. Eastwood, went on a fishing expedition to Cavanville creek yesterday, and had first class luck, having caught twenty-two trout. Mrs. Parker, who is an amateur fisher, caught one weighing one and three-quarter pounds, which put up quite a fight, being caught on a five ounce rod.

WEDDING BELLS

RUSSELL--TRULL.

A very pleasant event took place at Mrs. E. Trull's, Lesklard, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the occasion being the marriage of her oldest daughter, Ada, to Mr. Herbert J. Russell, of Millbrook, with Rev. E. Russell, pastor of the Baptist church of that town, being the officiating clergyman, in the presence of some four score guests. The bride, given away by her brother, and attended by her sister, Miss Elva, with little Beatrice Beatty, of Garden Hill, discharging the duties of flower girl, was attired in cream brocaded silk and carried a bouquet of cream roses, while the bridesmaid was gowned in silk eolienne, and carried pink roses. The groom was supported by his brother, Dr. Russell. Mr. O. A. Gamsby rendered Mendelsshon's wedding march, and Miss Maud Pickup of Millbrook, sang, "O Promise Me," both these artists doing their parts with that degree of grace and perfection that distinguishes them as true musicians.

"Good Fairy Of The Home"

The Story of a Great Discovery.

Ancient Greece will always be remembered for the fine types of manhood supplied by the heroes of her battlefields and the athletes of her arenas. Still more will these heroes and athletes themselves be remembered for the custom they bequeathed to later ages of healing sore and injured places on their bodies by the external application of some secret balm or salve. The Greek charioteers did not emerge from their mad races without some severe bruise or gaping wound; and to annoint each injury carefully with their favourite balm was an indispensable part of the day's programme. The old Roman heroes, too, who were injured by the wild beasts in the now ruined Colosseum of Rome, had to adopt similar methods of healing.

If we travel back to the days of the Bible, we find that this external "rubbing" has prevailed right from the earliest times, and the only explanation of its survival, amidst so many changes in science, seems to lie in the fact that the external use of salves and balms is dictated to us by Nature herself. Our own instincts tell us to rub a part that hurts; and in Zam-Buk the ideal substance to apply to an injured or diseased surface is universally believed to have been found at last.

Most of the ointments, embrocations and salves that have had to suffice in the past, and are still used to a lesser extent to-day, are of a coarse consistency, and contain quantities of mineral poisons, rancid animal fats, and turpentine. What healing properties they may possess are generally counterbalanced by the grave danger of inflaming and contaminating the flesh.

Zam-Buk is absolutely free from any such danger. It is a preparation compounded purely from herbal juices, essences and extracts—a "skin-food," which regenerates old and diseased tissue just as food rebuilds and reconstructs the body. Zam-Buk also gives naturally just that assistance which Nature is asking for when pain, swellings, eruptions, or inflammation occur. Zam-Buk allays all forms of irritation, expels disease, stops festering, and virtually "feeds" the skin, toning it up in Nature's own way.

Zam-Buk has more than fulfilled the expectations of its discoverer, and many medical men to-day freely extol its merits. It possesses a wide range of usefulness, being especially recommended for cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, sprains, stiffness, weak ankles, swollen joints, bad legs, blind and bleeding piles, running sores, eczema, ulcers, pimples, boils, rash, scalp irritation, sore heads, barber's rash, raw chin after shaving, insect-bites, sore throat and chest, sore and aching feet, festering sores, poisoned wounds, and other diseased, injured and inflamed or irritated conditions of the skin. Rubbed well into the parts affected, Zam-Buk gives great relief from neuralgia, toothache, sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, chest and back pains, and colds.

To the woman in the home Zam-Buk is the "good fairy." Are her hands raw—she rubs in Zam-Buk. Are her feet sore with being on them all day—Zam-Buk cools and eases. An eruption breaks out on her face—Zam-Buk removes all skin disfigurements like magic. Baby's skin is chafing and hot—Zam-Buk is the purest and most wholesome emollient known. Her little boy cuts his finger, or her daughter burns her hand—Zam-Buk again is the healer. The father, at the factory or on the farm, gets a nasty cut or bruise—Zam-Buk stops bleeding, stops the smarting, allays inflammation and heals.

So it comes about that Zam-Buk is the greatest and most universally used balm in all the countries where it has been introduced. You may obtain it from all druggists at fifty cents a box, or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Colborne street, Toronto, upon receipt of price. A free sample box will be mailed you if you cut out this article from The Examiner, and mail it with full name and address and a one-cent stamp (to pay return postage) to the Zam-Buk Co., Colborne street, Toronto. This offer should not be overlooked.

The Suffering Too Awful For Description

Mr. Walter Scott Receives Letter From His Brother Adam.

Mr. Walter Scott, 452 Charlotte street, yesterday received a letter from his brother, Mr. Adam Scott, who for the past year has lived in San Francisco. The letter describes very graphically the earthquake and the subsequent fire. His house, though not destroyed was damaged, the chimneys toppling over, and some glassware was broken. Mr. Scott's home was at 125 Rhode Island street, and was only a short distance from the section destroyed by fire.

He describes the sufferings of the survivors as being too awful for words. The papers, he says have not dared to tell the truth. He saw persons lying starving on the streets, and on the sands.

Some people, he said, had too much, while the great majority had not enough.

Mr. Scott was formerly a resident of Bridgenorth, but left there when he was 17 years of age. He lived in Marine City, Mich., until five years ago when he moved to California.

Game Protection Movement Effective

Large Number of Associations Have Already Been Formed.

Sportsmen will be glad to learn that the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association is meeting with great success, and the approval of the people throughout the Province, generally, and that branches have now been established at the following points: Lakefield, Berlin, Bobcaygeon, Sudbury, Sturgeon Falls, Sturgeon Point, Peterborough, Parry Sound, Gravenhurst, Orillia, Huntsville, Hamilton, Hastings County, Wiarton, Chatham, Windsor, London, Guelph, Scarboro', Lindsay.

All local sportsmen are cordially invited to join the Peterborough branch of the association, and to visit the president, Mr. J. D. Collins, who will explain to them how the work is being carried on. The Peterborough branch should have a membership of at least 200, and it is to be hoped that those interested in the better protection of our fish and game will join as members. The annual fee is the nominal one of $1 per year. Copies of the constitution and bylaws can be obtained from Mr. J. D. Collins, or will be mailed to any persons writing for the same. All classes of the community are welcome, who are willing to sign the following obligation:

"I hereby agree to obey the game laws of the Province, to encourage others to do the same, and to endeavour to prevent any one breaking them."

POPULAR LINDSAYITE SELLS HIS BUSINESS

The Lindsay Post has the following to say regarding Mr. A. J. Graham, a popular clothier of that town, who has sold his business for the purpose of enjoying a necessary rest. Mr. Graham has many warm friends in Peterborough, and is a brother of Mr. McCreary, 100 Gilmour street, by whom the following lines will be read with interest:

"The news that Mr. A. J. Graham, clothing dealer, had disposed of his large stock outright to Mr. B. J. Gough last Monday excited surprise and regret on the part of our merchants and citizens, it being accepted as unmistakable evidence that he intended to leave town. During the seven years Mr. Graham has been in Lindsay he has built up a large and profitable trade, and in every way proved himself a progressive, wideawake business man and a citizen of the right type, and the loss of a resident of that stamp is always to be deplored because a gap is left that is not always filled as quickly as the best interests of the community require it.

"Various guesses have been made as to the causes leading up to Mr. Graham's decision, and as usual, all are wide of the facts. As his intimate friends are aware, Mr. Graham's health has not been good of late, and he has been advised by his physician on several occasions that a change of climate would be beneficial. Having friends in Vancouver, their representations concerning the coast climate have led him to conclude to give it a trial, and if it proves all he hopes for he may go into business in Vancouver or Victoria.

"Mr. Graham has received several offers for his fine new residence on the corner of Lindsay and Glenelg streets, and will conclude its sale in a few days."

Many Matters Covered By The Board Of Works

Sewer Pipe and Stone Crusher Duster Purchased—Deputation to Attend Telephone Legislation at Ottawa—Aylmer Street to be Extended—Street Commissioner Gets Increase in Salary—Many Petitions for Side-Walks and Sewers.

The Committee of the Board of Works was in session last night for two and a half hours, and dealt with a large number of small matters as well as a few others of more importance.

It was decided to purchase a car load of six-inch sewer pipes and connections and also a duster for the stone crusher.

In connection with the George street extension it was decided to ask the Council that the Board be given authority to fix options and close deals without going to the council for each option.

The Board also thought it advisable that Aylmer street from Romaine south be opened up.

A communication from Mayor Coatsworth, Toronto, to Mayor Best, inviting the latter to attend a meeting at Ottawa on to attend a meeting at Ottawa on May 3rd, in connection with the Telephone Legislation, was read and action taken in the matter.

Besides the above a large number of petitions from citizens respecting sewers, sidewalks, etc., were received and considered.

Those present at the meeting last night were, Chairman Hicks, Ald. Elliott, Johnson, Wilson, McIntyre, Tovey, Adams, Mayor Best, and City Engineer T. A. S. Hay.

Sewer Pipe Purchase.

In reference to the purchase of sewer pipe the chairman said that a car load of six-inch pipe should be bought and although the city did not need it all at present, it was well to have a stock on hand.

The Board decided to instruct the City to make the above purchase.

Duster for Stone Crusher.

Chairman Hicks said it was also found necessary to purchase a duster for the stone crusher, as a finer grade of stone was needed. It was moved by Ald. Johnston and Tovey, that the City be instructed to purchase one.—Carried.

Telephone Legislation.

A communication was read from Mayor Coatsworth, Toronto, to Mayor Best, stating that the Railway Committee was to meet in Ottawa on May 3rd, regarding the Telephone Legislation. The Bell Telephone in the original legislation had been given power over the streets and highways of municipalities. It is now proposed to change this legislation, giving municipalities authority over the Bell Telephone, and the Mayor of Toronto, asked Mayor Best to assist in this legislation. The Board suggested that the City Solicitor, City Clerk, Mayor Best, or Ald. McWilliams, or the whole of them represent the City at Ottawa on May 3rd.

Mr. Neill's Request.

Mr. R. Neill, who was present on behalf of Charlotte street church, asked for a sidewalk on the east side of Reid street from Charlotte to King streets. He explained that the church wanted to do some grading there and would like to have the sidewalk built first.

The Chairman said that as soon as a petition was sufficiently signed the matter would receive the immediate consideration of the Board.

Mr. Eakin's Petition.

Mr. Thos. Eakins was present with a petition for a piece of sewer from Perry street to the bend on Stewart street.

The chairman said that when he got all the signers he could the Board would look into the matter. In connection with this question it was moved by Mayor Best and Ald. Tovey that the Board go on with the matter as soon as the petition was properly signed.—Carried.

George Street Extension.

The Chairman in bringing the matter of the extension of George street before the committee, thought that it would be a good idea if a man well up in the valuation of land were appointed to look after the securing of options on the property needed, and report to the Board. There were a number of options to be secured, he said, and some property expropriated. He mentioned Mr. Langford as a capable man to look after the matter.

The chairman also stated that he would like to have the Council give the Board of Works authority to fix options and to close deals without going to the Council for each option.

A motion embodying the above suggestion was passed and the Council will be asked at the next sitting to grant this.

Opening of Aylmer Street.

Regarding the opening of Aylmer street, Ald. Adams pointed out the work could never be done more cheaply than at the present time. A number of persons, he said, were going to build where the street would be and as it had to be done sometime it might as well be done now.

It was moved by Ald. Adams and Wilson that at present Aylmer street be opened from Romaine street south to Boundary.—Carried.

Boswell and Pearl Streets.

The question of sewer connections with the lots on Boswell and Pearl avenues, was next considered and a resolution moved by Ald. McIntyre and Tovey, that a bylaw be prepared providing for making sewer connections with each lot on those streets, and also that the committee ask the Water Commissioners to make water connections with the same lots.—Carried.

Brock and Reid Corner.

A report of the condition of the street at the corner of Brock and Reid streets, and suggestions for fixing it, by the City Engineer was read and it was moved by Ald. Wilson and McIntyre, that this corner be improved by rolling and watertabling it and also that Brock at the intersection of Reid street be graded.—Carried.

For Increase in Salary.

Street Commissioner Evans asked for an increase in salary. His present salary in $700 per year, receiving when working on street work $3.25 per day. The Board thought this amount too small as the commissioner's duties were arduous and occasioned a great deal of responsibility.

It was moved by Ald. McIntyre and Elliott that the Commissioner receive a straight salary of $1,000 a year and that this rate begin on the first of April, last.—Carried.

Sidewalk and Sewer Petition.

Petitions were received for a granolithic walk on north side of Victoria avenue, between James and Dixon streets, and also one on Parnell street, from Park street to the C.P.R., but these were not sufficiently signed and were not considered.

A petition was received for a sidewalk on east side of Pearl avenue from Charlotte to King streets.

A petition for a sewer on Downie street from Simcoe to Charlotte, was not sufficiently signed. The whole street will be advertized.

A petition for a sewer on Benson avenue, from Smith street to Dixon Park was left over until the matter of Mr. A. E. Dixon's petition be considered.

A granolithic walk was asked for on London street, from Reid, west to No. 111. Petition was sufficiently signed for half a block. This was left over for consideration.

A granolithic walk was asked for on outside of the tree line on Water street from Antrim to Smith. It was sufficiently signed and granted.

A petition for a sidewalk on west side of Downie street from Simcoe to Hunter was sufficiently signed and was granted.

A petition for a sewer on Burnham street, from Hunter to James, was sufficiently signed and granted.

A sewer was asked for on Hunter street from Rogers to Concession which was granted, being sufficiently signed.

A petition was received for a sewer on Dublin street from Water street, 12 feet east of the drain between H. Fife's and Mrs. Kennedy's residences, but was not sufficiently signed.

A petition for a sewer on Mark street from Hunter to Douro streets was not sufficiently signed.

The meeting then adjourned.

Nervous Diseases No Longer a Fad

ALL CLASSES NOW SUFFER FROM EXHAUSTED NERVES—SPLENDID RESULTS OBTAINED FROM THE USE OF

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

"The breakdown of the nervous system is no mere society craze from which it is fashionable to suffer, but is becoming a national calamity which bids fair to rob our descendants of many of those qualities which have done so much to make this empire what it is," writes Dr. Guthrie Rankin, an eminent London physician.

The keen competition of life is now felt in all grades of society, and as the result prostration, paralysis and insanity are becoming more and more common as the natural outcome of exhausted nerves.

Sleeplessness, irritability, indigestion, headache and general lack of energy and ambition are among the early indications of nervous troubles, and with women the result is not infrequently derangements and irregularities of the feminine organism.

If a committee of experts on disease of the nerves were to prescribe for you they would give you just such a formula as that of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for this medicine is composed of the most powerful nerve restoratives known to medical science.

This is no idle boast, as we shall be pleased to prove to you if you will have your physician call at these offices and examine the formula.

What we consider as better proof of what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will do for you is to be found in the letters of recommendation published from time to time in Dr. Chase's Almanac and in the newspapers of this country.

Naturally and gradually this great food cure forms new, rich blood, the substance from which the brain creates new nerve force. This is the only means by which diseases of the nerves can be actually cured. Stimulants and narcotics give temporary relief, but with great expense to the nervous system. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food slowly but ceretainly revitalizes the wasted nerve cells and by filling the body with vitality overcomes pain, sickness and disease.

A favourite means of proving this is by noting your increase in weight while using this medicine. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Collegiate Cadet Corps Has Been Re-organized

Young Soldiers Elected Officers at an Enthusiastic Meeting Yesterday—Lieut. J. E. Hodgson Will be the Drill Instructor and the Prospects are Very Bsight.

The Collegiate Institute cadets, at an enthusiastic meeting held yesterday afternoon, reorganized the corps for the season. Although the boys have had no drill instruction since the destruction of the Collegiate Institute gymnasium by fire last fall, yet the martial spirit has not abated and they are anxious to begin drilling.

The corps is fortunate in having such a fine drill instructor as Lieut. J. E. Hodgson, of the 57th, who is a member of the Collegiate teaching staff. Under his watchful eye the corps should attain great prominence this summer.

The following officers were elected yesterday:

Captain, Keith Loch.
First Lieutenant, C. Arnott.
Second Lieutenant, Harry Hall.
Sergeants, H. Blackwell, H. Moore, W. Harvey and W. Cox.

The first drill was held this afternoon.

Day Labour Work Proves Satisfactory In Toronto

Ald. McIntyre Received Letter From City Engineer Rust of That City—In Year 1905 There Was a Saving of $5,300 on Construction of Sidewalks—No Inspector is Required.

For some time past there has been considerable discussion in this city, as to the advisability of doing sewer work by day labour. All granolithic sidewalks in Peterborough are now laid on that principle and it has proved most satisfactory. At the first of this season the Trades and Labour Council, prompted by the action of the Board of Works in undertaking two small pieces of sewer by day labour as an experiment, took occasion to inform that committee that they were heartily in sympathy with the move. Several joint meetings of a committee from the Trades and Labour Council and the Board of Works were held and this question was discussed. The result was that the Board will, where it is thought best to do so, construct the sewers this year on that plan. Of course if contractors will take the work for the same price as the city engineer's tenders, the contractors will be given the job.

At that time Ald. McIntyre took a particular interest in the matter and expressed himself as strongly in favour of day labour. Since then he has also been taking an active interest in the work. Recently he received a letter from Mr. C. H. Rust, city engineer, of Toronto, in which the experience with day labour in that city is given is given. The letter is as follows and will explain itself:

Dear Sir, — Your letter of the 9th instant, addressed to the city clerk, has been forwarded to me from the committee on works, instructing me to give your particulars regarding the advantages of day labour over the contract system on city sewers and walks

For a number of years this department have entered into competition with contractors, and submitted a tender for city works and when we were the lowest the work was generally carried out by day labour or if the next lowest tenderer offered to do the work at the figures of this department the contract was awarded to them. This system is very satisfactory and during the year 1905 we were the lowest on one hundred and thirty contracts for pavements and sidewalks, of which one hundred and twenty one were carried out by day labour, the remainder being done by contractors at our prices. During the year 1905 we effected a saving on sidewalks constructed by day labour of $5300 and on the construction of pavements and roadways, $4,131, and a further saving of $1200 on sidewalks and pavements, where we were the lowest tenderer, and which were accepted by contractors at our figures.

There is a further saving on works carried out by day labour, in the fact that no inspector is required.

I have not the figures for 1905 of the saving effected by the sewer department, but during 1904 we constructed twelve sewers by day labour upon which a saving of $600 was made.

Yours truly,
C. H. RUST,
City Engineer.

Missed His Chance.

"I can now breathe with ease, and also my cough is stopped. I had it for six months before I took down with the grip.

"I took no other medicine but Peruna and it accomplished all. You told me in your first letter that Peruna would cure me and it has.

"I am seventy-three years old and can attend to my work and business as usual."

Mrs. Theone Mikkelson, Brigham City, Utah, writes:

SCHOOL BOARD NEGLECT.

The Board of Education is still apparently pursuing its infatuated course in building a $35,000 school in the south ward. This body seems to be so deeply innoculated with this fad as to be blind to all other considerations. They ignore the fact that this large expenditure for an undesirably large school in an out-of-the-way quarter of the city, is to be made without regard to the demands of other interests, without regard to the rapid increase of taxation it will cause. We need a new school in the south ward, but reasonable expenditure is demanded, especially when school accommodation is much more required in the west ward. Not only is the school building in this ward congested with pupils, but there is reason to believe that every pupil and teacher entering it and remaining there from day to day, takes his or her life, or, at least, health, into conditions of grave risk. It has long been known that the sanitary condition of the west ward school is deplorably bad. This is confirmed by the visit and inspection yesterday of Dr. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health. While he would make no specific statement pending his official report in writing to the local Board of Health, he said enough to amount to a severe condemnation of the insanitary condition of the West Ward School building. Dr. Hodgetts said in effect, "While you are waiting for my report, let the parents of the children attending this school visit it and see for themselves." Not only see for themselves, but smell for themselves. They would have to only put their heads inside the building to get a fairly strong idea of the conditions under which their children have to remain for six hours every day. The education of our children is important, but their health and life are infinitely more so.

While the School Board is concentrating all its attention upon an unnecessarily large school, anticipating accommodation needs of the South Ward by twenty years, putting a big burden upon the tax payers, it is doing what is much more serious, neglecting, as pressing school accommodation needs in the West Ward. And more pressing because in addition to lack of room, there is deplorable lack of wholesome conditions—conditions are positively dangerous to the health of pupils and teachers. The public interests demand that the Board stop in time and revise their mad project of spending the large sum of $35,000 to build a school much too large for present school population requirements. If they would erect, say, a $20,000 school upon some suitable site in the South Ward, they would have of the $35,000 left $15,000 to give the the more urgently needed attention to the over-hauling or re-construction of the malarious and ramshackle West Ward School building, which is utterly deficient in accommodation and utterly insanitary and dangerous as a standing menace to the health of those who are compelled to use it.

A CANADIAN WINNER.

Verily spake Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Peterborough, in 1903, when he said that "the twentieth century belongs to Canada." We are expanding in every domain of our national interests, with a steady, solid expansion, not of mushroom growth, but with a steady onflow, as resistless as the progress of a glacier. It may seem a small thing that a Canadian has beaten the world in athletics, but the victory of Sherring, of Hamilton, at Marathon, Greece, in the Olympic games, is a notable triumph, not only because it demonstrates the robust character of the bodily development, produced in our sturdy northern zone, but because it demonstrates it in a way, and under circumstances, which widely advertise the country. This victory has besides the romance of history in it, a deep historical significance. The Marathon road race has its origin in the beginnings of history. It is so called from the memorable run of a Greek from the battlefield of Marathon to Athens, to warn the Athenians of impending danger, and who died at the end of his run, after having delivered his message. The Marathon road race — 27 miles — is the crowning event of the revived Olympic games, and that it was won this year by a Canadian, is as proud a victory for Canada, as the possession of the laurel wreath is to the victor. Hamilton, where the victor lives, has especial reason to be proud. The American City sent only one contestant, but he was of winning calibre. The Maple Leaf forever!

THE THIRST ZONE.

Yesterday, May first, the "bar was banished" in fifty-nine municipalities, one hundred and sixty-one hotels having been closed, as to their bars, local option coming into force. Four of these are in this county — two in Lakefield, one each in Dummer and Otonabee, and one other is practically in the county, South Monaghan. Peterborough is literally surrounded by local option, a girdle of townships encircling the city being entirely free from bars— Smith, Dummer, Douro, Otonabee, North Monaghan and South Monaghan. Outside of Peterborough there's not a licensed bar nearer than eighteen or twenty miles. One result of this condition will be to lessen the local consumption of strong drink, that is, if pplocal option prohibition prohibits; and another result will be to concentrate the drinking practice in Peterborough, a circumstance which will lead a certain class, at least, to regard Peterborough as the best market centre in the district.

THE DRINK HABIT

The Globe remarks that the only real temperance measure that has been passed recently, is that passed by the hotel keepers raising the price of drinks. The Globe is optimistic. It is not probable that an advance of about 50 per cent. will to any large extent diminish drinking except in cases where there is an absolute lack of the "price." Unless the drink is measured a man who has to pay the advanced rate will compensate by regulating the size of his potation. If he took "two fingers" before he will now take three fingers and get even. The only effective way to diminish or, prevent, drinking is to convince the drinker's reason that it is harmful to drink, especially to excess. And even that will not always avail. Thousands of men eat food of a kind and quality which they know is injurious. Raising the price of drinks does not seem to be an effective temperance remedy. The price may be advanced as has been done many times—from "tuppence" a glass, to five cents, from five to ten cents, and now from 10 to 15 cents, but at the same time the general wealth of the people of the country — the general ability to pay has increased. Besides, the treating system, which is responsible for a great deal of unnecessary drinking, will not be greatly affected. Men that treat, do not do so so much because they or their friends want a drink but because custom and convention demand such a proceeding, and they will not be deterred by the price of liquor, which is, in many cases, a minor consideration. It is the good-fellowshop they are buying, not the beer, and if the cost of that incidentally increases, he will probably compromise by buying less good-fellowship; instead of "spending a quarter" on himself and two chums, he will spend it on himself and one friend. Dumas tells of the forty means of the Duke of Beaufort, to escape from prison, and the man with the thirst has as many ways of meeting his wants. Verily the drink problem is the pons asinorum of moral mathematics.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Whitney Government has been hailed the foe of corporations and the friend of the people. The Private Bills Committee of the Legislature has turned down the city of Toronto in favour of a monopolistic corporation. The Committee refused the city the right to sell fodder at the Western Cattle Market, thus throwing the live stock trade of the Province into the control of a trust. Hon. Mr. Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, opposed the application — because the subserving of the public interests would interfere with the business of the Toronto Junction Stock Yards Company, composed of 344 shareholders, of which there are only twenty-seven persons directly interested in stock. The Government throws its protection around a monopoly and fixes a corporation trust more firmly in its saddle.

OBITUARY.

MRS. JOHN MORRISON.

As the result of a paralytic stroke received while driving to her home, Mrs. John Morrison passed away at her residence on the 10th line of Cavan on Monday morning, at the age of 66 years. Mrs. Morrison was troubled with a paralytic stroke some four years ago, but since that time has enjoyed fairly good health.

The late Mrs. Morrison, whose maiden name was Catherine Lord, was born in Ireland, and came to this country when very young. She was married 46 years ago in Hope Township to her now sorrowing husband, who survives her, along with three sons and three daughters. The sons are James and Robert, who reside in Cavan, and John, who lives at home.

The daughters are Mrs. John Heasman, of Springville; Mrs. William Preston, of Selwyn, and Mrs. Robert Clifford, of Gilbert's Plains, Manitoba. Mrs. Johnston, a niece of deceased, resides in Hespeler, Ont.

After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Morrison resided in Hope Township for eight years, and then removed to Clarke Township, where they made their home for 16 years. They next moved to Selwyn, where, after living 10 years, they took up their residence on the 10th line of Cavan.

The late Mrs. Morrison was a lady who was much esteemed and beloved by a wide circle of friends. She was a faithful member of the Springville Presbyterian church.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, from the family residence, Cavan, to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, will conduct the services.

ANNIE TAYLOR.

Yesterday evening at five o'clock, the death occurred at the residence of Mr. Thomas Cunningham, No. 179 Rubidge street, of Annie Taylor, relict of the late J. C. Carveth, at the ripe old age of 72 years. Death was due to dropsy from which the deceased had been suffering for a long time.

Mrs. Carveth was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, and came out to Canada at the age of 23 years. She resided in Lakefield, where she has a host of friends, until about six months ago, when she moved to Peterborough, and has since lived with her daughter on Rubidge street. Her husband predeceased her eight years ago. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Cunningham, and Mrs. S. Manning, of Lakefield. Mrs. Carveth before her illness was a prominent member of the Lakefield Methodist church, and was greatly missed after her illness.

The funeral will leave the residence of Mr. Cunningham to-morrow afternoon at 1.30, and proceed to the Smithtown cemetery. Rev. Mr. Potter will conduct the services here and Rev. Mr. Leggott at the cemetery.

CRIPPLING SCIATICA

A Sure and Certain Way to Cure This Terrible Torture.

There is just one sure, scientific cure for sciatic, rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia, headaches—you must drive the pain from your blood and nerves with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Liniments never cure nerve and blood diseases. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills strike straight at the cause because they actually make new blood. Through the blood they conquer the painful poison, soothe the nerves, loosen the muscles and banish every ache and pain. Mr. Thos. J. Etsell, Walkerton, Ont., says: "When I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I had been off work for three months. The cords of my right leg were all drawn up and I could only limp along with the aid of a stick. The pain I suffered was terrible. Only those who have been afflicted with sciatica can understand the misery I was in both day and night. I took six boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills before they helped me, but after that every day saw an improvement, and by the time I had used fifteen boxes, every vestige of the pain had disappeared. I have no hesitation in pronouncing Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the best medicine in the world for sciatica."

Every dose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills makes rich, pure, health-giving blood. That is why they cure headaches and backaches, indigestion, kidney and liver troubles, anaemia, heart palpitation, and the ills that afflict women only. But be sure you get the genuine pills with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around each box. Imitations are worthless—often dangerous. All medicine dealers sell these pills or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MR. BROOKS DOES NOT NEED ADVOCATE

Mr. J. M. Brooks objects to the statement made in The Examiner of yesterday to the effect that Mr. G. W. Hatton appeared before the Liquor Commissioners on his behalf. He stated that he did not need anyone to plead his cause, and spoke for himself.

Judgment Given In Reserved Cases

Mr. Justice Anglin Delivers Judgment at Toronto on Application of Mr. Dennistoun for a Reserved Case—His Decision in the Ruetsch-Spry Case, Too.

The Toronto Globe to-day has the following references to cases of local interest, which came up at the last assizes here:

Rex vs. McAuliffe. — Judgment (E. B. B.,) on motion by prisoner for a reserved case. Defendant having having been charged with murder, the Grand Jury for the county of Peterborough at the autumn sittings in 1905, found a true bill for manslaughter against him, to which defendant pleaded not guilty. Owing to the absence of a material witness for the prosecution, the trial was traversed until the spring assizes of 1906. At the opening of the spring sittings counsell for the Crown informed the presiding Judge that in the interval the indictment against the prisoner had been mislaid or lost, the circumstances rather indicating that it had been stolen, and asked the direction of the court as to further proceedings. Anglin, J., directed that a new indictment for manslaughter be preferred before the Grand Jury then opening, that being, in his opinion, the proper course in the circumstances. This was done. The Grand Jury returned a true bill. The prisoner having, through his counsel, declined to plead, the Court directed that a plea of not guilty be entered for him, under sec. 657 of the criminal code. The trial then proceeded and the prisoner was convicted. His counsel moved for a reserved case to determine the propriety of the direction to submit to the Grand Jury the new indictment, and the validity of the conviction upon such indictment. Anglin, J., refused the motion, stating that he had no doubt either as to the regularity or the sufficiency of the proceedings. E. Meredith, K. C., for the Crown; R. M. Dennistoun, Peterborough, and F. D. Kerr, Peterborough, for the prisoner.

Ruetsch vs. Spry. — Judgment, (E. B. B.) in action tried without a jury at Peterborough. Action for reformation of a deed. Held that the plaintiff had not made out a case for reformation of his deed by altering the description which it contains, so as to make it include the additional strip of land, 4 feet and 2 inches in width, necessary to complete a lot in form such as the parties contemplated, and included all the land occupied by the building with which they intended to deal. But, upon the true construction of the deed, it should, notwithstanding the definite description by metes and bounds which it contains, be held to include the two triangular pieces of land occupied by those portions of plaintiff's house, which lie respectfully to the west of the western boundary and to the north of the northern limit of the lands covered by the particular description. See Fraser vs. Matchmor, 8 S. O. L. R. 613, 615, 617; R. S. O. 1897, ch. 119, sec. 12. An amendment seeking relief in the alternative upon this ground in the form of a declaratory judgment was allowed at the trial. Judgment declaring accordingly. No evidence was offered in support of the claim made in respect to the right of way. That part of action dismissed. Costs to plaintiff, as of an action for the relief of which judgment is now given. D. O'Connell, Peterborough, for the plaintiff; G. Edmison, K.C., for defendant.

BIRTHS.

O'BRIEN.—At 48 Bolivar street, on Monday, May 1st, 1906, to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. O'Brien, a son.

R. Hicks & Co's. New Departure

Cartage End of the Business Promises to be Successful.

For the past two years R. Hicks & Co., have been called upon to handle so much heavy cartage material, and also having realized the necessity of additional cartage accommodation to meet the rapidly growing requirements of the city, they have decided to extend their business and make a specialty of carting. With this end in view Mr. Hicks has ordered three new handsome drays and has purchased several more horses. One team, which is one of the very best in the country, and one new dray, are already in commission. The first dray was made by the Bame Waggon Co., of Woodstock. It is on the very latest design, and is the same kind as used by the big cartage companies in the large cities. A second dray is in course of construction at the factory of the same company, and will be here in a few days, while a third dray is being built by Geo. Fitzgerald & Co., Brock street, and this will also be put in use in a short time.

The new Cartage Company so far have received great encouragement from the public, and there is every indication that they will come in for a good share of the business. They are prepared to handle, with the greatest satisfaction to their customers, all freight business placed in their charge. A system of handling freight and all carting business is being worked out on lines similar to those adopted by the big companies in the larger cities. When this has been completed the people of Peterborough will be assured of a speedy and careful service. Any orders left at the office of R. Hicks & Co., Brock street, will be promptly attended to.

The Muskrat Season Booms

Thos. Barrie & Co. Purchased 10,000 Skins.

The muskrat season is over to-day. There has been a great boom the last few days in sale of skins. T. Barrie & Co. bought 5,000 on Saturday and 2,500 to-day, and with several other sales they say they have corralled nearly 10,000 skins. Prices are higher this year than last.

ACCUSTOMED TO CHANGES.

Modern System Has Revolutionized the Tailoring Trade.

If a merchant tailor could get a journeyman tailor who could duplicate the workmanship in a "Semi-ready" overcoat he would gladly pay that man $30 or $40 a week. Modern system in tailoring as exemplified in the Semi-ready tailor shops has revolutionized the tailoring business just as the Goodyear-Slater shoe has displaced the custom-made shoe. When you buy Semi-ready—the real "Semi-ready"—you would as soon order a silk hat made to order as afterwards buy a wait-to-order suit of clothes.

Boils and Pimples

Red Rash, Eczema, in fact any skin disease, disfigures the complexion because the bowels are constipated—or because the kidneys do not rid the system of waste—or because the skin itself is unhealthy.

Ointments, salves and soaps are useless. Because the trouble is with the blood.

Owing to defective action of bowels, kidneys or skin, the blood becomes laden with impurities. It is these impurities — deposited by the blood — that make boils, pimples, and painful, disfiguring skin diseases. It is because the trouble is with the bowels, kidneys or skin, that FRUIT-A-TIVES cure these diseases act directly on the eliminating organs—correct their irregularities—strengthen them—and thus clear the skin and make the complexion clear and soft.

Fruit-a-tives

If you have any skin trouble—or any fault with constipation, liver trouble, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, rheumatism—cure yourself with Fruit-a-tives. They are made of fruit juices and tonics—and never fail to cure.

Bell Telephone Company Want Wires Underground

The Bell Telephone Company in order to give a more efficient service to the public are seeking legislation to have their wires in the business portion of the city placed underground.

Last night at the Board of Works a communication was read from Mr. Donn, the local manager, asking that the Company be allowed to open portions of a number of the more important streets to locate their lines and branches.

The following was the letter in regard to their request:—

To the Mayor and members of the Municipal Council of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—We desire for the purpose of our business to open portions of the following streets in the city of Peterborough, namely:—

George, between Sherbrooke and Brock.

Charlotte, between George and Aylmer.

Simcoe, between Water and Aylmer.

Hunter, between Water and Aylmer.

Brock, between Water and George.

To place thereon lines of telephone and lay the necessary branches to intersecting streets and lanes.

Will you please direct the City Engineer or such other officer as you may appoint to supervise the carrying of the wires underground.

The Board was all in favour of having the wires placed underground and it was moved by Ald. McIntyre and Elliott, that the Bell Telephone Company's request be referred to the City Engineer and that the Company be asked to submit plans.

They deserve every praise and congratulation for having made such a beautiful uniform for the Street Railway employees. They have nothing but the most pleasant remarks to make in regard to the fit, workmanship and style of these beautiful garments.

Why everybody likes Abbey's Salt.

It is so pleasant to the taste that even children take it with pleasure.

It does not "cake" or flake on top of the water.

It effervesces slowly—may be drunk leisurely, without choking or blinding the user like seidlitz powders.

The granules all dissolve—thus the full benefit of the salt is obtained with every dose.

It is the ideal laxative and tonic to purify the blood—regulate stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels—and build up the system.

League In Good Shape; Lindsay Fills Vacancy

Caused by the Withdrawal of Cobourg—Midland Baseball Magnates Met at Port Hope Yesterday—Locals First Home Game on June 2nd.

The Midland Baseball League is on a sound footing once again with four strong teams in the league, and the prospects of a good season and an exciting race for the pennant are very bright. A meeting was held yesterday at Port Hope, at which the schedule was re-arranged. Since the previous meeting Cobourg had dropped out, and it looked as though the league was a thing of the past. Lindsay stepped into the breach, however, and, although not represented yesterday, notified the executive by 'phone that they were willing to enter the league ranks again this year. Needless to say, this offer was gladly accepted, and the schedule was re-arranged to include Lindsay.

There were present at the meeting Messrs. Galbraith, of Oshawa; Crawford, of Port Hope; and M. Connors, of Peterborough, and Secretary Lockington, of Port Hope.

Mr. Lockington was elected secretary-treasurer, it being thought advisable to combine the two offices.

The following schedule was drawn up:

May 12, Oshawa at Port Hope.
May 16, Lindsay at Peterborough.
May 24, Port Hope at Lindsay.
May 24, Peterborough at Oshawa.
May 30, Lindsay at Port Hope.
June 2, Oshawa at Peterborough.
June 13, Peterborough at Lindsay.
June 16, Port Hope at Oshawa.
June 21, Lindsay at Port Hope.
June 23, Port Hope at Peterboro'.
July 2, Lindsay at Port Hope.
Oshawa at Peterborough.
July 13, Peterborough at Lindsay.
July 16, Port Hope at Oshawa.
July 23, Port Hope at Peterborough.
July 21, Oshawa at Lindsay.
August 2, Lindsay at Port Hope.
Oshawa at Peterborough.
August 11, Lindsay at Oshawa.
August 14, Peterborough at Port Hope.
August 25, Peterborough at Lindsay.
August 28, Port Hope at Oshawa.
August 4, Oshawa at Port Hope.
August 7, Lindsay at Peterborough.
August 9, Port Hope at Lindsay.
August 11, Peterborough at Oshawa.
August 13, Peterborough at Port Hope.
September 1, Port Hope at Peterborough.
August 16, Lindsay at Oshawa.
August 23, Oshawa at Lindsay.

It will be seen that the locals' first game will be on May 24th, at Oshawa, and the first home game is on Saturday, June 2nd, with the same club.

OLD AGE

Comes to Everyone. But its Visits May Be Postponed.

Old age is not a question of years. Some men are old at forty, others are young at sixty.

It's a mighty hard proposition to look young, no matter how young you feel, if your hair is falling out and your head becoming bald.

Perhaps you are tired trying ineffective remedies for this evil.

We don't blame you if you are.

Why not try an effective one for a change.

JAPS WANT LONGER LEGS

Japanese scientists attribute the superior stature of the English speaking races to their meat-eating habits, and the Emperor is reported to be considering a scheme to put the nation on a meat diet to make his subjects grow taller. A native physician of Tokio, who was educated in England, is advocating the general use of the bicycle to achieve the same purpose. In his opinion the bicycle is the most successful body builder and muscle developer the English people possess. He envies the English length of limb. He recommends that young Japs of both sexes be taught early in youth to ride the bicycle. Local agent, F. R. J. MacPherson.

THREE TRYING TIMES IN A WOMAN'S LIFE

There are three periods of a woman's life when she is in need of the heart strengthening, nerve toning, blood enriching action of

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

The first of these is when the young girl is entering the portals of womanhood. At this time she is very often pale, weak and nervous, and unless her health is built up and her system strengthened she may fall a prey to consumption or be a weak woman for life.

The second period is motherhood. The drain on the system is great and the exhausted nerve force and depleted blood require replenishing. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills supply the elements needed to do this.

The third period is "change of life" and this is the period when she is most liable to heart and nerve troubles.

A tremendous change is taking place in the system, and it is at this time many chronic diseases manifest themselves. Fortify the heart and nerve system by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and thus tide over this dangerous period. Mrs. James King, Cornwall, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled very much with heart trouble—the cause being to a great extent due to "change of life." I have been taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for some time, and mean to continue doing so, for I can truthfully say they are the best remedy I have ever used for building up the system. You are at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of other sufferers."

Price 50 cents per box, three boxes for $1.25, all dealers, or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The Hilliard Property
---SAY HEALTH AUTHORITIES---
Good Site For Hospital

Drs. Hodgetts and Smith Approve of Board of Health's Choice of Site for Isolation Hospital—Much Valuable Information Was Given at Yesterday's Joint Meeting.

There was not much actual business done at the joint meeting of the Board of Health and the Finance Committee of the City Council yesterday afternoon. The health authorities at least were put in possession of much valuable information in regards to the proposed isolation hospital, and should soon be in a position to go ahead with the project.

Mr. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, and Dr. R. Bruce Smith, the Inspector of Public Charities, were both present at the meeting and strongly recommended an isolation hospital. Both gentlemen approved of the site selected by the Board of Health, namely, the north end of the Hilliard property, as the more suitable for the purpose intended.

The discussion at this meeting was general and the consensus of opinion seemed to be that an isolation hospital for the treatment of contagious diseases is a necessity. Dr. Bingham, the city's Medical Health Officer, however, considered that the local hospitals were capable of taking care of all cases that might arise until the city's population had grown to three times its present size.

There were present at the meeting, in addition to the provincial authorities, Messrs William Eyres, chairman; Dr. McNulty, Dr. Burnham, Dr. Bingham, M. H. O.; Dr. Boucher, of the Provincial Board of Health, Robt. Neill, Geo. Schneider, Mayor Best, Ald. McWilliams, Ball and Elliott, and Mr. W. Blackwell, architect.

Dr. Hodgetts.

Dr. Hodgetts was the first to address the meeting. He said that in the face of the Act no municipality could refuse to build an isolation hospital. There was a discussion in Great Britain and Germany as to the utility of isolation hospitals for the treatment of contagious diseases, but the matter was still sub judice and no definite opinion could yet be expressed.

In a city of the size of Peterborough some provision would have to be made for the treatment of scarlet fever cases and diphtheria patients, in hotels or residences, where proper isolation was not possible.

Speaking of the site question Dr. Hodgetts said that in his opinion, the remote end of the Hilliard property was the better site, because of the fact that the disposal of sewage would be more easily effected there. With the future growth of the sewerage system, connection could be made therewith, and in the meantime the sewage could be chandled in a septic tank, and by sub-surface tiles.

The speaker had received plans for the consideration of the Board. He said that roughly speaking one bed should be provided for every one thousand inhabitants. He advised separate buildings for the treatment of scarlet fever and diphtheria patients. Private wards would also have to be provided, and an administration building would be necessary for the accommodation of the staff.

Dr. R. Bruce Smith.

Dr. Smith also briefly addressed the meeting. It was not the case, he said, that the local hospitals had been informed that their Government grant would be cut off if they did not cease taking in patients suffering from contagious diseases. The hospitals had merely been informed that they were not acting according to law in doing so. All over the province, said the speaker, the practice was being carried on, and reference had often been made to the fact that Peterborough was allowed to go on in the way they had been doing. He hoped that better things were at hand, and that the progress of Peterborough in hospital matters might be as marked as in other ters. He advised a building for the future as well as for the present.

Dr. Bingham.

Dr. Bingham, the Medical Health Officer, said that he had discussed the matter with many citizens, and that the majority strongly disproved of the closing of the hospitals to contagious diseases. It was thought that there was ample accommodation at the hospitals for such patients until the city had 40,000 or 50,000 inhabitants. It was said that over $2000 had been expended at the Nicholls Hospital to provide a place for such patients, and similar provision, he thought, was going to be made at St. Joseph's Hospital. In view of these facts the people asked why it was necessary to have an isolation hospital. From January 1st of the present year there had only been once case that could have been sent to an isolation hospital.

General Discussion.

Dr. Hodgetts said that there was great risk in treating contagious diseases patients in a general hospital. He instanced cases of this sort where contagion had spread.

Chairman Eyres said that he had seen Mr. Richard Hall, of the Nicholls Hospital Board, to find out if the hospital would look after the isolation building, and the answer had been in the negative.

Dr. McNulty said that the views on the question of an isolation hospital, were well known to the Board. Speaking on behalf of St. Joseph's Hospital he said that that hospital was glad to be relieved of the necessity of taking care of such patients. He was not in favour of an isolation hospital, but thought that a small place should be erected for the treatment of such cases which could not be properly treated at home. He was afraid that the plans shown by Dr. Hodgetts would turn out very expensive, and might amount to $8,000 or $9,000.

Ald. McWilliams asked as to conditions existing in Guelph, Brantford, St. Thomas and Windsor, places in which conditions were very similar to those existing here. He was informed by Dr. Smith that each of these places had an isolation hospital hospital. The one at Guelph, just newly erected, cost $15,000 or $16,000.

Mayor Best said that it would have to be decided whether a permanent staff would be provided or not. His Worship could not see the use of an isolation hospital when the local hospitals had not complained of taking in cases.

Dr. McNulty said that the question of the staff was one that could be left in the hands of the Board. The speaker was of the opinion that a building such as the one at Guelph, costing about $1500 or $1600 would be satisfactory.

Ald. Elliott expressed the opinion that the isolation hospital should be maintained in connection with one of the other hospitals.

Chairman Eyres did not approve of this and thought that the isolation hospital should be independent of present institutions. He considered that $1500 was too small a sum for the building of the hospital.

At this point a motion was passed to the effect that Dr. Hodgetts should be asked to report to the Board on the cost of building and maintaining an hospital suitable for Peterborough requirements.

Hamilton Boy Captured Great Marathon Race

"Billy" Sherring Out-Distanced the World in the Historic 27-Mile Struggle—One of the Most Remarkable Achievements of Canadian Athletes on Record.

Wm. J. Sherring, of Hamilton, yesterday captured the Marathon race in the Olympic games at Athens, Greece. This race, twenty-seven miles in length is probably the most famous race in the history of the world and the vitory of Hamilton's representative is a matter upon which the entire county can pride itself.

Sherring's Record.

Sherring has been running in Hamilton for a number of years and has a most enviable record in all the long-distance events.

In 1900 he won the Herald road race in Hamilton, in its way one of the biggest events of its kind in America, and the leading long-distance in Canada. It is an annual event and last year was won by Spring, whom Sherring beat to-day at Athens.

In 1903 Sherring hung up a new mark for the race, which is held around Burlington Bay, a distance of 19 miles, 688 yards. It is run on Thanksgiving Day, and of late years has attracted many of the American cracks.

Sherring took part in the Marathon race at Boston, Jon 1900, but the best he could do was to get second to Caffrey, another Hamilton boy.

Sherring is 27 years of age, and is only five feet high. He tips the scales at 122 pounds.

The flag is flying on the city buildings to-day in honour of the Canadian's great victory.

Remarkable Acheivement.

The Toronto Star says:—

The victory of "Billy" Sherring at Athens to-day is one of the most notable achievements of Canadian athletes on record. The race is run over the old classics course from Marathon to Athens, a distance of 42 kilometers, or about 27 miles. This was the event in which the Greeks of old took most interest, and their descendants, the modern Greeks, think it the greatest honour to win the race. The best Greek athletes took part in the event to-day, and he beat runners from the United States, New Zealand, Australia and Europe, also participated, the sturdy runners from England, and Ireland, and the speedy Spring from New York being conceded a royal chance of capturing the race.

To win the olive wreath in this event is an honour for Sherring that has no equal in Greece, and time was when the winner became a national hero, as he will, no doubt, be regarded to-day throughout Canada at least.

All Greece was aroused over the struggle, Sherring's performance recalling to the native the wonderful run of the young Grecian peasant, who came down from the hills unknown and unsung in 1895, at the revival of the games, to compete in the Marathon race against the famed athletes of the world. The lad's victory, with the romance of tradition, brought interest to a fever heat.

PORT HOPE TEAM REGISTERS MEN

The Port Hope Guide says:—"According to the rules of the Midland League the different teams are to furnish the secretary with a list of all their players not later than May 1st. Up to the time of going to press the Port Hope Club is the only one which has lived up to this rule. Manager Crawford sent his list in yesterday and it was as follows:—

THREE TEAMS IN JUNIOR SERIES

The Lindsay Post says:—Lindsay are wanted in the Midland Baseball League. The withdrawal of Cobourg puts the league on a shaky footing, as a three-team concern is not very satisfactory and a meeting of the executive will likely be held Tuesday afternoon. Peterborough have been offering inducements to Lindsay to join and we understand Oshawa and Port Hope are trying to persuade Bawmarville to enter.

BASEBALL

Although the secretary has not shown us the letter, we are credibly informed that the Charlotte street Guild League champions, of Peterborough, have asked for a game in Lindsay on May 24th. This should be dealt with at to-night's executive. The Charlotte Street nine are a good bunch of players, and the close game played last year between these two leagues is still remembered.

• • • •

The Lily Baseball team hereby challenge the Knockers to a return game to be played on Thursday on the Lillies' grounds. F. Collins, captain.

• • • •

The game on Saturday with the Strathconas will give the fans a chance to get a line on Peterborough's Midland League bunch.

• • • •

The Peterborough ball club will likely play a practice game with the Strathconas on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park. The bunch will have to get down to practice at once as they play at Oshawa on the holiday and they will have to be in good shape to get away with Phelan's bunch.

• • • •

The Guild League outfits are signing players galore and the prospects are that three fast teams will be in the race for the honours. Some of the players that are being signed, it is said, are not eligible to play and there may be some trouble when the season proper starts.

• • • •

Hats off to "Bill" Cinnamon and the Lindsay Redskins. They have come to the rescue of the Midland League and though they will probably be trimmed with the same regularity as they were last year, they have enabled the league to continue another year at least.

• • • •

It's now up to Cobourg to sing plaintively "Can't you see we're lonely?" and ask to be taken back.

• • • •

Bill Cinnamon says Lindsay will have a pretty fair ball team this year, which sounds like a pretty fair spring story.

• • • •

Port Hope will be strong this year, according to a player from that town. Looks like a great race for the rag.

• • • •

Peterborough will have a bunch that should be able to get in sighting distance of the pennant a least. The "Big Leaguers" will be there with the right brand of ginger when the first game is called.

LACROSSE

Mr. E. M. Best has received word from Port Hope and Oshawa to the effect that they will both enter teams in the junior series of the C.L.A. Peterborough will also have a junior team, and Mr. Best is trying to induce Millbrook to enter, which will make a four team district.

• • • •

The Shamrocks, of Brantford, want to play here on May 24th. They have written a couple of letters asking the local team to give them a game for that day.

BASKET-BALL.

A full attendance of all members or former members of the Arrow Basketball team is requested at a final meeting to be held in the Y.M.C.A. Thursday night at 7.15, sharp.

Our Boys' Clothing

Our Boys' Clothing Department is the birthplace of many new and beautiful styles.

Boys' Norfolk Suits, in Single and Double-Breasted, are very popular for this Spring and Summer.

RUSSIAN BLOUSE SUITS

Are still quite the rage, and, perhaps, there is scarcely a mother who would not dress her boy in a Russian Blouse Suit until he was grown up, if she had her way about it. We have them in beautiful patterns and styles, and the prices are real moderate, too

WE SELL THE BEST OR NONE

This is our policy in every department, and it is by keeping none but the choicest goods, that we have built up such a splendid CLOTHING AND FURNISHING BUSINESS.

Our Boys' Suits are made from strong—yet attractive fabrics—well-sewed, with all points where strain comes made doubly strong.

The Initial March-Out
OF PETERBOROUGH RANGERS
Was Very Creditable

Red-Coated Boys Paraded the Streets Last Night—Hundreds of Citizens Saw the March-Out and the Regiment Was Greatly Admired—Band Was Thirty-Pieces Strong and Made Fine Showing.

To the lively strains of "The Lass O'Gowrie" their regimental march the Peterborough Rangers swung down George street last night with martial tread in the first march-out of the season. The hundreds of citizens who lined the route of parade showed that the people of the city still have a lively interest in their red-coated soldiers and that they take pride in the fine regiment which represents Peterborough.

The excellent showing made by the Rangers last night, must have been a source of congratulation to the members of the regiment and the citizens generally, considering that it was the initial march out and that there is a large number of recruits in the regiment, the marching of the red-coats was worthy of the highest praise. They swung along with a precision of step and soldierly bearing that earned the admiration of all who witnessed the parade.

The strength of the regiment was surprising considering the earliness of the season. The total number on parade was 331 and only one company fell below thirty. The turnout even without the band was the largest of the season..

The route of the marchout was from the drill hall to George street, George street to Charlotte street, Charlotte street to Aylmer street, to Hunter Hunter street to Water, Water street to Brock street and Brock street back to the park.

On reaching the parade grounds the troops were given an half hour's company drill before being dismissed. The recruits are rapidly picking up the drill and the work of the regiment was very creditable.

The band under the leadership of Mr. R. Gliddon, made their first public appearance in six months and their playing delighted the citizens. After the marchout they played several selections in spirited style and the music was greatly appreciated by the large crowd in attendance. The band was thirty-five strong last night.

Lightning Tore A Hole In The Ground

Fifteen Feet Long and Two Feet Wide—Strange Feats of Electric Fluid Near Norwood This Morning—Narrow Escape of Mr. Wm. Knox and Frank Kincaid's Families

Special to The Examiner.

Norwood, May 2.—Lightning played some queer pranks near here this morning. At the farm of William Knox, who lives about six miles north-west of this town, a big poplar tree standing in the lane leading from the road to the house, was split from top to bottom. The fluid after leaving the tree entered the ground and tore a hole 15 feet long, 4 feet wide and 12 inches deep along the lane. Twenty-two panes of glass in the house were also broken.

This did not expend the energy of the electricity, either, for it did some damage to a house across the road occupied by Mr. Frank Kincaid. In this house every pane of glass except two was broken.

It is needless to say that the occupants of these two houses were greatly alarmed, when the lightning got in its work in such close proximity.

They hastily dressed, fearing that their houses would be set afire and be destroyed.

To-day they are considering themselves very fortunate that the only damage done was that to the road and to the houses.

Increase In Burial Fees
AT LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY
Decided On By Board

Directors Paid Their Annual Spring Visit Yesterday—Grounds Are Already in Good Condition—Improvements Decided Upon by the Board—Sunday Burial Discouraged.

The directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Company yesterday afternoon paid their annual spring visit to the cemetery. There were present Messrs. W. H. Moore, president; Jas. Stevenson, B. Shortly, E. H. D. Hall, Chas Stapleton, with Secretary E. A. Peck, and Superintendent Frank Wise. The whole property was examined thoroughly with a view to many improvements to the grounds and repairs to the building. Among other things the vault and the tie posts will be repainted and the driveways throughout the cemetery will be repaired with gravel.

The Superintendent has had a body of men at work for two weeks cleaning up the whole grounds and the directors found the property well forward for this season, the roadways being in a particularly good condition. They are hopeful that the cemetery will be more beautiful than ever this summer.

What will probably interest the public more particularly is the increased tariff of charges as adopted at yesterday's meeting. The directors feel justified in the step they have taken because the increase relates wholly to the perpetual improvement and care of the graves of all who are interred.

The charges for interment will in future be as follows:—

Opening adult's grave in summer, increased from $4.50 to $5.00.

Opening adult's grave in winter, increased from $5.50 to $6.50.

Opening child's grave in summer, increased from $3.50 to $4.25.

Opening child's grave in winter, increased from $4.25 to $5.00.

Opening adult grave for brick vault, increased from $6.00 to $7.00.

Opening child's grave for brick vault, increased from $5.00 to $6.00.

Removal and re-interment of adult's body, increased from $6.00 to $7.00.

Removal and re-interment of child's body, increased from $4.00 to $5.25.

Interment on Sunday, extra to above, increased from $3.00 to $5.00.

Perpetual sodding of adult's grave when not done at time of burial, increased from $1.00 to $2.00.

Perpetual sodding of child's grave, etc., increased from 75c. to $1.50.

In the above charges a child is considered as a person under 12 years of age. The charges for opening graves include the perpetual sodding, and care of them, by the company.

The directors consider that they are justified in fixing these charges, having in view solely the general and uniform good condition of the cemetery.

They wish to discourage burials on Sunday and there is a resolution that there shall be none except in cases of extreme necessity. The Superintendent and his men, it is considered, should not be asked to work on Sunday, and the directors hope that the increase in the charges for Sunday interment will emphasize this sentiment.

Eight men are at present at work at the cemetery and the weekly cost amounts to nearly $100.

Will Price Of Bread Be Increased Here?

Action of Bakers in Toronto Has Set the Householders Thinking—A Local Baker Discusses the Situation—Says Bakers Have Not Yet Considered Increase in Price—If Flour Goes Higher They May Do So.

The announcement that the bakers of Toronto, had decided to increase the price of bread to 10c. a large loaf, has created some little uneasiness among the householders in Peterborough, for fear that the price here would also be increased. It appears, however, that the bakers have not yet decided to make us pay more for the staff of life, and unless the price of flour goes up again, the prospects are that bread will remain at the same price here, viz., 9c. for a three pound loaf, and 5c. for a one and one-half pound loaf.

Yesterday the price of bread in Toronto, with nearly all the large dealers went back to the mark it was prior to the commencement of the price-cutting last December. The bakers with few exceptions, are now demanding ten cents a large loaf from the retail trade, and eight cents from the wholesalers, such as grocers. This makes the price for a small loaf five cents and four cents respectively. Since last December the prices have varied considerably, but have mostly been seven cents and eight cents for a large loaf. The new arrangement or the reversion to the old arrangement, has been subscribed to by the majority of the large firms throughout the city. It is claimed that the bakers have not made a living profit since December on their bread; in fact, in some cases, there are allegations of a distinct loss. There are some places, however, which will continue at the lower prices.

In conversation with a local baker to-day it was learned that the trade here had not met to consider any increase in the price. The price of flour, he added, was firm, and had recently advanced ten cents per cwt. but unless it went up still higher, the price of bread would probably remain as it was.

The Dawson Brothers Buy Big Business

Purchase a $50,000 General Store in Nanton, Alta.—Will Leave To-morrow Morning for Their New Home—Messrs. Edward, James and Harry Dawson Branch Out Into Big Business.

To-morrow morning Messrs. Ed. and James Dawson, two of the city's best known young business men, will leave for Nanton, Alta., where, with their brother, Harry, of Port Arthur, they have bought a big general store stock. The Messrs. Dawson will take charge of the business and conduct it in future. The stock is a large one and is worth about $50,000.

Nanton is a little town in the centre of one of the greatest ranching and farming sections of Alberta, and settlers are fairly pouring into it.

Mr. Ed. Dawson and his brother, James, will go to Nanton at once, and Harry will follow later.

Their intention is to reduce the present stock, and add other lines, including hardware.

The Messrs. Dawson are young men who are general favourites, and they will be followed by the best wishes of their many friends here for success in the west.

Mr. Jas. Dawson will be missed in musical circles, and especially in St. Paul's choir. Mrs. Dawson will not go until later.

A MOROCCO COBBLER IS A MULTI-MURDERER

Special to The Examiner.

London, May 3rd. — A "Daily Mail" correspondent, wiring from Mogador, Morocco, via Tangier, reports:

"A series of murders, probably unexampled in the annals of crime, was traced last week to a native cobbler, named Hadj Mohammed Meafewi, Under his shop in the Rayad Zoitoun, no fewer than twenty-six corpses were unearthed. This led to the discovery of ten more in a yard which had been rented by the murderer. All these victims were women. Meafewi will be crucified on Thursday next, when an immense concourse of spectators is certain. This form of capital punishment has not been practiced within living memory."

Traveller Lost A Gold Watch

Toronto Man is Lacking His Time-Piece To-day.

The Chief of Police to-day received a post card from Lakefield from L. H. Lepard, of the Northup & Lyman Company, of Toronto, in which that gentleman stated that he had lost his gold filled watch in Peterborough yesterday, near the corner of Aylmer and Bank street. The watch numbered from 1 to 24 and had a black fob. A liberal reward will be offered for its return. The watch may be left at the Examiner office or the police station.

Early Morning Fire Destroyed Barn

Structure on Mr. D. W. Dumble's Property Burned to Ground.

Fire, early this morning, destroyed an old barn on the property of Mr. D. W. Dumble just north of the city's limits, and near the Nicholls Hospital. The structure was burned to the ground and made a fierce blaze while it lasted. The firemen had a long run to the scene.

Mr. Dumble had not heard of the fire when seen by the Examiner this morning. The barn he said was worth about $75 and there was no insurance.

Lightning Kills Boy and a Team

An Accident Yesterday Afternoon Near Newcastle.

Newcastle, May 2.—This afternoon about 5 o'clock, an immigrant boy, about 15 years of age, employed by Mr. Samuel Turner, about two miles north of this village, was harrowing in the field, when he was struck by lightning and killed. The team he was driving was also struck dead.

"Labourer" Wants Higher Wages

A Letter Advocating More Money for Corporation Labourers.

A reader who signs himself "Labourer," writes to The Examiner advocating a higher rate of pay for the corporation labourers. He points out that at present the men on sewer and sidewalk work receive $1.50, $1.60 and $1.65 per day of nine hours.

He also refers to the fact that in Toronto the men receive 20 and 25 cents per hour. His contention is that the men working on street work in Peterborough should receive more money than they do at present.

Deranged Liver and Biliousness.

"For a long time I suffered from liver complaint and biliousness, and could find nothing to help me until I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I have recommended these pills to many of my friends and they have all been well satisfied with the results." — Miss Julia Langlois, Manor, Assa.

MAKING UP THE BEST CLOTHS.

Semi-ready Tailors Use the Highest Priced Tweeds and Worsteds.

One expects to get something better in cloth material in a "Semi-ready" suit, for the buzz of the new idea was to make up the more expensive worsteds and tweeds used by the high-class tailors who charge high prices. In former days few of the more particular men cared about venturing into a clothier's, for one had to match one's skill against the shoddy and cheap tweeds. Semi-ready suits and overcoats are tailored in many physique types and made from the finest cloth that money can buy. Their label is the certificate of merit.

Why we Laugh.
Toronto Star.

LOUD laughter comes from Hamilton,
And bursts of ghoulish mirth;
The way those folks do carry on

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL

DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free.

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private ills, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than to submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise sick women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Delle. Emerentienne Montreuil, of 114 Latourelle St., Quebec, Que.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered for eight months with what the doctors called prolapsus, which caused great weakness all over my system, with faint dizzy spells. I kept growing weaker and weaker. I tried several medicines which they claimed would cure my trouble, but nothing was of the least benefit until I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and this helped me so rapidly that I could hardly believe my good fortune. I would gladly have paid $25.00 for that first bottle, for it started me on the road to health, and five bottles cured me. I am most grateful for my splendid, robust health, and shall certainly recommend the Vegetable Compound in glowing terms to all my friends and acquaintances, for it is deserving of all the praise I can give it."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

OUT AND IN.

The Whitney Government is finding that the plastic irresponsibility of Opposition is in violent contrast to the rigid and exacting responsibility of office. Mr. Whitney finds that it is not so easy to please as it is to antagonize. When in Opposition Mr. Whitney and his followers voted for a motion that would have made the Pettypiece Bill law. Under this the taxation of railways would have been $250 per mile, while the bill of the Government places it at only $100. The former figure it is claimed would equalize the rate of farm and railway taxation. But the point is not the equitable character of the legislation in question, but the matter of consistency. If, as a matter of principle, Mr. Whitney and his followers were prepared to vote for a rate of taxation equal to $250 a mile, the principle involved does not change because the Opposition changed sides of the house. In his railway taxation legislation, Mr. Whitney has managed to antagonize the farmers as much as he has antagonized the temperance party by his 5 to 3 local option legislation.

CANADA AS A HOME.

There are immigrants and immigrants. There are some who find nothing right in Canada. The climate, the conditions, the people, and especially the working for a living, are grevious grounds of complaint. Without industrious habits necessary to make a living at 'ome they come to Canada expecting to lead a life of ease, to pick up gold on the highways and generally enjoy a dolce-far-nients sort of life. Such persons are bound to be disappointed, to condemn Canada as a "bloody beastly" country, unfit for living in by persons who—would like to live without working. Others differently constituted, with a disposition for industriously working, find Canada an ideal home. We often hear the wail of the disappointed, and properly disappointed, grumbler, but it is pleasing on occasion to hear an opposite kind of testimony. A writer in a contempory magazine, signing himself Canadensis, says many pretty things of Canada. "In Canada," he says, "there exists some subtle charm which strongly attracts the old-country man. It appeals to many as the most attractive of all the colonies, as it is the nearest. Its climate and natural features most nearly resemble those of Great Britain. Its huge forests, great lakes and noble rivers, its rolling prairies and majestic mountains, lend it a flavour of romance. Most Englishmen when they know it well, love it well." A man who wants to be pleased with Canada, who is willing to conform to the conditions which successful life in it demands, cannot escape being pleased with it. We have homes here for millions—who are willing to work, willing to earn the prosperity and happiness which come to all who are industrious and thrifty.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"Hogtown" is humiliated. Much-jibed Hamilton has beaten Toronto at its own game. A Hamilton man, not content with beating his fellow-countrymen, has selfishly collared the honours of long distance running from the whole world. But Toronto is generous and joining with all Canada applauds Sherring's victory as heartily as Hamiltonians can do.

The Toronto News in referring to Hon. Mr. Whitney's frequent attacks of explosion, says:—"Mr. Whitney seems to be a perpetual rocket. His casing is filled with political explosives from day to day, and all that is needed is for a member of the Opposition to light a match. Then with a whirring crescendo rush he goes up in the air amid a chorus of admiring "Oh's," and after a few preliminary sputters bursts with a loud explosion into variegated and starry splendor. The casing drops gracefully, and is immediately loaded again, in preparation for the next grand ascension. The spectacle is majestic, but is it politics? Spectacular indignation is the privilege of Oppositions, but usually Governments are not given to that sort of thing."

Everybody must wish well to the proposed attempt to curtail the powers of the Bell Telephone Company over the streets of municipalities. While we all recognize the indespensable value of the telephone, we cannot regard with favour the extraordinary powers it enjoys — powers denied to the ordinary citizen. The ordinary citizen cannot deal with the streets as he sees fit, but must respect constituted authority. The Telephone Company, it appears, has extraordinary powers and possesses legal rights in respect to streets which take precedence of the authority of the municipal corporation. The town or city should have control of its streets and no corporation should have any rights that conflict with or minimise the rights of the people who are supposed to own the streets. We welcome the telephone—we couldn't do without it, but that does not make it necessary to surrender forever the control of our streets and thoroughfares.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Mr. Goldwin Smith, writing as Bystander, thus delivers himself upon the subject of Municipal Ownership:—

Everything now is a passion with us. The world some think is to be saved by public ownership. Public ownership of public services, though not of trades, is presumably the best system, especially in the case of railways, which are the highways of the country; provided always that the representatives of the public interest are trustworthy, which experience, municipal experience especially, proves not to be invariably the case. Public ownership perhaps involves, besides the danger of political influence, a liability to routine and the loss of the stimulus to improvement created by private desire of gain. But the benefits of the change would not be magical. In countries where the railways are already wholly or in part owned by the State, such as Italy, France, and Germany, no extraordinary consequences appear to ensue. Consequence so far seems to be the vast increase of municipal debt. However, whatever may be our opinion as to the question of expediency, it is to be hoped there will be no thought of violating right. To confiscate the fruits of private enterprise undertaken with the full cognizance of the State, on the plea that the work ought in the first instance to have been done by the public, would be not only robbery, but of all robberies the worst, for it would make the State a robber.

THIS WAS HAY DAY AT THE MARKET

The scarcity of hay at the market recently was amply made up for by the large quantity that arrived this morning. Within a half hour over a dozen loads were lined up for sale and many more were coming in from all directions. The price of hay during the last few weeks has been exceptionally good and the few farmers who found an opportunity of "bringing in the hay" were well repaid. The general price has been $14 but a few have received as high as $15 per ton for good timothy. This morning the prices were ranging from $12 to $14. This might be called "Hay-day" at the market.

Another Letter From 'Frisco

An Interesting Epistle Received by Mrs. P. Simons.

The following letter from a relative of Mrs. P. Simons to her daughters, gives interesting details of the conditions during and following the great San Francisco earthquake and fire. The Petersons mentioned are all relatives of Mrs. Simons:

San Rafael, April 24, 1906.

Dear Annie and Nellie,—

No doubt you are thinking that I am no longer in the land of the living. By the time you receive this you will have heard of the great fire in San Francisco. It was a terrible fire. We could see the flames away up in the heavens, and after sunset the eastern part of the sky looked like a live coal. The Petersons lost everything they owned, and are now camping on our lawn by the house. The men folk sleep in a tent, while the women are in the house. We have quite a large family now. Altogether we have Mr. and Mrs. Coughlin and child, Peterson's daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Marisch and uncle Gus auntie Mary, Albert Peterson, wife and child, Fred. Peterson and Frank, and then there are five in our family.

Auntie Kasie's home escaped the fire. She lives on Capps street, near 25th, and they stopped the fire at 21st street. Bernadine Leonard, Barley's daughter, is safe with auntie Kasie. The first night after the earthquake they stayed out on the hill all night.

There are hundreds of people out at Golden Gate Park who were left without a cent to their names, and no clothes to wear.

San Rafael, which is only a summer resort for the rich, is sheltering over a thousand of the refugees, and is willing to willing to take fifteen hundred more. Last night it just poured down rain, and every one of those poor souls in San Francisco must be soaked to the skin. It is a pitiable sight to be down at the train and see the refugees come off with a few things wrapped in a sheet with a blanket. When they get off the car they throw themselves down on the platform. They are completely exhausted fleeing from their fire.

Uncle Anderson has been very sick, and they sent for mother, as they expected he would die at any time. The doctor had given him up, so mother went down to him, and aunt Kate and uncle Roche came and stayed at the house. As I have a very good position and could not leave just then, they stayed at the house five days, and then went to see uncle Anderson, and then mother came home. It was a good thing that aunt Kate and uncle left San Francisco, as the fire started near their home, and it was almost the first house to go down. They have lost everything. One good thing is that the vaults in all the banks are safe.

There are three young men here in San Rafael from Peterborough. One of their fathers is a banker back there. I have not had much time to speak to them, but will try and see them again. I am on the relief committee, and also one of the Red Cross nurses, so you see I am very busy and come into contact with a great many people. I am at the Emergency Hospital.

Mother is sending a paper to your mother, and she will write as soon the folks leave. That will be a week, or month, or more.

As I have not had any sleep yet and have to go to work in an hour again, I will have to close, with love from us all,

I remain,
Your Fond Cousin.

P.S.—Sister Mamie and husband wish to be remembered to you all.

S. K.

San Rafael was not damaged by earthquake, only we got a good shake that we will remember all our lives.

ARE YOU A PRISONER?

THOUSANDS of men are prisoners of disease as securely as though they were confined behind the bars. Many have forged their own chains by the vices of early youth, exposure to contagious disease, or the excesses of manhood. They feel they are not the men they ought to be or need to be. The vim, vigor, and vitality of manhood are lacking. Are you nervous and despondent? tired in the morning? have you to force yourself through the day's work? have you little ambition and energy? are you irritable and excitable? eyes sunken, depressed and haggard looking? memory poor and brain fagged? have you weak back with dreams and losses at night? deposit in urine? weak sexually?—you have

Literary Association's Successful Season

Closing Meeting of St. Peter's T. A. S. Literary Association Was Held Last Night—Miss Cahill's Paper on "Some Pioneers of Catholicity in Canada," Much Enjoyed—Report of Year's Work Was Presented.

The Ladies' Literary Association of St. Peter's T.A.S. held the last meeting of a most successful season last night, when Miss H. M. Cahill read a beautiful and instructive paper on "Some Pioneers of Catholicism in Canada."

Miss Cahill's paper was most interesting throughout, and gave a nice glimpse of the early Ontario pioneers, and the work done in Quebec and Northern Ontario.

As an introduction to her subject, the essayist said that in all the fields presented to the historian, "none has more of captivating interest than that of our own country." Particularly to Catholics it has "a paramount interest, since Catholic zeal and enterprise were responsible, not only for the discovery, but also for exploration of this country."

When Columbus came to this continent he bore the cross in his hands and planted it on the shore, then, kneeling, he offered the first fruits of his country to God.

But it was in 1534, on Jacques Cartier's arrival in this country, that its history really began; all are familiar with his discoveries and the hardships undergone by himself and his followers. It was only for a short time that his little colony maintained a footing on the banks of the St. Lawrence, and then returned to France.

In 1603, Samuel de Champlain, the "Father of New France," came to this country—he had a two-fold object in coming, viz.—to raise the flour de lis in the remote wilderness of the New World, and to plant the standard of the cross among the savage hordes by whom that world was peopled. The latter was most dear to him, and he said that he believed that "the salvation of a single soul is of more importance than the founding of an empire." His explorations were carried on amidst almost insurmountable difficulties.

A day of general rejoicing was that day in June in the year 1615, when four Franciscan fathers came "to revive and sustain the faith of the French exiles, and to preach the gospel to the dusky sons of the forest." A little convent and chapel were at once built for them, and the first mass was celebrated on June 25.

The difficulties presented to them were of such magnitude, that one would not be surprised had they given up. But they were filled with holy zeal, and had come to this country determined "to live, and, if necessary, to die, to plant the standard of Jesus Christ, and they were not to be deterred."

The scene of their first labours was near the present town of Penetanguishene, on the eastern shore of Georgian Bay. One of the Jesuits, Father La Caron, went further west to a village called Carhayouha. In 1623 he was joined by two other Recollects; but, in 1624, they found that they alone were unable to meet the difficulties of that arduous mission, and an invitation, which was joyfully accepted, was given to the Jesuits to lend their aid. In 1625 Father Jean de Brebeuf, Charles Lallement and Evermond Massé arrived in Canada, and the good Recollects hastened to receive them in their convent on the St. Charles. Father de Brebeuf sought to join a flotilla of Hurons, who had come to Three Rivers to trade. From these he learned of the martyrdom of Father Veil, who had been left by Father La Caron in the Huron country.

Time did not permit Miss Cahill to give a detailed account of the arduous work of these missionaries. "Hunger, toil, hardship and death were their portion, and nowhere in history will be found a fervour more intense, self-abnegation more complete, or a devotion more constant and enduring." Everybody is familiar with the story of the martyrdom of these soldiers of the cross, and to-day, near the spot where it was consumated, a beautiful church stands.

This was the beginning of the end, for although those who remained made a valiant stand, Father Garnier was cruelly murdered, and the remaining Fathers reluctantly consented to leave the West and have their small flock emigrate to the lower St. Lawrence — to Quebec.

Miss Cahill's paper only covered the period from 1492 to 1640, as her endeavour was to show the "rush from which grew the tall oak of our present religious well-being."

Report of Work.

At the conclusion of the essay the following report of the year's work was read by the secretary:

On Wednesday evening, October 4, 1905, the first meeting of the Ladies' Literary Association, for this season was held in the society's hall for the purpose of appointing a ladies' committee and reorganizing the season's work. The meeting resulted in the appointment of the following committee:

From this number the following officers were elected:

Pres. — Miss O'Connell.
Secretary—Miss Connor.
Treasurer—Miss Holmes.

At a succeeding meeting the ladies' literary tickets were distributed among the members of the committee, and a committee meeting was held every Friday evening, at which returns from the sale of tickets were made. Various sums were received at the different meetings, and the receipts of the treasurer show that up to date $108.50 has been paid in to the financial treasurer of the Total Abstinence Society. Two hundred and sixty-three names have been entered on the list as members of the association.

On Thursday, October 26, the Ladies' Literary Committee held an at home, which proved very successful. About $35 was realized, which was also turned over to the financial treasurer.

The proceeds of the "Puffed Rice Social," next Monday evening, in which the ladies are taking a prominent part, will be given to him, too.

The average large attendance at the meetings has proved that the aim of the Literary Society, which is to stimulate and cultivate a taste for reading of a high and elevated standard and to advance and encourage various kinds of talent, is being amply realized.

The system of conducting the work has been similar to that of past years — a paper being read every two weeks in connection with a short musical programme.

The first literary meeting of the season was held on Friday, Oct. 13, when a lecture on a trip to Wilkesbarre was given by Rev. Dr. O'Brien, and at succeeding meeting the following papers were read:

Oct. 27th, "Tennyson, by Miss O'Connell.
Nov. 10. "Christian Womanhood," by Miss McGrath.
Nov. 24, a lecture on "Indian Women," was given by Mr. Burnham.
Dec. 8, "Literature," by Miss Power.
Jan. 12, "John Keats," by Miss Connor.
Jan. 26, "Deportation of the Acadians," by Miss Condan.
Feb. 9th, "Shakspere," by Miss Fitzgerald.
Feb. 23, "Pioneer Days in Canada," by Miss Donoghue.
Mar. 9, "Father Ryan," by Miss Hurley.
April 6, "St. Rose of Lima," by Miss Coleman.
April 20, "Sketches from Ireland," by Miss Dennard.
May 2, "Some Pioneers of Catholicity in Canada," Miss Cahill.

In closing this successful season, the ladies of the committee desire to thank all who have in any way rendered assistance, either by preparing essays or by taking part in the programmes presented during the year.

We also take this opportunity of expressing our most sincere gratitude to Rev. Dr. O'Brien for his kind assistance and encouragement, for his regular attendance at our meetings, and for the deep interest he has always taken in the association.

M. B. CONNOR, Sec.

Peterborough, May 2, 1906.

Miss Dennard occupied the chair and a most pleasing programme was rendered — an instrumental duet by the Misses Dorin and a vocal solo by Mr. Frank Pope.

What Colds Lead To.

NOT THE LUNGS ONLY, BUT EVERY ORGAN OF THE BODY IN DANGER FROM NEGLECTED COLDS.

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Most people know that such ailments as pneumonia and consumption have their beginning in a cold but all do not realize that other vital organs of the body are almost equally liable.

Not unfrequently colds settle on the liver or kidneys, causing serious disease of these organs.

In other cases colds run on until the system is run down and exhausted and so left in a fit state to fall a prey to contagious diseases.

The only safe way is to speedily get rid of all colds before they become fastened on the system.

This can best be accomplished by the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

This medicine has come to be considered indispensable in the family as a cure for colds, bronchitis, croup, asthma and whooping cough.

Mr. John Clark, coachman, of Port Hope, Ont., writes: "Being exposed to all sorts of weather I frequently catch cold. Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper, and had great pains in the chest. At last I feared that it would develop into consumption if I did not succeed in getting proper treatment. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and I began to improve before I had taken half a bottle. One bottle cured my cold, which I believe would have proven to be very serious, if I had not used this medicine."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle.

Bishop Sweatman May Resign Office

Said to Contemplate This Action on Account of Ill Health.

On account of failing health, Bishop Sweatman, of the Diocese of Toronto, is said to have asked the Synod that he be allowed to resign, or that a coadjutor be appointed to assist him. Although attending to his work daily, it has become an ever-increasing strain.

The Synod has asked him to reconsider his action, suggesting that he take an extended leave of absence.

Set Fire To Cow; To Kill Vermin

A Woodstock Negro's Act of Cruelty.

An act of revolting cruelty to animals has been reported to the police from the West End. Smeared with kerosene from head to foot, a cow belonging to J. G. Taylor, coloured, Dundas street west, was set afire by Harry Smith, also coloured, yesterday afternoon and terrible burned. The animal may have to be destroyed.

Smith, who is employed by Taylor, thought he detected vermin on the cow, and took this extraordinary means of exterminating it. The oil was placed on the cow from behind the horns over the entire back and sides and down the legs. The cow was haltered and tethered to a wagon which stood just outside the barn on the Taylor property. Smith attempted to ignite the oil by touching a lighted match to the hair. Failing in this he lighted a piece of paper, and thus succeeded in communicating the flames to the kerosene-soaked hide of the cow. The poor animal was at once transformed into a literal flaming torch. She bellowed with the untold pain she suffered, and is said by employees of the Woodstock Wagon Company, who were attracted by the cries she sent up, to have gone crazy.

Do You Weigh Enough?

Everyone of average intelligence knows something of the immense value of Cod Liver Oil and Iron as remedial agents. Consequently no one would be surprised to hear that very satisfactory results had followed from giving "FERROL" (a perfect emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus) in cases where Iron and Oil appeared to be needed.

But, when we ask people to believe that in an actual and scientific test made by an eminent and well-known physician, twenty-five bottles of were given to ten patients and the result was a net increase in weight of ninety-five pounds, we are aware that we are asking a great deal; nevertheless we are prepared to prove that this is an absolute fact, by evidence that no reasonable person can reject. Moreover, this is no isolated instance, but only one of many equally remarkable.

Very few people properly appreciate the importance of maintaining their normal weight.

There is no surer indication of approaching disease than a considerable loss of weight and even where this is not the case, a man whose weight is not up to the average is always in danger of contracting any of the germ diseases which are unfortunately so prevalent. On the other hand, while his weight is well maintained, a man is practically proof against attack, and if disease is already present, the fact that the weight is being increased is proof positive that the disease is being overcome.

The desirability of maintaining the weight should therefore be apparent. In view of this we can confidently recommend "FERROL" as the surest, speediest and most effective medicine by which the weight may be maintained or restored.

FERROL is not a patent mystery. The formula is freely published. It is prescribed by the best Physicians. It is endorsed by the most eminent Medical Journals. It is used in prominent Hospitals, Sanatoriums, etc.

City Secures Privilege Of Using Dickson Bridge

Agreement Made With Peterborough Hydraulic Power Company—City Must Improve Approaches and Re-floor Bridge—Railings to be Also Repaired—Utilized While Smith Street is Closed.

On account of the Smith street bridge being condemned and closed for traffic, the corporation of the city of Peterborough, in order to lessen the inconvenience which has been given to the general public, have entered into an agreement with the Peterborough Hydraulic Power Company, whereby the city secures the privilege to use what is known as the old Dickson dam bridge. This bridge takes the place of Smith street bridge while the latter is closed for traffic.

The company agrees to allow a bridge over the River Otonabee above the dam of the said company, to be used by the general public on the terms and conditions set out in the agreement dated the 12th day of July, 1905.

In securing the consent of the company, the city must improve the approaches at both ends of the said bridge, and to make the bridge safe for traffic, the floor will have to be re-planked, the railings repaired, and the barricades at both ends removed. The city will also have to cut down the bank on each side of the railway siding, where the approach to the east side of the bridge crosses the said siding, and to deposit the material from same at the ends of the bridge. The city may use as approaches to the bridge the roads leading from Hazlitt street and Smith street, to the north end of the bridge, and from London street to the south thereof.

Keep Law In Every Respect Was Mr. Dickie's Advice

Secretary of the Licensed Victuallers' Association Addressed Large Meeting Here—Much Valuable Advice Was Given in Regard to License Regulations.

The majority of the license holders of the city gathered in the Ontario Bank Chambers yesterday afternoon to listen to an address from Mr. E. Dickie, secretary of the Ontario Licensed Victuallers' Association. The attendance showed the great interest displayed by the license holders, and Mr. Dickie's address was one that could not fail to be profitable to those who attended, if the advice he gave is followed.

President J. M. Brooks, who occupied the chair, spoke appreciatively of the large attendance, and explained that the meeting was not so much a business one as a gathering to hear Mr. Dickie explain the conditions existing under the act regarding license holders.

"Keep the law," was the key-note of Mr. Dickie's remarks, and his address was a sound and sensible one. He gave this fact not only because the law must be observed, but because it was in the interests of the license holders to do so.

One point Mr. Dickie specially urged upon those attending was to see that not only what the consumer asked for was served, but what was sold was what it purported to be. Any magistrate could enter a hotel and procure a sample of the liquor sold, and if it was not as represented the offender could be fined not less than $10 for each offence. He advised keeping the law in every respect.

At the conclusion of the meeting, with the exception of one gentleman, who is retiring from business, those present rejoined the association for the year, and paid their annual fee.

By-law To Be Submitted ---FOR ISSUING DEBENTURES--- To Pay For Outfall Sewer

City Engineer Reports on Proposal to Place Sewer Along Lakefield Branch of G. T. R.—As an Outlet for Other Sewers—Final Outlet Cannot be Decided Till G. T. R. Have Finished Grading.

Some time ago Mr. A. E. Dixon asked the Board of Works to consider the placing of a sewer along the Lakefield branch of the G. T. R. for the purpose of providing an outlet for sewers on certain streets, which at present have no sewer connection.

The matter was referred to the City Engineer, who made the following report which was read at the meeting of the Board of Works on Tuesday night:

To the Chairman of the Board of Works:

Dear Sir, — I have made a preliminary survey of ground for proposed trunk sewer along the Lakefield branch of the Grand Trunk Railway, with a view to providing an outlet for sewers on certain streets which connect with present sewer system.

A 12-inch pipe can be laid on the west side of the G. T. R. right of way from Smith to Aylmer street, 1150 feet long, emptying into the Aylmer street sewer, Edinburgh, Antrim and Smith streets, from east and west, emptying into it. The final location for the outlet cannot be determined until after the G. T. R. have carried out the proposed lowering of grade at Smith street.

This will also provide an outlet for Benson avenue sewer, including Benson and Short streets. It is possible to drain the entire length of Benson avenue from Wolseley street southwards, but owing to a valley intersecting it between Short street and Aberdeen avenue, the cutting at the summit would be excessively deep and costly. This can be obviated by draining Benson avenue northwards from the summit and southwards from Wolsely street to Aberdeen avenue, where an outlet can be made towards Bargardo avenue, there being ample fall. I understand Mr. A. E. Dixon has laid out an extension of Aberdeen avenue eastwards from Benson avenue to the abandoned right of way of the Chemong branch of the G. T. R. and immediately north of Dixon Park.

The outlet can be carried along this extension, crossing the old railway and the property of Mr. Ed. Finnie to Barnardo avenue, at Clinton street, length from Benson street to Barnardo avenue, 615 feet. Mr. Finnie agrees to allow the passage through his lot, and the G. T. R. could offer no objection. By this outlet Manning avenue could also be served. At present Benson avenue sewer is asked for from Short street southwards, but there are a number of good houses on Aberdeen and Manning avenues which at present have no accommodation and could be served by the means suggested. The accompanying plans explain the several sewer lines referred to above.

T. A. S. HAY.

After considerable discussion on the question, it was moved by Ald. Johnston and Adams, that the city solicitor be instructed to draft a bylaw to be submitted to the people to provide for the issuing of debentures to provide for an outfall sewer from Smith street to Aylmer street, along the Grand Trunk track. — Carried.

It was also decided that the matter of connecting with the other streets be left in the hands of the chairman and city engineer to report on.

Junk Dealer In Serious Trouble

Charged With Having Received Stolen Property.

A local junk dealer appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning in answer to a charge of receiving stolen goods—a large quantity of brass taps and other articles from the Peterborough Light and Power Company.

The prisoner through his counsel, Mr. D. O'Connell, explained that he did not know that the goods had been stolen; although when the police were searching for the brass, he had not told them of it.

This was taken as a plea of guilty and sentence was reserved until Saturday, May 12th. The goods taken were valued at $150 and the dealer will have to pay the company.

Mother And Daughter Cured

CAPTAIN COOK AND AUSTRALIAN NATIVES

So well did the Australian natives know the medicinal virtues of certain roots and herbs that when first discovered by the great English navigator, Capt. Cook, they were practically free from disease.

Australia, that mysterious country—that land of gold—is exceptionally rich in medicinal plants. It was in this wonderful country that Bilcans for Biliousness, the great herbal remedy for all liver and stomach disorders were first discovered and used. As Bilcans have just been introduced in Canada and are now obtainable from all druggists and stores, a few facts about their discovery and their exceptional power will be interesting to our readers.

One day a few years ago the Australian public were first informed they could obtain a household remedy made up in the form of a small bean. That this remedy was of purely vegetable composition; that that it was entirely different from the ordinary medicines and preparations so widely sold; and that it was a certain cure for biliousness, indigestion, liver complaints, headaches, constipation, and allied disorders.

In a short time after their discovery, because of their vast superiority over other remedies, and their certain action on the above ailments, Bilcans became the leading household remedy in Australia. They are so to-day.

They were next introduced to Great Britain. There again their vast superiority was soon admitted, and for the ailments just referred to they are now the best known remedy throughout Britain.

From Great Britain Bilcans, because of their superiority, spread rapidly, and their use is now world-wide. If you were to visit India, China, South Africa, you would find them in general use.

In the wastes of Russia, in the cities of Japan, in the lemon groves of Sicily, and the grape districts of France; in Germany, in Austria — in all these places you would find that Bilcans are widely used.

In trying Bilcans for Biliousness, therefore do no think that you are experimenting with a new and untried remedy.

Ask yourself, rather this question: If a medicine is backed up by such universal favour — if a medicine can be so widely tested, and emerges from the test victorious — would it not be useful in your home?

It is well known that liver medicines hitherto in use mostly contain bismuth, mercury and other harmful mineral products, and rely upon these ingredients for their temporary effects. But these mineral constituents are very injurious if taken for long and produce such effects as that of loosening the teeth, causing the hair to fall out, etc. Bilcans are entirely different and superior. They are purely vegetable and contain no trace of any such harmful ingredients as the above. In taking them there is no fear whatever of any harmful secondary effects. They cure that which they are taken to cure, and do not leave behind them evils worse than the original ones. All leading druggists now sell Bilcans. Readers of the Daily Examiner are offered the privilege of a free test of this world-reputed medicine. Cut out this article and post it with a one cent stamp—to pay the return postage—to the Bilcan Company, 58 Colborne street, Toronto, and upon its receipt a sample box will be mailed you.

Electric Lights For "Water Lily"

This Steamboat Refitted in Most Modern Style.

Peterborough can now boast of having one of the most modern inland steamboats of any town or city in the Province.

Captain W. H. White, who recently purchased the Water Lily from the Calcutt Company, has since been making some changes and additions which are novelties in this city.

A dynamo has been placed in the Lily, which this year will have an electric light plant—the first installed in a boat in the county of Peterborough. There will also be placed a powerful searchlight of over 2,000 candle-power in front of the captain's cabin, to insure safety to the boat on dark nights. The switchboard has been situated in the engineer's room so that he may easily manipulate the lights. Altogether there will be 25 lights distributed over the boat; the wiring is all invisible, being placed in mouldings. The last part of the fixtures is now almost completed, the work being done by Mr. Arthur Ash, the well-known Peterborough house-wiring man, and he has performed his task very skilfully.

The old hull has been replaced by a new one, made of the best of British Columbia fir, the planks used being 65 inches long, making it all the stronger. The hull, too, is widened four feet four inches, and is spread out so that there can be no dispute as to her carrying capacity.

A new fore and aft compound engine of the latest machinery manufactured by the Doty Engineer Works, of Goderich, has been installed and is now ready for action.

The boat has been painted lily-white, thus combining her name and that of the proprietor, and she presents a very attractive and pretty appearance. In fact, the Water Lily this year is remodelled so that she is practically a new steamboat. She is 90 feet long, 16 feet 4 inches wide, and with her present engine, will run at the rate of 12 miles an hour.

Saturday next will see her launched in the waters of the Little Lake, and next week she will probably make her first trip down the Otonabee for the season of 1906.

Captain White, who is one of the county's most prominent sailors, has for a number of years been connected with steamboating on the Kawartha Lakes, and his knowledge in that capacity is beyond dispute. He has lately moved to Peterborough from Lakefield, and at present is building on the corner of Simcoe and Queen streets.

The crew for the Lily has been chosen for the season, and consists of W. H. White, captain; Alex. Young, mate; Andrew Lajeunesse, engineer.

The Water Lily this year will be engaged in the passenger and excursion trade, and there is no doubt of a successful season awaiting the proprietor with such a boat and such a crew.

NURSES BILL WITHDRAWN

Railway Taxation Bill Passed Through Committee Stages—Hon. Mr. Matheson Explains Negotiations In Regard to Soo Loan—Would Have Paid Amount of Guarantee If Necessary—University Bill.

Toronto, May 3.—In the House yesterday, Hon. Mr. Matheson made the following statement:

"In the matter of the loan commonly known as the Sault Guarantee Loan for $2,000,000 falling due on May 1, the Canadian Improvement Co., whose certificates were guaranteed by the province, found that they were unable to have the province relieved of the whole guarantee.

"After negotiations it was agreed that the province should release one-half of the collateral securities, being a portion of the bonds, income bonds and stock of the Lake Superior Corporation, and the Canadian Improvement Co. procured a loan for $1,050,000 without the guarantees of the province.

Guarantee Renewal.

"It being found that the further sum of $1,000,000 required could not be obtained without the guarantee of the province, the Government, under authority of the act passed during the present session, guaranteed certificates for $1,000,000, payable with interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum in six months from May 1, in renewal of one-half of the former certificates, and on these the Canadian Improvement Co. obtained a loan of $1,000,000. The whole of this $2,000,000 principal money and $50,000 interest was paid into the Morton Trust Co. on May 1.

"The Government's present liability is on renewal certificates of the Canadian Improvement Co., for $1,000,000, payable with interest at 5 per cent. per annum on Nov. 1, next, at the office of the Morton Trust Co., and for this guarantee the Morton Trust Co. hold as security for the province, "the pledged securities," being all the stock and bonds of the Algoma Central and Manitoulin Railways and the mortgage on the vessels of the company, and also one-half of the "collateral securities" formerly held, being $1,209,000 bonds of the Lake Superior Corporation out of $10,000,000, $152,000 income bonds out of a total of $3,000,000, and $3,682,000 of the stock of the said corporations out of a total of $40,000,000.

"The Government had arranged that in case of necessity they should be able to pay in the whole $2,000,000 on May 1, so that there should be no dishonor of the provincial guarantee."

The University Bill.

Two addresses were delivered in the Legislature yesterday evening on the Government's university bill, Premier Whitney being the first speaker and Mr. Harcourt following. Hon. Mr. Ross was indisposed, and was not present at either the afternoon or the evening session of the House.

In the course of his remarks the Premier said that what was aimed at for the present was a yearly income of $250,000 for the university. The Government had seen their way clear to adopt most of the recommendations of the University Commission, with the exception of the proposed endowment of 1,000,000 acres of land.

Mr. Harcourt, who had not expected to speak on the question last night, but did so on it becoming certain that Hon. Mr. Ross could not be present, made an excellent speech, agreeing in the main with the commission's recommendations, his criticisms being couched in kindly terms and with every evidence of a desire to be of assistance in framing a proper measure. The bill will be taken up again in committee to-day.

During the evening Mr. Goldwin Smith, to whom both speakers paid tribute, and the other members of the University Commission, with other leading educationists, occupied seats on the floor of the House.

G. T. R. Bill.

Hon. Mr. Reaume introduced a bill to amend the act respecting aid granted to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. This merely exempts the company from placing 400 settlers a year for ten years in return for releasing 525,000 acres of land grant to the railway and withdraws the released land.

Mr. Crawford withdrew the Nurses' Registration Bill, without explanation to the House.

Railway Taxation.

Consideration in committee of the amendment to the supplementary revenue act providing for doubling the tax on railway mileage opened up a debate.

Mr. Preston (Brant) asked if car-owning companies would be barred, as Pullman cars were.

Hon. Mr. Matheson replied that Pullman cars ran on certain trains and could be got at, which wasn't the case with the others.

Mr. Bowyer declared that the farmers didn't consider the new act, while a step in advance, was giving them a fair share of revenue from railways. These should be taxed on the same terms as their own property.

Hon. Mr. Matheson replied that it was beyond the power of the Government to tax on the gross earnings, as the railways could puzzle the figures. The tax must be a direct one.

Not Far Enough.

Col. Clark argued that taxation on gross revenue might lead to all sorts of manipulation. He didn't think the doubling of the tax went quite far enough, but hoped that a further advance could be made, as the Government wasn't pledged.

Mr. Hoyle considered it would be only fair to municipalities to give them the increase in revenue instead of the province getting it. He favored the province getting the tax on the rolling stock and the municipalities the revenue from mileage taxation and duties on coal.

Mr. Graham's Views.

Mr. Graham said that the farmers were assessed less than any other class. It was wrong to raise the hopes of the people that the Legislature was going to do something unjust to capitalists who had invested their money in Canada, just because of some popular sentiment. He was glad to endorse what the Government had done. He commended their caution in dealing with men who were investing their own money here.

Dr. Lewis said it was all right to talk about the down-trodden corporations, but what of the C. P. R., which had paid last year 13 per cent. dividends to stock holders, and the Grand Trunk was gradually wiping out its watered stock. He was glad that the bill was not a finality and hoped some day to see the railways taxed as they should be.

Third Readings.

Third readings were given Col. Matheson's loan bill and Mr. Fraser's bill to provide for plugging of abandoned natural gas wells.

Several other bills were advanced a stage.

Mr. Crawford's bill respecting Trinity Church, Toronto, was read a third time at the evening session.

Sad Attack of La Grippe.

"A year ago I had a bad attack of la grippe and all the doctor's prescriptions proved to be of no avail. I was told to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and found it a great blessing as it thoroughly cured me. I told my doctor that I intended to recommend it to all my friends." — Mrs. R. Hutton, 12 Clarement street, Toronto, Ont.

SHOT OR CHLOROFORMED.

A Terrible Tale of the San Francisco Earthquake.

Omaha, Neb., May 3.—According to the story told by O. K. Carr, an Omaha man who was through the San Francisco earthquake and fire, 350 wounded and injured people were chloroformed to prevent them from being burned alive when the Mechanics' Pavilion was vacated.

A Thousand More.

Coroner Welsh said yesterday he believed the number of dead from the disaster would be at least a thousand more than was at first supposed. Down in the fish market district hundreds of men were at work at the time of the earthquake, several structures collapsed and the workers had no time to save themselves, he said.

Insurance Losses.

The Northern Assurance Co. place their losses at 'Frisco at a little over $2,500,000.

The Aetna expect to pay $2,700,000.

Two Die in Tornado.

Dallas, Texas, May 3.—A tornado swept over parts of Brown, Wise, Denton and Grayson Counties last Monday afternoon, doing great damage to crops and farm property. Two persons are known to have been killed.

The house of Jes. Foster was blown down and the ruins took fire. Mrs. Foster and the children crawled out of the ruins safely, but Foster was pinned down by heavy timbers. He was so badly burned that he died Tuesday night.

Small Boy's Death.

Meaford, May 3.—While Morris Doherty, the 4-year-old son of Samuel Doherty, a farmer, living near here, was riding on a loaded wagon, he fell and the front wheel passed over him, causing his death after 12 hours.

London, May 3.—The British Government has chartered the Leyland Line steamship Castrian to convey troops for Egypt.

Police Honor Mr. Curry.

Toronto, May 3.—The members of the Toronto police force and a few of ex-Crown Attorney Curry's personal friends took advantage of his departure for Cuba, to present him yesterday afternoon with a handsome gold watch, chain and locket, and also to remember Mrs. Curry with a beautiful silver tea set. All the articles were engraved with Mr. Curry's initials. The gathering took place in the City Hall, about 200 being present.

Sherbrooke St. Ditch Report

Ditch Was Examined by City Engineer T. A. S. Hay.

The following report was handed in to the Chairman of the Board of Works at the meeting on Tuesday night by the city engineer who was asked to examine the ditch on Sherbrooke street, regarding the placing of pipe through it. The report was as follows:—

To Chairman of Board of Works:—

'Dear Sir,—As requested I have examined the ditch on Sherbrooke street with a view to laying a pipe and covering it in.

The small creek flowing from Monaghan Road across lots 17, 18 and 19 between Bolivar and Sherbrooke streets and along south side of Sherbrooke to Park Drain, referred to in report of April 4th, carries a large quantity of water during freshets and is quite dry at other times.

When in full flood it would require at least a 30 inch pipe, and a total length of 1600 feet, the pipe costing net $1200 and the gravel filling $635.00. Total $1[illegible].00. This long open ditch requires 16 driveway bridges for access to property and is costly to maintain, a nuisance to the property, and the expense of laying a covered pipe would probably have to be paid for by frontage assessment.

If each of the driveways were piped and covered leaving open ditch between the cost would be $20.00 each; total $320.00.

There would also require to be a pipe across the roadway which would be changed to general road repairs.

The only alternative plan would be the diversion of creek via Monaghan Road and the right to discharge water into a new course on the low land near Patterson street.

T. A. S. HAY,
City Engineer.

Belleville Has Sleeping Beauty

Strange Case of a Girl Who Sleeps 22 Out of 24 Hours.

Belleville, May 2.—The village of Canifton, near this city, has a peculiar case, having a genuine sleeping beauty within its gates. Edith Latta, a fifteen-year-old girl, has, for the past month, been asleep for fully 22 hours out of every 24, and can only be roused for purposes of attaining nourishment by very strenuous methods. After eating she suddenly becomes drowsy, and drops off into a sleep which is almost death like in its heaviness. The girl's uncle, who is a doctor, thinks she is suffering from a nervous disease. The girl sleeps so soundly that she can be pricked with pins without being awakened. Many doctors have visited the sleeper, and the case is a most interesting one.

Kidney disease comes on quietly, it may have been in the system for a long time before you suspected the real cause of your trouble. There may have been backaches, swelling of the feet and ankles, disturbances of the urinary organs, such as, brick dust deposit in urine, highly colored, cloudy or cloudy urine, bladder pains, frequent urination, stone in bladder, etc.

Perhaps you did not know that these were symptoms of kidney disease, so the trouble kept growing worse, until Neuralgia, Sciatica, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Dropsy, and worst of all, Bright's Disease have taken hold of your system.

Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken at the first sign of anything wrong. There is no other safe way. Ointments and liniments are useless, as the trouble must be eradicated from the system.

Doan's Kidney Pills go to the seat of the trouble, strengthen the kidneys, and help them to filter the blood properly and flush off all the impurities which cause kidney trouble. Mr. Thomas Mayhew, Smith's Falls, Ont., writes: "For over four months I was troubled with my kidneys, and my back got so lame I felt miserable all over. After taking five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I was as well as ever."

Price 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

Guild League Games On Central Park

The Church Teams Will Play There This Season—Games on Monday and Thursday Nights—Some Fast Teams Have Entered.

On May 21st. the Guild Baseball League season will open with a game between the Charlotte and George Street teams. Arrangements have been made by which the games this season on Monday and Thursday nights will be played on the Central Park grounds, which will be much more central than the grounds upon which the games were played last year. In addition to being more central, they are better adapted to baseball and as a result the games will be faster. The three teams in the league this year will furnish some good sport. They are all considerably stronger than they were last year and some great contests may be expected.

St. Paul's, which in former years has not been particularly fast, will have a team, which will make the other two teams hustle to win. In fact, those in the know have no hesitation in saying that when the Examiner Cup is presented in the fall, the Presbyterians will probably be the ones to whom it will be given. However, we shall see what we shall see, and this much is assured, no one team will have it very easy.

Lacrosse Team Want Too Much To Play Here

Intermediate C. L. A. Team Ask High Price for Game Here.

The management of the Peterborough Shamrock lacrosse club has not yet secured a team for a game here on the twenty-fourth. Secretary Regan has been in communication with several clubs but their terms are too hight to suit him. The Young Torontos are among the bunch and letters have also been received from Beaverton.

Lacrosse Clubs Did Not Meet

Peterborough May Have to be Placed in Another District.

The meeting of the representatives of Port Hope, Bowmanville, Oshawa and Peterborough Intermediate Lacrosse teams, which was to have been held here on Saturday afternoon, did not materialize. None of the outside clubs were represented, and it is not likely that any of them will have a team. In that event Peterborough will be placed in a district with Beaverton, Markham and Uxbridge.

Percy Fitzgerald Quaker Captain

Centre Half-back Will Govern the Team This Season.

The Peterborough Quakers Football Club met last night and elected a captain for the season—the honour devolving on Mr. Percy Fitzgerald. Undoubtedly no better choice could have been made as Mr. Fitzgerald is not only a half back with a reputation, but is a man who knows the game and who has the will to enforce his rulings. He learned the game years ago in Smith and has played in Peterborough during the revival of the association game here. There is no doubt that under his capable captainship that the team this year will make a name for itself in the Midland League.

A number of other matters was also arranged at the meeting in connection with the practices. On Saturday afternoon the players will be given permission to have their first work out on the Riverside Park. Stakes will be placed in position and everything made ready for solid work at once.

There will be an exhibition game here on the twenty-fourth of May, probably with a Toronto team.

The regular practice nights was also arranged last night and these will be Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Peterboro' Men In Amateur Bouts

Crough in the 145 lb. and Hurlubise in the Heavy-Weight Class.

Messrs. Eugene Hurtubise and J. F. Crough, of Peterborough, are taking part in the Canadian amateur wrestling championships which commence to-night at the Mutual Street rink, Toronto. Crough, who has entered in the 145 lb. class is drawn against Robt. White, S.A.C. Hamilton. Hurtubise is in the heavy-weight class and does not wrestle to-night. Both men wear the colours of the Peterborough Shamrock Lacrosse Club.

FOOTBALL

The Peterborough Quakers will practise to-night on Central Park at 6.30. The first practise on Riverside Park will be held on Saturday afternoon. The regular practise nights will after this week be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

No Schedule For Use Of The Oval

Only Two Clubs Were Represented at Meeting Last Night.

The meeting of the sporting clubs intending to use the Nicholls Oval this season, which was called for last night, did not materialize. The only representatives present were Messrs. J. Myddleton of the Nicholls Oval Tennis Club, and Charles Reid of St. John's. It was, therefore, not possible to draw up a schedule for the use of the grounds. No trouble is anticipated, however, as the lacrosse and football teams will not practice there, and the field is large enough for the George street Guild team and the Tennis Club.

Greeks Disappointed That Canadian Won

Great Excitement at Finish of Marathon Race, But When Maple Leaf Came in Sight Hush Fell on Crowd.

"It was a source of great disappointment to the Athletes from the United States that their entrants failed to carry off the highest honours in the Marathon run. The race fell to an American, however, for Sherring, from Hamilton, Canada, was the first to finish. The 33 athletes who started in the race, had been over-night at Marathon, where they slept. The start was at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. All along the road between Marathon and the Stadium there were masses of spectators who called encouragement to the Greek awho were in the race. More than 150,000 were along the roads, and in the Stadium were something less than 70,000 persons. The scene when the leader came over the brow of the hill that overlooks the Stadium was tremendous. The entire assemblage, keyed up to the appearance by the continuous roar of shouting from without that came stronger and stronger as the first two men toiled up the ascent on the other side, arose together and joined their applauses with that of those who had waited to give the warning note, then the cries stopped at once, and the Stadium was absolutely silent. A shuddering intake of the breath seemed to catch all the spectators, and there was a sort of hum of disappointment that swept across the crowd. Across the bespattered running shirt of the first man who

FIRST BASEBALL GAMES ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The first baseball game of the season will be played on Saturday afternoon, when Martin Conors' Big Leaguers will line up against the Strathconas. It will be a good chance for the fans to see the team's work out, and no doubt there will be a big crowd to see the game. The Strathconas have trimmed Charlotte street this season, and will put up a good argument against the Midland League pennant hunters.

Peterborough's new catcher is expected to arrive in the city to-night or to-morrow, and will be seen in action on Saturday afternoon. Several new men will be tried out on Saturday, including Carter, formerly of Boston, who is said to be able to cover any of the bags in good shape.

C. L. A. Groups Were Revised

Shamrocks Drawn With Port Hope, Havelock and Campbellford.

At a meeting of the C. L. A. committee, the groups were revised. The groups for the district are now as follows:—

Intermediate.

No. 12.—Ontarios of Port Hope; Shamrocks, of Peterborough; Havelock, Campbellford. Convenor, W. J. Donovan, Peterborough; meet at Peterborough.

Junior.

No. 12.—Shamrocks of Oshawa; Bowmanville, Port Hope, Peterborough, Millbrook. Convenor, E. M. Best, Peterborough; meet at Peterborough.

BASEBALL

The George Street Guild will practise to-morrow evening at Nicholls Oval. A full attendance of players is requested.

• • • • •

The Charlotte Street team has been trying to arrange a game with some outside team on May 24th So far their efforts have not been successful.

• • • • •

Now that the Midland League is under way it behooves the local bunch to get busy immediately and start practising. The first game is on May 16th so the Pirates have a little less than two weeks to get in shape.

• • • • •

The Trent Valley League promises to be a success this year. The Magnates in Campbellford, Havelock, Norwood and other league towns are reaching out after players. Several local ball-tossers have received tempting offers to throw in their lot with the Valley teams and it is more than likely that some of these will be accepted.

• • • • •

The close season for fans is nearly at an end and soon the voice of the rooster will be heard throughout the Midland district.

• • • • •

Bill Cinnamon, the silver-tongued backstop of the Lindsay ball team has not yet reachd the Osler limit. He will be found in the game again this year much to the delight of the small boy to whom Bill has been a mixture of a minstrel show and circus parade.

Henry Surphlis the big pitcher who was on the firing line last year for Park Hope has returned to the Lake Town. He will be a tower of strength to the Ontarios.

• • • • •

At the present time of writing, nothing has been learned of Lindsay's line-up, but it is presumed that McGill, Workman, Cinnamon, Menzies and some of the other gay young things will break into the game this year.

LAWN BOWLING

The meeting of the Bowling Club, which was to have been held last night to elect the skips for the season was postponed to a future date.

BASEBALL KILLS FIVE IN WEEK

Detroit, May 1.—Five people have died as the result of baseball in the past week. Close to an average of one a day.

This is not a plea for the abolition of baseball; it is not even intended as a criticism of the great American game. It is merely a defence of football.

The figures, if a casualty list were kept in baseball as it is in football, would prove to the unbiased mind that the gridiron game is no more at fault than baseball when it comes to harming those who participate in it.

It is not the games but those who play them that are to blame. If pingpong were as popular as football or baseball no doubt many people would find themselves dead or injured as a result of it.

Figures so far this spring show that baseball has been responsible for as many injuries almost as the gridiron game. Yet the man who suggested abolishing baseball would be chucked into an iron cage to await the asylum ambulance.

BISON FURNACE

With a Bison Hot Water Furnace in the basement, there is little need for brush or scraper.

No place in it for soot or dirt to lodge, and its flues are practically self-cleaning.

In most furnaces the water jackets are constantly covered with soot and ashes, requiring constant cleaning to enable the fire to heat the water—a dirty job.

The Bison has more good heating points than all other heaters combined.

Our Boys' Clothing

Our Boys' Clothing Department is the birthplace of many new and beautiful styles.

Boys' Norfolk Suits, in Single and Double-Breasted, are very popular for this Spring and Summer.

RUSSIAN BLOUSE SUITS

Are still quite the rage, and, perhaps, there is scarcely a mother who would not dress her boy in a Russian Blouse Suit until he was grown up, if she had her way about it. We have them in beautiful patterns and styles, and the prices are real moderate, too

WE SELL THE BEST OR NONE

This is our policy in every department, and it is by keeping none but the choicest goods, that we have built up such a splendid CLOTHING AND FURNISHING BUSINESS.

Our Boys' Suits are made from strong—yet attractive fabrics—well-sewed, with all points where strain comes made doubly strong.

Auditors' Report Was Approved By Committee

It Was Considered at the Meeting of the Finance Committee Last Night—Request for Rebates on Peddlers' Licenses Was Not Granted—Accounts for the Month Passed.

The auditors' report, which was presented to the Council at its last meeting, and referred to the Finance Committee, was considered last night. There were some items in the report over which the Council had no control, the Trust Commission being responsible for them. The report was accepted, and the committee passed an order for the salaries of the auditors, Messrs. T. Q. Quartermaine and G. K. Martin.

A resolution was passed appointing Ald. Elliott and the city clerk a deputation to go to Ottawa in respect to the telephone legislation.

Two pedlars who asked for rebates on their licenses at the meeting of the Finance Committee last night, did not have their requests granted. The position the members of the committee took was that by reducing these licenses, or by giving a rebate, they would be establishing a precedent which they might regret later, and the pedlars will have to pay the usual fees for the right to peddle their wares on the city streets.

The accounts presented during April were considered by the committee and passed.

FARMERS PRACTICALLY FINISHED SEEDING

Mr. Jas. Darling, of Smith, was in the city to-day, and reported that this spring was one of the best, taken altogether, for the farmers getting in their crops, that he had ever seen. The weather had been cool for men and horses, and rain had not interfered with seeding operations. He would be practically through seeding to-morrow, and the other farmers on high land were in about the same position. He saw no reason why this year's crops should not be as good as any in recent years, probably better.

FORMER LOCAL PRINTER A NEW YORK OPTICIAN

Last summer, readers of this paper will remember, Mr. George A. Perry, a former Peterborough boy, and a printer, was home from New York, for a visit, after a number of years absence. At that time Mr. Perry had charge of a department in the news room of the New York World, one of the greatest newspapers in America, and was here visiting his mother, brothers and sisters.

It appears that Mr. Perry has branched out into a new line now. He is an optician. A business booklet, recently issued by him expresses his position. He says:—

"I have been a member of the Typographical Union for twenty-five years, and am well known as a printer all over the country. A few years ago I took up the study of the human eye as a pastime, and under the instruction of some of the best eye specialists have become so proficient as to gain the confidence of prominent doctors in Brooklyn, who are sending me patients suffering from eye troubles. I practice regularly in a dispensary connected with a large hospital in Brooklyn, and have the distinction of being the only optician (non-medical) associated with doctors in a regular medical institution. Many members of No. 6 who know me have already consulted me or sent members of their families, and I desire to become known and recognized by all the membership as "Big 6's Optician."

Mr. Perry is also a golfer, and is Secretary-Treasurer of the Brooklyn Golf Club. He is a brother of Mr. J. G. Perry, of the Examiner composing room.

NEW CLUB ROOMS FOR PETERBOROUGH "ELKS"

Last night representatives of the Albany Club and the new Elks Club met, and arranged the transfer of the property of the former to the latter organization. It is understood that the majority of the members of the Albany Club are joining the Elks, under whose auspices the new club will be run. This should result in establishing a strong and popular social club in Peterborough.

WATER AND SEWER CONNECTION FOR BOSWELL AND PEARL AVE.

On Tuesday night at the Board of Works meeting, a communication was read from Roger & Bennett, relative to the placing of sewer connections on Boswell and Pearl Avenues before the grading on these streets was done. The following is the letter received by the Board:—

Dear Sir,—Before you grade Boswell and Pearl Avenues we would like very much if the sewer connections to each lot could all be made to the street line and included in the assessment. So far as the lots on these streets still owned by Mrs. Burnham and Mrs. Boswell are concerned you have our authority so to do, and if any further assistance can be given we will be happy to do what we can.

In this connection would it not be well for the Board of Works to request the Water Commissioners to put their connections to the street line to each lot so that when the streets are once graded and finished there will be no repairs necessary from time to time. Every lot on both of these streets will require water connection, and it is a question of but a short time when every lot will represent a water consumer.

(Signed) ROGER & BENNETT.

In connection with the above letter a resolution was moved by Ald. McIntyre and Tovey, that a by-law be prepared providing for making sewer connections with each lot on these streets, and also that the committee ask the Water Commissioners to make water connections with the same lots.

THE DOCTORS' BILLS REFERRED TO SOLICITOR

At the meeting of the Finance Committee last night the accounts presented by two local physicians for $15 each, the sums claimed by them for examination of the body and evidence at the inquest of the child found at Auburn last fall, were considered. It appears that the doctors performing this service for the county have received the $15, but it is claimed that the sum allowed by the Government is $10, and this, the City Council deems, is enough. At any rate, at the meeting of the committee last night, the aldermen didn't see why they should pay the 15 "bucks," if the law says 10 is enough, and the accounts were referred to the solicitor to get his legal opinion before they decide to pay the doctors' bills for the services rendered.

CITY'S REPRESENTATIVES IN THE CAPITAL TO-DAY

A deputation representing the City Council of Peterborough, went to Ottawa last night, and to-day appears before the Railway Committee of the House of Commons, when the question of the rights of telephone companies in respect to the streets of municipalities will be under consideration.

The deputation from this city is composed of Ald. Elliott and the city clerk.

This deputation went in response to the invitation from Mayor Coatsworth, Toronto.

The question as to the rights which telephone and telegraph companies have on the cities' streets is one which has caused much anxiety, particularly in Toronto, and is somewhat of a debated point. The effort of the meeting with the Railway Company and the representatives of the municipalities will be to solve the matter.

SAW A MOOSE FROM THE TRAIN

Passengers Near Norton Village, New Brunswick, Witnessed Rather Novel Sight.

Passengers on one of the New Brunswick Railway and Coal Company's trains between Chipman and its connection with the Intercolonial Railway at Norton, saw from the car windows an interesting sight a few days ago when the train was nearing Norton.

The brakeman noticed a splendid bull moose and a cow moose standing in the middle of a clearing not more than a stone's throw away, gazing at the train, and apparently not in the least disturbed. He drew the attention of a well-known commercial traveller to the sight, and the latter's exclamation of complete astonishment attracted all the other passengers, who crowded the doors and windows to observe the animals. The Monarch of the Canadian woods, and his gentle lady, watched the train out of sight, and were not at all embarrassed by the sensation they created. Even the shrill tooting of the locomotive whistle failed to scare them. Probably they were aware it was the close season.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

A very successful recital of instrumental and vocal music by the pupils of Mr. Alfred Davies and Miss Helen Davies took place last evening at the studios, 106 McDonel street. The recital was supplementary to that which was so well received in the Y.M.C.A. on the 28th of March and although nearly all the pupils who performed last night did so for the first time before an audience, they acquitted themselves admirably.

THREE JOCKEYS' PRINCELY SALARIES

Three little lads, none over 18 years of age, will earn from $20,000 to $35,000 each during the coming season on the eastern race tracks, which opened at Bennings. These boys, with trust official incomes, are Jockeys Herman Radtke, Lee Lewell and David Nicol. They range in weight from 95 to 105 pounds.

Radtke probably is the greatest of the three. He was so successful this winter that "Bub" May, trainer for Paul Rainey, the young millionaire owner of the Tippan farm stable offered $27,000 for the lad's release.

Beet Growers To Be Settled With

The Omemee Patrons Rejoiced Over the Fact.

Special to The Examiner

Omemee, May 1.—A large crowd from here attended the Peterborough Markets on Saturday.

Mr. Douglass Teeney, of Toronto Bank, Peterborough, son of Rev. Mr. Teeney, pastor of the Anglican church here, spent Sunday under the parental roof.

The Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, of Peterborough, gave his celebrated lecture here last Friday night under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild, before an appreciative audience. Votes of thanks were tendered to the speaker.

Mr. Potter, land and sea missionary, will occupy the pulpits at Lakewale, Mount Pleasant and Omemee, in the interests of these missions. The speaker has always been well received here and has made good impressions on the spiritual life.

There is great rejoicing amongst the patrons of the Sugar Beet growers, that they are to be settled with.

The Bank Of Montreal In Fenelon Falls Had Very Narrow Escape

A Disastrous Fire in That Village This Morning Which Threatened to Destroy the Bank—Three Blacksmith Shops Burned—A Narrow Escape for the Whole Village—Only New Hose Saved It.

Fenelon Falls, May 4.—The new Bank of Montreal, of which Mr. R. M. Hamilton, late of Peterborough, is manager, had a very narrow escape from total destruction by fire early this morning, when another disastrous conflagration swept the village.

Shortly after three o'clock fire was discovered in the paint shop in connection with Ed. Chambers' blacksmith and carriage works, and in a few minutes the whole structure, which was of wooden construction was a mass of flames. They quickly spread to the buildings on either side, two more blacksmith's shops, owned by Chas Kelly and Mr. Knox, which were both totally destroyed.

At one time the destruction of the whole village was threatened. The Twomey House, is only a short distance from the burning buildings and a shed within twenty feet of the hotel caught fire, but fortunately it was extinguished.

The new Bank of Montreal was also in imminent danger. It is quite close to the hotel, and it was feared that it too, would fall a prey to the devouring flames.

Preparations were made to move out, and at a moment's notice, had the flames came nearer, the whole equipment would have been bundled out into the street.

Since the last fire, the council purchased a quantity of new hose, and it is believed that this fact alone saved the whole village from destruction.

The loss is estimated at $35.00, and this will be partly covered by insurance.

Great Britain Sends Ultimatum To Sultan

Notifys Turkey That Troops Must be Withdrawn From Egyptian Territory—French and Russian Ambassadors are Supporting Britain in Her Demands.

Special to The Examiner.

London, May 4.—A news agency report says Great Britain yesterday sent a note to Turkey in regard to the evacuation of Tabah and other disputed territory which is virtually an ultimatum. The note demands, as England's last word, the withdrawal of Turkish troops from Egyptian territory. The French and Russian ambassadors are supporting Great Britain in the stand she has taken.

Summer Time Table Goes In Effect Sunday

C. P. R. Changes Time Slightly of Two Trains—Midnight and Early Morning Express Leave Three Minutes Later—The Proposed Extra Local Will Not go on This Summer—Changes on Lindsay Branch.

On Sunday, May 6th, the C. P. R. will inaugurate its summer time table. So far as Peterborough is concerned, there will be few changes. The midnight train going east, now due at 12.25, will, after Sunday, leave three minutes later, at 12.28; and the early morning express, now due at 5.15, will not leave until three minutes later, 5.18.

It was hoped that with the inauguration of the summer time table, the proposed new local train, and the fast through train would be put on, but it appears that this will not be done.

Mr. Foster had arranged a time table which provided for a train to leave Toronto about eight o'clock, and reach here shortly after ten o'clock, and return in the afternoon.

But when the matter was submitted to the head office at Montreal the plans had to be abandoned, the Montreal office deciding that the demands of the western traffic would have to be met first, and many additions to the equipment were required on the western division.

A slight change is made on the time of the Lindsay branch. After Sunday No 67 will leave Burketon Junction at 10.55 a.m., and arrive at Bobcaygeon at 12.25 p.m.

No. 69 will leave Burketon Junction at 6.50 p.m., and arrive at Bobcaygeon at 8 p.m.

No. 66 will leave Bobcaygeon at 7.40 a.m., and arrive at Burketon at 8.50 a.m. No. 68 will leave Bobcaygeon at 4.30 p.m., and arrive at Burketon at 6 p.m.

Will Advertise For Tenders For House of Refuge

Plans Were Approved of by the Building Committee.

A lengthy session of the House of Refuge Committee, of the County Council, was held yesterday in the County Treasurer's office, to look after the plans and specifications, and to complete arrangements for advertising for tenders.

Those present at the meeting were Councillors Garbutt, chairman; Andrews, Webster, Shaw, Manager County Solicitor E. A. Peck, Co... Engineer Belcher and the treas...

The plans and specifications submitted by the architect were carefully and minutely considered approved of, and the committee decided to advertise for tenders the new House of Refuge.

May 18th will be the last for receiving tenders, and the committee will meet again the following day for the purpose of issuing debentures, providing for the erection of the new building.

The work will commence soon after that date and will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible, to have the building completed by the month of November.

ABOUT THE EXAMINER

To-morrow The Examiner will again issue at 1 o'clock the usual Saturday paper. To-morrow's paper, however, will be a little better than the ordinary. In fact, the management has an opinion that it will be about the best regular Saturday paper that has been published in the city to date.

In addition to all the news of the day up to the hour of going to press, both local and foreign, there will be some special features which The Examiner feels the readers will appreciate.

A special illustrated children's page will be one of the new features. This page will be sure to interest and please the little ones.

An illustrated article, specially prepared, on the Dickson Company and its operations during the last 60 years, with some new information, never before published, will also be given.

The Examiner's London letter written by Brian Bellasis, a former Peterborough man, are creating considerable interest, and are becoming a popular feature. Another will appear to-morrow.

A forecast of the summer resort and tourist season will also be of interest to many readers. This will also be illustrated.

Altogether, it is believed that to-morrow's paper will be a good one. For, in addition to the special articles referred to above, there will be a number of others.

It will be off the press shortly after 1 o'clock, and newsboys will start right out with the edition.

A PALTRY RING CAUSES TROUBLE IN HAVELOCK

Magistrate Edmison was in Havelock yesterday settling a dispute over a ring. It may not have been as valuable as the one Portia presented to her lover, Bassania, but there was just as much, if not more, trouble connected with its disposal.

The plaintiff, W. H. Robertson, accused William Parcels, a nephew of his wife, who had been working for him, with having stolen it from a box in which plaintiff had kept his cuff links and other articles. It was alleged to have been worth $4.50, and was missed after Parcels had stopped working for plaintiff on July 5th, last year.

Mr. Robertson's son swore that he had seen Parcels taking it but it was not until January 1st, that it was discovered on Mrs. Parcels' finger.

The evidence given by the prosecution witnesses was to the effect that the young Parcels had given the ring to his brother, who gave it to a young Tweed lady visiting there at the time, and that she had presented it to Mrs. Parcels.

A half dozen witnesses for the defence swore that the ring was the property of Mrs. Parcels, but the chief evidence was heard from the Tweed lady. She swore positively that she had purchased the pair of jewelry from a Jewish pedlar for $1.25 and had given it to Mrs. Parcels.

The ring produced in court had five stones with two missing. The Magistrate declined to find the boy guilty on the evidence taken and ordered that the disputed jewelry be handed over to Constable Williams to dispose of.

R. F. McWilliams conducted the case for the plaintiff, while Geo. Sherry looked after the interests of the accused.

Stratford Has Sensation Now; A Secret Grave

People of That City are Agitated Over New Grave in Cemetery.

Stratford, Ont., May 3rd. — The village of Avonbank, six miles from St. Mary's, has been thrown into great excitement over the finding of a new made grave in the Presbyterian cemetery there, for which there is no record.

The find was made in this way. Yesterday a resident of the town applied to the caretaker of the cemetery for a burial plot. Upon examination of the plot desided on the startling discovery was made that a freshly made grave of adult size, apparently not more than two months old, was already there. Reference to the cemetery chart showed that the plot had never been used and the caretaker, who has entire charge of the cemetery states that he was entirely unaware of the presence of the unknown grave.

To add to the mystery of the find the grave is situated in an obscure position to surrounding graves, and so takes in part of the gravel walk. This, together with the grave being of so shallow a depth, points to the interment having been made clandestinely and at night. The result of the investigation is being awaited with keen interest.

HAVELOCK LAWYER GOING TO COBALT

Mr. C. A. Ghent, the well known Havelock barrister, left on Monday for Cobalt. He will join Mr. H. Walker, recently of Norwood, in Toronto, and proceed to the rich mining country, where, it is whispered around town, he will invest in the mining stock of that Eldorado.—Havelock Standard.

TIMOTHY HUGGINS was not precisely a brilliant scholar, and as the old-fashioned methods of correction seemed to set like water on a duck's back, it was decided to supplement the usual by sending a report of his misdoings home to his parents.

"Well, Huggins," was the master's next morning query, "did you give your father my report?"

"Yes, sir," was the sullen answer.

"And what did he say?"

"He said 'ed like to wring your blessed neck for you," was the reply.

No more reports regarding infraction of discipline have been sent to that parent.

Catches Mice With Her Tail.

Kansas City Times.

"DID YOU KNOW that if you cut a cat's tail off she can't catch mice any more?" asked a young woman of another.

"I don't see why," replied the other; "and, further, I can't imagine what occasion you have had for cutting off cats' tails to see."

"I haven't cut off any cats' tails but an accident deprived our cat of its caudal appendage. The feline became as helpless as a ship without a rudder. When it tried to spring upon an object it would alight far to one side. The look of pained surprise on the cat's features was pathetic. After a while it learned to jump straight again, but it was a long and painful experience for the poor cat. The balance of power and the power of balance seem to lie in the tail of the cat."

SEWER CONNECTIONS.

The fact that the pavement on Yonge street, Toronto, has 1,142 holes in it from Bloor to King streets may seem to be none of our business, but it has a bearing on the request of Messrs. Roger and Bannett in respect to Pearl and Boswell avenues. This request is to have sewer and waterworks connections put in while sewers and mains are being laid down. There are much force and wisdom in this request in relation to future conditions of streets. True, it may appear to cost more, but the extra cost will be fully met by the avoidance of not only future cost, but by avoidance of future ripping up of streets.

It has been the unfortunate history of our streets, that the fact of a street being built up—graded, metalled and put in first-class shape—has been the signal to have it, almost at once, ripped up to put in water, sewer or other connections. The consequence is ruinous. The carelessness with which such work is done, especially if by contract, leaves the street full of mounds and littered with stones, etc., to the discomfort of the public, for whose use hundreds of dollars had been spent to provide a good street. Ripping up a street occasionally cannot always be avoided; services go wrong and have to be repaired. But the great bulk of the expensive destruction of our streets can be avoided by putting in sewer and water services at the time the sewer or mains are laid. This may, as remarked, be more costly in the beginning, but it is cheaper in the end, on the same principle that it is easier to wire a house for electricity or pipe it for gas or hot water heating during its construction. This is a matter well worth serious consideration.

This suggests a word or two in reference to the treatment our streets receive in connection with sewer construction, something, it is to be hoped, will not be repeated. It has been a practice to postpone making contracts for sewers till so late in the season that the streets on which they are laid are practically impassable for the winter months, and for a month or two in the spring. The frost comes, and contractors cannot properly fill their trenches. The contractors may have to level and put these streets into shape, but meantime the public are put to an inconvenience and vexation that might have been avoided. However, there seems to be an early beginning of sewer construction this year, which it is hoped will avoid having our streets left in the villainous condition in which some of them are found at the present time. It might also be remarked that the contractors, after they consider they are done with a street, follow the example too often set by our corporation workmen of leaving the streets littered with stones, which are a special nuisance to drivers of vehicles, especially those having pneumatic tires. The streets, as a rule, should be kept free of these rolling stones, which, without much trouble, could be raked into heaps, removed, and made good use of in pavement construction. We spend about $15,000 a year on street work, and the ratepayers have a right to demand that streets should be made as comfortable and convenient as possible for public use.

THE GENERAL FATHER.

(May Canadian Magazine.)

Andrew Carnegie is working hard, Not content with having built up a steel industry which robbed the United States and Canada of millions of dollars by unjust profits, he continues his made career. He hands out charity to people who need no charity, and thus debauches them—he gives library buildings to towns and cities that do not need them, or that should provide them for themselves if they do need them. I am quite convinced that Carnegie libraries will not be the blessing that many people expect. The people do not require more reading; they require less. All reading and no thinking makes people empty-headed. It is thought which develops, and reading is only useful where it assists thinking.

His latest mad project is to reform the spelling of English words. Here again he is trying to interfere with natural development. Spelling reform will come in good time, and there is no necessity for rush. Some good will be accomplished no doubt, but the result of the hurry will be more or less temporary chaos.

It seems strange that if Mr. Carnegie is so anxious about the public welfare that he has not done something towards the economic betterment of the masses. Ten million people in Great Britain and ten million people in the United States are on the verge of starvation. Twenty millions of Anglo-Saxons paupers! And yet the number of millionaires increases daily.

It is strange how the great reformers shun economic reform. They seem to believe in slums, over-crowded tenements, homeless working people, poverty and general distress. The people ask for bread, and Andrew Carnegie offers them books and spelling reform. Nor is Mr. Carnegie the only great failure as a philanthropist.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hamilton now believes in the doctrine of compensation. It couldn't get much of Prince Arthur, but behold, a greater than a prince is here—Sherring.

The "Soo" guarantee, The Hamilton Times remarks, has been reduced to $1,000,000, half the loan being paid. The rest will be met in six months. The Ross "iniquity" has been such a grand thing for the "Soo" and the country that Whitney continues it.

The baby province, Alberta, seems determined to keep the lead in the race of progress. That province is beginning at the beginning, and is providing for Government ownership and control of long distance telephones, and municipal management of local lines. We can never have satisfactory conditions in eastern Canada unless long distance telephones are brought under government control, and all companies given using rights of them. Otherwise monopoly, which is recognized as undesirable, will be practically possible.

The wealthy people of England are preparing to make good use of their wealth in helping the poor to come to come to Canada. In this undertaking something more should be provided them—mere transportation. If the poor are assisted to come to Canada, they should have the additional means of establishing themselves, in a self-supporting condition on lands. We welcome immigrants, and while we are willing to give them farms — in old country eyes, estates — we do not want them to be so dependent as to need assistance for their support. Nobody is wanted who will not work, and barring illness, not be a burden.

Sudden Death On Dogs Without Tags

It is Necessary That They Should be Worn as Well as Bought.

All owners of dogs should take notice that the bylaw, not only provides for the buying of tags, but also that the canines should wear them. The bylaw says that all dogs found after May 1 without tags will be destroyed, and the police intend to rigidly enforce this law. The Chief of Police remarked this morning that he had counted 15 dogs without tags on his way to the office.

Zutoo

Regarding your Zutoo Tablets I beg to say: I have been a sufferer from headache since childhood and have used all, or nearly all, of the so-called "cures" on the market, till warned by my physician to discontinue their use on account of their bad effects on the heart. Some months since my attention was called to your Zutoo Tablets and I have been using them ever since with the most gratifying results. I find they cure a "sick" or "nervous" headache in a few minutes and leave no bad effect. My family use them whenever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from headache and they never fail to give quick relief. I find them a good remedy for "sour" stomach as well as headache. I always carry them in my grip on the road and would not be without them at any cost.

Prosperous Year For The Auxiliaries

Reports at Annual Meeting Held in Toronto Yesterday Were Encouraging—The Officers Tell of the Work Accomplished During the Year—New Officers Were Elected.

A large number of Peterborough ladies are in Toronto attending the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Diocese of Toronto. The Star reporting the first day's sessions says:—

At the session of the Woman's Auxiliary, held in the Guild Hall yesterday afternoon, about six hundred were present. After the reading of correspondence, the recording secretary reported 164 branches, as against 156 last year; of these 43 are girls' branches. The Diocesan Board have held nine meetings during the year. A meeting of the supporters of the Blackfoot Hospital had been held in February. Reports were given then by Canon Stocken and Dr. Rose, the medical missionary in charge. Good work is being done by the nurse, Miss Murray, and the assistant matron, Miss Durtnall. In this hospital 734 patients have been treated, 561 discharged as cured, and five have died. Also sick Indians have been visited in their camps.

At various times throughout the year addresses have been given by Mrs. Stocken of the Blackfoot Home, Miss Ewart of India, Miss Luma of British Columbia, Rev. Cyril Brown of Melanesia, Rev. Stephen Cartwright of Korea, Rev. J. Egerton Ryerson of Japan, and Miss Sohaji of the Parsee School, Poona, India.

That treasurer gave the receipts for the year as $15,961.75, of which the extra-cent-a-day fund had contributed $1,034.03 and the parochial missionary collection $4,706.93.

The corresponding secretary reported an increase of $32.15 in the sale of badges. Since the last meeting Miss Wade had gone to China, Miss Spencer to Japan, and Miss Archer has returned to her work among the girls in the sunrise kingdom. As Miss Edger was to be married in June to Mr. Streetmar, and Miss Cameron to Rev. Mr. Johnston of Spirit River, it would be necessary to fill their places.

Beyond the Rockies the mission boat of the Rev. J. Antler in Metlakatla, among the Chinese in British Columbia was useful beyond expectation. Work in Temiskaming, at the Blackfoot reserve, in Algoma, in the Yukon, was progressing.

The address of the president, Miss Tilly, ably reviewed the accomplishments of the year and pointed out the growing needs of the field and the many new openings.

Last evening the visiting delegates with their hostesses and also the officers and life members of the Anglican Women's Auxiliary were tendered a reception in the crypt of St. Alban's Cathedral by the St. Alban's branch.

Flowers and plants were used profusely in decoration, making a pretty background for the large assemblage. Bishop and Mrs. Sweatman welcomed the guests on their arrival, and Mrs. (Canon) MacNab gave the address of welcome, to which Mrs. Murphy of Allandale, responded.

Among the clergymen present were Bishop Stringer, Canon MacNab, Archdeacon Sweeny, Rev. A. J. Broughall, Rev. Mr. Farncomb, Rev. C. A. Seager.

The Secretary-Treasurer of the Babies' Branch reported 76 new little members on the roll, making a membership of 221. These little members are in all parts of our own country, in England, South Africa, India, and Japan. The total receipts for the year are $66.67, of this $5.30 has gone for expenses; $3.23 remains as blance in the bank; $49.56 will be forwarded to the Bird's Nest in China, of which sum $17.50 was donated.

The report of the Hospital Committee showed that out-of-town members of the W. A. who are now in Toronto hospitals for treatment, and had few or no friends in the city, had been visited. The receipts for this work had been $6.67, of which $4.20 had been expended for fruit and flowers. A report was also given of work among the Chinese. In some churches classes of 18 and 20 had been held, and in others of 10 to 12. The great need was of those willing to take up teaching among the Chinese. A Chinese missionary was being educated in England, supported by contributions from Toronto.

The officers for the year are:—
Hon. President—Mrs. Sweatman.
Hon. Vice-President—Mrs. Welch.
President—Mrs. Tilley.
1st Vice-President — Miss Cartwright.
2nd Vice-President — Mrs. Willoughby Cummings.
Corresponding Secretary — Miss E. Fannia Jones.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Ernest DuVernet.

COD LIVER OIL.

It almost makes you sick to think of it, but it isn't nearly as bad as it used to be. The improved method of refining it makes it much easier to take, and when made into Scott's Emulsion almost every one can take it. Most children like it and all children that are not robust are benefited by it. When the doctor says "Take cod liver oil," he generally means Scott's Emulsion; ask him if he doesn't. They know it is more easily digested and better than the plain oil.

The Bishop Will Not Resign Yet

Says He Had No Intention of Giving Up Office.

The Toronto News of yesterday said:

"I have not intention of resigning," said Bishop Sweatman to The News this morning. "All these reports are untrue."

"The fact of the matter is this," he continued. "I have been incapacitated from time to time during the last year from attending to my Episcopal duties. Several times I have had to ask another bishop to do my work, for there are certain duties which all the rural deans and archdeacons in the world could not perform for me.

"In view of this, I am thinking of applying to the synod, through the executive committee, for the appointment of a suffragan and coadjutor to perform my Episcopal duties which I am unable to attend to them. I have not yet done this, however."

"Arbor Day" Will Be Keene's Busy Day

The Village Improvement Society Will To-morrow Take Charge of Work of Beautifying the Streets of the Village—Annual Meeting of the Society Held This Week—Credit Balance on Hand—Cow By-law May be Amended.

Special to The Examiner.

Keene, May 3.—The annual meeting of the Keene Village Improvement Society was held in the town hall Tuesday evening, May 1.

The president, Mr. James McNeil, occupied the chair.

The secretary, Mr. Andrew Shearer, read the minutes of the last annual meeting, also of the special meeting of the Committee of Management.

Moved by Dr. Harrison, seconded by Mr. John Lang, that the minutes as read be adopted.—Carried.

The treasurer then read the financial statement, which, on motion of Dr. V. McWilliams, seconded by Dr. W. T. Harrison, was adopted.

Mr. John Lang moved, and Dr. W. T. Harrison seconded, the motion that the president, Mr. Jas. McNeil, and the secretary-treasurer, Mr. Andrew Shearer, be re-appointed.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. P. T. Pilkie, seconded by Mr. J. R. McIntyre, that the Management Committee be re-appointed, and that the names of Mr. John Lang be added.—Carried.

The Management Committee is now composed of the following gentlemen: William Campbell, Dr. W. T. Harrison, James Henderson, William Drummond, J. C. Read, John Lang, and the president and secretary-treasurer.

The following were appointed members of the Entertainment Committee: Dr. V. McWilliams, A. D. Anderson, R. J. McCraney, J. R. McIntyre, John Moore, James Bryce, William Campbell, W. G. Read, Jno. Macfarlane, and P. T. Pilkie, Dr. McWilliams to act as convenor.

On motion, Messrs. James Henderson and William Drummond were appointed to take charge of the work of cleaning up the streets on Arbor Day, Friday, May 4.

A discussion took place as to the advisability of petitioning the Council to amend the cow bylaw. The present bylaw forbids cows being allowed to run at large between December 1 and April 1, but is not enforced. Some of the members were in favour of a bylaw forbidding cattle on the streets at any season, while others proposed making the term from November 1 to May 15, and allowing them to run the streets during the summer months. Dr. McWilliams moved, seconded by Dr. Harrison, that Messrs. J. C. Read and William Drummond be appointed to circulate the petition.

The expenditure of moneys and the improvements to be carried out this year were left in the hands of the Committee of Management.

Following is a summary statement of moneys received during the past year:

Private donations, $84.
Excursions, balls, concerts, etc., $76.37.
Statute labour money, $110.25.
Township grant, $50.
Minor receipts, $1.45.
Total—$302.02.

Last year was begun with a deficit, and very little money was spent. The year closed with a balance on hand of $125.62.

Friday, May 4, Arbor Day, all residents are requested to turn out and help clean up the streets.

Warsaw Will Have Temperance House

A Charge Will be Made for Shed Room.

Special to The Examiner.

Warsaw, May 3.—Mr. Fred Morgan, proprietor of the Morgan House, has decided to remain here for some time. There will be few changes necessary to adopt the bylaw. Wines, soda-water and cigars will be for sale and a charge for shedroom of 10c. for one horse and 15c for one team will be made.

The Quarterly Board of the Methodist Church met at Bethel Church on Monday last. Mr. Isaac Garbutt, who has for many years been a member of the Board and who has now gone to Lakefield to reside, resigned his position. The absence of Mr. Garbutt from the Board will be keenly felt, as he was a prominent member.

Mr. Mattice reports a large increase in the attendance of the school since the Easter holidays.

The regular monthly meeting of Court Warsaw, C.O.F., was held on Tuesday evening.

Miss Bora Payne is visiting relatives in Lakefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Mattice were in the city on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. McDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Tighe, of Peterborough, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson on Sunday.

Dr. Gray, of Smith's Falls, is the guest of Dr. Douglas for a few days.

County Constable Wilson was in the city last week attending the assizes.

Mrs. John Doughty, of Peterborough, is the guest of Mrs. D. McIntosh.

SALVATION ARMY FOR MRS. DOWIE

Chicago, May 4.—Mrs. Jane Dowie, wife of "Elijah," has joined the Salvation Army. She has been assigned to work in Hawkinswood, a suburb of Chicago. Mrs. Dowie stated last night that she will not take up her duties until the fight over Zion City is finished.

"I was always an admirer of the Salvation Army methods of doing good," said the first apostle's wife. "And even if Dr. Dowie is successful in retaining control of Zion, I may enter the ranks under Gen. Booth."

Healthy Blood Best Germicide

YOU CAN PREVENT AS WELL AS CURE DISEASE BY KEEPING THE BLOOD PURE AND RICH WITH

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

"Healthy blood is the most powerful germicide extant," said Sir William Collins recently, in a lecture on "The Man vs. The Microbe."

This well-known authority proceeds to show how much more successfully disease can be combatted by keeping the blood pure and rich than by inoculating into the system one set of poisonous germs to fight the other germs of disease.

And this is what we have been claiming for Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and what we have been backing up by the testimony of worthy people in all parts of the country.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food prevents disease as well as cures it because it contains in condensed form the very ingredients which go to form new, rich blood and nerve force.

Especially at this time of year when the system has become run down and the blood weakened the majority of people find it necessary to use some treatment in order to enrich and purify the blood and increase the vigour of the body.

Neglect to assist Nature at this trying time means that you leave yourself liable to attack by all sorts of disease germs. It also means that, instead of accomplishing your work with pleasure and success and enjoying life, you drag yourself about, feel miserable, and by your irritability bring unhappiness to all associated with you.

Some of the most common indications of a run-down system are headaches, sleeplessness, indigestion and a general lack of energy and vitality.

No treatment we know of so thoroughly overcomes these symptoms as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and you can prove its remarkable blood-forming, tissue-building qualities by noting your increase in weight while using it.

If you would feel strong and well and avoid all the ills and weakness so common at this season, enrich your blood and revitalize your nerves by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Peterborough Applies For Brantford Firm

This City Wants to Secure the Works of the Brantford Screw Company—One of Twenty Towns and Cities That Want the Industry—No Decision Has Been Reached Yet.

A despatch from Brantford says: The officials of the Brantford Screw Company are having a busy time of it since the announcement was made that they were likely to move their factory from Brantford. Before the announcement was made, several places in Canada had been holding out inducements to get the company to move. Since then no fewer than 20 communications have been received from cities and town in Canada, among them one from Peterborough, all inviting the company to locate there.

Besides the reception of letters, the officials are being waited upon by deputations from various of the places interested. The first deputation was from Toronto on Tuesday. No definite answer was given them, despite the fact that they made a most tempting offer. Since then several other deputations have appeared on the scene, and it is said there are more to follow. Mr. Lloyd Harris was out of town yesterday and to-day presumably on business in connection with the matter. He is expected back to-night.

Great Inducements.

Some of the offers contain most tempting inducements. Some offer the best of sites, others cheap power. Low assessments are offered in some cases, and in fact everything that would be expected to look good to a manufacturing firm.

Recruiting For The New 24th Battery

Major Young Has Completed Organization—Strength Will be 101, Officers and Men—Guns and Equipment Will Arrive in Few Days.

The organization has just been completed of the 24th Field Battery, with headquarters at Peterborough. Colonel McNachton, of Cobourg, commanding officer of the tenth brigade, was in the city this week, the guest of Major (Dr.) Young, completing the work of organizing. The Tenth Brigade is composed of the 14th Field Battery of Cobourg, and the new Battery of Peterborough.

The 24th Field Battery will have a strength of one hundred and one, officers and men. The officers are as follows:

Major Young, Commanding Officer,
Captain, Hazen Ritchie,
Lieutenants, Gerald Hall and R. H Leary.

The guns and other equipment for the new corps will arrive here in a few days. It will be a four gun battery, the equipment including four cannon, four gun carriages and four ammunition wagons.

Recruiting will be commenced at once and will be in charge of Major Young. Those desirous of joining the new corps should make personal application to him.

The 24th battery will go into camp at Cobourg on June 18th, and will be under canvas until June 30th.

The new corps has a staff of able officers and no doubt has a bright future.

Must First Obtain The Municipality's Consent

Before Telegraph Lines Can be Strung on Poles Erected on the Streets—City's Representatives Attended Meeting of Railway Committee at Ottawa Yesterday —Telephone and Telegraph Legislation Considered.

Yesterday telephone matters of interest to this city, as well as to other municipalities were considered by the Railway Committee of the House of Commons at Ottawa. Ald. Elliott and City Clerk Armstrong were in the Capital to represent this city. A despatch from Ottawa says:—

Before the committee was called to order an agreement was arrived at between the G. T. Pacific Telegraph Company and the representatives of municipalities by which clauses were inserted in their bill protecting the rights of municipalities to control their streets. The clause agreed to was the same as that inserted in the Canada Telegraph and Telephone Companies bill in 1903 and the Northwest Telephone Company. Under the clause agreed to the company may not enter on the streets of a municipality for local business without first coming to an agreement with the municipality. They may, however, have one long-distance line of poles on an approved route through the municipality, subject to the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission.

Inopportune.

Mr. W. F. Maclean advocated a State-owned telegraph system in preference to giving railways a telegraph franchise. The C. P. R. owns a telegraph line across Canada, and it was now proposed to give the G. T. Pacific a franchise also. He asked for an announcement of the Government policy on the question and a proper supervision of the rates.

Mr. Emmerson regarded Mr. Maclean's awakening on the subject as inopportune. It was all very well to discuss theories, but the committee must be practical, and the railway required authority to operate a telegraph line in connection with their business. This was not the psychological moment for an academic discussion on the nationalization of the telegraph and telephone. He intimated his intention when the proper time arrived to move an amendment to bring the question of rates and tolls under the control of the Railway Commission.

THE STONY LAKE QUARRY INDUSTRY TO THE FRONT

Large quantities of quarry stone are being brought down from Stony Lake this week by the steamer Majectic, preparatory to shipment to Toronto.

Mr. James Brodie of Stanstead, Q., who has the contract of supplying the stone, is in the city to-day on his way to the quarry, which is situated on Domert's Island, near Bell's Creek. The stone is for the Barber Paving Company of Toronto.

At present a gang of men is engaged on the island cutting the quarry stone. This industry has proved a fairly good one in the past, but its future is still brighter, as many are now becoming interested in it on account of the increased transportation facilities for exportation. There is, too, an illimitable quantity in Stony Lake, which now is coming to the front as a profitable as well as a pleasure seeking resort.

Young's Point Lock Repaired

Foundation Awaits the New Swing Bridge.

The stone foundation for the new swing bridge over the canal at Young's Point has now been completed and is waiting the arrival of the new bridge, which will be placed above the gates. This has been done so that when the boats are in the lock the bridge may be closed for traffic.

The gates have also been repaired, and a cement wharf has been built along the canal for a considerable distance below the lock.

The work of building the bridge foundations and of repairing the gates was done by Contractor Lajoie.

CAPTURED THE FULL DRESS TRADE

A Boon to Men Away From Home Who Have to Fulfil Social Engagements.

In preparing for an evening function one needs either full dress of the popular Tuxedo, the latter for the less formal affairs. Nowadays one would just as soon think of having one's silk hat or opera hat made to order as to order a dress suit to measure, when silk-lined vicunas can be bought at the Semi-ready Wardrobe for $25.00. The merchant tailor charges $40.00, because he makes so few in a season, and his tailor cannot get the practice which makes him expert. Hundreds of these suits are made every season by the Semi-ready tailors.

PLEASING PROSPECTS FOR NEW CITIZEN

Asked as to how he found trade, Mr. Ed. Huff, the smart new tailor, and draper of Hunter street, was quite enthusiastic in stating that he was "more than satisfied." His order book lying open on the cutting board, bore ample proof to the large number of valued measures he had taped off in the short time since starting. An admiring patron was just a little bit "Huff-y" when he stated that Mr. Huff watches every stitch and button hole, and knows fit and style as a small boy knows the baseball score. 2d

City Teachers' Institute First Session This Morning

Two Instructive Papers Were Given by Rev. Father McColl and Rev. J. M. McCulloch—Attendance Was Large and Great Interest Was Displayed in the Subjects Under Discussion.

The City Teachers' Institute opened this morning at the Y.M.C.A.. The very large attendance of teachers at the opening session demonstrated fully the hearty enthusiasm with which the teachers of our city enter into every department of their work. The President, Mr. D. Walker, B.A., occupied the chair and in a short opening address set forth the object of the Association.

The first speaker was Rev. Father McColl, who gave a very instructive address on "The Influence of the Teacher." According to circumstances and way of living at present the teacher had a wonderful influence. The tendency of the present day was to throw the burden of responsibility upon the teacher. It was a mistake, as in this the parent should be primary.

Education was a deliberate attempt to improve the human race. Future people should be superior to the present. To bring this about depends upon the teacher. We should develop the physical, mental and moral for only by balanced training of these do we get a well-balanced man or woman.

Education is promoted by self-activity and should be the object, not learning. Learning is what we know of thoughts and feeling of others. Education is the power to think and solve difficulties through our own individual efforts.

To acquire knowledge pupils should be infused with high ideals, and should be stimulated to self-exertion. The teacher should create in them enthusiasm and the cultivation of will-power and should instil in them the essentiality of punctuality and perseverance.

The next speaker was J. Malcolm McCulloch, M.D., who gave an excellent paper on "The Teacher and Preventive Medicine." The doctor dealt with prevalent diseases of the present, to which pupils were exposed, their causes and preventive, means that could be employed to forestall their spread and allow the maximum of immunity from such disease to the pupils. He dealt at some length with ventilation, lighting, water supply and heating and also the advisability of a medical inspector for schools, quoting good results from those centre where such an officer was employed.

ARRANGING PROGRAMME FOR JACKSON'S PARK

Mr. J. H. Larmouth has gone to Chicago, where he will spend a few days among the parks, getting ideas for the programme of amusements which the Radial Railway Company will give at Jackson Park this summer. Mr. Larmouth is bound to keep the park popular, and will spare no effort to secure attractions which will please.

It is probable that while he is in Chicago the question of the proposed extension of the company's line to Lakefield and Stony Lake will be discussed with Mr. Stuart, and a decision reached.

A VISIT WHICH MAY PRODUCE GOOD RESULTS

This morning, Mayor Best and Aldermen Adams, Hicks Mason and McWilliams, the chairmen of the four committees, went to Toronto as the guests of the head of one of the large manufacturing concerns. Their visit, while of a semi-social nature, is one from which results of great benefit to the city are expected.

The Examiner is not at liberty, yet to publish the details, because their premature publication might affect the negotiations, but while the city's representatives are in Toronto enjoying the hospitality of the gentlemen referred to, they will also have an eye to business, too,

Sir Wilfrid Pays Tribute To Deceased

Premier Praises Generously Late Hon. Peter White, M.P.

OF SIR JOHN'S "OLD GUARD"

Railways Must Make Connections—Interswitching Privileges to Be General—Express Rates Control—Telegraph and Telephone Companies May Be Included—Emmerson's Amendments to the Railway Act.

Clifton Springs, N. Y., May 4.—Hon. Peter White, M. P., ex-Speaker of the House of Commons of Canada, died at a sanitarium here yesterday. His body will be taken to Pembroke, Ont., his former home.

Mr. White was 67 years old and had been stopping here for five weeks.

His Career.

Hon. Peter White was born in Pembroke, Aug. 20, 1838, the town founded by his father in 1828, when he came out from Scotland to enter the lumber trade. He was educated in the public schools and received his business education in Ottawa. He entered the lumber business in partnership with his brother, and with head offices in Pembroke began to take an active part in municipal affairs, occupying the position of reeve for some years. He actively supported the construction of the Kingston & Pembroke Railway. He was first elected M. P. for North Renfrew in 1874, was unseated on petition and defeated at a bye-election which followed. He, however, captured the seat in 1878. He was for years one of Sir John A. Macdonald's "old guard," but separated from the Conservatives on the Manitoba school question, being opposed to coercion, and at the elections of 1896 was defeated by Mackie, Liberal. He was again defeated in 1900, but in 1904 was successful, holding the seat until his death. He was Speaker of the House of Commons from 1891 to 1896. He was connected with several important industrial and financial undertakings. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and was married in 1877 to a Miss Thompson.

Mourned by Commons.

Ottawa, May 4.—At the opening of the House yesterday afternoon, Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced the death of Hon. Peter White (North Renfrew).

"A more respectable, able and honest member never sat in this House," said the Premier.

"The younger members of the House could hardly form a fair estimate of his ability. He had been returned to the present Parliament after some years of absence, but the hand of death was then already upon him.

"The older members of the House, of whom, unfortunately, I am one, will recall his sterling qualities as a colleague and as Speaker of the House. For ability, courtesy, firmness and impartiality, he had no superior."

Mr. R. L. Borden thanked the Prime Minister for his kind words of sympathy. The deceased had retired for a time from public life, at about the time Mr. Borden had entered it, in 1896. Mr. White sat in Parliament all through the long term of Conservative supremacy. He possessed high qualities of courage, kindness and dignity. His death was a distinct loss, not only to the Conservative party, but to Parliament and to the country.

Chamberlain is Confident.

London, May 4.—(C. A. P.)—A meeting of the Tariff Commission was held yesterday, Mr. Chamberlain presiding. He congratulated the commission on the work accomplished, and avowed that the general election did not turn on the preference, and expressed absolute confidence in the ultimate success of the movement. Resolutions were passed providing for the continuance of the work of the commission.

Must Obey Regulations.

London, May 4.—Great Britain's position regarding the fining of American fishing vessels by Newfoundland magistrates for violation of the colonial fishing regulations, is that American vessels must obey the regulations of the colony, which do not conflict with their rights under the Treaty of 1818.

Advance Price of Liquors.

Toronto, April 4.—An advance of about 10 per cent. all round in the selling price of liquor was decided at a two-hours' meeting of the liquor shop keepers of Toronto, held yesterday afternoon. The advance sale of prices is to go into effect on May 15.

CLIPPER'S CAPTAIN DROWNS

Deckhand Beattie, Who Managed to Reach Shore, Tells of Georgian Bay Tugboat Tragedy.

Owen Sound, May 4.—The tug Clipper of Midland, owned by the Spanish River Boom Co., sprang a leak and sank near the Bustard Islands on Monday, the captain, Peter. McIntosh of French River; the engineer, Ed. Fisher of Cutler, and the fireman, R. Johnson, whose home is unknown, were drowned. The deckhand, Beattie, succeeded in reaching shore.

The Clipper was en route to Spanish River, and on Monday morning sprang a leak. The water was pouring into the hold, and Capt. McIntosh decided to beach the tug. He steered for the Bustard Islands, off Bruce Peninsula, but ran foul of a hidden rock. A wild spring gale arose and threatened to shatter the small vessel as it lay impaled upon the rock.

Beattie, rendered desperate, tore a door from the small cabin and declared he would attempt to reach the shore. He endeavored to persuade his associates to do likewise, but they preferred to remain on the tug in the hope that a steamer or fishing boat would pass by in a short time. Beattie, after a long period of desperate struggling reached a small island, but not the main island, on which is located the Dominion Fish Co.'s fishing station.

For 15 hours he remained upon the islet, and this, together with some 17 hours spent on the tug, made a total of 32 hours' exposure. He was discovered by a fisherman. William Hasard, who conveyed him to the fishing station, where he is now recovering.

In the morning the hull of the tug still remained on the rock, but the cabin had been swept off, and there was no sign of the sailors.

RAILWAY AMENDMENTS.

Must Make Connection—General Interswitching Privileges—Express, Telephone and Telegraphs.

Ottawa, May 4.—The House yesterday made a number of amendments to Mr. Emmerson's bill to amend the railway act, the chief of which gives power to the Railway Commission to compel railways in cities, towns or villages to connect their lines for the purpose of transferring engines and cars from one railway to another. Even where two lines do not actually cross they may be compelled to make connection for the purpose of affording facilities to industries and shippers.

The bill now goes to a special committee, which will deal with the clauses bringing telephone tolls under the supervision and control of the Railway Commission, and Mr. Emmerson intimated that he would be willing for the committee to consider the question of including telegraph and express companies in the provisions of the bill.

Mr. Fisher's bill to amend the fruit marks act was passed.

Several other Government bills were advanced a stage, and in supply the estimates of the inland Revenue Department were voted.

Bad Attack of La Grippe.

"A year ago I had a bad attack of la grippe and all the doctor's prescriptions proved to be of no avail. I was told to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and found it a great blessing as it thoroughly cured me. I told my doctor that I intended to recommend it to all my friends." — Mrs. R. Hutton, 12 Claremont street, Toronto, Ont.

To Safeguard Peace.

Paris, May 4.—King Edward dined at the Place of the Elysee with President Fallieres. The President toasted the King, saying:

"Your Majesty's frequent visits are a precious pledge of the cordiality of the relations between France and England. Both are happy to sincerely act together for civilization and peace."

King Edward expressed the pleasures his visits to France had afforded him, adding: "I am sure the entente cordiale will do more than anything else to safeguard peace."

Dies On Railway Train.

Hamilton, April 4.—Yesterday W. J. Wright, brother of Ald. Wright, left with his wife for a trip to South Carolina for his health. His many friends in Hamilton were shocked to learn last night that he had died on the train near Wilkes-Barre, Pa. The deceased had travelled for the firm of E. T. Wright & Sons. The remains will be brought back to his home to-day for burial.

Cadets Mutiny.

Roswell, N. Y., May 4.—Nine cadets were expelled from the new Mexican Academy Tuesday as a result of a mutiny in which 40 cadets were involved and in which violence against the faculty was threatened for a time.

Scranton, Pa., May 4.—Yesterday's sessions of the Miners' Tri-District Convention were unprofitable, except in so far as they revealed that the sentiment of practically all of the 600 delegates in attendance is for a strike. Last night it was believed that nothing short of a miracle can prevent a strike from being declared either to-day or Saturday.

Unknown Man Killed.

Stratford, May 4.—While walking on the railway tracks near Mitchell Station, an unknown man was struck by a train and received such injuries as to cause his death in Stratford hospital. He was about 65 years of age, wore a black suit, and did not appear to be a tramp.

Final Stage Is Reached In The Legislature

University Bill Reported In Committee of the Whole.

GOES INTO FORCE JUNE 15

Principle of Independence of Governors Adhered to—Some Minor Changes Made, and Several Clauses Added, —Several Influential Friends of the University, Not Members of House, Watched Its Passage.

Toronto, May 4.—Premier Whitney expressed his gratification that the Government and the Opposition were all together with respect to the university bill yesterday afternoon in the Legislature, when it was reported after almost the whole session had been spent in putting the bill through the committee stage.

The Opposition doubted the wisdom of making the Board of Governors so independent as the act provides, but Premier Whitney asserted that independence of the Government was a principle of the whole scheme. The right of dismissal was retained as control.

The clause fixing the number of board of governors at fifteen was passed, but Mr. Whitney said the Government would likely increase the number.

Some Minor Changes.

An amendment was announced, whereby the dean of the faculty of arts alone shall not be chairman of the council of his faculty.

Another amendment provided that should the office of president become vacant, the dean of the faculty of arts should act for him until an appointment was made.

In striking out the section setting apart Crown lands as an endowment for the university and University College, the Premier said that there would be nothing to prevent a grant being made in future.

A Few Added Clauses.

Several clauses were added to the bill. One provided that any college, such as St. Michael's, having a complete arts faculty should have the same rights as Trinity, and like colleges. Another clause empowered the closing of Devonshire place, so as to provide a 100 foot roadway and site for Trinity should, in future, that college desire to come within the university group. Another clause gave to Victoria College two Bank of Toronto shares for a Greek testament prize, given by mistake to Toronto University.

The bill will come into force on June 15.

Sir William Meredith, Principal Hutton, Dr. McCallum, Dr. Primrose and other friends of the university occupied seats on the floor of the House.

Routine Work.

Mr. Bradburn's bill, respecting the City of Peterboro, and Mr. Fraser's bill to provide for the plugging of abandoned natural gas wells, were given their third reading. Several bills were taken up in committee, and two Government measures were read a second time. These were to prevent fraud in the manufacture of cheese and butter, and to confirm an agreement with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, by which the company releases 525,000 acres of land given by the late Government.

Mr. MacKay's bill to amend the act respecting actions of libel and slander passed through committee without amendment.

Thanks of Congress.

Washington, May 4.—A special message was sent to congress yesterday by President Roosevelt, in which he explained the attitude of the Government regarding the offer of contributions to the San Francisco fire and earthquake sufferers from foreign countries, and recommended that the thanks of the supreme Legislature power of the nation be tendered them for their sympathy and friendship.

Almost Electrocuted.

Neustadt, May 4.—While engaged in building in the cellar of Rahn Bros.' store, Peter Harburn came in contact with an electric light wire and narrowly escaped being electrocuted. A severe electric storm yesterday afternoon caused considerable damage to electric light wires and set fire to George Binkle's residence.

A STRONG HEART AND STEADY NERVES
Very important it is to this age of competition to have a clear cool head, a strong heart and steady nerves.
Too much rush and hustle, work and worry, fall to the lot of the average business man—his heart and nerve system will not stand it—he gives them too much work to do.
Women also are doing the same thing attending to their household duties and looking after their social obligations. The constant strain under which they have to continue day in and day out, the irregularities of habits and loss of rest will soon shatter the strongest system. Before long you become nervous, starting at the least sudden sound, the heart flutters and palpitates, specks float before the eyes, the pulse becomes weak and irregular, you have faint and dizzy spells, lack of self-confidence, rush of blood to the head, irritability of temper, shortness of breath, starting in sleep, sensation of pins and needles, sleeplessness, restlessness and finally physical breakdown or nervous prostration.
MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS
are the remedy you require to restore your strength and health. Their extraordinary curative power manifests itself immediately they are taken. Through the medium of the nervous system they impart a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ and tissue of the body. Many have been cured, among them being Mr. Ray V. Cousins, Wellington, P.E.I., Mrs. E. Kilmer, Mamberamo, Ont., Mrs. C. McDonald, Portage la Prairie, Man., Mr. Walter Cleveland, Bayswater, N.S., Mrs. Owen Martin, Alma, N.B. and thousands of others.
The price of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is 50 cts. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25. Can be procured at all drug and general stores, or will be sent on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Hard to believe that even Celluloid Starch, used right, can take so much of the hard work out of ironing day. But it does, ... simply because it's a quick starch, ... which means a starch that starches stiff and flexible, and yet needs less iron rubbing to bring up the finish.
Poor starches cost as much in the first place as Celluloid Starch. And they cost so much more in the last place! Still, you never find out the difference till you test Celluloid Starch by the longer life it lends your starched things. All comes of the way the starch is made . . . . most starch needs hard ironing to get any finish. 401
No way for you to know that's so until you try Celluloid Starch. Just one test will show you the right starch that won't destroy clothes and that will save work and worry. Demand it from your dealer . . . . try it . . . . use it right. If honestly does all we say it does . . . . it needs no cooking . . . . it never will stick. Test it and know.

COBOURG AND PORT HOPE ARE HURLING BOUQUETS

Port Hope and Cobourg are still saying nasty things about each other. The Port Hope Guide of Wednesday says:

And just while we are speaking of Cobourg, we might remind the teams that the treasurer of the league is a Cobourg man. It might be as well to transfer that office elsewhere, as well as last year's surplus. — Port Hope Guide. So far as we can learn the money is safer with the present custodian, than if handed over to the secretary. The money paid by Cobourg, Oshawa, Bowmanville and Port Hope (!) last year has all "melted," but the Peterborough fee is safe, and will remain with the treasurer until such time as it becomes necessary to pay it out. — Cobourg Post.

So the treasurer thinks that the money is safer in Cobourg than in Port Hope, and makes the hint that the admission fees held by the secretary had all melted, while Peterborough's fee, which he holds, is safe. Probably it is, but it was very unbecoming that the treasurer did not present a report at the annual meeting, nor did he ever let us see the colour of his money. However, the league is of the opinion that the money would be just as well if left in Port Hope, and at yesterday's meeting the following resolution, moved by Mr. Galbraith, of Oshawa, and seconded by Mr. Connors, of Peterborough, was carried:

"That in consideration of the withdrawal of the Cobourg Baseball Club from the Midland League, Mr. Wm. Simpson, Lindsay, be appointed second vice-president in place of Mr. Thomas Mulhall, Cobourg, and that Mr. S. Lockington be appointed treasurer in place of Mr. H. McGuire, Cobourg, and that all funds of the Midland League, at present held by Mr. McGuire, be forwarded to the newly elected treasurer at once." Now, "Mac," do you feel that it is time to cough?

There was a fairly large attendance, and the sport was of the best, keen contests being witnessed in nearly all the classes.

PIRATES WILL PLAY BALL TO-MORROW AFTERNOON

The first ball game of the season will be played to-morrow afternoon when the Midland Leaguers will stack up against the George Street Guild team at Riverside Park.

It will be a rattling exhibition of ball and a big crowd should be out to encourage the boys and give them a start. They are under heavy expenses in beginning the season as uniforms will have to be bought as well as other supplies. On this account the opening game should be well patronized.

BASEBALL

The George Street Guild team will practise to-night at Nicholls Oval. All players are asked to be on hand early.

• • • • •

The game between the Midland League and George Street Guild to-morrow, should be an interesting curtain-raiser. There will be a big bunch of fans out if the weather man is kind.

• • • • •

Rattan is expected to come down from Toronto to-night and will do the backstopping. Quinlan and J. Pilling of the Night Owls will be on the firing line. Carter an ex-Boston man will be in the game. The line-up will be Rattray, Quinlan, Pilling, Carter, Graham, Whitcroft, Shea, Connors and Sheridan.

The Guild team will likely have Dan McCorry in the box and will have a strong line-up.

Turn out to-morrow and give the team a start.

• • • • •

It's up to Bowmanville and Cobourg to get together and organize a Knocker League with "When the Hammers go rap, rap, rap," as their battle song.

• • • • •

By the way, what do the fans think of the idea of forming a rooters' club. The principle function is to supply noise at games. A ball game without rooters is worse than a man with a thirst in a prohibition town.

• • • • •

A Marconigram from Lindsay conveys the cheerful intelligence that Bill Cinnamon is in active training, including half-mile sprints on Kent street, Herb. Workman and his crab acting as a pace maker.

• • • • •

The Port Hope will have a good town league this season.

FOOTBALL

Mr. J. E. Sullivan received a letter to-day from Trenton asking that that town be allowed to come into the Midland League to play Intermediate football.

BOILS ALL OVER HIS FACE AND NECK

KINCARDINE, ONT., July 28th, 1905.

MESSRS. THE T. MILBURN CO., LTD., TORONTO, ONT.

DEAR SIRS:—I am writing to let you know what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. I am a young man, twenty years old, and a year ago last March I began to feel dull and sick, and was greatly troubled with boils coming out on my face and neck, mostly on the latter. I would no sooner get rid of one than I would have, perhaps, two or three more appear.

I had four doctors trying to cure me but they had very little success. They would stop them for a month or six weeks and then they would be as bad as ever again.

Almost every patent medicine, advertised to cure boils, I could get hold of, I tried, but still without success. At last one day, last spring, someone happened to say: "why not try taking Burdock Blood Bitters for the blood?" I was willing to try anything and immediately sent for a bottle, but at the time was doubtful if it would be of any use. However, I used that bottle and while I was taking it I began to feel better, although I still kept having a few boils but not nearly such bad ones. I did not miss any work, while otherwise, I used to miss, sometimes, a week out of every month. I kept on taking the medicine until I had taken six bottles, and needless to say, I was not sorry I did so when I tell you I have not had a boil appear for the past three months. Everybody was surprised when they heard that Burdock Blood Bitters had done for me what four doctors failed to do. If any sufferers are afflicted with boils, I would strongly advise them to use B.B.B. It makes you feel like a new man. I always keep a bottle in the house, now, as I think it is a medicine that should be in every household.

Yours truly,
HENRY A. SMITH.

The Belmont Silver Mine Story Again

Statement That a Rich Deposit of Silver in Township of Belmont Has Been Discovered is Verified—The Mineral Activity Exists—Prospectors, However, Have Lost Trail to the Elusive Mine—Belief That it Will Yet Be Found.

That story of the Belmont silver mine, unearthed by The Examiner some months ago, will not be put down, though statements have been made to the effect that it was all imagination. This week's Havelock Standard gives some further information concerning it, and asserts that such a mine actually exists. It says:

The facts in regard to the much talked of silver mine near Havelock, have leaked out at last, and that there is such a mine is no idle talk, as many supposed.

In the fall of last year, Messrs. Thos. McMillan, of town, John Anderson and N. Whitney, of Belmont, were deer hunting in the vicinity of Sandy Lake, Methuen Township. Late one afternoon they got lost in a big swamp to the northeast of the lake, and, while wandering around, stumbled across a peculiar looking vein of rock. McMillan and Whitney broke off samples, and Anderson never paid any attention to it. No heed was taken of the locality where the specimens were found, and, as it was near sunset, the trio thought no more about the matter and started on their way to find their camp. After they had returned to their homes the specimens were examined again somewhat more carefully, and finally given to others, who had them assayed, when it was found that they were almost pure native silver. This gave rise to many rumours, but no one had any idea where the ore was procured from until lately, when it transpired that the three discoverers had journeyed back to the swamp this spring, and for five days had searched in vain for the spot where the silver is waiting to enrich some fortunate person.

Since then many have tried to find the mine, which is located on Crown land, and which will probably become the property of the one lucky enough to discover it. At present Mr. McMillan and Mr. Alex. Rose, of town, are camped near the swamp and are thoroughly inspecting the ground where the former thinks he found the specimens.

CHILDREN TAKEN FROM SQUALID SURROUNDINGS

Three children were taken into the Shelter yesterday, and the officers of the Children's Aid Society are now looking for homes for them. There are two girls and a boy, and their ages are from three to eight years.

They are the children of a Mrs. O'Connor, who has been living in one of the city's houses on the Hillard property. It appears that about a year ago her husband left the house, and has not returned, and since that time the children have been neglected and uncared for, the mother, it is alleged, not evincing the natural maternal instincts, and the agent of the society decided that the atmosphere of the home was not conducive to a cultivation of good morals in the children. It is probable that at the police court on Monday the matter will come up, and in the meantime the children are in the Shelter, and will be glated in any good home from which an application may come.

Last Warning To The Citizens

All Privy Vaults Must be Cleaned Out Before May 15th.

Chief of Police Rogal wishes to warn all citizens that the time of the annual spring clean-up is at hand, all premises must be put in shape before the 15th of May. After that date all offenders will be prosecuted.

Article 3, section 14, of the Ontario Public Health Act, enacts that "All privy vaults, cess-pools or reservoirs, shall be cleaned out at least once a year, on or before the fifteenth day of May, and from the 15th day of May to the 15th day of November, in each year, they shall be thoroughly disinfected by adding to the contents of the vault, cess-pool or reservoir, once a month, not less than two pounds of sulphate of copper, dissolved in two pailsful of water, or other suitable disinfectant."

This is the first, last and only notice, that will be given and the citizens should govern themselves accordingly.

DONT' RISK YOUR HEALTH

Typhoid Fever often lurks in the water. In times when a general typhoid epidemic is imminent, it is dangerous to drink water when there is a reasonable doubt as to its purity. Fortunately, there is at hand Canada's finest table water, acknowledged by physicians and analysts to be absolutely pure. This is "Sanitaris," which is bottled at the springs at Arnprior, Ont. A. Rountree, local agent, and most dealers in Peterborough are ready to supply families with any quantity of "Sanitaris," both sparkling and still, in any sized bottles desired. They deliver orders to the home and call for empty bottles free of charge.

ANNIVERSARY TEA

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE TRIUMPH OF BETTY.

Adelaide Thurston and her capable company delighted a large audience at the Grand last night with the the presentation of the new society play, "The Triumph of Betty."

The play which is by W. H. Tremayne and Irving L. Hall, has a neat plot and the dialogue is bright and witty. It deals with Betty Bartlett, an American girl "brought up on dad's ranch," who is visiting her uncle Canon Montague Bartlett in the Cathedral town of Wilchester, Eng. Her breezy unconventionality somewhat upsets their staid ideas. By good use of her wits she is able to save her sister-in-law from the trap in which her weakness and the evils of a designing broker have led her, but in doing so gets into trouble herself. Eventually the clouds pass away. She promises to marry her cousin and the play ends happily with "God bless you my children." The vehicle enabled Miss Thurston to show her dramatic ability and her interpretation of the role of Betty left nothing to be desired. Harry Ingram, as Harry Bartlett was a manly hero and Vincent St. John as the wily broker was sufficiently wicked. Fred Hearn was very humourous as the hen-pecked Canon of Wilchester.

BUSTER BROWN.

Buster Brown with chorus, ballet and handsome settings, will be Melville B. Raymond's big attraction at the Grand on Wednesday night, next. The title is so widely known that almost everyone will recognize the fact that it is a play founded on the adventures of that funny little fellow with the innocent look and the infinite capacity for mischief, that Richard F. Outcault has made known in the pages of the New York Herald.

The enterprising management has the sole rights to Buster including the members of his family and the dog Tige. They have all been incorporated into a very amusing farce with music that has proven equally attractive to auditors of all ages. There is a bevy of girls who have been garbed in the latest and most luxuriant style. Buster is an appealing and amusing little fellow and with his dog Tige, is the moving spirit of a vast number of humourous complications and side-splitting adventures. The chorus is large and the show girls exceedingly pretty.

Hundreds of men and women are asking themselves that question. They are not well—and yet not exactly ill. Doctors say—"all run down—need a tonic." But tonics fail to bring back health and strength. It may be that your kidneys are affected. Here's a simple test to prove it:—

Collect the urine passed in the morning, in a glass vessel or bottle, and let stand 24 hours. If there is a reddish deposit—if the urine is cloudy or milky—or if there are floating particles or shreds—then assuredly there is some serious derangement of the kidneys.

Healthy urine stays perfectly clear.

"Bu-Ju" The Gentle Kidney Pill

clears up the urine. That's the way you know that it is doing your kidneys good. "Bu-Ju" reaches every part of the kidneys—replaces the diseased tissues with strong, healthy membrane—gives the kidneys the strength and power to properly filter the blood.

"Bu-Ju" has thousands of cures to its credit, right here in Canada, among people you know. 50c. a box. At all druggists.

THE LAKEFIELD CITIZENS WILL NOT YET GO DRY

It appears that the citizens of Lakefield cannot do without their "booze." The strict and sudden enforcement of the Local Option law on Tuesday last was a somewhat severe shock to those inhabitants of the northern burg who were in the habit of taking a stimulant a few times a day.

They rallied, however, from the shock, and bethinking themselves of the next best thing to do, telephoned to Peterborough for the necessary goods. One of the local wholesale liquor dealers stated that on Wednesday he received five messages from parties in Lakefield ordering large quantities of the "life-saving" fluid.

It does not therefore appear that Local Option in Lakefield is going to prevent those who really want a stimulant from obtaining it.

BEATEN IN HORSE DEAL THEN CHARGES THEFT

On Wednesday morning, says the Port Hope Times, Jas. Gobeen, who resides near the Union cemetery, laid information against Robert Stewart and his son, charging them with stealing his horse on Tuesday last. Stewart and his son are horse dealers and for several days were camped near the old fair grounds. They left there on Wednesday morning and travelled eastward. By the time Gobeen had laid his complaint the horse dealers were well on their way. Chief Hood took a livery rig and drove after them, catching them near Grafton. With Gobeen's horse they were brought back to Port Hope and the same evening were tried before Magistrate Holland, Crown Attorney Kerr prosecuted. James Gobeen was asked to give his evidence in regard to the matter. He said that on Tuesday afternoon while he was driving along the gravel road he met the two horse dealers, who asked him if he wanted to trade horses. He told them he did not, as the horse that he was driving belonged to his wife. Young Stewart took the harness off his own horse and put it on his horse, and then drove away.

THE ATLANTIC FREIGHT BUSINESS PROSPEROUS

Mr. George Bunting, travelling freight agent of the Allan Line of Setamers, was in the city yesterday on business in the interests of his firm. Mr. Bunting states that the prospects for freight business on the Atlantic this summer are good. As an evidence of the growth of the trade between Canada and the Mother Country, Mr. Bunting states that already English shippers have contracted for a quantity of space on the Allan Line of Steamers for this summer, indicating that the imports of Canada from the Mother land are increasing.

His object is of course, to secure return cargoes, and in this line, too, he reports that there are good prospects.

THE SUMMER RESORT SEASON

---FROM PRESENT INDICATIONS---

WILL BE MOST SUCCESSFUL

A Forecast of What Will be Doing Among Peterborough's Summer Colonies—The American Visitors are Beginning to Arrive in Our Midst and the Season is Close at Hand—Improvements and Changes at Stony Lake, Chemong Park and Rice Lake---Automobile Service and Club House at Chemong---Other Notes of Interest.

Spring is here! The birds say so, the poet says so, and the Review says so, which settles the matter with most people. However, the coming of spring is welcome, more because it means that the good old summer time, with all its gayety, is close at hand, than on its own account. Soon the season of sunburn and summer girls, fishing and flirting, baseball and band concerts, the man that rocks the boat, and the man that has just lost a big one, will be with us once again.

Perhaps, the best indication of this, is that the summer resorts are making preparations for the opening of what promises to be the most successful season in their history.

Although the annual exodus which leaves in Peterborough a large number of grass widowers, and takes away the wives and families of many citizens, is two months away, the other part of Kawarthdom's population, the butterfly visitors, who are with us for a short time, and then gone again, are already beginning to arrive.

Our American Cousins.

From now until the end of September our American cousins will be coming and going. The advance guard consists of those who have permanent summer homes on the lakes. Later we will have the dashing summer girls, and modish young men, who claim Buffalo, Rochester, or Pittsburg as their homes, and the United States as the greatest country on earth. Most of our visitors have this failing, but they are so cheerful and good natured in their boasting that only the ultra-patriotic Canadian would take offence, where no offence is intended. The sons and daughters of Jonathan, who come to us during the summer months, add a liveliness to matters at the summer resorts, that otherwise would be lacking, and if only on this account they should be gladly welcomed.

Stony Lake.

Of all the gems in Kawartha's chain, Stony Lake is perhaps the best known, and most popular. There are several reasons for this. The scenery there is at its best, and the company found is congenial and entertaining. Stony Lake is not so advanced, or degenerated, looking at it from different viewpoints, as Muskoka. The latter has advanced almost to the Newport stage, and the whirl of society there goes on unabated. Conditions are different at Stony Lake. There are two distinct types found at the Kawartha centre. There is the man who dresses for dinner, and has a guide to row him, and put the bait—"nasty stuff"—in his hook. The second is the man whose most fashionable garments are a sweater, and a pair of three year old trousers, and who leads the summer life in its simplest form. Each is happy in his own way, and each looks upon Stony Lake as a paradise.

Most Peterborough men belong to the second class. They go to Stony Lake to get a repenthe from society's demands, and believe in having the best time possible. On the other hand the first type will be recognised as coming under the head of Americans, as our visitors from the south are invariably called. That word American, like charity, covers a multitude of offences at Stony Lake, at least what the old-timer, the "I - remember - when - there-wasn't - a - cottage - on - the - lake" man, deems offences. When they see a man seated in the stern of a skiff, with a steel rod in his hand, they say, "Oh, he is an American!" which, in their mind, settles the matter.

Incidentally the summer of 1906, should be a banner one at Stony Lake. The boarding houses all over the lake are recognizing this fact and are making preparations for the rush which will commence at the end of next month. Improvements are being made in nearly all of these, and there will be increased accommodation and greater convenience.

Many Improvements.

At Young's Point, the Lakeview House, under the management of Mrs Kearney has been greatly improved, and no doubt will be as it has been in the past, a popular resort. Mr. W. E. Brooks' establishment, at South Beach, has been enlarged and improved, and will have accommodation for more guests this year.

The Week's News From The World's Metropolis

London Letter Tells of a Number of Interesting Happenings —Londoners Giving Their Attention to Jabez Balfour—Education Bill Proving a Bone of Contention—John Burns' Hard Job—What London Society Is Busying Itself At.

From Our Own Special Correspondent.

London, April 18, 1906. — This week the Londoner has shelved all questions, even the most topical, from the Education Bill, to the trouble in South Africa, in order that he might give his undivided inquistorial attention to the release of James Balfour. Where was he going to live, what would he do, how would he look? The newspapers vied with each other in getting first interviews, and J. B.'s gaol impressions, and bets ran high in Fleet street as to who the successful editor would be, and all the time the "Daily Mail" had, so to speak, got their "old J. B., sir" up the broad sleeve of the Carmelite habit. He must be a strange man now, if all the newspapers say of him is true. He is, according to one journal, small and bird-like; in another he is a radiant figure; another has him as one returned from the grave, a machine, not a man, and the living world; while one sums the whole category up in a sentence, and puts him down as an "amazing brain automaton."

Whatever and whoever, he has become, he has set to work at once, and has already written 20,000 words of copy, in seventy-two hours, has threatened to write a book, and is billed all over the land to lecture.

No matter what Government is in power, no party can please all parties, either in England or any other country, and the new Education Bill, or Birrelligion, as it is now termed, introduced to the Houses of Parliament by Mr. Birrel, is proving a sore bone of contention between the Established and Nonconformist bodies. The Nonconformists, late Passive Resisters, led by Dr. Clifford, hail the bill with unmitigated joy, while the Bishops of the Church—well, thirty two of these dignataries met at Lambeth Palace on April 11th, and jointly agreed that the bill must be met with "unhesitating opposition." while the Catholic community of the country are in open strife already against what they term "injustice to the Catholic population of Great Britain." Nothing in fact, will suit all parties, but a total abolition of any religious teaching, whatsoever, in any of our national schools, and such a bill will succeed at any rate of making enemies of everyone. It is a difficult problem for any statesman, and will certainly not be settled by Mr. Birrell, perhaps not even by this Government at all. We may have to wait the coming of the Labour Party into power. They seem to settle most things just now at Westminster.

Talking of the Labour Party, Mr. John Burns has lately been engaged in, as he expresses it himself, making a good coat out of a bad pair of trousers. In other less sartorial words, he has been trying to instil life into the London Central Unemployed Committee, which for nearly two years has laboured heavily in the unbreakable bonds of red tape. He admitted that the committee was late in getting to work, but to give it time and the other things would come; 24,000 persons had up to date, made application to the committee for work, and of these 6,000 had been put into "positions." The remaining 30,000 have contented themselves with taking positions as waiters. Everyone says that there is a good time coming bye and bye for London's workless, so it must be true, so after all as summer approaches, and the nip of winter becomes a nightmare of the past, the ranks of the workless have a tendency to melt in the sun of public opinion; or, as a lady remarked to me the other day, "Surely there can't be so many of the poor tramps about in beautiful weather like this!"

I had a talk the other day with Mr. Brock, R. A., the sculptor, who is engaged on the Victoria Memorial to be placed in front of Buckingham Palace, the "ugliest building in Europe." He seemed immensely pleased with the new era of sculpture that is dawning in London. The stiff stone graveyard monument is, in his opinion, good for all time. He instanced the work on the new War Office — those four or five groups of statuary, fashioned so humanly by, Alfred Drury, R. A., who is also engaged on statuary for London's new bridge over the Thames at Vauxhall. He remined me, too, of the fine equestrian statue of the late Duke of Cambridge, now nearing completion at the hands of Captain Adrian Jones. This he thinks will be a vast improvement to Whitehall, where in a few months' time it will be standing.

His own work on the memorial is also nearing completion and by next year Canadian visitors will have at least of real statuary to look upon when they visit the metropolis, and statuary done by masters of their art, who have put their best work into them.

London society is apparently suffering from a bad attack of summ judging by some of the things the "noble Lord" is doing. Thus the Earl and Countess of Suffolk, following in the footsteps of their King, helped to brew a vat of beer at Malbary last week, and intend drinking it — or rather, tasting it, when their infant son Viscount Andover, comes of age. Lily, Duchess of Marlborough, has retired to Deepdene where she is enjoying the society of her little son "Bill" Bamford. Sir Tollemach Sinclair, is busy presenting gramaphones to workhouses, Sir George Sewell is engaged as usual, capturing fraudulent "spirits" at seances in London, while to cap the list of Peers pleasures, I see by a daily paper that Lord Cholmondeley has just "flown" over to Ireland for a week.

Eastertide is always welcomed in London by those who belong to the various volunteer corps, for it means to these city dwellers a week of healthy life in camp in the country, or by the sea, and with the approach of Easter a stranger might imagine that England was about to be invaded. The streets of London are full of citizen troops, smart and eager for their work, swinging off to the great railway termini, where the platforms are covered with the various impediment of an army on the move. Go where you will in the neighbouring country you will find these amateur soldiery encamped, marching, counter marching, repelling and attacking and throwing out entrenchments. Scouts scour the land on all sides, villages are occupied by them, and everywhere their white-peaked tents show up on the country side. This year Dover has been a great camping ground for them, and here the city of London Artillery, The Inns of Court Rifles, (London's smartest corps,) the London Rifle Brigade, the Fusiliers, the Artists, the London Scottish, the London Irish, Yeomanry, and the many city corps that compose London's defensive army, are engaged in mimic warfare the plan of which this year has, strangely enough taken the form of repelling an invader. All day the C.L.A. guns thunder from the cliffs of Dover, and bodies of cavalery and infantry sweep the coast line, and engage in furious battle in around the sea coast villages, and in fact the whole countryside is alive with the bustle. Londoners make enthusiastic citizen soliers, and doubtless if they were called upon would be well capable of bearing their share in the defence of the Old Country.

Perfect Woman

You may have the Beauty of Perfect Health

The perfect woman is the woman who has perfect health. Beauty is more than skin deep. Beauty is as deep as pure blood and a perfect digestion. Especially is female beauty dependent on the perfect health of the delicate female organism.

If you wish to have the beauty and attractiveness of perfect health, if you wish your eyes to sparkle, your complexion to resume its brilliancy, and your whole body to thrill with the glow of renewed vitality, take that famous woman's medicine,

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

If you have headaches, backache, organic pains, painful or irregular periods, or any female trouble, begin with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once. It will save you needless suffering. It will restore your womanly beauty.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Soon after my marriage my health began to fail. I was unable to sleep, became very nervous and had shooting pains through the abdomen and pelvic organs, with bearing down pains and constant headaches, causing me much misery; my monthly periods became very painful and I became a burden to my family.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. I am stronger and look better than I did before I was married, and there is great rejoicing in our home for what your wonderful medicine has accomplished for me. Mrs. M. A. C. LETELLIER, 732 Cadioux Street, Montreal, Que.

No woman, were she a Venus de Milo, could continue beautiful with a dragging down female complaint. Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write to her for advice. For twenty-five years Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, has under her direction, and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cures Where Others Fail

"Earthquakes In History," By Professor John Milne

United States and Canada Comes Under Single Heading—Ten Tremblors in North America in the 17th Century—No Connection Between California Earthquake and Eruption of Mt. Vesuvius--Volcanoes are Earth's Safety Valves.

In this synopsis of the distribution of earthquakes in space and time, says the Montreal Gazette, Professor John Milne classes the United States and Canada under a single heading. He unites Mexico and Central America; allots a separate column each to the Antilles and Cuba, and comprises under another Chili, and the La Plata basin. Ten earthquakes, according to this statement, took place (so far as known) in the 17th century in the part of North America now included in the United States and Canada. In the eighteenth century the number assigned it is 88, and in the nineteenth (not quite terminated when he wrote,) fifty-one. Of the whole record, Japan alone is credited with a physical geography that was in fair working order in the first Christian century. The earliest recorded earthquake of which Japanese seismographers have preserved the memory took place B. C., 285. China antedates that record by more than three centuries, the first entry on the earthquake records of the Middle Kingdom being B.C. 595. Mallet sets down as the earliest historic record of an earthquake that which took place at the delivery of the law on Mount Sinai (B. C. 1606.) He also considers the convulsion that swallowed up Korat, Dathan and Abiram to have been an earthquake. Of the series of earthquakes of which history has preserved the memory as having occurred in the Christian era, we find twenty-three attributed to the Turco-Hellenic, Aegean and Syrian countries (the Levant) in the fourth century. Some record has been kept for all the succeeding centuries—there being twenty-seven assigned to the seventh, twenty-three to the twelfth, twenty-two to the sixteenth, fifty-three to the seventeenth, 124 to the eighteenth, and 194 to the nineteenth century. These numbers are greatly exceeded by those assigned to Italy. Sicily, Sardinia and Malta, which were visited in the 17th century by 121 earthquakes; by 438 in the 18th, and by 390 in the first three-quarters of the 19th. Western continental Europe (France, Belgium and Holland) had 237 earthquakes in the eighteenth century, the Spanish peninsula having 93 and the British Isles 63. In the eighteenth century the figures were, for France, etc., 211; for Spain, 85; for the British Isles, 110. The Rhine Basin, Switzerland and Scandinavia had, during the same period, 81, 173 and 113 earthquakes. The period in question was about the three-fourths of last century. Such an enumeration has its uses, but to be intelligible to the ordinary reader, it should be accompanied by a description of some of the most noteworthy disturbances of each territorial class. The 93 earthquakes, for instance, assigned to the Spanish peninsula for the 18th century included the terribly fatal Lisbon earthquake of 1755, the Calabrian series of 1872, etc.

The occurrence of the California earthquake so soon after the exceptionally violent eruption of Vesuvius would naturally suggest a possible connection. Prof. Milne had already come to the conclusion, after the examination of a good deal of evidence on the subject, that, as a rule, there is no direct connection between the two classes of phenomena. He regards volcanoes as, on the whole, safety valves of the earth's crust, which, by relieving internal stresses, are a protection against the effect of earthquakes. Where there are no volcanic vents, in mountainous regions subject to earthquake disturbance, the shocks are likely to be more sensible. Still he cautions his readers against over-rating the protective influence of volcanoes. Many theories have been elaborated to account for earthquakes, and some of these have by their authors been utilized for the prediction of such disturbances. It has been said that persons of nervous temperment have realized the approach of an earthquake by peculiar sensations. Mr. Milne does not deny this claim which has been dealt with in learned papers. He has himself, during the earthquake season (in Japan probably) had feelings that were equal to presentiments, and has even made careful preparations with his instruments. He gives special instances of fulfilled predictions, sometimes by unrestful sensitiveness, sometimes by the hearing of faint noises, sometimes by observations of animals or of unusual phenomena. In Caracas there are not only human Cassandras, but "oracular quadrupeds," cats, dogs, jerboas, etc., who by their restlessness warn their owners and others, of the coming danger. In 1812 a stallion broke out of his stable in Caracas and made for the highlands. In Chili flocks of sea birds flew inland as if to avoid the perils sub-oceanic disturbances both in 1822 and 1833. In this latter year all the dogs left the doomed city of Talcahuano. But these cases are sporadic. What would be a real and lasting boon to mankind would be some trustworthy scientific instrument by which sufficient warning might be given of the impending agitation to enable those exposed to danger to escape.

Cures Rheumatism

"I had an attack of Rheumatism—pains near my heart—which increased to such a degree that I became very anxious. I lost my appetite, and an intense itching or heating of the head made life miserable. I asked a druggist, was there nothing he could suggest that would help me, and he replied 'Why not try ABBEY'S SALT?'

I did so, and can now state positively, and without solicitation that the Rheumatism has disappeared—my appetite is grand—and the itching of my scalp has ceased.

I suggested to my aged Father and Mother that they should try ABBEY'S SALT for their Rheumatism—and they tell me they have received immense benefit."

Name given on application.

Ancient Glory Of Quebec To Be Again Renewed

The Gibraltar of the New World Rejoices in the New Era Which Has Come to Her as an Ocean Port—The Atlantic Summer Terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway—The First Ocean Liners at Quebec.

Citizens of Quebec would at one time have been thrown into a state bordering on consternation by the information conveyed to them by Mr. Wm. Power, one of their M.Ps., on his return from Great Britain last week. Mr. Power is extensively engaged in the lumber export business, and his firm have for many years been doing business with the mother country, as have a large number of other Canadian exporters. The time was when each recurring spring hundreds of sailing vessels were pressed into the work of carrying square timber across the Atlantic, and there was no prettier sight than the arrival of the white-sailed fleet at the far-famed Cove, above Quebec, which, now that nearby forests have been cut down, are deserted. The member for Quebec West, however, now brings the intelligence that what remains of the Quebec timber trade is likely in future to be done, not with Great Britain, but with the United States. The reason for this revolution is the greatly-increased price paid by United States consumers for lumber. The ever-increasing demands for wood in the United States are year by year forcing the price up, and despite the fact that many substitutes have been resorted to, and a duty placed on Canadian timber entering the States, the demand has steadily increased, and the price is such as to make it more profitable for Canadian lumbermen to sell their products to the United States than to Great Britain, which can procure woods from Northern Europe cheaper than we are willing to sell them here.

But if the glory of Quebec as an exporter of timber to Great Britain has flown, the Ancient Capital is rejoicing that a new and better era has come to her as an ocean port. The Dominion Government has made the city the Atlantic summer terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Already, the contract for building the first link of the line on the Quebec division has been awarded, and when the Quebec bridge, now in process of construction, is completed, the railways of the south will carry their traffic to the port, as the railways of the north will do. All these great and beneficial changes will be brought about in the very near future.

Meantime, an equally important event will be celebrated next month, when the first of the great liners of the Canadian Pacific Railway will arrive at Quebec, and thus formally inaugurate the port as the Canadian summer terminus for the fine Atlantic fleet of this great railway. The possibilities of Quebec City, as a consequence of all these changes, are great, and likely to be far-reaching, and we are not surprised to learn that the enterprising portion of the population are determined to make the arrival of the Empress of Britain, with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C.P.R., on board, the occasion of a popular demonstration in honour of the energetic head of Canadian Pacific enterprises. Quebec has a deep and safe harbour, and if due energy is displayed in providing the necessary terminals and other needed improvements, and the people have faith in themselves, the old city may be galvanized into a busy, bristling, money-making port—the Liverpool of Canada.

With the C. P. R. double-tracked between Quebec and Montreal, and the cars bye and bye propelled by electricity captured from the magnificent waterfalls formed to the north of the track, there is no reason why Quebec should not be able to hold its own as an ocean port with Montreal, which will always, of course, get the smaller vessels to patronize her harbour.

A FRIEND'S ADVICE

"I feel so thankful at the restored health of my daughter that if any use can be made of this I shall be pleased." This is what Mr. George Weels, of Elora, Ont., says in giving his testimony to the wonderful curative qualities of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. Mr. Weels' daughter was a great sufferer from heart disease and nervousness. She was unable to lie on her left side. She ran down in health and her recovery was a source of anxiety. Induced by friends, who had proved its worth, she obtained Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart and before one bottle had been taken was able to lie in any position she desired, and when two bottles had been taken, an absolute cure was pronounced. Yes, this great remedy is a cure for all ailments of the heart, stomach and nerves, and the instantaneous relief given by it has snatched thousands from death's jaws. Don't trifle a minute if you have the slightest evidence of heart disorders, such as palpitation, fluttering or uneasiness. This remedy will relieve such troubles immediately and will cure the stomach and nerves.

"When I know a thing is worthy of a recommendation I consider it my duty to tell of it." The Rev. James Murdock, of Harrisburg, Pa., says this after having been cured of a very malignant form of catarrh by Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powders. What he can say of its healing powers thousands of others have said and can say of it. Don't neglect "only a little cold" in the head. It may lead to chronic catarrh. Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder relieves in 10 minutes and is easily applied. Keep it near you if you are a "cold in the head" subject.

PITMAN'S SYSTEM STANDS THE TEST

Brantford Expositor.

A shorthand contest took place in Baltimore last week and the prize was won by a young Englishman who wrote the system perfected nearly half a century ago by the late Sir Isaac Pitman. A number of systems, all copied from the original Pitman system, but given different names, are extensively used in the United States and Canada; the alleged inventors all claiming that the systems are improvements on the Pitman method but apparently the old reliable still holds the palm when it comes to a thorough speed test. The real test of a short-hand system is high speed. Many systems are evolved which will enable a student to rapidly acquire the ability to write 100 or 125 words a minute but when a speaker gets up into the rarefied atmosphere of 175 to 200 words per minute, and over, these systems often break down. No verbatim reporter is an expert unless he can take 200 words continuously for several minutes which means that during some minutes he may be called upon to spurt to 225 words. Almost any bright student with any system can reach a speed of 130 or 140 words a minute in a few months but it takes years of practice to increase speed above that to 200 words. Not only have the brain and the hand to be trained, but it is necessary to have the best system, and Isaac Pitman's has long been considered the most reliable. Pitman was knighted in 1894 by Queen Victoria for the distinction he achieved in bringing stenography to a high state of perfection.

Unsolicited Testimony.

Here is the unsolicited testimony of Mrs. C. A. Martin, of Granville, N.Y., concerning Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women. We have her consent to publish her letter. It reads as follows:

I feel that I should tell you what wonders Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets have done for me. I had been running down, getting thin in flesh, and losing appetite for the past year, and though doctor's advice was sought and different remedies were used, there seemed to be no improvement. At length a friend who had received great benefit from Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets, advised me to try this remedy. I did so. In less than a week I began to see good effects. My appetite returned, my nerves began to get steady, my aches and pains began to leave me. I commenced to take on flesh, and I felt that I was being rapidly restored to health. At this moment I feel I am a new woman.

We want you to notice that the above letter proves our claims for Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets in two particulars.

First, that they will restore health after other remedies and even physicians have failed. Mrs. Martin had tried both.

Second, that improvement begins at once. Mrs. Martin saw good effects within a week.

If you are suffering from a run-down condition, or any weakness peculiar to your sex, you, too, can be made well and strong by these tablets.

Take them one week and note the improvement in your feelings and general health.

Daring Death On Alpine Heights

The Risks People Run in a Spirit of Bravado.

Geneva, April 27.—An American of the name of Kenrick, and his wife, accompanied by two guides ascended Point D'Ormy the other day. The climb is a dangerous one at this time of the year, owing to avalanches.

As they began to descend they suddenly slid downward at an alarming speed. They had started an avalanche. The guides to whom the Kenricks were attached by a rope, abounded to them to keep their feet and not to sit down. Their movement increased until they were going at express speed. Mr. Kenrick says:

"I thought every moment that we would be dashed to pieces, as I knew of the huge precipices on the flank of the mountain. I was in front, then came a guide, then my wife, and then the other guide. Suddenly I (was brought up with a jerk which shook the breath out of me. We had stopped on a ledge, three yards from the brink of a fathomless depth, into which the avalanche rolled with a roar. I turned and saw my wife lying senseless. A guide was rubbing her face with snow.

"We owe our lives to Guide Dupraz, who had dextorously clasped a projection of rock and clung to it, thereby bringing us up with a tremendous jerk on the rope, which, fortunately, did not break.

"When the avalanche had passed, and my wife had recovered, we clambered to safety. Old Dupraz did not seem to be moved by the adventure, but he was pleased when my wife kissed him gratefully."

LARGEST CARPET IN THE WORLD

The biggest carpet ever made was laid at the London Olympia, for the motor show, in December, 1905. It measured 63,000 square feet, and was completed with a rapidity which speaks well for British labour, being only four months in the making.

The first instalment of this monster carpet was taken to the Olympia in 27 pantechnicons—a procession which, allowing a reasonable distance between the vans for other traffic to pass, stretched a distance of well over a mile. The carpet, if cut up, would have been big enough to cover 437 floors measuring four yards square.

Vest Pocket 'Phone The Latest "Fad"

A Carthage City, Mass., Man's New Invention—It Pilfers Messages From Wires Three Miles Off—Is of the Wireless Variety—How Mr. Charles Alden Made His Discovery.

Carthage City, Mass., May 4.—Charles E. Alden, of New York, who has been pursuing experiments here since last fall in wireless telephoning, has, he says, solved the problem of wireless telephoning, and the result is so simple that it is likely to create a sensation in the business world as well as in scientific circles. Mr. Alden, while studying the problem, constructed an instrument so small that it can be put into a vest pocket, which, attached to a wireless battery such as used by the Marconi system, at once begins catching conversations carried along ordinary telephone wires, the distance depending only upon the energy behind the telephones that are sending the messages.

It was one stormy night a few weeks ago, when Mr. Alden had perfected his little receiver and set it up in his studio here on Martha's Vineyard Island, that he sat smoking his after-dinner pipe, and wondering where he had better set up his sending apparatus, that he was startled by the sound of a voice in the room, of which he was the only occupant. Outside the storm howled along the coast and beat the waves against the rocks of the island.

"Hello! Hello! Is that Mrs. Smith? Yes? Come over this evening if you can."

"All right. Good-bye!"

Mr. Alden sat bolt upright. Then he got up and went to the door. There was no one there. The little instrument on the table began to buzz again, and then came another voice, a different one this time, asking the price of eggs and ordering a groceryman to send up some potatoes first thing in the morning.

Like a flash Mr. Alden realized the situation. His little instrument was not waiting for his sending instrument to be set up, but was pilfering messages from the New England Telephone Company's wire which ran along a road three miles away. Wild with delight, Mr. Alden rushed across lots and got some of his friends to witness the success of his discovery. When they arrived the little apparatus was still busy disclosing neighbourhood gossip and all sorts of messages that were buzzing over the wires of the island.

To a reporter who called upon him, Mr. Alden told the story of his discovery, and how the voices of the night came to him unsolicited, like the talk of spirits.

"I was sitting in my room one night when it dawned upon me that with the wireless telegraph comparatively simple, the wireless telephone must be equally simple. I jotted down on paper my ideas as they came to me, and the next morning went to work upon my machine. I was merely experimenting, not having the remotest idea that I was anywhere near success. Suddenly, when I did not dream I had perfected the machine, I received the messages from neighbouring ordinary telephones as I have told you. The revelation took me off my feet."

The basis of the system is like that of the wireless telegraph. But a small invention, the details of which he does not make public, completes it. This is called the "new detector." It is this machine, attached to the wireless batteries, which is responsible for the results.

No wire was attached to the receiving instruments, the latter simply being placed on a table in the room. At present Mr. Alden is working on the sending parts of the apparatus.

The possibilities are almost limitless. With this new invention one may yet be able to carry around in his pocket a private telephone, with which he can call up his house and talk with his family wherever he may be. Persons sitting in the grand stand at the race track may telephone to their friends in the city the results of the races undetected.

Messages sent by telephones keyed to ordinary tension may be received by any one within miles who has a pocket telephone. And the perfection of the attuning apparatus, by which individual telephones are keyed to any fraction of a "note" or degree of tension, may make it possible to have comparative secrecy, as receivers will take the message only when attuned to perfect accord. And the wireless telegraph experiments have shown that there can in time be thousands of these fractions of tension.

WHEN ACCIDENTS HAPPEN MOST

It has been observed that the number of accidents increases progressively from hour to hour during the first half of the day, says an English scientist; after the mid-day rest, in the first hours of the afternoon, the number is notably less than in the last hour of the morning. In the course of the second half-day, accidents become hourly more numerous; the maximum number of accidents hourly toward the end of the second half of the day is notably larger than the corresponding maximum for the morning.

Incorporation Of Lakefield

Some Poetry Written on That Occasion.

A gentleman, who has been a reader of The Examiner for many years, has sent the following poetry, taken from the files of this paper in 1875. It was sent at that time to the paper on the occasion of the incorporation of that village:

SONG.

Respectfully dedicated to the City Fathers, by their humble servant Jeremy Didler.

In eighteen hundred and seventy-five
The Village of Lakefield was all alive,
For by the voice of the people and acclamation
They were bound to have an incorporation.

Chorus—Heigho for the Village of Lakefield.

The first thing to do, was a Council to form
Of citizens wise, their Board to adorn,
So they set them to work, and elected five men,
And a short description I'll give you of them.

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

Major Boulton, the head, or otherwise Reeve
A fit man for the office, I really believe;
For he's willing to work and has no lack of brains
And will no doubt do his duty as long as he reigns.

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

Next, Mr. John Sherin, who has gained great renown
For improving the sidewalks in part of our town
A merchant of wealth with a handsome brick store,
And good to make bargains — what would you have more.

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

Mr. Hall's a good miller, as any you'll find,
For plenty of money he makes his mill grind,
He swears by the Globe, and adores Geordie Brown,
A Reformer he's been since the day he was born.

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

R. A. Strickland, the son of an old pioneer,
Whose memory all of us hold very dear,
He's long-headed and shrewd, and every way fit,
To make a good Councillor, and at their board sit.

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

Though last, but not least, there's Councillor Shields
A living he gets by the hammer he wields,
A Blacksmith he is, and that's his vocation,
But at all times he's ready to make an oration.

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

Fat offices now, were looked for by many,
But numbers of applicants did not get any,
For their worships picked out from a goodly collection,
Of the men who did most for them at their election.

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

First comes Mr. Sanders, a "Dice from the hive,"
Who sells tea, sugar, cotton, and "catch 'em alive",
But now he's appointed to the office of Clerk,
For canvassing hard from daylight till dark.

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

John Galvin, and Gordon, Assessors are made,
Fifteen dollars apiece I hear they are paid,
The last one's appointed to keep a sharp eye
On the first-mentioned gentleman, who's said to be sly

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

Edward Beatty, so modest, ne'er asked for a place,
And surely thought he was "out of the race,"
But their Honours so good, his heart they did cheer,
By appointing him auditor, at two dollars a year

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

Geo. McIlmoyl's Bailiff and Auctioneer too,
He will always be happy to call upon you;
As Collector of Taxes, I think he'll quite fit,
For if you don't pay, he'll tip you a Writ.

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

Sam Sherin, the Treasurer, I'd nearly forgot,
The man most important of all of the lot;
He keeps all the money in a vault built of brick,
Cash down are his terms, for he never gives tick.

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

Division Court Clerk on his office you read,
And a license to marry, he'll grant when you need;
Draws mortgages, deeds, in correct and neat style,
Then pockets his fee, and bows you out with a smile.

Chorus—Heigho, etc.

Now gentlemen all, my song's at an end,
And if any of you have a "quarter" to spend,
Why, just hand it out for our edification,
And we'll drink to the health of our "New Corporation."

FIRST HORSELESS CARRIAGES IN 1600

To the people of the present day, proud in the possession of 20 to 60 horse power automobiles, it will be somewhat surprising to learn that over 300 years ago the prince of Orange possessed a horseless carriage. In this strange device, which was a combination of wagon and sailboat, the prince was wont to take his favourites for rides along the seashore. In the "bow," or front, sat the skipper, or chauffeur, just as one chooses to call him, steering the wagon and manipulating the sails. On three seats in the rear sat the prince and his suite. Though very crude from the modern point of view, this horseless carriage of about 1600 A.D., was a great novelty to the people of that day, and in books of that time there are many curious pictures and paragraphs about the first horseless waggon in the world.

HONORABLE JOHN COSTIGAN

Who has not heard of the Honorable John Costigan? He is to-day one of the most powerful, as well as one of the oldest, figures in Canadian politics. He was one of Sir John Macdonald's ablest lieutenants, and for nearly 20 years held various portfolios in the cabinet.

To-day at the age of 71, he is the idol of the electors of New Brunswick, and a power to be always reckoned with in Parliament.

His rugged eloquence—biting sarcasm—and ready repartee—make him at once the dread of his opponents and the delight of his confreres.

When a public man of the Hon. John Costigan's position voluntarily testifies to the marvelous cure effected by "Fruit-a-tives," it is bound to carry convincing weight with the whole Canadian people.

OTTAWA, ONT.,
232 Cooper St., Jan. 8th, 1906.

You know what fearful trouble I have had all my life time from constipation. I have been a dreadful sufferer from chronic constipation for over thirty years and I have been treated by many physicians and I have taken many kinds of proprietary medicines without any benefit whatever. I took a pill for a long time which was prescribed by the late Dr. C. R. Church, of Ottawa. Also for many months I took a pill prescribed by Dr. A. F. Rogers, of Ottawa. Nothing seemed to do me any good. Finally I was advised by Dr. Rogers to try "Fruit-a-tives" and after taking them for a few months I feel I am completely well from this horrible complaint. I have had no trouble with this complaint now for a long time, and I can certainly state that "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine I ever took that did me any positive good for constipation. I can conscientiously recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to the public as, in my opinion, it is the finest medicine ever produced.

(Signed) JOHN COSTIGAN.

Was ever medicine put to a severer test than this?

Here was a great Public Official, who had suffered for more than 30 years with Chronic Constipation. The leading physicians of Ottawa prescribed for him without affording any permanent relief. Finally, as a last resort, "Fruit-a-tives" were ordered. And in THREE MONTHS, Mr. Costigan WAS WELL.

"Fruit-a-tives" did in THREE MONTHS, what doctors and drugs failed to do in THIRTY YEARS.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the most perfect combination known to medical science. They are fruit juices, concentrated and combined with tonics and internal antiseptics.

Unlike liver pills, anti-bilious pills and all preparations containing calomel, cascara, senna, licorice, etc.—"Fruit-a-tives" act like fruit DIRECTLY ON THE LIVER. They arouse this organ to vigorous health—strengthen it—and increase the flow of bile. It is the bile, given up by the liver, which enters the bowels and makes them move.

Unless the liver is active and excretes sufficient bile to move the bowels regularly and naturally every day, there is bound to be Constipation. And the only remedy that will cure Constipation is one that puts the liver in a healthy, active condition as "Fruit-a-tives" do.

Are you bilious?
Is the liver inactive?
Is the stomach out of order?
Does the head ache?
Do your kidneys trouble you?
Is the skin disfigured with pimples?
Is the appetite poor?

Take "Fruit-a-tives." They sweeten the stomach—regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels—clear the skin—and build up, strengthen and invigorate the whole system.

One box will prove their value. 50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your druggist does not handle them.

CONTEST EXTENDED TO

July 31st, 1906

Messrs. Armour Limited, Toronto, regret to advise all who have so kindly forwarded lists of names as per the conditions of their Educational Contest, that their building, with its entire contents, was destroyed by fire on the evening of March 19th, and all records of lists they have received, as well as all lists, were destroyed, and we ask that all who had sent in lists previous to this time, mail us duplicates. No metal caps required with duplicate lists. To make up for time lost by the fire, and to give all competitors a fair and equal chance, we have consented to extend the Educational Contest until July 31st, 1906.

We offer $200.00 in gold to those sending in the largest lists of correct words made from the twelve different letters used in spelling the four words

Armour's Extract of Beef

$100.00 in gold will be given as the first prize.

$25.00 in gold will be given as the second prize.

$10.00 in gold will be given as the third prize.

$5.00 in gold will be given to each of the next five.

$2.00 will be given to each of the next twenty.

Only such words may be used as are found in Webster's International Dictionary.

No proper names, foreign words or names of persons, towns or places are to be used.

Words spelled the same, but having different meanings, may be used but once.

All contestants must attach to their lists a metal cap taken from a jar of "Armour's Extract of Beef." Failure to do this puts the list out of competition.

The names of the winners of these prizes will be determined by judges whom we shall appoint.

Write only on one side of the paper. After making out your list, state the number of words it contains, with your full name and address at the top of each piece of paper and mark on the outside of the envelope "Educational Contest Department," and mail to our address as below.

FORGERY BY A PHONOGRAPH

Forgery by phonography is a new crime discovered in Hungary. The son of a wealthy peasant proved an oral will of his father by testimony of servants who heard a voice in the dying parent's bed, saying: "I leave all my property to my eldest son, Alois, and my other children are to get nothing." Such a statement is valid in Hungary. Subsequently, however, the police were informed that the voice the servants heard was not that of his father but that Alois had spoken the words into a phonograph. He had placed the instrument under his father's bed, and when the old man had lost consciousness called the servants in and set it going. The police searched the house and found the phonograph record as described. Alois is now to be charged with fraud.

ICE BLOCK 600,000 SQUARE MILES

The largest mass of ice in the world is probably the one which fills up nearly the whole of the interior of Greenland where it has accumulated since before the dawn of history. It is believed now to form a block about 600,000 square miles in area, and averaging a mile and a half in thickness. According to these statistics, the lump of ice is larger in volume than the whole body of water in the Mediterranean; and there is enough of it to cover the whole of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland with a layer about seven miles thick. There is enough ice in Greenland to bury the entire area of the United States a quarter of a mile thick.

A LEIPZIG GRADUATE

Wm. Norman Andrews, Managing Director of the Brantford Conservatory of Music, gives his Opinion of a well known Canadian Piano.

The Williams Piano Company have perhaps the most extensive list of testimonial letters in regard to the merits of the New Scale Williams Piano from Conservatories of Music and Musical and other Educational Institutions than any other Piano manufactured in Canada.

Mr. Wm. Norman Andrews, Managing Director of the Brantford Conservatory of Music is the latest one to add his words in favor of this great Canadian Piano. His letter is given below:

Conservatory of Music

"For some time I have had a New Scale Williams Piano in the Brantford Conservatory of Music, and can testify to its excellent qualities as one of the best of Canadian Pianos."

A Parson's Plain Talk Of Premier Whitney

A Methodist Minister Takes Off His Gloves to Handle Him—Claims That Whitney Government Has Betrayed Temperance Interests.

Mr. Premier Whitney, in his dealing with license legislation, has evidently not met the views of many temperance men. One of these, Rev. Jas. B. Freeman, Methodist minister of London, Ont., writes a long letter to the Globe, of which the following is a sample:

"Whatever doubt may have existed in the minds of the temperance people as to the course they should pursue, has now been removed by the action of the new Government in regard to local option. Whatever hopes the temperance people may have had in Mr. Whitney, they have been rudely and unceremoniously dashed to the ground. No sooner has this new Rupert been seated in the saddle than he turns his sword on his new found friends and gives them a home thrust. In his very first session, without warning or occasion, he deals them a body blow. He pledged himself to 'maintain intact and enforce the liquor law.' Instead of doing this he has practically repealed the most important part of it. In the face of the strong protests of the Dominion Alliance, Ministerial Associations, moral reform deputations and the expressed will of the people, Mr. Whitney has blindly and persistently gone on with his unjust and uncalled for attack on local option, until he has destroyed the law and taken from the people rights which they enjoyed before he was born. He has grossly deceived and repudiated the temperance voters of Ontario. Whatever the failings of the late Premier, Mr. Ross, he never was guilty of such deception and injustice as this. In all his public ministry he never perpetrated such an outrage on temperance sentiment as Mr. Whitney has done in his first session."

HOW MUCH WATER DOES LOCKAGE TAKE?

The "Soo" News discusses a question which will be of local interest since the same conditions prevail here.

"A couple of visitors to the ship canal yesterday opened a discussion regarding the amount of water used in making the various lockages. They had witnessed a couple of lockages, one of a large boat and the other of a small boat and the question was raised whether as much water was used in passing the large boat as the small. At first glance it would appear that with a large boat in the lock at the lower river level not so much water would be required to raise it to the upper lake level as if it were a small boat. After applying the laws of displacement and buoyancy, however, they came to the conclusion that exactly the same amount of water would be required to make a lockage with the lock filled with large vessels as with only a small boat or for that matter no boat at all in it. The principle holds good for both up and down lockages. Of course these facts have long been known by the engineers but to the laymen to whose minds they are brought only in a casual way, they are such as sometimes prove highly interesting.

HASTINGS FARMERS IN FIGHT OVER BOUNDARY

The Tweed News says: Peter Charcotte vs. William Beatty, an assault case, engaged the magistrate's court on Friday last. The evidence sustained the complaint, and Beatty was fined one dollar and costs, and both complaintant and defendant were bound over to keep the peace for a year. The principals in the case are neighbours, near Parkhouse, and there is a strip of land between their farms, as to the ownership of which a dispute has existed for some years. On Wednesday evening last Beatty started a fire on the disputed territory to destroy some burrs. Charcotte ordered him to desist and a melee ensued, in which both parties received damage to their respective upper stories. Charcotte was supported by his wife, children and dog, while Beatty fought single, although not empty handed. Charcotte's injuries consisted of a contused scalp wound caused by a blow from a stick in the hands of Beatty, while the latter showed a wound in the forehead caused, he claims, from a stone hurled from the Charcotte firing line.

THE LANDS AND MINES OF OPULENT ONTARIO

The report of the Minister of Lands and Mines for the year, just issued, contains considerable information relative to Ontario mineral wealth.

Clergy Lands.

The area of Clergy lands sold during the year was 736 acres, aggregating 2,560. The collections on account of these and former sales amounted to $2,317.39.

Common School Lands.

The collection of common school lands was $8,188.79.

Grammar School Lands.

The area of these lands sold during the year was 207 1-8 acres, for a sum of $270.75. The collection of these sales in former years was $373.10.

University Lands.

The area of these lands sold during the year was 1,978 1-2 acres, for $9,990.25. The collection on account of these lands in former years was $1,186.06.

There have been sold for agricultural purposes during the year 72,431 acres for $47,393.07. The collection on account of these and former sales was $51,007.02. There were sold for mining purposes 3,142 1-2 acres, for $7,389.22, and collected on accounts of mining sales $7,703.82.

There were leased for mining purposes 19,914 acres for $17,925.90. There was collected on account of mining leases and leases converted into patents, $42,747.18. There were 4,440 acres of Crown lands leased for other than mining purposes. The collection on account of these and former leases was $3,186.23. The total area of land disposed of during the year was 103,032 1-2 acres. The total collection on account of lands sold and leased uring the year was $117,289.79.

Military Grants.

During the year there were 740 certificates issued authorizing veterans to select their land, which brings the total certificates up to 12,600. Location certificates, combining veterans' certificates, were taken out by 2,402 veterans. These locations were scattered over 130 townships. To date 4,442 locations have been made, and the department has 700 to deal with.

The report states that it would take 2,080,000 acres to satisfy all the grants. These at 50 cents per acre the price of Crown lands, would make a sum of $1,040,000.

Mining Industry.

The chief features of the mining industry during the year 1905 were the activity in the Sudbury nickel-copper district, and the rapid development of the silver ore deposits of the Cobalt region. The nickel contents of the Bessemerized matter now produced by the mining works amounted to 9,428 tons, having a spot value of $3,344,409, and the copper contents to 4,382 tons, worth $671,833. This is much the largest production, both of nickel and copper, yet recorded in the history of the Province, and establishes the claim of Ontario to be regarded as the chief source of the world's supply of nickel. The value of this output of nickel and copper, if computed at the prices of the refined metals, in accordance with the practice of other Provinces of the Dominion would be little short of $10,000,000. The nickel-copper industry is also a large user of labour, giving direct employment to upwards of 1,000 men.

The remarkable richness of the Cobalt silver ores has attracted to that district a very large measure of public attention. Some 12 or 15 separate properties have been worked, and the value of the ores shipped during the year in silver, cobalt and nickel amounted to about $1,500,000, the average value of the ore shipped being $685 per ton. Much the greater part of this was in silver, the cobalt, nickel and arsenic which, at the outset, were paid for by the ore buyers, now bringing no return whatever. This unsatisfactory state of affairs has led to a movement on the part of some of the mine owners and others to put up a reduction plant or plants in the country, and thus obtain, if possible, some return for those valuable constituents which at present are yielding them nothing. There was great activity in prospecting the Cobalt district for minerals during the open season, and the advent of spring is likely to see a renewal of this activity on probably a larger scale.

Iron ore to the extent of 211,597 tons was raised during the year, mainly from the great Helen mine in Michipicoten, while the blast furnaces at Sault Ste. Marie, Hamilton, Midland and Deseronto turned out 276,704 tons of pigiron, valued at $3,909,527, a portion of which was converted into 138,387 tons of steel, worth $3,321,884.

Other mineral substances, such as mica, corundum, feldspar, iron purites, petroleum, salt, natural gas and construction materials, including cement, brick, lime, stone, etc. have been produced in about the usual quantities. In all, the mineral industries made very substantial progress in 1905.

Collections.

The total collections from all sources was $2,199,404.76. Of this, $117,289.79 was for lands sold and leased; $2,864,663.91 was from woods and forests; $14,622.55 from mining leases, and miscellaneous, $2,828.51.

Immigration.

The total number of immigrants of all classes from over seas to the Province during the year was 34,958. Of these, 28,316 were English, 4,496 Scotch, 1,765 Irish, 1,130 Russians (including 438 Finns), 761 Scandinavians, and 665 Italians.

PRETTY GIRL'S KISS AND ITS PENALTY

For kissing a stranger in a moment of exuberance an 18-year-old waitress at Tetschen has been sentenced to 14 days' imprisonment. The offfense took place at the railway station a few nights ago, and the injured man complained at once to the police, and the girl was arrested. So impressed was the magistrate with the heinousness of the crime that he increased the severity of the sentence by ordering the girl to fast four days in the fortnight, and also directed that after completing the sentence she should be banished from Bohemia and sent to her home in Dresden.

Mental Arithmetic.

A CITIZEN whose gas bill for a certain month was $6, shut up his house for the next month and got twelve witnesses to prove that not a burner was lighted for thirty-one days. His bill for that month was $6.50. Did he make or lose? If twelve witnesses cannot beat a gas meter, how much will five quarts of kerosene cost at thirteen cents a quart?

LITTLE BELL BIOGRAPHIES

J. S. Bach

JOHANN SEBASTIAN BACH was born in 1685 and died in 1750, aged 65. From childhood he grew up, as all should grow, in an atmosphere of good music in the home. He made such rapid progress in his music lessons that he soon knew more, could play better and compose better than all his teachers.

Bach is the greatest musician that ever lived. He was the inventor; all who came after him were followers or imitators. He wrote nearly 1,000 compositions, founded modern orchestral music, perfected organ methods and choral composition, discovered most of the methods in instrumental composition, rearranged the 24 scales, making it possible to play in every key, and established the chief principles of modern piano playing. No one can hope to become even a good concert pianist who has not first mastered Bach's Inventions, Well-tempered Clavier and Fugues.

To practice or play on Bach had only the clavichord, an instrument small in dimensions, limited in scale, thin and weak in tone as a mandolin, and poor in construction as an old-fashioned melodeon. He had no such beautiful and marvellous instrument as

The Bell Piano

But seated at the sweet, rich, pure toned Bell Art Piano, with its greatest of modern improvements—THE ILLIMITABLE REPEATING ACTION—Bach would have brought forth music lovelier than any the world has yet heard. To all musicians the great Schumann's advice, had he lived in our day, would undoubtedly have been "Make Bach and the Bell Piano your daily bread."

DAIRY METHODS TO BE PROUD OF

The Canadian Dairyman, in its last issue had a picture of a milk stand on the farm of Mr. John Rose, Warsaw, and, referring to it, says:

It shows how careful Mr. Rose has been to prepare a place in which his milk can be properly protected from sun and rain. The spaces in the side of the stand permit air to circulate freely around the cans. This milk stand is located at a safe distance from all undesirable barnyard and other odours, and the milk being kept in pure surroundings is thus assured. It would advance the price of cheese were thousands more of our dairy farmers to erect such milk stands this year. Let the season now opening show a great improvement in this respect.

The "Jolts" and "Jars" of Life are what use people up.

Most people live pretty well up to the limit of their powers, and so long as everything goes smoothly that is apparently all right; but a "jolt" or a "jar" in the shape of business worries, domestic anxieties, or an attack of La Grippe, Pneumonia, Typhoid, or other wasting disease, suddenly reveals the fact that there is a sad lack of reserve force to meet these contingencies and the result is serious, often fatal. A wise man will see to it that his system is fully fortified against sudden attacks. To attain this result nothing is so sure and effective as

FERROL

This fact has been fully established by actual experience. If, therefore, you feel you are not in first-class shape physically, do not fail to take a course of FERROL at once. It contains Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus—just what you need, it is easy to take, never fails, and you

Red Rose Tea Uniformity

A TEA that is good to-day and poor to-morrow is unreliable.

Have you ever noticed variations in the quality of the tea you use? One package good, the next bitter, herby, perhaps weak and insipid.

A lack of expert knowledge by the tasters and blenders of that tea produced that result. There was a failure at a vital point, an ignorance of combining qualities in teas, poor judgment in the blending of that maker's teas, a weakness which invariably gives just such results as your poor tea.

Every chest of Red Rose Tea is tested at the gardens, again by the Eastern Red Rose shippers, then at the Red Rose warehouse upon its arrival before blending; after that an experimental blend is tested, and the final or actual blend is also tested before being packed.

That is why that "rich fruity flavor" is always present in Red Rose Tea.

Why Red Rose Tea is always uniform, why

Red Rose Tea is good Tea

A HAPPY COUPLE; HOW THEY MANAGED

I have found "the happiest couple in Chicago," and last Sunday I spent the day with them, writes a contributor to The Advance. They have been married just 10 years, and are more devoted sweethearts now than they were in the idyllic period of their courtship. Do you wonder how they have managed to keep up after these years the charming illusions of their betrothal days? Well, in the first place, they are ideally mated; their tastes and desires have ever been harmonious, and in all their struggles and joys they have been mutually sympathetic. The little wife likes to mingle with people and acquire a knowledge of the lives of others, and the husband is not a self-absorbed man. In their every experience they have continued to remain thoroughly interesting to each other. Perhaps, after all, this is the secret of married happiness. Devotion, fidelity, attention to duty and other domestic virtues are not sufficient to keep love alive.

My friends live in an apartment, which, it must be admitted, is very tiny, but it is so light and sunny that the "blues" have never even dared put a sly head inside their door. After I had rung my friend's bell I heard a burst of laughter and two merry voices crying, "Oh, do hurry, please. It is all furnished now and you must say it is perfectly beautiful." For a moment I wondered what they meant, and then I remembered that they had never been able to furnish their parlour. While they were very rich in love, they were poor in that commodity which can be exchanged for furniture, so they had graciously received their friends in a cosy corner of the dining-room and kept up their faith in some day having a more attractive living room by frequent peeks at a cherished wedding present—a beautiful antique rug, which they had often declared would be the foundation of their parlour, with everything else built around it.

In truth, that was just what they had done, and the result was exquisitely effective. A comfortable settee, a library table on which was a dull copper jug, and two chairs were in the arts and crafts design. Another chair and a small stand was dark green willow, while their low pine bookcase had been made by a nearby carpenter and artistically stained. The curtain—plain, creamy muslin—hung soft and full just to the window sill; there were no pictures on bric-a-brac, but two graceful ferns. As I looked, my appreciation of this room, which has been furnished with so much mutual care and love, the young husband said, proudly: "We have made a pretty good showing for $60, haven't we? Yes, that represents the cost of our new household goods; incidentally, it meant the new fur Molly was going to have this winter, and an overcoat I had as much as looked at. After a while we are going to have a glazed pottery lamp, an engraving of 'Mona Lisa,' and a Savonarola head; Molly has picked them out already, and stops in the middle of her dishwashing to plan where she'll put them. Oh, this being poor has its compensations. Where would be the joy of living' if we were satiated with luxuries? Well," he continued, as I turned toward a chair, "I do not wonder that you want to sit down in this wonderful room and simply rest. Gaze at everything and then look at Molly and me—the happiest couple in Chicago—who at least have a parlour all our own."

Gin Pills Cure Kidney Troubles.

OR YOUR MONEY BACK.

Read this letter from Mrs. Gargill. Has it not the ring of truth? Does it not describe your own sufferings? And does it not point the way to quick relief?

"For three years I suffered more than I can tell with terrible pains in the small of my back. When I stooped over, it seemed as though I would never be able to straighten up. I tried Kidney Pills for a year and a half, but was getting worse all the time, until advised by my neighbor to try "Gin Pills," as she had been almost similarly affected, and had been completely cured by them. I took three boxes of Gin Pills, and almost from the first dose I began to feel better. Now I am pleased to say I can do as good a day's work as ever in my life without feeling tired out. Before getting Gin Pills I had to have a girl to do my housework, but now I can do it all myself, including the washing. I will always recommend Gin Pills for kidney trouble.

"Mrs. Gargill, Winnipeg, Man."

A Business Man's View Of Pope Pius Tenth

Few Popes have been so accessible as Pius X., and few have been seen by so many Americans, Catholics and non-Catholics, lay and cleric. Indeed, the number of descriptions of Papal audiences appearing periodically in every cross-roads newspaper would almost lead to the conclusion that no American travels abroad without visiting the Vatican and making cozy out of the Great White Father of Christendom, whom this very universality of curiosity proves to be the most interesting figure in the world to men of all creeds.

Amid this flood of "impressions" there is something a little fresh and unconventional in the following breezy letter of a Kansas City business man, whose point of view is typical of his class, and whose expression, if characteristically slangy, has a note of directness and sincerity that convinces. Henry M. Garland is a prominent railway magnate of Kansas City, and he thus describes his view of Pope Pius for the Catholic Register of that city:

"I am not a Catholic, and not prone to rely on first impressions, but if I were to get myself in trouble and wanted to have somebody stiffen me up and fix it so that I would have the nerve to strike out for myself and get on my feet again, and if I could get to him, it is to Pope Pius I would go.

"Leo, being very old, was very feeble, but there is nothing the matter with Pius X., except in the newspapers. Once in a while the gotobolers send out a cable that his health is failing and that they are talking of his successor. Maybe they are, but when I saw him three weeks ago Sunday, he was the personification of good health and physical perfection. He looked like a man, from the little white cap which was perched on the back of his head to the toes of his embroidered slippers. There were 123 others at the reception from all quarters of the globe, so that we might be supposed to fairly represent mankind. The Pope stood head and shoulders above nearly every man there. He is well over six feet in height, broad of shoulder, straight as an infantryman and handsome as they make them. He has a face and head that would make any man turn around to take a second look. If Pius should drop into this hotel lobby tonight and register, in five minutes every man in the place would have looked at the book. There is not an attribute a man ought to have in which the Pope is lacking, so far as I could see.

"It takes a big man to be pope, for he had 3,000 people in the Vatican, 300 of them hardworking clerks, and the church surely got one when it got Pius X."

Relating his experience at the reception at the Vatican, Mr. Garland said:

"In the first place, I had collected letters from every Catholic dignitary I could claim acquaintance with in this country. These I took to Mgr. Kennedy, at the head of the American College in Rome, and as typical and grand an American as they could possible have got over there. Mgr. Kennedy scanned the credentials closely, and then passed me on to the secretary of the Vatican. That official later handed me a card saying that the pope would grant me an audience the following Sunday at 4 o'clock. Half an hour before the appointed time I arrived at the Vatican—which is a collection of a score of buildings — and was halted by the Swiss guards. I had read these guards were to be mustered out. This is a mistake. They are still on duty. The regulations which had been announced called for black clothing, white shirt and white tie. The coat was to have skirts to it. Evening dress only had been the rule while Leo was on the throne. Pius allows frocks, cutaways or evening dress. For women the regulations provided for black, high-necked dresses, no hair ornaments and the veil in lieu of a bonnet. We were ushered into the audience room, a place about 150x50 feet, and containing 150 chairs. There were 123 in the party. After we had been seated some little time a clergyman came in and signaled us to rise, speaking in Italian at the same time. We were scarcely up before the door—the same one through which we had entered—opened and in came another priest, followed almost immediately by the Pope. The master of ceremonies, the first of the priests to arrive, directed us to kneel. This we did just as the Pope arrived. Halting to survey the audience, the Pope walked to the beginning of the receiving line, which was almost all around the room, and extending his right hand, permitted his guests to kiss his ring. He moved on to the next visitor, and so in due time the Pope came to me. Being a non Catholic, I was perhaps more observing than I should have been. I particularly looked at the ring, about which columns have been published. It proved to be an emerald, the size of the pupil of an eye surrounded by diamonds, worn on the great finger of the right hand.

"The Pope was clad from crown to sole in white. His hair, once gray, is as white as driven snow and as soft as silk, quite thickly grown and well combed. I never saw a more striking looking man in all my travels, nor a more benign face. It may be unecclesiastical, but it is none the less expressive, to say that Pius X. is the sort of a man to hand out a jolly to help a brother along, and the jolly would be effective.

"As the Pope made his round he stopped to converse with many. Those who had anything to say to him said it. I do not know what they talked about. As he speaks Latin, English a little, French fluently, and several other languages, not to omit his native tongue, he could talk to very many. I said not a word to him, but there was everything in his bearing to prompt a greeting.

"After the round had been made the Pope found himself once more at the door of the throne room, whereupon he turned, and making the sign of the cross with his right hand, raised it, two fingers extended, and administered his blessing.

"I wanted to go after him and take hold of that big, honest hand of his and give it a good grip, just to let the Pope know that I thought he was entitled to it for his radiant manner and kindly solicitude. Without a smile, the Pope's face expressed the essence of kindness and tenderness. Three weeks away from him, and having been in his presence less than twenty minutes, and after a long experience on boards myself, I should venture that Pius X. is the sort of a man who would reorganize a big insurance company in a week and have a host of directors begging him to run things and policy-holders asking for additional policies — everybody feeling that everything was all right at last.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Can you please inform me, through the medium of your valuable paper, what are the composite ingredients, as revealed by a chemical analysis, of the liquified essence which the citizens of Peterborough are obliged to regard as city water?

I have imbibed freely of almost every beverage known to the brewing fraternity—I have partaken of the streams of the hillside and valley—muddy creeks and swampy marshes—but never has my internal machanism shown such a rebellious obstinancy as when I assay to quench my thirst with a draught from the waterworks tap.

Like most other poisonous drinks, the danger is not in the drinking, but in the after effects. One can manage to get a little past the pallet—sometimes—but after having swallowed an ounce or two one naturally tries to think of all the enemies he ever had, makes a wry face and — doesn't express (for lack of adjectives) what he thinks of the Water Commissioners.

If you can only assure me that the city water does not contain any filthy contamination, I will persevere in my attempts to take it in small doses, like medicine, but otherwise I shall be compelled to break my temperance pledge.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I am,

Yours dryly,

FARMER.

Talks on Orange Meat

(The Pure Food)

Popping Corn and Popping Wheat

Ever pop corn? Take a handful of tiny grains—heat them over the fire—and you have "about a peck" of pop-corn.

Corn is pretty nearly all carbo-hydrates, or starch. And it would take a lot of chewing to break up all the tiny cells so that the starch could be acted on by saliva in the mouth and be converted into sugars. Heat does it better than chewing.

Wheat is 75% carbohydrates. Like popcorn, the tough cell walls in wheat are broken by heat. That is why we cook the wheat in making ORANGE MEAT. It goes in huge steam cookers under 20 pounds steam pressure. Steam and moisture soften the cell tissues—the heat causes the starch to swell and burst the cells—the carbohydrates are free. That is why Dyspeptics, Rheumatics and all who can't eat "starchy" foods, may enjoy ORANGE MEAT. By adding malt, all the starch is converted into wheat sugar.

Orange Meat

Orange Meat weighs ⅓ more than any other package. 15c. and 25c. a package. At all grocers. Mercerized paper lining of the cartons insure Orange Meat being always fresh, crisp and clean. 15c. pkg. contains a coupon, good for premiums. 25c. size contains 2½ times as much as 15c. size. Write "Orange Meat, Kingston," for new premium catalogue.

Nature's Own Great Skin Healer

Ancient Greece and Rome will always be remembered for the fine types of manhood found on the battlefields and in their arenas; but perhaps these manly men themselves will be mostly remembered because of the valuable custom they bequeathed to later ages of healing sore and injured places on their bodies by the external application of secret balms or salves. The charioteers, gladiators and wrestlers seldom emerged from their contests without some severe bruise or gaping wound; and to anoint each injury carefully with their favorite balm was an indispensable part of the day's programme. If we go back in history we find that this external rubbing has prevailed right from the earliest times, and the only explanation of its survival, amidst so many changes in science, seems to lie in the fact that the external use of salves and balms is dictated to us by Nature herself. Our own instinct tells us to rub a part that hurts; and in Zam-Buk the ideal substance to apply to an injured or diseased surface is universally believed to have been found at last. The objection to ointments, salves, liniments and embrocations has hitherto been that they are imperfect in their action, and frequently contain quantities of rancid animal fat and mineral products of a harmful nature. A simple yet novel theory provided the way out of the difficulty. This was that Nature, having given to man the instinct to rub, might well be supposed to have secreted somewhere the proper substance to rub with, and a search amongst certain rare medicinal herbs showed how some of them could be made to yield gums and juices possessing healing, soothing and antiseptic properties of a wonderful order. Many experiments were made with mixtures or blendings of these juices, and Zam-Buk, a combination with astonishing powers as a healer and antiseptic, was eventually secured.

Whoever watches the healing of a wound or sore with Zam-Buk is face to face with one of Nature's greatest wonders. The healing process thus set in motion is nothing but a phenomenon of regeneration—a natural process of replacing destroyed tissues by new ones. The antiseptic substances contained in Zam-Buk first attack and kill off the microbes or germs that are the cause of inflammation of disease, and then the healing ingredients proceed to build up new tissue to replace that which has been damaged or lost. New cells appear like a builder extending a new row of houses; the whole of the wounded area is gradually overlapped, and soon it is difficult to tell where the injury has been, so perfect and complete is the growth of the new skin.

Zam-Buk is a household necessity. For skin disease, or injuries in home, factory, field or work-shop, Zam-Buk can be confidently recommended as well for its general efficacy as for its wholesomeness, its power and purity.

To the woman in the home Zam-Buk is the "good-fairy." Are her hands raw and chapped—she rubs in Zam-Buk. Are her feet sore with being on them all day—Zam-Buk cools and eases. An eruption breaks out on her face—Zam-Buk removes all skin disfigurements like magic. Baby's skin is chafing and hot—Zam-Buk is the purest and most wholesome emollient known. Her little boy cuts his finger, or her daughter burns her hand—Zam-Buk again is the healer. The father at the factory, or on the farm, gets a nasty cut or bruise—Zam-Buk stops bleeding, stops the smarting, allays inflammation and heals.

So it comes about that Zam-Buk is the greatest and most universally used balm in all the countries where it has been introduced. You are now for the first time offered the opportunity of purchasing it in Canada.

ECZEMA CURED

A Toronto Man's Experience

Mr. George Rhinehart, of 210 Wilton Avenue, Toronto, says: "Eczema broke out on my arm, the calf of my leg, and on the back of both hands. I had sore and inflamed patches on these parts, which caused me great pain and which, despite all the ointments and salves I tried, showed no signs of getting better. My wife advised me try Zam-Buk, which, being purely herbal, we thought would be better than anything else we had tried. I bought a box, and it proved to be so. Zam-Buk from the first improved my condition, and in a short time rid me of all trace of eczema. The sores are now completely healed, Zam-Buk having succeeded in effecting a cure when all else had failed."

Zam-Buk "RUB IT IN"

The Adventurers

By H. B. MARRIOTT WATSON

COPYRIGHT, 1898, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

The next event in that continuous chain that drew us henceforth forthright to the dreadful close of that evening and when we were the least expecting so odd a turn to the fair. We had spent the night hunting Sercombe, and so, too, had Jones. We were now to find him. It was some time after 6 o'clock of a very black and ominous day that I spied him from the windows of my library crossing the drawbridge and passing under the archway of the guardroom. At 5 Sheppard pointed out to me the face of a man looking from the bushes, and just upon that comes in Montgomery with the tidings that a police officer was in waiting by the gates.

"What the deuce does he want?" I growled. "I'll let them know better than to trespass on my grounds."

"I thought I knew the face," said Sheppard. "Let's settle him. It means that we're watched."

We hurried out, but the picket was gone. Perhaps he had his orders, or it might be that he had already exceeded them.

Six o'clock, as I say, had struck, and it must have been twenty minutes later when Sercombe came up the drive. I ran down the stairway to meet him, with the one thought in my head that he had escaped the police by a few minutes. I wanted to warn him of his danger. I have never to this day believed that Sercombe had any hand in Williams' death nor that he was privy to it. In fact, I am quite certain that neither he nor Hood knew anything about the assassination and that they were equally startled with ourselves and perhaps quite as much put about. The Greeks alone were responsible.

As the man drew near me I saw for the first time the change upon his face. The color, which was always high, had fallen sickly and presented either a ghastly green or pallid redness to the eye. His great mustache was ragged and blow in wisps about his mouth. His clothes, which he was wont to wear in excellent style and condition, were dusty, torn and soiled. He had, to my astonished eye, the air of a drunken lunatic, and his unsteady oaths and his uncertain gait deepened the impression on me. He came up to the door and put out a hand, as if groping for the bell; but, though I stood by, he did not seem to notice me.

"Sercombe!" I called in amazement.

He passed his hand across his eyes. "Is that you, Mr. Greatorex? Excuse me, sir; I see badly. My eyes— Get me in, for God's sake!" he concluded, almost in a whine.

I took his arm and assisted him into the nearest room, when he sank into a chair, breathing his exhaustion.

"I'll tell you what, Mr. Greatorex," he said presently, staring about him, "you're a good sort—if that's news. But what price would you put upon Hood now?"

The man was plainly beyond himself with fatigue or pain, or both, and so I produced a glass and some brandy from the cupboard and poured out a dose. I seemed to see at a bound the color jump into his distempered face. It swung back into his cheeks, and his bloodshot eyes beamed on me.

"I feel better for that," he said genially, "and I could do with some food too."

"You shall have some directly," I answered. "It is preparing now. But see here, Captain Sercombe, I must warn you that you are in danger."

"Danger!" he echoed and appeared to start in his chair. I could see that the man's nerve was altogether broken.

"Yes; the police have a warrant out for you. Something to do with Williams, I believe."

Sercombe's head dropped on his knee. "I see it now," he muttered. "That was his game." He looked up at me and curled his mustache with his fingers.

"Well, I fancy, Mr. Greatorex, that I've come from greater danger than that. I can't quite count the police. Oh, no!" And he laughed a little.

"They are outside keeping guard upon the castle," I explained, and I moved to the window and looked out. "I cannot think how you escaped them."

"What! Are you, too, in disgrace?" laughed Sercombe in his old fashion then, more quietly: "I tell you, I'm not afraid of the police. What have I done? I defy them to pin a suspicion on me. I know to whom I owe this, and make no bones about it. I don't forget. I might have seen it coming—perhaps I did—but that didn't trouble me."

He sank into a chair, breathing his exhaustion.

"I should be wiser, Captain Sercombe, if I knew where this led," said I.

He pondered, eying me. "Sir, I will tell you presently. If I may have that food you spoke of I think I shall be in a better way to talk with you."

At that moment the gong sounded in the hall.

"You have your answer," I replied. "We are just going to dine, and I hope you will give us the pleasure of your company."

You may easily imagine the amazement with which my two companions received this strange visitant. He was certainly the last person we had expected to be entertaining in an amicable fashion. But neither interfered with any questions, Montgomery out of dogged loyalty to myself and Sheppard out of a reasoning intelligence. Sercombe looked out on life with his own eyes once more, but yet he showed certain signs of discomposure, more particularly in the way in which he hurried through his food.

"I'm mighty empty," he explained. "I've had a long tramp." But he ventured no further communication on that subject at the time. Presently, however, he put down his knife and fork and broke out unexpectedly.

"Mr. Greatorex, in the Swan some time ago you made me a proposal."

"I did," said I.

"A little later I approached you with a counter proposal. Can't we make the basis of an agreement still?"

"I think that is quite practicable," I answered. "We might make a basis, but the question is, Should we keep to it?"

Sercombe studied his glass. "I understand you," he said. "I take you. But I admit to you that things are changed since then—changed. I will impress upon you, with you as well as with me."

I bowed. The others sat silent, waiting with interest what might be forthcoming.

"Once before we tabled our cards, Mr. Greatorex," said Sercombe. "I think it would be wise if we were to do so again."

"I understand you to hold all the trumps," said I.

"Ah," said he, "that's the rub. I don't say no. But what I wish to put to you is this: What is it worth to you if I can lay your hands on that treasure?"

"I think this was the problem I was confronted with at the Woodman, Captain Sercombe," I replied.

"It was," said he. "And then I put a price on myself, which was share and share with your party."

I considered his statement. Sheppard's eyes telegraphed at me across the table. What in the world had brought us to this pass? It was not Sercombe's tardy repentance, nor was it a heroic act of generosity offered out of friendliness. No; the split I had anticipated had come about—the thieves had fallen out. And I now began to put a point on Sercombe's condition and Sercombe's visit. If this were so and the partners had quarreled, I felt that we stood to gain a great deal.

"I remember you asked a high price," I said. "You raised your conversion, let us say, very highly."

"I did," he said easily, "and I do now. I ask you, is your case any better? Indeed, I think it is a good deal worse, and you know well enough that if you make no terms with me you will not see a gold piece of that hoard this side of judgment day. I am being frank with you."

"I thank you for your frankness," I answered, "and I, am equally open with you when I remind you that if you make no terms with us you have as little chance of that same hoard as ourselves."

"Very well, sir," he said cheerily. "Then isn't it obvious to you that we should find a compromise?"

"I agree," I said, "and upon these terms only—that you stand in to take your part—a quarter and no more."

He stuck out his hand as if he were presenting a pistol.

"Done!" he said, and there was a note of satisfaction in his voice. "And, gentlemen, if I needed witnesses, here are you three."

The note of eagerness in his usually equable tones surprised me, and I knew all of us were agog with excitement to learn the meaning of this curious piece of treachery. But as there could be no doubt now as to our right to enlightenment, since we were all committed to a common cause, I put the question bluntly.

And here I set down the story that Sercombe had to tell as nearly as may be in the words in which he told us that evening as we sat round the table.

CHAPTER XX.

"YOU will remember," said Sercombe, "that the last time I saw you was when we rode back to the Woodman with that cart before us. You know well enough what was there. Well, I didn't even inquire if you had looked. But I guess I know a smart man when I see him, and, Mr. Greatorex, I took off my hat to you on that same occasion—the more particularly as you served me to a nicety. I was near done on that event—as close a shave it was as I have ever seen. I thought I had my eyes sharply set in my head, and I think I have, but Mr. Hood needs four eyes on him, and one in the middle besides. He had me in the nair light, and I found he meant to bolt for it. We got those trinkets out by the passage, and a nasty job it was.

"Well, Hood nearly got away that time, and if he had, we might have whistled for him long enough. It isn't as if I didn't know the man. He was valet to me ten years back. I took him through Chile, and we were together in the Italian trouble. That's how he got the notion of using me. We've been in some tight corners before, but I never saw him at his worst till now. Hood's a gem. He's a special creation. By thunder, gentlemen, your notion of Hood is that of a mouth old child's! I know him, and I wish to know no more of his kidney. Well, no use to dwell on that. You'll see I had reason."

"One thing captain," I interposed. "How did Hood know of this treasure?"

"Know?" said Sercombe. "Why, he wouldn't be a day in Jerusalem without smelling out some mystery. He has a nose like a pointer's. He routed out a page of the old gentleman's diary, and Hood's way is not to leave to others what he can take for himself. I tell you that he hung on to the old chap day by day, until it got too hot for him and he was sacked, but even then old Kesteven kept his tongue quiet. It wasn't to his interest to speak the truth, and Hood and he, as I understood, were as civil as oranges. Mr. Greatorex can tell you. But then came that affair of the paper, and if it hadn't been for your sharp ears, Mr. Greatorex, he'd have got what he wanted even if he had had to stab the old man to his reins. But that failure threw him back, and that was when he wrote to me and I beat up the Greeks.

"Well, Hood fetched the cart up at the inn, and there was that mess about the servant, poor devil! This confounded me, but Hood saw the advantage, and, you being taken up with the crowd, whipped off his nag. By and by he comes down upon me and gives me the tip, and Stambouloe and I got away with the booty. If I say that I would have served him as he had tried to serve me there's no use will blame me. But the fact was he had got over my Greeks. That was the pinch.

"We got away through the forest and came by a place with a cavern, where the Greeks were in hiding. There we stowed cart and all. It was a snug hole, but I've never yet fathomed the hold that Hood had over those beasts that they let the stuff alone. But they did, and that's one to the man, bootblack, valet and cutthroat that he is. In that hole we lay for a day or two, and the news came that the police were out, but I imagined it was the Greeks they wanted, not me; not that I should have minded. Finally, the morning before this, up popped Hood about 3 o'clock, when all were asleep, and tapped me on the shoulder. I sleep pretty lightly, and I was out and talking with him in a minute or two.

"'This weed's safer than I thought,' he said. 'We can move when we like. I have filled Jones with stories, and we can make a bold stroke now that the castle is quiet. They've had enough for a time, I think, and, what with the police, they'll have enough to do to look after themselves, as I have arranged it. Can you ride lightly?' said he.

"'A little,' said I, 'as you ought to know.'

"'Yes, sir; I forgot,' said he, falling unconsciously into the old habit of a servant. 'Well, suppose we rush for it, now all's clear?'

"'What's your game?' I asked.

"'I've got a boat down by the Bay,' he said, 'and we can make for the channel.'

"'Well, it sounds good,' I replied, 'though it's risky. But the Greeks are all sailors, and we can manage at a shift.'

"At that he looked rather queerly at me and was silent. He moved off a bit and peeped into the cavern through the bushes; then he came back. 'They sleep pretty sound,' he said and again gave me an odd glance.

"'What is it?' I asked, for I knew his ways and that there must be something underneath.

"'The Greeks are a nuisance,' he observed, watching me. 'We can do well enough without them.'

"I thought I began to see now, and said I: 'I am not in much need of them myself, but how can we give them the slip? We can't fetch out the cart and harness and get away without waking the whole brood.'

"'No,' said he softly; 'I wasn't thinking of that.'

"'Well, let's have it,' said I.

"He stared at me a moment. 'We don't want any evidence against us, and we don't want partners,' he said.

"'We don't,' I agreed.

"'There's another way out,' he said, with his furtive eyes upon me.

To be continued next Saturday.

A RIGHT WAY and A WRONG WAY

Many people have many ways to bring about the same result. Most of them are mistaken ways, but this is not known until the test of time points plainly to the error. Practically there are but two ways to accomplish anything; a right way and a wrong way. Take, for instance, a man with a bad back, there are lots of them, and of various kinds, some with stiches and twitches, others with cricks and twinges; then there's the dull, heavy continuous kind that lasts all day and doesn't sleep at night. They're all bad enough, they're all hard enough to get rid of. Some people rub the back with liniment, others cover it with plasters, either or both means often bring relief, but the pain comes back—it's the wrong way to cure the trouble.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

have a way to cure backache, a way that's all their own—the right way. They're made for the kidneys only. When the kidneys fail in their work of filtering the blood the back aches because they are situated in the small of the back; backache is the kidney's warning of trouble, and every day you let the warning go it brings you nearer to urinary disorders, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, etc.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure every form of kidney ills and that's why they bring such quick relief from backache. Mr. Fred Gray, Good Corner, N.B., writes: "I was greatly troubled with pain across my back. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and received so much benefit from them that I consider them the best remedy for kidney trouble there is. I would not be without them in my house."

Dummer Farmers Well Pleased With The Present Outlook

Seeding Operations Practically Completed Saturday—Wheat, for the Most Part, Wintered Well—Normal Height of Water Did Not Cause Trouble to Mill-Owners—Cheese Factory Opens the Season.

Special to The Examiner

Warsaw, May 4th. — The new feature, as announced by the Examiner on Monday last, of issuing at one o'clock on Saturday, will be well received here. Heretofore, on account of being an evening paper, the subscribers here did not receive their papers until the day following that of publication, while they will now be printed in time to arrive here on Saturday, the same day as issued. Of course Thursday will still be known as Examiner day, but the change will give the readers of the daily later news than the Toronto papers.

Farmers Pleased.

These are busy days for the farmers. The exceptionally fine, dry, weather has rushed the seeding along and by the end of the week a great many will be finishing. It is very seldom that the land looks so well at this season of the year, and even the low lands are drying out ready for seeding.

The fall wheat seems to be doing well, although portions have been winter killed.

No High Water.

Mr. Wason, proprietor of the mills, has not had the usual trouble with high water this spring. The small rain and snow fall during the winter months no doubt being the cause.

Mr. A. Watts is reported to be convalescent and will be home next week.

The taffy social given by the Hall's Glen Epworth League on Tuesday evening was a decided success. After the "pull" a delightful entertainment was given. The proceeds amounted to nearly $14.

On Thursday last, April 26th, Rev. F. S. Steedmon commenced a series of lectures, the subject being an "Exposition of the Pilgrim's Progress." The lectures will be delivered in the Baptist church, at 8 o'clock p.m. on every alternate Thursday.

Friday was a holiday in the school, on account of the teacher, Mr. Mattice, changing his place of residence.

Mr. Reg. G. Hendren has opened a branch furniture and undertaking establishment at Westwood.

Cheese Factory Opens.

The Warsaw Cheese and Butter Co. commenced the manufacture of cheese on Monday last.

The local Orange Lodge is having some interior improvements made to the hall in the way of a metallic sheeting.

The saw mill was closed this week for the season.

Personal Items.

Mr. F. Morgan has rented the farm owned by Mrs. Jas. Cooper and will work it this year.

Dr. Gray of Smith's Falls, returned home on Friday having spent a few days as the guest of Dr. Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Marr, who have purchased a house in Lakefield, left on Wednesday with their household effects.

Messrs. A. Helps and A. Mitchell were in Westwood on Wednesday taking part in the sucker bee.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McPherson leave here on Wednesday next for Toronto, where they will reside.

Rev. G. Nickle and Rev. F. S. Steedman will exchange work on Sunday, May 6th, in the Methodist church. Mr. Nickle will deliver a special sermon to mothers and and babies.

New Use Found For Puffed Rice

Chesbro Uses Breakfast Foods to Keep the Ball Dry.

The New York World says:—A new use has been found for breakfast foods. During the recent baseball series between the Washington team and the New Yorks rain began falling about the fifth inning. "Spit-ball" Chesbro was pitching. The ball was wet and he could not handle it, and the batters were falling on him like a ton of brick.

"Bring some sawdust!" yelled the pitcher.

The groundkeeper skirmished around and finding none, came out with a number of packages under his arm. He handed Chesbro a package of puffed rice. The pitcher rubbed the ball in it and struck out the batter.

"Here's another package," the groundkeeper said, tossing over another.

This time it was fretted wheat. Chesbro used a package of breakfast food with every ball until he had consumed all the samples of breakfast foods which the groundkeeper had collected during the winter.

"I think that puffed rice and fretted wheat are superior to sawdust," Chesbro said when he finished his game.

Climbed Fire Escape To See Seminary Girls

A Kalamazoo Escapade—Result is Warrant for Arrest of Two Young Men — A Michigan Young Woman's Institute Sensation.

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 4.—Because, as is officially stated, they climbed up a fire escape at Michigan seminary at night and visited two young women pupils of that institution, warrants for two young men were sworn out by Dr. John Gray, president, and one young man was landed in court yesterday. Another, who is an Ann Arbor, is to be arrested, officials state, and will be brought here. The technical charge is disorderly conduct.

Earl Goodenow, aged 19 or 20 years, son of George I. Goodenow, is the young man in Ann Arbor. Mrs. Goodenow is president of the Twentieth Century Club. The son is a student at the State university.

Ford Monnich, aged 18, son of A. G. Monnich, is the one who was nailed to court yesterday, and was released in $100 bonds. Monnich's father is a cigarmaker, and lately removed here from Flint.

One of the young women was formerly of Chicago, but is now a resident of Kalamazoo. It is known that she has been suspended from the seminary. The other girl is from Augusta, Mich., daughter of a prominent family. It cannot be learned whether she has been suspended or not.

The two climbing visitors went up the seminary fire escape the night of April 17. It is related that Dr. Gray saw figures on the ladder and called in the police. By the time the officers got there the visitors were safe in the room of a seminary student who was away on a visit. Her room had been prepared for the reception by the two seminary girls who figure in the story. In some manner the seminary authorities procured a confession from a participant in the lark, when the warrants followed.

OFFERS TO HELP BUILD THE HOUSE OF REFUGE

Some ten years ago, Mr Henry Johnston, of Hastings, offered to the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, a generous gratuity towards the erection of a House of Refuge, if built five years from the time of his offer, with the stipulation that it must be built either at Hastings or in the vicinity of Cobourg. Mr. Johnston's offer had lapsed before the counties took action last November, deciding to build a new jail and convert the present jail into a House of Refuge, and he has renewed his offer if the structure is built within the year 1906. The present jail cost the counties it is said, about $90,000, and was built in 1830 for a place in which to hold court for the Newcastle district, so it possesses considerable historic value and interest. All the courts and councils were held there until the town hall was built. Northumberland County at the time reached from the Trent River in the east to what is now the western boundary of the township, and from Lake Ontario as far north as there was any settlers, included East and West Peterborough.—Warkworth Journal.

Industrial Activity IN VILLAGE OF HASTINGS Is Surprisingly Large

Mr. Andrew Cameron, President of Hastings Trent Canal Association, Prepares Some Valuable Information—Exports and Imports Total $1,732—The Benefits That Would Accrue From Construction of Canal.

Mr. Andrew Cameron, the energetic president of the Hastings Trent Canal Association has prepared some very valuable information concerning the industrial activity of that village, showing therefrom, the benefits that would accru from the completion of the Trent Canal.

It was Mr. Cameron's intention to present these facts to the Minister at the time the delegation was in Ottawa, a few weeks ago, but time did not afford the opportunity for every municipality to present their case in such detailed form. However, these figures were submitted to the Minister of Railways and Canals before Mr. Cameron left Ottawa and no doubt left their impression upon the mind of the Minister.

Mr. Cameron has spent a good deal of time in studying up the advantages of the Trent Canal as a waterway. In fact there were such enthusiastic men in every town and village along the route the early completion of the canal would be assured.

Mr. Cameron has prepared the following interesting figures concerning the imports and exports in and out of the village of Hastings:—

SON AND DAUGHTER PRAISE THEM

A Father Tells how Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cured Both His Son and Daughter who Suffered from Acute Indigestion.

"Dieting" is quite useless as a cure for indigestion. The more you worry yourself about what you ought to eat the worse you will be. The only way to cure dyspepsia is to get at the cause of it—the stomach. And the only medicine that can be relied upon to cure indigestion is Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Hear what Mr. Michael Norman, of Red Island, Richmond Co., N. S., says regarding his experience of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I cannot praise them too highly," he says, "for both my son and daughter suffered agonies from indigestion and after using six boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets they were quite cured and have had no sign of the old trouble returning."

WINTER WHEAT REPORTED GOOD

Contrary to the generally accepted idea that lack of snow, is injurious to fall wheat, comes the announcement that the crop appears to have wintered remarkably well according to the reports received at the Parliament Buildings. While the top is for the most part well browned up, the roots are said to be uninjured, and though delayed in early growth, the outlook is, on the whole, favourable.

Tom Tit's Experiments

REVEALING THE WONDERS OF THE WATERS

MOST of you boys and girls live close enough to bodies of water to be able to put in practice what Tom Tit talks to you about today.

When you reflect with Tom Tit that close to three-fourths of the earth's surface is covered with water, you will wonder with him if it is not true that about three-fourths of the earth's wonders are not floating or concealed under that great expanse of water.

Let us experiment today with an article by means of which we may take a peep into the great concealed part of Nature's storehouse and discover some of the curiosities floating there.

Dan Beard calls this contrivance a "water telescope"—a very good word for it. It is made of either wood or metal, and when one end of it is partly submerged you can plainly see objects in the water which are hidden from the naked eye. Indeed, you will be surprised and delighted to find how far and how much you can see under the water by this simple means. The fishermen of Norway would not make the use of it that they do if it were not a practical article that will disclose the presence of schools of fish, for instance.

Now suppose we construct our water telescope out of wood. Take four boards—the longest you can get from your lumber yard—ten or twelve inches wide, and put them together to make a long box with open ends. If you are skilful enough to do a little planing or sawing, you might taper the boards off at one end so as to make the box a little smaller at one (the peeping end) than at the other (the submerged end).

Fit a piece of glass into the larger end, then apply putty to every seam and crack and end up by painting the whole thing, for it must be watertight. It is now ready for use.

If you would like a telescope of metal, use tin shaped in the form of a funnel, from three or four to ten or twelve feet long, as suits your wishes. Be sure to make the smaller end amply large for both eyes. Tack lead sinkers to the larger end, so as to make that end easier to submerge. Paint the inside black—otherwise the light reflections will disturb you.

You can probably find a round piece of glass to fit into the larger end, but if you cannot, then make or get a tinner to make a square piece of tin to be fitted on to the large end of the funnel, provided with a square piece of glass and the whole made watertight by means of lead soldered into all the seams.

Take one of these telescopes on your next boating party. If the water is not too deep you can have the pleasure of seeing the very bottom of the river or pond and watching the panorama of marine life going on there.

THE WHEELBARROW RACE

YESTERDAY Jennie and I had more fun than I can tell you joining in the wheelbarrow race with the Snyder and Gregory children.

Jennie is a trump. For, while we were going lickity-split down the hill, what do you think? Why, she spilt out! But she didn't cry a tear.

Instead of that, she picked herself up quick before any one could help her, and scrambled back into the wheelbarrow—she didn't even lose her dolly. And then I ran on as fast as I could go, and we won the race, so we did. Don't you think Jennie's a trump?

Tomorrow we're going to have some more wheelbarrow racing. It is jolly fun, I tell you. The only thing I don't like about it is having to push the wheelbarrow up to the top of the hill again each time. But it isn't so bad, after all, for, of course, Jennie walks up.

Golden Egg Susan

HOW A BOY MADE MONEY FOR CHARITY

"MOTHER," said Ben Mason, when he returned from Sunday school, "Miss Smith told us boys the pitifulest story today. She went to see an old woman and her old husband that she had heard of, and found them sitting hand in hand—oh! so poor, and almost starved!—in a little bit of an attic room; and they used to be well off, but their friends all died, and they had bad luck and got old and feeble; and now they would be dead if the neighbors—poor folks themselves—didn't give them a little to eat now and then."

"Dear, dear!" murmured Mrs. Mason, with a look of deep interest and sympathy, "what does Miss Smith propose to do to help them?"

"Why, she says some ladies have talked with her, and they want to raise $50 to pay for a room in that Old Folks' Home at Darleigh, you know. If they can do that, then the old man and woman will be happy and comfortable the rest of their lives. And Miss Smith told them she would ask her Sunday school boys to raise $50. There are ten of us—that makes $5 for each boy to raise."

"Hm! That is a large sum. Did you promise?"

"Yes; but I'm blessed if I know just how I'm going to raise my $5, for Miss Smith asked us to earn our money. She says money we've worked to earn will be real giving."

"And she is quite right, Ben."

"But how to go about it?"

"Have you any money?"

"Yes, a little in my savings bank."

Ben ran to the library for the bank, and, emptying the contents, counted 6 cents, 10, 65, $1.05 in all.

"Well, think it over, Ben, and ask father's advice tonight."

Father's advice was to raise chickens and eggs.

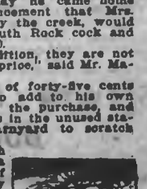
"For, Ben, that is an investment that you can realise on in four months' time. But it requires daily and religiously careful attention. You must keep out dogs, cats, rats and dirt."

"I'll do it, dad," cried Ben, enthusiastically.

The following day he came home with the announcement that Mrs. Williams, down by the creek, would sell him a Plymouth Rock cock and setting hen for $1.50.

"If in good condition, they are not expensive at that price," said Mr. Mason.

So, with a loan of forty-five cents from his father to add to his own money, Ben made the purchase, and installed the fowls in the unused stable, with the barnyard to scratch around in.



On scraps from the table and a daily handful of fine corn and plenty of fresh drinking water, Caesar and Susan, as Ben named them, thrived at a rate to make the boy's heart swell with pride.

Two weeks of brooding quiet! Then one morning Susan's subdued "Cluck-cluck!" was heard, and Ben, rushing to her side, heard a faint "Peep, peep," which meant the early emergence of fifteen little chicks, if all the eggs proved productive.

Sure enough, by noontime, thirteen—not fifteen—fluffy yellow chickens had made their appearance and struck wondering acquaintance with the barnyard world.

All day Ben hovered around his precious possessions, admiring them and inviting in the neighbor boys to admire them.

"Better nail an extra board in the corner of your yard yonder," advised Jim Bates. "See our dog peeping in? He won't do a thing to those chicks if he gets at them!"

"Whew!" whistled Ben. "I'll do that right away," which he did forthwith.

Then, for fear of smaller predatory animals—cats, rats, etc.—he stopped up every hole and every crevice that he could find anywhere.

"Good, Ben!" said his father, when he reported these precautions that night; "it's good business sense you are showing. See if Susan does not repay your care by laying golden eggs for you."

"Golden eggs!" repeated Ben. "Why, dad, hens don't lay gold eggs!"

"Ha, ha!" laughed both his father and mother, much amused at Ben's dead earnestness and literalness.

"In other words, my boy, Susan, if she is a grateful mother, will reward you for your pains by raising a good, healthy family of spring chickens and laying an egg every day for you; and you can convert her chickens and eggs into money. So, in that sense, it would not be improper, I hope, to call her Golden-egg Susan."

Next day Ben came in with a long face, a half-dead chicken in his hands.

"Forgot in left the gate open. Jim's dog got in 'n nearly killed the poor little thing before I could drive him out!" he explained, half in tears.

"Oh, the poor, little thing!" sympathised mother. "But perhaps good nursing will save it. Let me see—ah! there are no broken bones! Yes, it may recover."

And so it did, thanks to a nice, soft nest in a basket close to the kitchen fire and a healing application of warm vaseline to its wounds.

After that no further dreadful accidents occurred, Ben having learned the lesson of caution. In a few days Susan graciously signified her willingness to contribute a daily egg to Ben's accumulating treasure.

"Bless her gizzard, she's proving herself, indeed, a golden-egg Susan!" reported Ben joyfully at the supper table.

Surely, no boy ever had a better behaved hen than Susan. She was as reliable a hen as ever lived, faithfully mothering the chickens, and never forgetting to lay a nice, large egg in the nest provided by her young master.

In due course of time the thirteen chickens grew to the spring-broiler stage, and ten of them went to Mr. Bates' grocery at 70 cents apiece.

"Seven dollars!" proudly announced Ben, jingling the silver coins in his pocket.

Add to that the eight dozen eggs that Susan had laid—

And drawing a soiled memorandum slip from his pocket, Ben read off the entries aloud:

One dozen eggs sold to Mr. Bates...	25c.
One dozen eggs sold to Mr. Bates...	24c.
One dozen eggs sold to Mr. Bates...	25c.
One dozen eggs sold to Mr. Bates...	27½c.
One dozen eggs sold to Mr. Bates...	25c.
One dozen eggs sold to Mr. Bates...	27½c.
One dozen eggs sold to Mr. Bates...	24c.
One dozen eggs sold to Mr. Bates...	25c.
Total, eight dozen.....	$1.80½

"So you have made, all told—?" asked his mother.

"All told—eight dollars, eighty-three and a half cents," said Ben, "and when I've returned to dad the 45 cents I borrowed from him and deducted my original investment of the dollar from my savings bank, I have made a net profit of seven dollars, thirty-eight and a half cents—over two dollars more than I promised to give. Hurrah! Oh, mother! won't Miss Smith open her eyes when I hand in seven shining silver dollars!"

"Seven! Are you going to give seven, Ben?"

"Sure, I am! What else did Susan earn the money for?"

That night it was a very happy boy who sang the praises of Golden-egg Susan in the ears of his father; and the next Sunday it was a very much surprised and pleased Sunday school teacher who heard the story and received the evidence of what Golden-egg Susan had contributed through Ben Mason to the happiness of two old people!

POLLY EVANS.

Benny's Land Sailboat

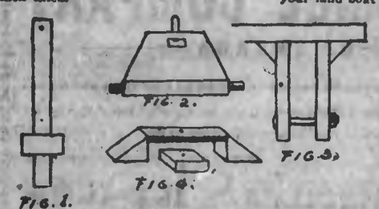
MORE than one boy has been inquiring for plans to make a land sailboat. So Polly Evans provides good plans today.

For land sailboating, you must have a good stretch of road, boys; don't forget that. It is dangerous sport for crowded streets.

You can have almost as many different varieties of the land sailboat as there are varieties of the water boats.

But we will consider only one kind today. If you are clever, you can devise some other forms out of your own mind.

Figure 1 shows the bed of your wagon, which is made of two pieces of board, one five or six feet long and six inches wide, the other two feet long and eight inches wide. Each should be at least an inch thick.



Fasten the shorter board across the longer board at right angles.

Figure 2 shows the forward truck. Remember that the trucks are an important matter,so do careful work on them. The two forward wheels fit in at either end of the forward truck. Use a strong bolt to fasten the top of the truck to the end of the wagon bed.

Make the truck wide enough so that either wheel may be swung clear around under the wagon bed in obedience to your guiding hand.

You can seat yourself on the hind end of the wagon bed when sailing, as shown in the illustration, but a much better way is to construct an "outrigger," consisting of a board attached by means of a bolt to the hind end of the wagon bed and provided with a wheel of its own, swinging perfectly clear on a pivot.

Thus, you see, you on your outrigger, with its independent wheel, can swing around either one side or the other behind your wagon and manipulate a very large sail without danger of tipping your land boat over. (You must always keep the outrigger towards the wind.)

The wagon bed needs only one hind wheel, if you have the suggested outrigger. Otherwise, of course, it must have two. Figure 3 shows how to put in this hind wheel. Use a bolt for the axle. If it is the same size as the outrigger wheel, you will find your rear truck easier to make.

Figure 4 shows how to construct the "step" for your mast. Make it very strong and fasten to the forward part of the wagon bed. Make your sail out of strong cotton cloth, any size you desire.

If made light and smooth-running,this land sailboat will beat the fastest running. It is sport, without doubt.

FIRE! FIRE!—A GAME

CHOOSE two captains, let each choose up his line, an equal number on each side.

One captain starts the game by tossing a ball or bag to one of the opposing line, crying one of the four words: "Earth," "Air," "Fire," "Water."

If the other one is not expecting it, he will probably lose his wits, for before ten has been counted he must answer with the name of some bird, if "Air" has been called, or of some water creature if "Water" has been called, or, if "Earth," some land creature.

But if "Fire" has been called, he must make no comment at all.

If he is on the lookout and answers correctly, he in turn throws the ball or bag to one of the players opposite him.

But if he is caught napping and fails to answer by the count of ten, or makes answer to the word "Fire," he must drop out of the game and the first player must try another of his opponents.

Alice Roosevelt Story.

A story is told of Alice Roosevelt Longworth when she was a little girl, showing that she had some experience of paternal sternness.

Her teacher at school had been inquiring for Mrs. Roosevelt, who was ill, and Alice answered, plaintively:

"She isn't much better yet. Yes, it's pretty hard. Papa stays at home most all the time, and that makes it dreadfully inconvenient."

"Why, how is that?"

"Oh, don't you see. He doesn't understand, like mamma. When mamma tells me to be home at four o'clock, and I get there at half-past, she understands; but when papa says four, and I get there at even quarter past—he doesn't understand at all."

DREDGINGS FOR CITY

NEW WATERFRONT

Deputation Waits on Hon. C. S. Hyman--Wants Dredgings to Make Approaches.

While the deputation representing the city was in Ottawa this week they were considering matters of more importance to the city than telephone matters, even. Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., secured for the members of the deputation, Ald. Elliott and the City Clerk, an interview with Hon. C. S. Hyman, Minister of Public Works, and the disposition of the dredgings from the Otonabee was discussed with the Minister. The deputation asked that an estimate of the difference in cost of dumping the dredgings in the Little Lake, and placing it on the city's property along the water's edge be made, and that the city be advised it it would cost more to carry out the latter plan.

The city is anxious to secure this for filling in west of the dyke already made, and make an easy process to the waterfront and wharves which will be built.

Mr. Hyman gave a sympathetic hearing to the deputation, and promised that their request would be complied with. If the city finds that the cost will not be too great, it is probable that the Department of Public Works will be paid to do the work, in case it is found to be more costly than to dump the dredgings in the Little Lake.

$1,128 A DAY.

Toronto, May 3rd.—Mr. Carnegie's income is reckoned at probably couldn't himself tell $1,500,000 a year, though he exactly how much he gets. At this rate he has an income of about $2.35 a minute.

While he was shaking hands with the prominent and other citizens who filtered into the mayor's room at the City Hall on Friday, a process that took thirty minutes, he made just $70.50. Seeing that he shook hands with about 300 people, this would make each shake worth about 35 cents.

Between his arrival Friday morning at 10.30 and his sitting down to tea at 6.15 that night, he made about $1,128. Not a bad day's work.

By-law Will Be Submitted

It is probable that at any early date a by-law to authorize the diversion of the creeks in Ashburnham and in the third and fourth wards, and to relieve the Park street people from paying further for that drain by special tax will be submitted to the ratepayers. Alderman Elliott interviewed the city solicitor to-day with the view of having the by-law prepared and given its first reading at the meeting of the council on Monday, in order that the Park street people would not have to pay their taxes on the drain this year. This however, will be impossible because the by-law cannot be given its first reading until after Peterborough's Bill becomes law, which will not be until the Lieut.-Governor signs it, probably about the 11th of May.

Oddfellows Prosper In Canadian West

Mr. J. A. Tully Returns After Three Months Absence in Alberta--Visited Many Towns in the Province--A Land of Sunshine, He Says--Has Great Faith in its Future--Thousands of Settlers Coming in Every Day--Saw Many Peterborough Men.

Alberta, the land of the sunshine, is the tribute of Mr. J. A. Tully, who returned from the new province last night, after working there since last January in the interests of the Oddfellows. He has spent the intervening months in Alberta and is greatly pleased, not only with the country, but with the results of his work.

He arrrived in Calgary on January 28th and has, he states, not seen a drop of rain or snow. It has been perpetual sunshine. On the day of his arrival the men were on the streets in their shirt sleeves. He instituted seven new lodges, at Carstairs, Didsbury, Innisfail, High River, Nanton, Leavings and Cowley. He visited every town in the province, and found that the Oddfellows there were flourishing, but he helped them to flourish still more. In Calgary alone there are two lodges with 600 members.

He went as far north as Edmonton and west to Banff, where he took a hot bath in the middle of winter. He was as far west on the Crow's Nest Pass Railway as Frank. Mr. Tully states that settlers are coming into the province at the rate of a thousand or more a day.

He expects to go back to the west in November and will work British Columbia and go over Alberta again. On Monday he will go to Kingston to confer with the head officers of the Order.

While he was away he saw a number of Peterborough men, and they are all doing well. He visited, on his way home, his brother, R. E. Tully, who lives 30 miles north of Swift Current, where he has a 5,000 acre ranch, all fenced.

Mr. Tully shares the enthusiasm of all those who have visited the west in his opinion of its future.

AUTOMATIC 'PHONE

EDMONTON, ALTA.

Franchise Will be Granted by That City—Work Will Commence at Once.

The automatic telephone has received recognition from the City Council of Edmonton, Alta., the most promising city in that new province. At a meeting of the council held recently the following resolution was passed:

That the Lorimer Automatic Telephone System be adopted, provided that a satisfactory agreement can be made with the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, of Toronto, and provided they give a guarantee in bond, that they will instal a satisfactory commercial telephone system within four months."

Inquiry at the local office of the Company gives the information that the Company accepts the contract with some slight modifications, as to the time within which the system must be installed. The city has agreed to this modification, and the Company, Mr. Lytle states, that work will be commenced at once, almost, in Edmonton, and he will go to Brantford on Tuesday to take charge of the work in that city. The Company here has inaugurated an all night service.

34—Boucher, Dr., 190 Brock street.
213—Carwath, Henry, 320 Charlotte street.
8—Denoon, Mrs., meat market, 561 George street.
25—Eastwood, Dr. J. H., 220 Brock street.
251—Greer, Dr. T. N., 357 Aylmer street.
56—Hartley, J. J., corner Aylmer and Antrim streets.
134—King, Dr. D. C., 290 Charlotte street.
247—Kinnear, T. and Co., wholesale grocers, Simcoe street.
255—Long, H., confectioner, 414 George street.
291—Mann, John, Baker, 641 George street.
252—McNulty, Dr. F. B., Aylmer and Hunter streets.
266—Routley, C. B., 379 George street.
93—Sullivan, J. C., 57 Hunter street east.
204—Sullivan, J. C., residence, Robinson street.
207—Warne, A. J., corner Park and Charlotte streets.
347—Young, Dr. T. H., 543 Water street.
286—Lee, Bruce and Co., livery, Simcoe street.

Screw Works Will Remain

No Chance of Their Leaving Telephone City.

Mr. D. Hughes Charles, President of the Board of Trade here, has received a letter from the manager of the Bank of Commerce in Brantford, in which the writer says that the Brantford Screw Works will not leave that city. The talk of their removal, he adds, is not taken seriously there. It looks, therefore as if Peterborough's chances of securing this industry are not very bright.

BIG ENGINE TESTED

NEW LOCOMOTIVES

C. P. R. Puts Big Ones on Freight Runs First—Give Good Satisfaction.

The new type of heavy passenger engines which the C.P.R. is running on the Havelock-Toronto run, is proving a success. One of the trainmen informed the Examiner to-day that the two on this run at present are doing good work. Up to the present time only one has been on the passenger train, the other doing other working out on the fast freight, No. 56, preparatory to going on the passenger run. It is the custom of the railways when a new engine is put on the road to use her on freight to work off the stiffness, incidental to new engines.

This is the process which one of the two new monsters is being put through now, the other having passed that stage, is used on the passenger run, and gives good satisfaction.

To use the expression of the trainmen who gave the Examiner the information, "She simply walks away with her load."

It is expected that in a short time the both engines will be put on the passenger run, and when the bearings get down to their proper working condition there should be no difficulty in making time, no matter how heavy the load is.

When these engines, which, by the way, are the biggest on the C.P.R. east of the Rockies, were first put on this run, they were on passenger service, and for some days difficulty was experienced in making time. This difficulty, however, has been overcome now.

Mr. C. B. McAllister Home From Western Canada

Spent Three Months on Business--Manager of the Great West Power and Machinery Company--Prospects are Bright for Future of This Great Enterprise--Brandon First City to Have Producer Gas and Electric Power System.

Mr. C. B. McAllister, the manager of the Great West Power and Machinery Co., Winnipeg, arrived home last Tuesday from a business trip to Northwestern Provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Mr. McAllister has spent three months in the West, and in speaking to the Examiner, said he was greatly pleased and encouraged by the prospects for business in the future in respect to the company of which he is manager. He is also greatly delighted with the country, both from a business and pleasure standpoint, and predicts great possibilities for it in years to come.

The headquarters of the Great West Power and Machinery Co. are in the capital of Manitoba, where the secretary, Mr. Jas. Stewart, is situated. The company manufactures flour mill and power machinery, and is on a high financial basis. It proposes to manufacture gas and power plants capable of supplying gas and electrical power to large cities, and also to private corporations wishing to put in their own power plants.

The company intends securing franchises in about a dozen of the towns of the West, which bid fair to be cities of importance in the future, so that they may establish a market for the power machinery.

The producer gas power system is altogether a new enterprise in Canada, and almost new in the United States. Mr. McAllister has visited a number of plants in many of the states of the latter country to obtain information of the working and business carried on by them. While in the West Mr. McAllister succeeded in securing a franchise from Brandon City to supply light, power and gas for municipal purposes.

Brandon is the first of the western cities in which the new system will be located, and its success will be to a great extent measured by the business accomplished there.

The reason for inaugurating the Producer Gas System in the West was on account of the scarcity of water power. The gas is manufactured initially from coal and then used as fuel in generating electrical energy.

The Officers.

The president of the company is Mr. J. D. Flavelle of Lindsay, who is widely known here. Mr. C. B. McAllister, as already mentioned, is the manager, and Mr. Jas Stewart, Winnipeg, the secretary-treasurer.

With such men as these at the head of its affairs, there is no doubt as to the future success of this great enterprise, which has so recently sprung up in Western Canada.

ELOPEMENT FEARED

A WIFE DEPARTS

Young Husband Seeks in Vain for His Better-Half--Went Away With a Friend.

There was a very much excited young man at the G.T.R. station last night, after the departure of the 9 o'clock train for Port Hope and the 9.05 for Lindsay. The cause of his agitation was that his wife had departed for parts to him unknown, and while this in itself was not particularly alarming, since if she went alone, there might be a chance of her returning the fact that she went with another man was what was giving him the greatest anxiety.

He made explicit enquiries of the station officials as to whether the woman and her companion had bought tickets and as to their destination. He gave minute descriptions of them, and from information which he gained, holds the opinion that they took either one of the two trains mentioned above.

He had his suspicions earlier in the evening that all was not well, by doing a little detective work learned that his wife had prepared for her journey. Unfortunately, or fortunately, however, he did not discover this until it was too late to prevent her departure with her guilty companion who, the husband states, was formerly paying her attentions, which were becoming to their professed platonic friendship.

DYNAMITE AFIRE

LINDSAY EPISODE

Cleaning Garden, Dynamite Caps Were Placed on Bon Fire--A Bad Scare Resulted.

A Lindsay despatch says:—

It may be true that if some people were made aware of the risks they have escaped they would die of fright, but Mr. Howard Walsh, nephew of Mrs. J. A. Lang, Lindsay street, doesn't feel a bit like dying to-day although fully cognizant of the fact that he almost rubbed shoulders with death on Wednesday.

On that day Mrs. Walsh's son, who is home from Detroit visiting, has been doing a bit of gardening and cleaning up, and had a bonfire going to consume the rubbish. While digging he unearthed two rolls of something wrapped in paper, and these he also threw on top of the refuse he had heaped on the fire. A minute or two later, hearing a peculiar cracking or sizzling sound, Mr. Walsh turned to the bonfire and saw that the paper wrapping on the two rolls had caught, and that the stuff inside was sputtering and making the noise he heard. Like a flash he realised that the thing meant danger of some kind, and he lifted the rolls off the fire quickly and carefully with the rake and threw water over them, quenching the fire.

Then he started on to find some one who could enlighten him as to the composition of the curious stuff he had unearthed, and when told it was dynamite he was a bit surprised because he had half expected it, but his mother and aunt, and the neighbours were properly horrified at the tremendous danger they had been in. There was sufficient of the deadly stuff in the two big rolls to cause a first-class imitation of the San Francisco earthquake in Lindsay, and that it did not happen is due partly to Mr. Walsh's happy intuition and partly perhaps to the fact that the tamper of the deadly stuff had been dulled a trifle by its winter in the mud soil.

A GREAT HEN.

Cam Scott is himself an enterprising and energetic farmer, as his farm down near Branchton bears witness. But he has a hen that for enterprise has him faded several colours.

Last week Mr. Scott drove into Galt. He came to buy a few things. He bought them, and when he went to place his purchases under the seat of his buggy an ominous cluck, cluck, greeted him.

Resting quietly in a basket, with her back hair ruffled, sat a speckled hen.

A further investigation revealed the fact that in the nest on which the bird sat, where the green grass grew all round, were two eggs.

It had simply struck a quiet spot in which to do its master's (will—lay eggs.—Galt Reformer.

PETERBORO'S NET DEBT IS

—STATISTICAL RECORDS SHOW—

$15.42 PER HEAD; A RECORD

An Interesting Comparison in Which Peterborough's Position is Seen to be Satisfactory---Only One in Twenty-two Municipalities in Which Net Debt Per Head is Lower---Some Figures Which Will Interest the Average Thinking Citizen.

Peterborough taxpayers are not so badly off, after all. That is, relatively speaking. While doubtless the pile of money which the unfortunate taxpayer has to go down into his pocket for about August 1 every year, may seem big enough, the net debt of this city is small, compared to that of a number of other cities in the Province and Dominion.

Of course, the city is not in a position yet which would warrant a lavish and unwannanted expenditure of the public funds, but still we might be in a worse condition.

This fact is emphasized when a comparison is made with other cities of a corresponding size.

Mr. W. H. Moore recently received a booklet from the bond and debenture broking firm of John Mackay and Co., of Toronto, in which some decidedly interesting statistics are given.

By reference to it, it is seen that Peterborough's position is comparatively a very good one, and there is no immediate danger of the corporation going into bankruptcy.

Out of twenty-two cities with which comparison is made, only one, Calgary, has a lower net debt than Peterborough.

The cities with which Peterborough will bear comparison, with the assessment, net debt per head, and net debt in proportion to assessment, are as follows:

The people at the Soo may have the opinion that they have the start of Peterborough in some respects, but it is a far cry between a net debt per head of $15.42 and $73.68. There is another comparison which further emphasizes Peterborough's position. The total assessment of the Soo is $4,018,682, and the rate of taxation 20 mills, while Peterborough's assessment is $5,874,264, or about $100 per head less than that of the Soo, and the rate of taxation 18 mills.

In Lindsay there is a low assessment and a high rate. The total assessment is $2,269,290, or $298.59 per head of population. The net debt per head is $28.88, and the tax rate 29 mills.

These figures, it should be mentioned, were for the year 1905, the latest period to which they could be obtained.

The Municipalities Prepared to Fight for Absolute Right Over the Streets--Peterborough Representatives in Ottawa on Wednesday--They Appeared Upon Railway Committee on Telephone Legislation.

Last night Ald. Elliott and the City Clerk returned from Ottawa, where they formed part of a deputation which appeared before the Railway Committee representing the Union of Canadian Municipalities, in connection with the rights of telephone and telegraph companies on the streets, which, in the case of the Bell Telephone Company, particularly, seems to be a vexed question.

Some years ago the Bell Company and the city of Toronto, were engaged in an action. The city claimed that the Bell Company had not superior rights over the streets to those of the municipality. The company on the other hand, claimed that by its charter it was given absolute rights over streets, and in the action just referred to the Privy Council, to which the company took it, confirmed this right.

On Wednesday two bills were before the Railway Committee, one to incorporate the G.T.P. Telegraph and Telephone Company, which applied for authority to do business in any town or city in Canada, and the other to increase the capital stock of the Bell Company to $50,000,000. In the case of the first bill the representatives of the company agreed to the clause making it necessary to get permission of the municipality before it could place its lines on the streets.

The Bell Company's Bill was not taken up on Wednesday, but was postponed for one week.

It is the intention of the municipalities to ask that as a condition of securing the right to issue the additional capital the company give back to the municipalities their absolute authority over the streets. It is expected that the company will oppose this, but the fact that the G. T. P. Company agreed so readily to this provision with the municipalities, will strengthen their case.

THE MOUNTED POLICE.

There is perhaps no military organization in the world that has a better record of public usefulness, and efficient service, than the Royal North-west Mounted Police, as they are officially style, a body of men in physique and morale unsurpassed anywhere. Though since the organisation of the force a generation ago, there has been no opportunity for brilliant exploit, and glorious bloodletting and butchery, the North-west Mounted Police of Canada, have done a tremendous amount of work, inestimably valuable, in maintaining order, and enforcing respect for law over an area of almost continental extent. For thirty-three years the mounted police have done sentry go on the outposts of an advancing civilisation, and with such vigilance and effectiveness that the history of the development and settlement of the Northwest is unstained by outbreak or outrage of serious character or extent. The force has helped to maintain Canadian traditions for the prompt, effective, energetic and reasonable administration of justice, which have in all its history characterized the judicial institutions and procedure of this country. The Government of Canada has appreciated the importance of strictly administering the laws of the country in the jurisdiction of the Mounted Police, and the confidence that could safely be reposed in that force, for it has liberally furnished the financial means necessary to give the best effect to the efforts of the police. Remarkable is the liberal, not to say lavish, expenditure of public funds, as implied in bringing criminals to justice. It is stated, as an example, by the officers of the force, that the Government has never tied the hands of the police by refusing to authorize any expenditure, where there was a reasonable hope of success. Many cases have cost the country thousands of dollars, and in one notorious case $100,000 was expended. The annual expenditure, now reaching about a million, has been money well spent. The Royal North-west Mounted Police, has done a work in connection with the administration of North-west affairs, which is valuable out of proportion to the cost. Their work has given Canada a good name in regard to humanly perfect administration of justice, and ideal conditions of law, order and respect for constituted authority — a good name that is better than riches, for no expenditure of money otherwise made, could, in addition to the bountiful endowment of nature, have made the Northwest the land of promise in every respect, which it has come to be in the eyes of the world.

President Roosevelt gracefully as well as gratefully acknowledges Canada's generous contribution of $100,000 for the relief of sufferers by the San Francisco earthquake. Such little exchange of amenities between contiguous, if commercially rival nations, reveals the fact that mankind and its interest is more important than mere merchandising.

If Dr. Osler wishes a chance to apply his chloroform theory in practice, he will find it in the United States civil service. In the Government offices at Washington, according to the Globe, there are 1,587 employees of 65 years or over. The report of the Civil Service Commission states that the work of 374 of these is excellent, 682 good, 229 average, 251 fair and 90 poor. The oldest man in the service is ninety-one, another is ninety and three are eighty-six, four are eighty-five, five are eighty-four, six are eighty-three, twelve are eighty-two, fourteen are eight-one, eighteen are eighty.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

TENNYSON tells us, in his melodious measure, that "in the spring a brighter iris gathers on the burnished dove"—a pretty way of saying that spring is the season of rejuvenescence and—housecleaning. In other words, that at this season the world of nature and of man takes on new life and undergoes or enters upon a general refurbishing and cleaning up. The thrifty housewife casts aside the hat on bonnet with which Easter made her glorious, mounts her dust cap, and takes on a condition of mind verging perilously upon insanity—the claims of society, of religion, or, at least, church going, the peace and comfort of the house, the rights of the husband are swept aside as so much dust and dirt by the tesom of the housecleaning mania. Both inside the house and outside, the cleaning process is pushed, and when these are attended to the street front receives attention, or should receive attention.

THE GOOD housewife or householder is to be judged by her or his environments. As a rule, one has only to see the outside or surroundings of a house to tell whether or not the house is well kept and tidy within. In like manner, the street and boulevard in front of a house is a character-revealer, inasmuch as a good Christian will observe the pharisaic practice and "make clean the outside of the cup and platter," while he or she reverses it for the interior of the house.

THAT IS, the majority do this. No man with a proper degree of self-respect will have his grounds trim and tidy, and leave the street in front unkempt and littery. If this is a proof of the religion of neatness and regard for public sentiment, what shall be said of the man who is so lost to public spirit, so wrapped in self that he will, with religious scrupulosity, rake clean his lawn and grounds, and cast the resulting litter into the street in front, an unsightly mass of rubbish —regardless of how he offends the public eye or destroys the beauty of the street, which depends upon each citizen doing his share in contributing to, and maintaining its, cleanliness and neatness.

THE PROVERB SAYS that if every wife sweeps in front of her own door, the whole street will be clean. The spirit of this should be laid to heart by all our citizens. There is no town nor city in the country where the natural and created conditions make for greater possibilities in the way of street beautification. There is no town nor city in Canada where our streets are more bountifully and beautifully furnished with stately or thrifty ranks of shade trees. There is no town nor city anywhere, in which there is less mud easily possible, in which there are so large possibilities of good, smooth, clean, and tidy streets.

THERE ARE hundreds of beautiful home lawns, great and small, neat and trim as a pretty girl in a clean print frock, with corresponding boulevards and street fronts. But, alas, these are not continuous. On every street where these abound there is some public enemy who breaks the harmony of the potentially beautiful ensemble by keeping ramshackle and untidy premises, or even neat grounds with a dirty, untidy, frowsy boulevard and street front—a blot on a beautiful street stretch—a fly in the ointment of highway loveliness. With proper co-operation, with a decent display of public spirit, with proper subordination of the selfish spirit, and spirit of disregard for the pleasure of others, the streets of Peterborough could be easily made the most eye-delighting, soul-satisfying and beautiful in this beautiful Dominion.

BUT THERE MUST BE, to secure these results, co-operation and community of action, among citizens who are householders. There must also be co-operation on the part of the civic authorities—much more than there is at present. One thing that should be more closely looked after is the protection of boulevards from destruction. Every spring, with hopeful forgetfulness of past destruction, citizens, under the impulse of spring tidiness, spend hundreds of dollars in putting their boulevards in shape. To keep them so, or to try to keep them so, they and fenced in with unsightly stakes and wires, to protect them—from whom? From those in whose interests, chiefly, they are made beautiful—the public. He must be a vandal at heart, or selfish through and through, who, to save a step or two, will make a cow-path across a neighbour's boulevard, and thus, with others acting similarly, in all parts of the city, combine to destroy the general beauty of our streets, and thus constitute themselves the common enemy who should be effectively restrained by being ruthlessly punished. Decent citizens should combine to arouse a sentiment of respect for the beauty of the city amongst those who thoughtlessly destroy boulevards and lawn corners by making a pathway of them; and the city fathers should promptly punish those who wilfully commit such destruction. But they wont do it. Why? Even echo gives the conundrum up.

WHY IN HEAVENS NAME, why in the name of common sense do the city fathers pile bylaw upon bylaw without the slightest attempt to see to their enforcement? Two or three years ago the council passed a bylaw for the protection of boulevards, with penalties attached. Though this bylaw has been broken a thousand times every day since it was passed, there has not, so far as known, been the slightest attempt to enforce the law and punish its breach. Citizens have seen hundreds of dollars spent in making or repairing boulevards, wasted within a day or two, and the public beauty—to which they had so largely contributed both individually and in the mass, destroyed by an essentially brutal disregard for the feeling or interests of others, and for the beauty and good name of the city. A man or woman who will wilfully help to destroy a boulevard, is, like Shakespere's man without "music in his soul," "fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils," and must be the stuff of which criminals are made.

WE HAVE A potentially beautiful, a thriving and progressive city. Let us make it actually beautiful, by citizens and authorities combining to foster the spirit of beauty and unselfish public spirit. Let every citizen make it a matter of principle to sweep the street in front of his own door. Let us practice the higher civilization and frown down vandalism whether it consists in destroying a stately tree, trampling the green life out of a boulevard, or pitching lawn rakings and private rubbish upon a public street—or throwing waste papers on the street.

HERE'S A CHANCE for a word to the merchants in our business streets. They are to blame for the unsightly litter of waste paper which disfigures our streets and in times of heavy rains dams our sewer gratings causing cellar flooding. Merchants, with a little watchfulness can detect any employee who will put waste paper on the street, and after warning, punish by discharge or otherwise. Every good citizen will both preach and practice the gospel of cleanliness and neatness and then we shall have a good reason to be as proud of the beauty, as we are of the progressiveness and business thrift, of our city.

IN THE REGARDS dealt with, out of the mouths of babes and sucklings comes wisdom. The pretty little village of Keene sets us an example of civic co-operation and aesthetic enterprize, which we might well follow. That village has a Civic Improvement Society of which every citizen is practically a member. Yesterday — Arbor Day—the population turned out en masse to clean up the streets, plant trees and otherwise make the village tidy. By this harmonious co-operation the village has been very greatly beautified. The chief streets have been provided with granolithic pavements, trees have been planted and the public spirit shown has infected private homes, which are beautified with lawns, flowers, shrubbery, the houses are kept well painted and the village is a veritable picture of rural beauty with a population of a taste and culture which would put to shame many a larger and more pretentious community. If the population of this city worked as unitedly for the adornment and neatness of the city—streets and houses—as the Keene people for their own little hamlet do, Peterborough would be a place of such supassing beauty and attractiveness that passengers on express trains would want to stop here to look us over.

Professor Clarke Talks On Books And Reading

Profitable Address at Y. M. C. A. Last Night--Two Languages Should be Known--Avoid Obscene and Sceptical Books--Some Books and Writers One Should Know.

"Books and Reading," was the subject of a very edifying address given by Professor Clarke of Trinity University at the evening session of the Teachers' Institute yesterday. Prof. Clarke is well and favourably known as a lecturer to Peterborough audiences, having been heard here on Dante last fall, and the lecture hall of the Y.M.C.A. last night was well filled, with the best of listeners. "Food for thought, and matter for reflection," using the words of the chairman, Inspector Walker, would be very adequate to describe the character of his address.

Literature, Professor Clarke said, has been, to a large extent, the business, and also recreation, of his life. In order to have an education, worthy of a consideration, we must have intercourse with very high-minded men and women, or with works of good literature. Reading has the tendency of suppressing a good deal of useless conversation, and will also make conversation more beneficial. There can be no question in the mind of anyone as to the immense advantages derived from reading good literature. Books, he remarked, are a weight of knowledge in themselves. Reading is like a conversation with the best men of the ages of the past.

The character and refinement of a person is largely moulded according to the people with whom he mingles. The polish of a refined person is easily rubbed off by coming in contact with men of low refinement. Professor Clarke does not like to see the polish on the surface, but it must be genuine, thoughful and cultivated.

Macauley owed his accomplishments and successes to his fortune in being in the neighbourhood of a library while in India, which was accessible to him. The great education he acquired was received from the works of others.

Sir John Herchel remarked that the greatest desire a man could have was a taste for reading, in which is found a constant solace and delight.

He advised the young students to carry on the subjects after leaving school or college, which they have been studying. Education is never finished; there is always something more to learn. History was the subject Professor Clarke urged on the young to study most of all. No knowledge, he said, is worth anything, which does not rest on historical basis.

One language besides our own, should be the accomplishment of of every person, for by learning the speech of another country we have a greater knowledge of the philosophy of our own.

Another piece of advice of Prof. Clarke's was that we should read chiefly books relative to our own profession, or occupation. Someone remarked, 'We ought to know something about everything, and everything about something."

Every human being should make it a matter of first consideration to avoid obscene books, of which there are too many before the public. He also advised that skeptical books, unless gone thoroughly into, should not be read. It was a case in which

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing,
Drink deep, or taste not, the Pierian spring."

Reading of good books is a faculty to be acquired, and the appreciation of really great writers will always form the best measure of a literary education.

Professor Clarke next mentioned a number of the best books and authors set down by Sir John Lubbock.

Among the story books which everyone should read were Robinson Crusoe, Don Quixote and the Vicar of Wakefield. In the list of novelists came Scott, George Eliot, Chas. Kingsley, Blackmore, Gilbert Parker, and Peterborough's own distinguished novelist, Hampden Burnham. Among the classical writers, Virgil, Horace, and Dante rank among the first. In English literature, came the great men, Shakspere, Chaucer, Spenser, Milton, Dryden, Pope, Gray, Addison, Burns, Cooper, and the galaxy of writers, Wordsworth, Coleridge and Southey. Lastly comes a name which has been brought into controversy and forced itself to the front — that of Tennyson. There is no poet, the speaker remarked, who has written so few faultless lines as this humble and modest man.

As essayists, Bacon and Carlyle stand to the front, while Butler and Hooker rank among the best of religious writers.

The Penalty Of Overeating

THE LIVER FIRST TO SUFFER, BUT KIDNEY DISEASE COMES LATER

—GOOD RESULTS FROM THE USE OF

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Few people realize that it is not what they eat but what they digest and assimilate that goes to form new blood and repair the waste effected by the act of living.

Hurried eating and lack of proper mastication of the food are among the most common causes of indigestion, and overeating is undoubtedly the beginning of trouble with the liver and kidneys.

Kidney disease and rheumatism are not usually the first indication of a deranged system, but these troubles follow unheeded headaches, constipation and bilious attacks.

Because of their direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are effective in whatever stage of such derangements they may be used, except when the structure of the kidneys has been wasted away by Bright's disease.

What we would emphasize, however, is the advantage of beginning this treatment at the first indication of trouble with the liver. It is the liver which first feels the result of overeating because of its difficulty in filtering theb lood. Keep the liver right by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills and you not only prevent headaches, biliousness and constipation, but entirely escape derangements of the kidneys, which are at once so dreadfully painful and fatal.

Reliability is the word most frequently applied to Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, as well as to his other medicines, for people have come by experience to know that, as a means of ensuring the regular and healthful action of the kidneys, liver and bowels, there is no medicine to be compared to this.

With these filtering and excretory organs in health, indigestion and bodily pains are unknown and one runs little danger of contracting colds or contagious diseases.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

SUMMER RESORT SEASON WILL BE MOST SUCCESSFUL

Great changes have been made at McCracken's Landing. In the first place the sale of liquor has been cut off by the passing of Local Option in Dummer, and the water wagon will be in vogue there. The Victoria House will be under the management of Messrs. Ernest Carveth of Dummer, and John Freeman of Lakefield.

Burleigh Fall's.

Those who have made Burleigh Falls their summer residence, will be greatly surprised and delighted with the fine new hotel now doing business there, in place of the old structure, which was destroyed by fire. The building is one of the finest on the inland waters. Burleigh Falls and Mount Julian are the only "wet" places on the lake now, Burleigh not being a local option township. At the other resorts, "Water, will run in partnership again this year. The Stony Lake, it is expected, will be equipped with a complete water, everywhere, but not a drop (of anything else) to drink," will be the catchword.

Improvements will be made at Vinmede, Glenwood, Kilkenny, Dulce Domum and other popular boarding houses.

Several new cottages are being built, including one being erected by Mr. Sherin to Lakefield on the Burleigh shore near Mount Julian.

Steamer Service.

The steamer service at Stony Lake will be the same as last year, which was very satisfactory. The steamers Stony Lake, Empress and Majestic, electric light outfit, including a very powerful search light.

The first visitor to take up permanent residence at the lake was Mr. Hopkins, of Boston, who is at his summer home, Boscabel, Boshkink. Several local citizens are at present at the lake but their visit is only a temporary one, to repair their cottages.

Chemong.

Next in favour to Stony Lake as a summer resort, is Chemong Park. Here the conditions are altogether different; naturally so, when the geographically aspect of the case is considered. The people at Chemong are like one large family. They live within a few yards of their neighbours and intercourse is much more convenient than at Stony Lake, where the highways are like those of Venice. Chemong is so easily accessible to the city that business men are able to pass the evenings with their families, an impossible condition at Stony Lake. The stage makes an evening trip to the park, which is largely patronized by business men. Many of these, however, prefer to wheel out, and so the spectacle is seen daily of paterfamilias toiling up one of the six hills, hot and dusty, but with Excelsior as his motto, and the ozone-laden breezes from the pines luring him on. And yet they sing, "Everybody works but father." If father does not work during the day, he can't escape it on his Chemongward journey.

This year, however, there is a ray of hope for the business man who spends the nights at the park. An automobile service is a probability. This is a new departure and one that should meet with the approval of Chemong people at least. Just how the farmers of Smith will regard it, remains to be seen. It might be well for them to take a course in First Aid to the Injured, and teach their children and other live stock, that something more than a smell of gasoline generally follows in the wake of an automobile, and that when the honk honk of the horn is heard, it is time to start for home and mother. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Chemong Will Flourish.

Chemong will flourish this year, according to all present indications. The hotel will be under the management of Mr. Porter, formerly of Cobourg, and will be improved and renovated. A new feature this year will be the club house, which will be greatly appreciated by the yachtsmen and their friends.

Chemong is prominent in sailing. The wide sheet of water gives ample opportunity to the sailors to develop their skill, and the sport is booming. Several new sailing craft are expected to join the fleet this summer, and many exciting races may be looked for.

Several people are already at the park, but the crowds will not arrive until the end of June. Chemong will receive a large quota of visitors from across the line this summer, and the season promises to be a particularly gay one.

Rice Lake.

Rice Lake, the third in Peterborough's trinity of Summer Resorts, is perhaps not as well known as the other two but is equally as beautiful in its own way. The Peterborough colony there is not so large as at Stony Lake or Chemong, being confined for a great part to campers. The lake, however, is fast coming into prominence, as a summer resort and a large number of American visitors are found there. This is true of the hotel on the south shore, Harwood, Gore's Landing and Idyl Wyld, to which many visitors come from the United States, via Port Hope and Cobourg. Rice Lake is a beautiful sheet of water and the resorts on its shores are as pretty and entertaining as any in the vicinity of Peterborough. It may well be called the fisherman's paradise.

The north shore of the lake will be in a dry condition as hotel licenses have been cut off by the passing of local option bylaws in Otonabee and South Monaghan. It is said that Jubilee Point will be half wet and half dry, as it is half way between two townships. All the summer homes on the lake are being put in shape and the season is expected to be a busy one. The visitors will not arrive there, however, until June 15th, when the fishing season opens.

There will be three steamers connecting Peterborough with the southern lake this season the Rainbow, Water Lily and North Star. The Water Lily has been greatly improved, having been equipped with an electric light outfit. The three boats should be able to handle the traffic satisfactorily.

Generally Speaking.

Seeing that the season is so close at hand it might be well to start a night school for the fool who takes a lady out for a sail and then rocks the boat. He, with the didn't-know-it-was-loaded men should be tied up during the season when they do most damage. If he would rock the boat when he is alone, the result would not be so disastrous, but he generally has some one with him. You will find this man at every summer resort and the sooner he is suppressed the better for the community generally, and the summer colony in particular.

Rice LaKe, Veritable Paradise For Hunters

Bonnycastle Dale, in Canadian Magazine, Tells of its Beauties--An Interesting Article on the Charms of Rice Lake and the Otonabee--A Trip Down the River From Peterborough to the Lake of Wild Rice and the Feathery Tribe.

The May number of the Canadian Magazine has an interesting article the pen of Bonnycastle Dale, in which Peterborough and Rice Lake play prominent parts. This writer is not unknown locally. He has written a number of articles on Rice Lake which have been published in the magazines, and which have helped to advertise this section as a hunter's paradise to the continent. The article referred to is as follows:—

To the many thousands of tourists, visitors, 'old boys" of Rice Lake, and the winding Otonabee River, scattered all over the broad Dominion and the busy Republic to the south, the ice-clad lake, snow powdered islands, and dry, rustling, flag bordered river, lends greeting.

Look at these old familiar scenes under Winter's glittering icelth-giving touch. 'Our Lady of the Snows," is only a pleasant joke. Here half the season has passed with winter so mild and genial that sleighing is almost unknown. Great fires gleam forth at dark, surrounded by merry skaters, on the very spots where summer visitors drag out the plunging bass or struggling maskinonge. Under the bright December sun the redmen, the Mississaugas, dash along on ringing skates, gun in hand, baying hounds ahead pursuing the wily fox over the very spots where many of us have decoyed the wary webfoot. The wild rice beds are a tangled mass, fallen in or standing up in the shining ice, beneath the Kenojjish, the Indians' poetic name for the big, hard-fighting maskinonge, still pursues the darting minnow. If you want unusual excitement get one of these sons of the forest to take you with him when he cuts the ice hole, erects the arch, covers your head with a heavy robe, and bids you watch in the dim light below for the great fish to pass; or stand alongside and watch him patiently waiting beside the ice hole for the big mouth bass to bite. On the wooded shores of lake and river the young bucks trap for mink and coon, weasel and fox, with all the ingenious woodcraft Nature gave them. Ruffled grouse still spring from the cedars and the swift rabbits dash away along the swamp runways; the muskrats swim along beneath the ice, through all the great drowned lands, along the paths they so laboriously kept open all the summer and fall. Cold, clear, bracing healthy weather, "Our Lady of the Snows" is a beneficent goddess.

This part of the Trent Valley Canal is a scene of great natural beauty. Starting at the busy city of Peterborough, after examining one of the wonders of the new world, the Lift Lock, there is a mighty region, the Kawartha Lake district, to the north, yet to be fully settled. Below Peterborough, taking one of the daily steamers, Rice Lake is reached in 3 hours. The Otonabee is a charming sight in April; until then the ice has bound it. One bright morning there is a tiny ribbon of blue water sparkling in the sun at its lake mouth; no sooner is this opened, than Nature displays one of her greatest wonders. Stand on the shore at Jubilee Point as the sun rises this morning and look towards the south; far off over the distant hill-tops the telescope finds a faint black dot, a wavering pencilled line, the first incoming ducks, the heralds of the great migration. What power implanted in their breasts the knowledge that this tiny ripple of water was open in all this ice-bound scene? Timed it so accurately that they arrived within an hour of its opening! Nature has uncut pages in her book well worth studying.

Then comes the grand scene of the rush of the river ice, grinding, crashing, tumbling, splashing cakes whirled along by the speed of the swollen stream, tearing out man's handiwork, piling high on bank and marsh edge, whirling along for a few hours — then, as if at the touch of a magician's wand, all the turmoil ceases, the setting sun tints the placid river with dainty touches of pink and grey, the fish roll and plunge, and the ducks drop in so noiselessly. All is so peaceful that it is hard to believe that one of nature's grand powers ran riot here within the hour.

Now, the Mississaugas can be seen creeping over the surface of the lake ice, pole in hand, sounding its treacherous, honeycombed surface; canoe on sleigh behind them, or pushed ahead, so that if it breaks through, the impetus of the red man throws him safely into his light craft. Now, watch his skill getting out; he pushes the bow as far up on the ice as possible, creeps to the bow, straddles the canoe, gently pressing on the ice with either foot, and tries to draw the boat out through his legs; one foot breaks through, and if he does not plump in up to the chin in the icy water he falls back safely into the plunging craft. Time after time he tries it, until at last the canoe and sled are once more on the crumbling ice. Arrived at the trapping place he lifts the sled into the craft, launches it off the ice as we do off the shore, and paddles serenely into the flooded marshes, setting traps on every likely log or making "draw-ups" where the night roving muskrat will climb up to eat the succulent wild onion or sweet flag root, their last meal, as these red skins are adept trappers.

I remember one glorious spring night standing on a little corduroy bridge that spanned a creek, watching a trap set on the bank below. It was just dusk, the rich, liquid note of the red wings rose from the swamp, the bitterns boomed, the herons croaked hoarsely, ducks quacked and whirred overhead; over the bridge a country lad lounged and stood leaning over the rail beside me. I was intently watching a suspicious ripple coming upstream, the wake of a muskrat, up it came, espied a "musk-rat apple" near the trap, landed, and walked right in it. At the click of the steel the lad frantically grasped my arm, and shouted excitedly, "Mister, your trap's got a bite."

The trapping season passes with the month of April. May sees all the pastoral little villages that nestle in the valleys of the hills that encircle the lake clean and fresh from the purifying frosts and snows of winter. The islands are just sending forth a yellow and red haze of coming leaves. In places the shores are ripped and rent by the fury of the late ice-shove; great rocks are standing tilted far up their sides, or driven far in and covered with tangled roots and trees, a silent witness to the immense power of huge cakes of ice driven before a fierce gale. When the north-wester blows and rends the ice-field, and starts it on its path of devastation, all must bend or break before it. Midway in the lake lies the ruins of the old bridge, once a direct route from Cobourg to Peterborough. It was built of great stone-filled piers, with a super-structure of giant pine logs in the centre. These twenty-foot piers proved insecure the first year, so the builders enlarged them to almost double. But they had reckoned without the ice; for two years trains crossed. Over forty years ago, the Prince of Wales, our present King, crossed the lake on a steamboat beside the bridge, his advisers deeming it even then insecure. He received a great welcoming from the band of Mississaugas; flowers thrown by gaily-decked squaws paved his way (the old chief told me he noticed him trying not to step on them); the chief's squaw, resplendent in velvet, heavily embroidered in brilliant quills, led the women. The bucks received him under a decorated cedar and pine arch-like building; loyal addresses were delivered, and he was invited to eat with the tribe. A really sumptuous feast was spread, but affairs of state forced him to decline—to the everlasting regret of these truly loyal redskins. Three years later the bridge had passed away. Ice-shove hurled their huge cakes onto it with irresistible fury. At dusk one night, as old Chief Paudash strained his eyes in the gathering gloom, the leaning, tottering structure fell with a mighty splash, and all that is left of it now is the stone-filled approaches at the north and south shore, and the sunken piers in mid-lake, a menace to navigation.

In June the wild rice, from which the lake is named, springs to the surface and floats in long ribbons, changing position with every vagrant wind. July finds it springing up, and all the green, grass-laden waters are changed to the shades of the garnet and yellow glories of the blossoming time. Now is the time to troll for the 'lunge if the June water has been muddy; if not, come then, get a good guide and the keenest pleasure of Rice Lake fishing is yours. August finds these wild water farms a bending, wind-tossed mass of golden grain, the green islands set like emeralds in their midst. This is the month to catch the hard-fighting small-mouthed bass, and the Otonabee River the place. Wedlock's and Gore's Landing are the favourite homes of the tourists.

It will well repay all romantic visitors to take a look at those ancient earth mounds far back in the rice beds, below Rainy Point. Here, a century and a half ago, the ancestors of the redmen that live in the quaint little village of Hiawatha took a terrible revenge. The Mohawks, after devastating the shores of Ontario and "back country," had settled to reap the fruits of their victories. They had entered into the great game lake and settled on the bluff point where now stand the "Serpent Mounds," but the Mississaugas poured like a dusky flood from their camps in the pine woods, paddled silently along the channels in the wild-rice beds, landed at the foot of the hill, won the summit, and with fierce yells and fiercer fighting, exterminated the enemies. With grim sarcasm they buried them in huge trenches formed in the shape of the totems of the slaughtered tribe, and the sinuous mound of the Blacksnake and the circular mounds of the Turtles still eloquent of the great revenge.

September, dear to the hearts of all the hunters of the feathered game, finds the wild rice ripe, the long reaching yellow beds that resound night and morning to the "rip-bang-bung" of the redman's fearful weapon, on the "tack-tack" of the smokeless shells, filled with basswoods, cedars, dug-outs, anything that will float, a hardy buck in each bow and a willing squaw in the stern beating in a steady grain of ripe black rice from the bending grain. At night, when the camp-fires of the Mississaugas shine through the dark trees, the rice beds are densely populated, great hosts of dusky mallards, teal, some widgeon, wood-ducks (alas! an expiring breed) hooded merganzers, an early bluebill or so, gaddle and splash and dive after the ripe grain, sounding like a myriad of schoolboys swimming.

Golden October and drear November bring in the red-heads and the bluebills, the canvas-backs and the pintail—the buffle heads and the cheerful Whistlers, surf-ducks and coweens, ruddys and rare late gadwall. Sometimes a shovellor is seen; great flocks of merganzers and goosanders dive everywhere for fish, followed by their mother-hosts of gulls. Mudhens and coot, rail and crake, plover and rare woodcock (another vanishing breed), spotted sandpiper and snipe flit along the shores or dart into cover of the flags—and the camera-hunter, with his noiseless, smokeless weapon, is filled with even a keener delight than he of the hammerless and shell-box. Many are the camps, many are the jolly fellows that gather round the camp-fires when the shooting is good and the weather cold—to all these, in all lands, the annual Rice Lake shooting fever is an intermitting, incurable disease.

It was late November, the ice was with us again, the 22 miles of Rice Lake was one glittering sheet, the river mouth, where yesterday the ducks ran the gauntlet of guns and fell with great thumping thuncks on the ice alongside, was now all frozen over; all the great migration was over, only a few poor wounded ducks frozen fast in the ice—dead in the centre of the circles they had worked so hard all night to keep open, remained.

At night, beside the "shanty" fire, a Mississauga told me this legend:

The Birth of the Wild Rice.

"Many, many years ago, when our tribe outnumbered all our enemies, there lived a great chief, Kais-wan-che, his lodge the largest, his slain the greatest, his the mighty pile of beaver skins, his the many scalp locks of his enemies, so strong this none could stand beside him. Wild with fighting, he pointed his arrows at the sun, dared the Fire God, who sent a mighty shot to battle for him. All day Kais-wass-che hard assailed him, showered his arrows on him, strove with axe and knife around him. Late at sunset, when the air grew chill, and the Fire God weaker, Kais-wass-che overcame him, exchanging for his life this promise: "In the harvest-time of every year grain shall be in plenty, without labour, without sowing; and in the New Moon the Wild Rice covered the waters of the lake."

SOME EARLY HISTORY OF THE DICKSON COMPANY

Business Was Instituted More Than 60 Years Ago by Late Samuel Dickson---Sketch of its Remarkable Growth---The Enterprise and Integrity Which Has Characterized Record of the Company ---Particularly Sad Circumstances Attending Death of First Head of the Firm, Mr. Samuel Dickson---Developed Into One of the Largest Lumber Businesses in the Province.

There is no doubt, Peterborough is getting to be more than a minor city. When deals involving $600,000 can be pulled off without so much as a surface ripple, the realization that Peterborough has outgrown her swadling clothes, is forced upon us.

Mention has already been made in these columns to the fact that the Dickson Lumber Company has disposed of its business for a consideration in the neighbourhood of the sum mentioned above, but it is not every day that deals of this magnitude are pulled off, even in Peterborough, and, in view of this fact, as well as the fact that the company which has just closed a deal by which its lumbering interests have been disposed of, is one of the oldest, as well as one of the largest in the city, and in the county, a more extended reference to the history of the company than was possible in the necessarily short and hurried article, chronicling the deposal of the business, will not, it is assumed, be uninteresting.

The history of the Dickson Company is so bound up with that of the history of Peterborough, that it is almost impossible to separate them.

Even the oldest residents can hardly recall the time when the Dickson Company was not in business here. During all the successive stages through which Peterborough has passed, from the time when it was nothing more than a straggling village, and when it outgrew its babyhood, and became a town, small it is true, at first, but gradually and steadily increasing in size and importance, until it was the pride of the citizens, and also the largest town in the Dominion, and, until it became a city, the Dickson Company, and its operations, have been part and parcel of the municipality, and as the town grew and prospered, so did the company, until the present time, when it has reached its zenith.

It will be somewhat of a surprise to the majority of persons to learn that the late Samuel Dickson, the first head of the Dickson Company, commenced lumbering operations in Peterborough in 1840, since which year, with the exception of four years, from 1893 to 1897, the company has been in continuous and successful operation.

Mr. Dickson's first mill was a water power mill rented from John Hall, on the Peterborough side of the river. He afterwards built a mill of his own on the east side. Subsequently he built the steam mill on the Ashburnham side of the Little Lake, which he later exchanged with M. Dougall and Ludgate for their water power mill on the west side of the river, and thus obtained control of both sides.

In the early days, when Mr. Dickson was in business, and for many years afterwards, the most profitable feature of lumbering was the trade in square timber, and many were the cribs of square pine which Mr. Dickson's men floated down the river. At that time the lumbermen would not look at a tree which would not square two feet six inches or three feet, and in the woods in the north of the county to-day there are many stumps measuring four feet and five feet in diameter, silent evidences of the presence there one time of these mammoth trees.

Many of the business and professional men in the city to-day, will recite, when their attention is called to it, to the time when the late Samuel Dickson's cribs of square timber were floated down the river, and many a time did G. R. Rogers, Burritt Edwards, Harry Hall, and other youths, who are now among the city's most substantial citizens, go to bed hungry as a punishment for riding the cribs, a pastime which was not without danger, for it was a frequent occurrence for the crib to break apart, and carry one or more of the men riding it to death, in the swollen waters of the river.

In those days lumbering operations were carried on very extensively here. Indeed, it is doubtful if there was a place in the province where there was more timber sawn except possibly at Ottawa. Mills were located at every dam between the Little Lake and Nassau, and the river bank on both sides was covered with lumber piles, containing hundreds of millions of feet of the finest quality of pine timber.

Dickson Company the Last.

All the other companies operating in those days have gradually gone out of business, until only the Dickson Company remained and now it too passes out of existence, after a career characterized by not only enterprising management, but integrity of dealing both with its employees and with those who bought the product of the mills.

Up to the time of the purchase of the Scott limits the Company was operating limits in the neighbourhood of Minden and Haliburton, which were subsequently disposed of to Messrs. Sadler & Dundas of Lindsay.

About the year 1889 the Company acquired the limits of the late W. A. Scott, which they have since been operating, and which they have now sold. About 1893 these limits were sold to the Howrey's of Fenelon Falls, who operated them until 1897, when, having failed in business they came back into the hands of the Dickson Company.

Extensive Limits.

Some idea of the extent of these limits may be gained, when it is stated that they are about 105 square miles in area. They are principally in the townships of Cavendish, (practically all of that township) and Anstruther, with a part of Harvey as well.

In the early sixties, shortly after Mr. Dickson commenced business, the late T. G. Hazlett, Mr. Dickson's son-in-law, became associated with him, and upon the death of the latter in 1870, assumed the management of the business, and held that position until his death in 1899.

Mr. Hazlitt's Death.

Speaking of the death of Mr. Hazlitt, The Examiner of October 12, 1899, says in part:

In the passing into life eternal of the subject of this notice, Peterborough loses one of its oldest and most esteemed citizens. It may be truly said that no one in this community has been held in higher respect than the late Mr. Hazlitt; this has been evidenced not only by the constant interested inquiries which have been made concerning him during his last and somewhat lingering illness, but from time to time by the regard shown for his views in connection with all matters relating to the welfare of the town. And while he had an abhorrence of anything like ostentation, it was generally felt that he might be relied upon to take his part in all movements designed for the general good. It was in March, 1896, that Mr. Hazlitt, when quietly discussing a business matter with his solicitor, was seized with a slight stroke of paralysis, which, unfortunately, through his characteristic unwillingness to give in, soon developed into so severe an illness that for several months at that time his life was despaired of, and although he slowly recovered his faculties, his constitution received such a shock as to permanently shatter his physical strength, thus leaving him much more susceptible to attack. Early in the month of September last, when at his office, he received a chill, which completely prostrated him, and from that time, although occasionally giving hope that he might rally, his strength had been gradually ebbing away, until at 4 o'clock a.m., on the 12th of October, 1899, his spirit quietly left his frail and emaciated body.

LATE T. G. HAZLITT,

In 1858 he married Miss Mary Ann Dickson, the eldest daughter of the late Samuel Dickson, Esq., who survives him, but although he was exceedingly fond of children, who took to him in a remarkable manner, there was no child born of his own marriage. It was not until the year 1865 that Mr. Hazlitt became actively engaged in the lumber business as assistant to the late Samuel Dickson, whose tragic death in the spring of 1870 naturally transferred to Mr. Hazlitt the management of the estate, which he had carried on with so much energy and ability. It was at that time, when thrown entirely upon his own resources, having had but short experience in connection with waterpower and lumber manufacturing, that Mr. Hazlitt evinced that remarkable capacity and grasp which have enabled him to manage so successfully the large interests committed to his care. During the period since 1870 there have been many years of depression, under which few have not succumbed, but Mr. Hazlitt's courage never flagged, his ceaseless energy never failed, and while others let the reins pass from their hands, he kept them well within his grasp, and was thus able not only to conserve for his wards the fine property which their father had left, but to add greatly to its value. Indeed, though orphaned by the death of their father, the six daughters of the late Mr. Dickson have ever felt that in Mr. Hazlitt they had one who truly stood to them as a most affectionate parent, and those who survive mourn his death no less than if he were their real father.

For many years the progress of the town was largely identified with the lumber interests, and of these, the operations carried on by Samuel Dickson, bore an important part. The mills, situated where the power house of the Peterborough Hydraulic Power Co., now stands, were of large capacity, and another mill across the river was an important factor in increasing the output of sawn lumber. In the early days economics were not studied, logs were plenty, and only the choice timber was made use of. Large quantities were hewn into square timber and floated down the river to the lake port to be shipped abroad. Mill saws were of undoubted stoutness, with broad teeth and the logs were sawn by "gang" saws, producing lumber rapidly and also sawdust in immense quantity. For years a familiar sight on the streets was that of teams drawing the manufactured lumber to the cars for shipment.

Scenes of Activity.

In the early history of the town, the river-side, from the Dickson dam to the Hunter street bridge, was a centre of activity. As years followed years, shops were erected by the owners of the Dickson estate, and successively occupied by tenants engaged in manufacturing and milling and in woollen manufactures. All of these buildings have been destroyed by fire. Indeed, so to speak, several generations of buildings have passed away in smoke and ashes.

As at first built the dam was much lower than it now stands, or rather the old dam was lower. Also the bank of the raceway. This was raised when the projected railway line to the mills and on to Chemong Lake and Lakefield, was laid out and built from a point on Sherbrooke street, along the river bank, across Hunter street, to the mills.

Mr. Dickson's Death.

The death of Mr. Dickson, in 1870, occurring as it did, under peculiarly distressing circumstances, cast a gloom over the whole town and a local paper, giving the particulars of his death at that time, said:—

"On Monday morning last the pier built by the Railway Company, just below the old mill, and supporting the foot bridge, over Dickson's dam, having exhibited signs of weakness, preparations were being made, under Mr. Dickson's superintendence, for securing it, by putting in more stone, and in the course of these preparations Mr. Dickson, along with two or three of the men, had gone on it, when it gave way. The men, observing it begin to move were so fortunate as to make good their escape, but, Mr. Dickson, not being so agile, was thrown into the raging torrent below among the debris. In some way or other he got his arms over two pieces of timber which, while they served to keep him afloat, must have been the means of doing him much internal injury by the constant pounding he was thus subjected to; after remaining for a short time in the eddy below the dam, he was carried down to Mr. Rogers' dam, where he was taken from among the timber which had accumulated above the slide, and had been blocked up by the pier already mentioned. Outwardly the only injury visible was a horrible gash in one of his legs, but there is little doubt that he had received very great injuries internally, and having been thoroughly chilled in the water, he, notwithstanding the efforts of Drs. Harvey and O'Sullivan, died on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Dickson was in the 61st year of his age, was a native of the County of Cavan, Ireland, and came to Peterborough in the year 1830. He was employed as distiller by John Hall, Esq., for some years; about the year 1840 he commenced the manufacture of timber in a saw mill on this same dam, and from that time until the present he has been engaged in that branch of business, either in making square timber or sawed lumber; like every one else in that trade he saw a good many ups and downs in the way of business, but his indomitable perseverance seemed only to rise with his difficulties, which he ever succeeded in eventually overcoming. He was at his death the owner of the property upon which he commenced life in this country, and with which he had been connected for some forty years in one capacity or another. He leaves a widow and a large family of daughters—but no sons—and a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn his sudden loss. We are sure they have the sympathies of the whole community in their bereavement. His funeral yesterday was one of the largest ever witnessed in Peterborough. The hearse was preceded by the Fire Company and the Mayor and Council marching two and two and followed by a large concourse of people from all parts of the surrounding country. During its passage through the town all the places of business were closed as a mark of respect to the deceased."

At the time of his death, Mr. Dickson was a member of the Town Council, and in that capacity served his constituents favourably and well.

Business Still Went On.

While, with the death of Mr. Dickson, the company sustained a severe loss, that circumstance did not seriously affect it, except temporarily. After his death, the executors, Messrs. Nicholls and Hall, carried on the business, with Mr. Hazlitt acting as manager. The present company was formed on June 23, 1885, Mr. Hazlitt still continuing to act as manager. In 1899 he passed away, and Mr. Richard Hall became president and manager of the company, which joint office he held until January, 1901, when Miss Charlotte Dickson became president, and Mr. J. C. Sbook, the present manager, was appointed. Subsequent to the formation of the present company, the Strickland mill at Lakefield was purchased, and has been operated ever since. Three years ago this spring the new mill at Burnham's Point, was erected and was placed in commission. The bulk of the business here is that of manufacturing square ties, which the company has a contract with the C.P.R. to supply.

The sawing capacity of the Lakefield mill is about 80,000 feet of lumber per day, while the one in Burnham's Point in this city has 30,000 feet capacity. The new syndicate has not bought these mills, but has acquired a five-year lease of them. Just as soon as the logs now in hand are out, the purchasers will assume control and operation of the mills.

Big Season's Cut.

The total cut of the company last season at the Peterborough and the Lakefield mills was 17,000,000 feet. About 400 men were employed in the six lumber camps of the Dickson Company last winter and 15,000,000 feet of timber cut. The new syndicate, as already stated, has not only purchased the limits and goodwill of the company, but has also bought all the outfit connected with the camps, including horses, sleighs, wagons, etc. The Dickson Company in the summer time also had engaged about 400 men on the drives, in the yards and at the mills. About eighty hands find employment at the Lakefield mill, and sixty at the Peterborough mill, while some hundreds are made use of on the different drives.

It will be pleasing to the citizens to know that the new company will have its head office in this city.

The acquisition of such a company of capitalists to the city will certainly work to the advantage of Peterborough. There is little doubt, judging from the reports, that they will be worthy successors to the company which they succeed.

The Dickson Company, during the many years it has been in business in Peterborough, has always held a record for fair and just dealings, and it retires with a creditable and honourable record.

THE PUBLIC SHOULD KNOW ABOUT IT

Newspapers are generally pretty chary about giving editorial notice to proprietary remedies, but when a man like the Honourable John Costigan, M. P., one of the foremost of Canadian statesmen, and a man whose word is as good as his bond, gives out for publication a statement, such as appears in another column, that "Fruit-a-tives," or Fruit Liver Tablets, have cured him of a chronic malady which has been the bane of his existence for over 30 years, some recognition of such a testimonial seems to be in the public interest.

An Address On Charles Dickens

Sheriff Hall Spoke to Young People at Knox Church.

Last night an interesting meeting of the Young People's Guild of Knox church was held, when an address on "Charles Dickens," was given by Sheriff Hall, whose familiarity with this writer is sufficient to make any address given by him of deep interest. Different aspects and characteristics of Dickens' life and work were ably dealt with, particularly his sympathy, humour and powers of observation.

Mr. J. R. Cool, president of the Guild, was chairman, and Miss Winnie Anderson contributed to the programme a well rendered piano solo.

Mr. R. Burns, a member of the Guild who leaves for Seattle shortly, gave an address of farewell.

Dainty refreshments were served this feature being in charge of Miss Hamilton.

Inspiring Addresses

DELIVERED TO LARGE CROWD

At Open Orange Meeting

Col. Sam. Hughes, M.P., Victoria, and Mr. K. C. Hockin, Editor of the Orange Sentinel, Were the Speakers—Remarks Were Warmly Applauded—Musical Numbers Appreciated.

The mass meeting under the auspices of the Loyal Orange Association in the old Opera House last night was a decided success both in point of attendance and in the enthusiasm of the audience. There was a representative audience present which included many ladies. Inspiring addresses were given by Col. Sam Hughes, M.P., Victoria, and Mr. H C. Hockin, editor of the Orange Sentinel, Toronto. The remarks of the speaker were frequently punctuated with applause. Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, of Omemee, occupied the chair.

The meeting was opened by prayer by Rev. A. H. Brace, pastor of the Park street church.

The chairman congratulated the audience on its splendid proportions, and introduced Col. Sam Hughes, M. P.

Col. Hughes.

Col. Hughes in beginning, said that he had knocked around the world a good deal and had found no better people than those brought up in the Midland District under Orange auspices. He was glad to find two ministers on the platform, who were worthy exponents of Orangeism and Protestantism. Orangemen did not turn out for the purpose of decrying Roman Catholics. The Orangeman pledged himself that he will defend to the death the rights of his Roman Catholic brethren. The relationship between a man's conscience and his God was one thing, but the relationship between a corporation and the state was an entirely different matter. It was the duty of every free man to step into the breach and say to the corporation that it must not encroach on the domains of a free man.

The mandate of the Eternal was that man should be free. In the olden days the people were hewers of wood and drawers of water. With the advent of the Orange principles the people became free and their own governors. People had themselves to blame if they were not free and were ground down.

The speaker passed on to disuss the difference between Romanism and Protestantism, and reviewed the history of the two denominations going back as far as the 5th century and outlining the progress made. The Greek churches of those days represented the democratic Protestant church of to-day while the Roman church was the symbol of the Roman church of the present time. Protestantism was not an off shoot of the Roman church but a branch of the old Greek church. The massacres of the Protestants in France was referred to by the speaker in vigourous terms. The influence of the Hugenots especially could be be especially seen in the history of the world.

The world had made more progress since the public mind was opened by the victories of Derry and Inniskillen, than it made in all the years preceding. This was because man was free and had a chance to use his genius. The civic aspect of Orangeism had not benefitted the world as much as the religious aspect. He maintained that if the free civic government was given up, the free religious government would have to be given up.

The benefit of Orangeism in Canada was next touched upon. The love of British liberty was the effect of Orange teachings. In this connection the speaker referred to the services of the Canadians in the wars of 1812, in the Fenian raids. In 1885 fully fifty per cent. of the old Midland Battalion who took part in the Northwest rebellion were Orangemen. Out of 5,000 men sent by Canada to South Africa, 1,300 were members of Orange institutions. He did not want to impugn the loyalty of Roamn Catholics but he maintained that Orangeism stood for loyalty.

Mr. Hockin.

Mr. Hockin, in commencing, paid a tribute to the preceding speaker. He expressed his gratification at the revival in Orange questions all over Canada during the past year. In Ontario, from Toronto west, there had been added some 5,000 members to Orange lodges. In Toronto there were some 500 members. The speaker read some extracts from the first Orange ritual, showing the qualifications that were necessary in an Orange member. He then showed that these same principles that were in force then are still firmly held.

The association began with William III.'s grandfather, William the Silent, who sacrificed everything, even his life, to save the Netherlands from the prosecution of Spain. While he was fighting the Inquisition be held his own followers in check, forbidding his men to treat their enemies cruelly.

Orangemen, said the speaker, had no quarrel with the Roman Catholic. He would stand beside his Roman Catholic brethren if any attempt was made to deprive them of their rights. These statements were illustrated by the reading of articles from the British Weekly and from the speeches of Michael Davitt. There was no part of the world in which Roman Catholics had been treated so tolerantly as in Ontario. The separate school had been forced on Ontario in 1863. There was no boycot of Roman Catholics as was found in other provinces.

It was necessary for Orangemen to understand the attitude of the Roman Catholics. The speaker gave several instances in which Protestants had been too tolerant. In Victoria College a Roman Catholic had been employed as teacher. In no Roman Catholic school in the country could such a condition be found. Reference was made to the murder of Scott by Riel and his half-breeds, after which Riel had been spared.

The speaker went on to discuss the Autonay Bill. Ontario had been true to the Federal Compact, but Quebec had violated it. He referred to the meeting of the Catholic bishops of Quebec at Three Rivers, after which the Autonay Bill had been passed. He quoted from Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech to the effect that lynchings and murders in the United States were the result of the Public Schools.

Passing on, the speaker said that the ultra-montanes had more power in Canada now than ever they had. The force that Orangemen had to fight could only be conquered by organization. It was the most perfectly organized body in the world, and he thought that the only people to cope with them were the Orangemen. The Protestant church had one aim, to convert the people to God. In addition to this the Roman Catholics had that of gaining temporal power. The Orange society could not be a secret organization, as the Roman Catholic church. Its success depended upon publicity, not secrecy.

In conclusion, Mr. Hockin said that he was not afraid that the hierarchy would have temporal power in Canada. He hoped, however, that it might be conquered by a body of Christians, not of socialists and anarchists. There were all the elements for a long contest along the line, a conflict that would last many years. He did not think that the 68 per cent. of Protestant voters would allow their rights to be trampled on. Unless they could establish, without peradventure, their principles, there might be a revolution. He was ambitious to see the time when the politicians would have to say, "What will the Orange Order think of it," when contemplating some movement. He looked upon the question as the great contest of the future.

During the evening vocal solos were rendered in good voice by Messrs. R. Freund and B. Stewart, both of whom were warmly received.

At the conclusion of the addresses a hearty vote of thanks, moved by Rev. A. H. Brace and seconded by Bro. W. Kindred, was tendered those taking part.

Grand Success Scored At Y.W.C.A. Gym. Concert

The Y. W. C. A. Justifies its Physical Department--Splendid Exposition of Gymnasium Work and Results --An Excellent Musical Programme Presented to Large and Enthusiastic Audience.

It would be a pity if "Grand closing of gymnasium classes" were literally applied to the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium concert at the Grand Opera House last night — the classes showed too much cleverness — showed too much profit from their existence under the present instructor, to make the idea of closing welcome — they are good enough to last longer. The concert was in every way a successful closing, of what was demonstrated to be a successful gymnasium season. There was a large house, which very thoroughly enjoyed the delightful evening's entertainment provided, which was a charming combination of muscle and music — of the athletic and the aesthetic — if such a differentiation is permissible, for the muscular element was associated with so much refinement of grace, grouping, garb and gesture, as to make distinction largely arbitrary. The physical director, Miss Adams, has good reason to be be proud of her classes, and her classes, and their parents and friends, have great reason to be grateful to Miss Adams. Their work was splendidly done last night, showing principally remarkable precision and grace of movement. While the gymnastic exercises presented — doubtless the result of far more varied instruction in class — tend to develop physically every organ and part of the body, they develop what is, perhaps, as much valued by the sex themselves, as being more admired by others—grace of emotion, grace of pose and poise, grace of bearing. The little girls, as the older ones, had been taught how to stand, how to walk, how to dance — and to do it all gracefully — to do prolonged and active, if not violent, exercise, without fatigue, or, in the parlance of the turf — "without turning a hair," showing that grace and strength under proper training, go together.

To the lover of the picturesque, the gymnastic exercises were a beautiful sight, not only for the rythmic perfection of the combined movements, but for the real beauty of the moving pictures presented by nearly a score of bright, pretty, blooming and chic-ly attired girls in a group. The costumes were very pretty and becoming, and, above all, sensible — especially that of the senior girls—divided skirts of navy blue, with touches of white. This form of costume permitted the greatest freedom of leg movement, and consequent grace of pose and action, and would be a sensible one to adopt for general use, if fashion would only take a freak to decree it.

The gymnastic exercises and entertainment were presented by four classes, all distinguished by remarkably pretty costumes, as well as by splendid performance. The junior class presented gymnastic drill and the May-pole dance; the Tuesday class gave a brilliant exhibit of dumb bell drill; the Intermediate class did some beautiful intricate and well performed fancy marching, and graceful fancy steps; and the Friday class a graceful exposition of the wand drill. The whole of the physical section of the entertainment was an unqualified success, and concluded with a grand march — triumphal, it might be called, because both the gymnasium classes and the director achieved quite a triumph, in presenting so enjoyable an entertainment, and affording so practical and pretty a demonstration of the excellent work carried on by the physical department of the Young Women's Christian Association.

The Musical Feature.

The musical feature of the programme was of corresponding excellence. All the contributors acquitted themselves admirably, and were heartily appreciated, every artist having to repeat his or her number. Miss Helen Davies sang "My Little Darling," by Gomez, and for an encore Cowna's "Snowflakes." Her singing was marked by the artistic execution and rich tone colour, and finished style that we are so familiar with. Mr. "Bob" Shaw, an old Peterborough favourite, as he is now a Toronto favourite, exhibited his excellent tenor voice to great advantage, in the "Two Grenadiers," by Schumann, and for an encore he sang "Jennie," by Harry Pepper. Mr. Shaw in method, voice and general artistic development showed the true artistic instinct, in both interpretation and execution. Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot sang "The Spring Song" by Ellen Wright, and her repeat number was "There Let me Rest," by Edwin Green. In the second number, especially, Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot achieved a very happy success. Probably she was never in better voice and spirit than last night, when she richly earned the enthusiastic welcome accorded to her finished singing. Miss Alice Roger contributed with excellent taste and discrimination the vocal accompaniments, and brilliantly performed two pianoforte solos, her principal number being "Spring Night," Schumann-Liszt, and to an enthusiastic encore recall she gave Greig's dainty "Butterfly. Miss Roger played with a brilliant and facile technique, crisp tone and delicate interpretative taste. Miss Dalby, of Toronto, elocutionist, was so heartily received on the occasion of her two appearances that she was compelled to twice respond to recalls. His numbers were "Bobby Schatto," encore "His Plan," and "Dawn on the Irish Coast," encore "Good Resolutions."

At the conclusion of the programme Roy took a flashlight photograph of the beautifully grouped gymnastes and the vocalists. If the camera could repeat the brilliant colouring and charming tableau thus presented, the picture would be one of surpassing loveliness.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Pembroke Railway Will Be Extended To Petawawa

Bill Introduced to Permit Grand Trunk Spur Line.

FOR BENEFIT OF SOLDIERS

Debate on the Dairy Inspection Bill, Designed to Prevent Fraud in Cheese and Butter-Making—Vice-President of Eastern Dairymen's Association Endorses the Measure—Signs of End of the Session.

Toronto, May 5.—At yesterday's session of the Legislature Mr. Dunlop was granted leave to introduce a bill to permit the Pembroke Southern Railway to extend from Pembroke to the new military camp at Petewawa.

The Premier spoke of the importance of the matter. If the railway was not extended it would be necessary for the Grand Trunk to transship troops at Pembroke. Under ordinary circumstances it would not be advisable to allow the rules to be transgressed, but it was a Dominion matter, and concerned the convenience of a large number of the militia. He read a telegram from the C. P. R. that it offered no objection. The new line, it was explained, would parallel the C.P.R.

Mr. Harcourt said there were precedents for doing what it was proposed the House should do. It was apparent that the public interests would be served by the proposed railway; therefore, there could be no objection to waive the usual procedure and allow the introduction of the bill.

The bill was read a first time.

Confirms Soo Guarantee.

Hon. Col. Matheson introduced a bill to confirm an agreement entered into between the Government and the Canadian Improvement Co. This refers to the renewal of the guarantee of the Soo loan.

John Smith (Peel) introduced a bill respecting the settlement of boundary lines and double first concessions.

The House passed 18 bills, several of them being important Government measures.

Downey's Woodlands Bill.

In committee the House considered Mr. Downey's bill providing for the exemption of woodlands from taxation. The Premier was opposed to the principle of the bill, but did not think any harm would come by allowing it to pass. Nothing more disastrous could happen than that the municipalities should take advantage of the provisions of the act. It was hoped that in the future an extensive scheme of provincial forestry might be adopted, and this minor scheme might interfere with it. However the act could be repealed.

Mr. Craig withdrew his bill to amend the Public Schools Act at the request of Dr. Pyne, who promised to provide for the inspection of pupils' teeth in the public school regulations.

Fraud in Cheese-Making.

Hon. Mr. Monteith's bill to prevent fraud in the manufacturing of cheese and butter was discussed in committee. Mr. Graham said he had received a letter from a dairyman in Eastern Ontario who approved of the principle of the bill, but did not think that one inspector for that part of the province would be sufficient.

Hon. Mr. Monteith explained that the inspectors would be wholly independent of the Health Department. It was the intention of the Government to remodel the Health Act, and it would then be possible to harmonise any little differences.

Mr. Dargavel, who is treasurer of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, spoke of the importance of the industry to the eastern part of the province. The bill was in the right direction. There should be rigid and adequate inspection of cheese and butter factories, as some of the product exported to England had been shown to be of an inferior quality.

Mr. Ferguson (Grenville) did not think the bill went far enough. The great trouble was the uncleanliness of the stables, cheese factories and utensils, and the manufacturing of cheese produced from fodder out of season. Until conditions were improved we could not hope to compete with the continent in the manufacturing of cheese.

Mr. McMillan (Glengarry) hoped the Government would install machines to measure out the whey and compel farmers to remove it from the premises.

In Mr. Ross' Absence.

Mr. Harcourt, in the absence of Hon. Mr. Ross, hoped that the Government would hold over the consideration of the bill respecting County Councils, the own respecting mines, the bill respecting the Education Department, the university act, 1906, and the bill to amend the public schools act, until Tuesday, when there would be a full House. There might or might not be a division on these measures, and there would be very little discussion.

Premier Whitney acquiesced, and moved the adjournment of the House at 4.55.

BILL FOR THE AUTOISTS.

Fixes Speed Rate at 15 Miles an Hour in the Country and at 10 Miles in Cities, Towns and Villages.

Toronto, May 5.—The fixing of fifteen miles an hour for the maximum speed for autos in the open country, and ten miles an hour in cities, towns and villages, is one of the new striking provisions of the new auto bill, which was approved by the municipal committee of the Legislature yesterday.

The bill holds the owner of the auto absolutely liable for any damage done. In the case of accident, the onus of proof rests upon the owner or driver of the auto. Searchlights are prohibited, and numbers are required both back and front. A greater speed than seven miles is prohibited when another vehicle drawn by horses is being met or overtaken.

The driver of an auto must give aid when an accident occurs, and be ready to give in writing his name and address, those of the owner, and the permit number. Failure to adhere to rules re accidents, are liable to a maximum fine of $50 for a first offence, $100 for a second and a month's sentence in jail for a third, with cancellation of permit if it be within two years.

ROUGH ON STANDARD OIL.

Commissioner Garfield's Report Is Very Outspoken Regarding the Octopus —President Roosevelt.

Washington, May 5.—Commissioner of Commerce and Labor Garfield has submitted a report on the oil industry, which has to do with the subject of transportation and freight rates. He says in part:

"The general result has been to disclose the existence of numerous and flagrant discriminations by the railroads in behalf of the Standard Oil Co., and affiliated corporations. With comparatively few exceptions, mainly of other large concerns in California, the Standard has been the sole beneficiary of such discriminations. In almost every section of the country that company has been found to enjoy some unfair advantage over its competitors, and some of these discriminations affect enormous areas.

"Discriminations in the transportation of oil embracing a variety of forms, the more important of which may be classed under the following heads: '1. Secret and semi-secret rates. 2. Discriminations in the open arrangement of rates. 3. Discriminations in treatment of private tank cars.' Many of the secret rates discovered by the bureau of corporations have applied only on shipments of oil wholly within single states. The Standard Oil Co., which controls refineries in twelve states, is obviously in a position to make extensive use of such intra state rates, or as they are ordinarily designed, state rates."

President's Comment.

President Roosevelt submitted Commissioner Garfield's report to Congress yesterday and accompanied it with a message, in which he said:

"Though not bearing upon the question of railroad rates, there are two measures, the consideration of which is imperatively suggested by the submission of this report. The Standard Oil Co. has, largely by unfair or unlawful methods, crushed out home competition. It is highly desirable that an element of competition should be introduced by the passage of some such law as that which has already passed the House, putting alcohol used in the arts and manufactures upon the free list. Furthermore, the time has come when no oil or coal lands held by the Government, either upon the public domain proper or in territory owned by the Indian tribes, should be alienated."

An Indignant Denial.

New York, May 5.—When the President's message, with the accompanying report of Commissioner Garfield, was received at the office of the Standard Oil Co. in New York, M. E. Elliott, general counsel of the company, was asked what reply he care to make. He said, in part:

"It is difficult to comment hurriedly and with due restraint on the astonishing report of Mr. Garfield. We must, however, in justice to ourselves and our shareholders, immediately express our unbounded surprise over Mr. Garfield's report and our unqualified declaration that it is absolutely unfair and unjust toward us. We do not hesitate for a moment to say that an unprejudiced study of the facts presented by us to Mr. Garfield's investigators will vindicate us absolutely. In this statement, we make no reservation."

Coal Strike Decision.

Scranton, May 5.—The United Mine Workers' convention of delegates from the three anthracite districts which have been in session here the past two days considering the refusal of the mine operators to grant the demands of the mine workers, will declare itself finally and definitely to-day. The entire situation is now believed to rest with President Mitchell.

Fall Against Circular Saw.

Wiarton, May 5.—While operating a shingle saw in the Eastern Lumber Co.'s mill, James Miller lost his bearing and fell toward the rapidly revolving machine. His right hand came in contact with the saw and all the fingers were severed.

Large Quantities of Butter and Eggs Consumed.

Market prices to-day were little altered from those of a week ago. Few farmers were present this morning although the market hall was well filled with their wives and daughters who had plenty of butter and eggs for sale.

In the poultry line there was a considerable number of chickens selling at $1.00 to $1.20 per pair. A monster turkey weighing 20 lbs. brought $3.00 to the owner.

Timothy hay was offered at $14.00 per ton and has generally been a scarcity at the markets this week. The quotations:—

DIRE NEED IN 'FRISCO.

191,637 Fed in Stricken City Camps—Refugees in Oakland 40,000.

Washington, May 5.—The question of caring for the destitute in San Francisco is causing the officials there great anxiety as shown by the following telegram from Gen Greely, dated Thursday, and received at the War Department over night:

"Number of destitute being fed enormous, aggregating by to-day as just reported, 191,637, in San Francisco. Apparently conservative estimates placed destitute refugees at 40,000 in Oakland and Berkeley. How these terrible conditions are to be met is subject of most earnest consideration between Devine, finance committee and myself.

"While daily hoping for great decreases in number of destitute am not confident. Far-reaching extent of this disaster cannot be appreciated without personal observation."

Damage $2,000,000.

Oakland, Cal., May 5.—Estimates of the damage wrought by the earthquake in this city total two million dollars.

An Adverse Report.

Washington, May 5.—The Senate committee on finance to-day will make an adverse report on the new lands resolution in relation to an investigation by Congressional committees of means of guaranteeing the credit of San Francisco.

GOLDBERG NOT A BIGAMIST.

Gentile Minister Marries the Couple When Rabbi Refuses.

Berlin, May 5.—Harry Goldberg of New Hamburg, who was arrested a week ago on a charge of bigamy, appeared before Police Magistrate Weir yesterday. Only one witness, a Hebrew named Henry Gasman, who married Goldberg and Miss Bella Berg, in Berlin four weeks ago, was heard. It appeared he was not a Jewish rabbi, and had no right to marry under the Jewish law, and also that Goldberg was not married to the woman in Poland, as was alleged, but was simply engaged, which, according to Jewish law, is as binding as a marriage ceremony.

Mr. Clement produced letters from the authorities in Poland, to the effect that Goldberg was a single man, and as the couple were not legally married by an authorized Jewish rabbi, he suggested that they be married. The couple consented, but the Jewish rabbi refused to perform the ceremony until he was furnished with a certificate from Goldberg's fiancee in Poland consenting.

He, however, allowed them to be married by a Gentile minister, and Rev. A. R. Springer of Alma street, United Brethren Church, performed the ceremony.

ZULU REBELS' WORK.

British Agent Murdered and a Policeman Also Killed.

Pietermaritzburg, Natal, May 5.—An outrage which may have serious consequences has occurred in Zululand. Mr. Stainbank, the British magistrate at Mahlabitini, Zululand, has been killed by Zulus while collecting taxes near that place.

Mr. Stainbank and a party, including Mrs. Stainbank, the magistrate's wife, a lady companion, and some mounted police, were caught in an ambush by hostile natives, who fired a volley at them. The magistrate and one of the policemen were fatally wounded. Mr. Stainbank and the two ladies managed to reach Mahlabitini, where the magistrate died of his wounds.

For Sessional Indemnity.

Regina, Sask., May 5.—The sessional indemnity for the Saskatchewan Legislature was yesterday fixed at $1,000 by the casting vote of the chairman of the committee of the whole. Haultain moved to have it cut to $700 and was supported by two Ministers and one other Liberal.

An Infernal Machine at St. John, N. B

St. John, N. B., May 5.—Harry McMahon, aged 19, a scene-shifter in the opera house here, was injured yesterday by the explosion of gunpowder in a small box he received through the mail from an unknown source. The police are investigating.

MILITARY NEWS OF LOCAL INTEREST

BY OUTPOST

The 14th Parade.

On Tuesday evening the 14th P. W. O.R. had their first battalion parade, leaving the Armouries at 8.30 o'clock, and proceeding to the cricket field for drill. Hundreds of citizens lined the streets to see our soldier boys go marching by; and a trim, fine appearance they presented. The brass and bugle bands led the eight companies, all sturdy well-built young men in their neat uniforms. When th ecricket field was reached, the regiment drilled until ten o'clock, the band, the while, playing its best selections.

Lieut.-Col. Kent, remarked by way of praise that he had never in his four years of command seen a better initial turnout. "While the boys did splendidly last year, and have done well so far this season, I want this to eclipse all former years," he said.—Kingston Whig.

The Composite Brigade.

Colonel Miller intends recruiting on Tuesday night for the Composite Battalion Brigade which will be in camp at Cobourg this year between June 18th and 28th. Peterborough has decided to send two companies and it is altogether probable that Belleville and Kingston will also contribute two each.

A number of those well up in the military drill will be drawn from each company and these to-gether with two of the captains will consitute the brigade, which will spend four days during the drill term.

The Regimental Band.

The 57th Batallion Band under the capable management of Professor Gliddon is better than ever. Many favourable remarks were passed upon the quality of the martial music rendered on Tuesday evening last— the evening of the first march out.

The band is a good strong one and still bears a reputation among those of the province and is of considerable assistance in making the Regiment the popular one it is.

The Bugle Band this year will, it is understood, be greatly improved. Sergt. Cookston, who has charge is diligently looking after its interests and it promises this year to be a great acquisition to the Regiment.

An Escapade And How It Terminated

Three Boys and a Young Man Were Badly Frightened--Boys Thought Latter Was After Them--A Similar Story to the Michigan Seminary Sensation.

There was a trio of pretty badly frightened boys and an equally frightened young man in the city the other night. The boys had climbed to the roof of a shed adjoining a house on Aylmer street, where a number of young ladies live, their object being to give the girls a scare, but this time their joke reacted upon themselves. They had just settled themselves for their operations, when they were startled, and not a little alarmed to find that their shed roof was about to be occupied by another person. This time a young man was the one who intended to take up a position on the shed, though for what purpose can only be surmised. The suggestion, though, is that he intended to imitate the exploits of the boys who climbed the fire escapes in the Michigan seminary. When he saw the boys, however, he beat a hasty retreat, and, mounting his wheel, sped away.

In the meantime, the boys were becoming pretty thoroughly frightened, too, and as soon as the young man reported to had got out of sight they hastily dropped off the roof and scattered. It would be hard to say which got the worst fright, but it is pretty safe betting that neither the boys nor the young man will attempt the same feat again in the near future.

The chances are that the girls knew nothing of this little drama that was being enacted underneath their window, their laughter indicating that they were in total ignorance that anything out of the ordinary was taking place.

OBITUARY.

ELIZABETH PAYNTER.

About 7 o'clock last night Elizabeth Paynter, wife of Mr. Thomas Kemp, Auburn, passed away at the ripe old age of 72 years. Death was due to general debility, combined with old age. Mrs. Kemp was born in Devonshire, England, and came out to Canada with her husband about 48 years ago, and had resided in Peterborough for the last 35 years. Surviving her are two sisters, Mrs. R. Butcher, East City, and Mrs. A. Miller, of Ardock, Ont. She leaves a family of one daughter and six sons, Mrs. John Flannery and Messrs. William, Samuel, John and Thomas, of Peterborough; Harry, of Providence, R.I., and George, of Lawrence, Mass.

Deceased had always been a member of the English church, in which she took an active part during the earlier years of her life.

The funeral will take place Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the residence of her son, 181 River road, Auburn, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

SPECIAL MEETING TO LET SCHOOL CONTRACT

A special meeting of the Board of Education will be held on Monday night next when the report of the Committee appointed to receive the tenders for the new south ward school will be presented. This committee met last Monday night, and opened the tenders, and at the meeting of the committee will be prepared to make a recommendation to the Board.

As to the amount of the tenders submitted, the committee has kept its own counsel.

This meeting of the Board should be an interesting one.

Everybody's Automobile

Although the Automobile has now reached the stage of being a practical and reliable vehicle, it does not, by any means, displace the bicycle.

The Bicycle is light and convenient; can be ridden almost anywhere that you can walk; covers the distance quickly and can be set aside when not in use, about as easily as your umbrella,

And the price is within the reach of all. Soon pays for itself in the saving of time and car fares.

The Bicycle is everybody's automobile.

Good Address On Writing

At yesterday afternoon's session of the City Teacher's Institute, the first item on the programme was the consideration of the report of the committee to draft a constitution. The report was presented, discussed clause by clause and on motion of Mr. Jeffreys seconded by Mr. Fessenden, was adopted.

Mr. Wm. Pringle, Principal of Peterborough Business College, gave a very interesting instructive and practical address on "Writing". This address was thoroughly appreciated by those present and brought forth an animated discussion from a large number of teachers.

Mr. Pringle discussed the question of why people write poorly, giving as reasons for this first, because the people are taught too early, second because the grading of exercise is poor and thirdly the proper movement is not started early enough. Each of these reasons with means of overcoming the defects was carefully gone into by Mr. Pringle.

Other matters touched upon were the proper position in which to sit and to which to hold the body. Mr. Pringle spoke of the two different systems of writing,—the Spencerian and Vertical. A medium slant, he said, was now considered the best.

The address must have been of immense value to the teachers who listened to it.

ENGLISH HOUSES CAREFUL

They Are Not Arrogant in Selling, But Are Firm and Calculating.

It is the manufacturers of fine tweeds and worsteds in England whose exports to Canada have prospered under the preferential tariff which British manufacturers enjoy in Canada.

The best makers of British cloths are careful and conservative. They will only sell to the best buyers. One maker of world-famous English mottons recently had this proposition placed before him by his Canadian traveller.

"I can sell the Semi-ready Company as much in a year as 300 merchant tailors will buy from us. Will I close up with the trifling tailor trade and give the Semi-ready exclusive use of our mottons?"

He did. And that is another reason why the Semi-ready Top Coats are better than custom tailors' coats—and $10 better on a $25 coat.

In this city and district exclusive franchise for the sale of Semi-ready clothing is held at Oressman's.

THE LATEST SPORTS

THIS AFTERNOON'S BIG BALL GAME

The game between the George Street Guild team and the Pirates this afternoon will be a good exhibition of ball.

The Midland Leaguers will be without the services of Rattray, who is catching for the Park nines of Toronto to-day and will not be here until Monday. It is likely that Shea will do the receiving Chris. Graham is out of town to-day but the rest of the line-up will be the same as published last night.

BASEBALL

This afternoon the second game in the C.G.E. shop league series is being played, on the T.A.S. grounds. The game will be between the North and South end teams. The South End sluggers will line-up as follows:—

Sherwood, c.; Ryan, p.; Adamson, 2nd; Holmes, 3rd; Poole, 1st; Prest, l. f.; Heard, r. f.; O'Connor, c. f.; Tobin, s. s.

The standing of the league is as follows:—

	Won.	Lost.
North—	1	0
South—	0	1

Betting odds are said to be 2 to 1 in favour of the North.

• • • •

The Lindsay Post says:—Port Hope will be strong this season according to a player from that town. They are billed for their first defeat here on May 24th, when they run up against the Lindsay Redskins, but by the way Lindsay has a game with Peterborough before that —on May 16, just two weeks from yesterday. How about some practice, boys?

• • • •

A football practise of the Peterborough Quakers is called for this afternoon on Riverside Park, East City.

LACROSSE

The Brantford Expositor says:—An offer from the Peterborough Lacrosse club has been received by Manager "Rud", for the intermediates on May 24th. The Peterborough club want an exhibition game at home, and offer the local team good inducements to go. It is very likely that the offer will be accepted.

• • • •

At the meeting of the National Amateur Lacrosse Association last week, it was passed by resolution, that the word "Amateur" be dropped, and hereafter amateur and professionals will be allowed to play together and no questions will be asked of any clubs. Of course this also means that the Torontos and Tecumsehs will play professional men.

• • • •

Dr. Robinson, of Oshawa, has resigned the presidency of the Inter-Association Lacrosse League, while E. B. Wright has resigned the position of secretary-treasurer. All of the Toronto teams have withdrawn from the association, and are forming a league of their own. So far nothing has been heard of the outside clubs which had teams entered.

WOMEN WHO SUFFER SHOULD READ THIS

She Was Cured of Female Troubles by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

They Made a New Woman of Her and She Blesses the Day She First Heard of Them.

Newmarket, Ont., May 4th.—(Special.) — The case reported below is another of the many thousands of instances of Dodd's Kidney Pills coming to the rescue of weak, suffering women. Mrs. M. Doner of this place says:

"For more than three years I suffered from weakness and female trouble brought on by my kidneys failing to act properly. I was bothered with a pain in the small of my back, headaches, dizzy spells, heart fluttering, depression, loss of sleep, poor appetite and a terrible dragging sensation as if a weight was fastened around my loins. I tried doctors and took all kinds of medicines, but nothing seemed to do me any good. Then a neighbour told me of Dodd's Kidney Pills and advised me to try them. I did so and after taking six boxes I am entirely cured."

MR. MAIN BUYS THE BUSINESS

The Fenelon Falls Gazette this week says: The Kawartha livery business has again changed hands, Mr. Robert Magee, the proprietor, having sold out to Mr. Angus Fountain and Mr. G. L. Main, who apparently bought it on "spec." as they have advertised all the horses, vehicles, etc., for sale by public auction on Saturday, the 12th inst.; and if, as is stated, they paid only $725, they will probably make a little money out of the transaction. The livery which was started fifteen or more years ago by Mr. George Goodhand, has had about a dozen owners, two or three of whom — notably Mr. W. Golden — made it pay.

USE BILLBOARDS FOR CHURCH PURPOSES

The sedate community of Bedford Park, Bronx, has been somewhat surprised to see the hustling Congregational pastor, Rev. James W. Cool, utilising billboards for the announcement of his services. Mr. Cool does not believe that because a board has a certain size and shape, it should be used only by the theatrical agent or patent medicine man. His official board agrees with him that there are other things better worth pushing upon public attention than chewing gum and cigarettes. The church poster is not an entirely new idea, though it has been little used in the newer districts of the city. It is not nearly so distressing as the use of church buildings in New York today to advertise express companies, athletic clubs and prize fights. The Bedford Park pastor considers the auxiliary work of this church—such as its lyceum, printing press, clubs, amusements—as a business proposition to be run on careful business lines, self-supporting and self-propagating, and never a tax on the regular church funds, which are raised for other specific purposes.

LINDSAY PETERBOROUGH OSHAWA

Will Report On The Proposed Extension

Deputation Which Visited Toronto on Friday Will Report to Council To-night in Respect to Canadian General Electric Company Extension—Proposed to Double Works—One of Conditions Fixed Assessment for $150,000 for Twenty Years.

To-night's meeting of the City Council, promises to be one of the most important in the history of the city. At this meeting the deputation when went to Toronto last week as the guests of Mr. Frederick Nicholls, will present its report. The deputation consisted of Mayor Best, and Ald. Adams, Hicks, Mason and McWilliams, and they paid a visit to the immense works of the Canada Foundry Company, of which Mr. Nicholls is the presiding head.

They also discussed with Mr. Nicholls the proposed extension of the works of the Canadian General Electric Company. Naturally the city's representatives were anxious that they should be located at Peterborough, and with this in view they discussed terms.

At the council meeting to-night this committee will report upon the terms upon which this city can secure the extension, which, it is understood, practically means the duplication of the present works, and the employment one thousand more men.

It is stated that one of the terms, and the principal one, is that the company be given a fixed assessment for twenty years at $150,000. There are, however, some other considerations which the Mayor and Mr. Patterson worked out on Saturday. These will it is understood, be embodied in the report of the deputation to the council to-night.

More Trouble For The Sager Family

One of the Boys Reported to Have Sustained Fatal Injuries by Falling Off Buffalo Street Car.

Probably no family in Peterborough has been more unfortunate than the Sager family. It will be remembered that while they lived here the boys were frequently meeting with accidents, some of them very serious. It appears that their ill luck in this respect has followed them to Buffalo, where they now live, for word has been received in this city to the effect that one of the boys has again met with a most serious accident. It appears that he was riding on a street car, and fell off, injuring himself so seriously that it is feared that he may not recover. No details of the extent or nature of the injuries have been received, beyond the fact that they will likely prove fatal.

This will be most unpleasant news to the many friends of the family here.

PEORIA HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS DRINK WHISKEY

Special to The Examiner

Peoria, Ill., May 7. — Sensational disclosures that the girl students of the high schools are addicted to the use of whisky, and that the rest rooms have been the scenes of drinking bouts, caused widespread consternation in school circles to-day. Members of the faculty have confirmed the rumours, and they admit that the whisky had been given the girls purposes. One of the women teachers charged with dispensing the beverage, stated that her course was outlined by one of the members of the school board, who is a practicing physician.

Hotel at South Beach Has Been Remodelled

Will be Open on June 1st for Tourist Trade.

Mr. W. E. Brooks, the proprietor of the South Beach Hotel, Clear Lake, was in the city to-day. Mr. Brooks has made extensive changes in the hotel this year in preparation for the big summer tourist trade which is expected.

The interior of the house has been completely remodelled. The partitions have all been taken down and reconstructed making the rooms larger. Paint and paper has not been spared in making the appearance of both the interior and exterior as attractive as possible. A new verandah has been erected on the north side of the hotel and other alterations have also been made.

Fourteen extra rooms will be added in cottages, which Mr. Brooks is erecting on the South Beach grounds. The hotel will be open by June first for the tourist trade. Mr. Brooks has already erected over twenty-five applications for rooms from Americans for a portion of the season, which he says will be the banner one for the Kawartha Lakes.

Arctic Hawk Caught At Chemong Park

Very Rare Visitor to This Part of the Country.

Mr. B. Hudson, the Brock street taxidermist, has finished stuffing and setting up a very handsome specimen of a bird that is a very rare visitor to this part of the country, the black, rough-legged hawk. This bird is a native of the Arctic regions, and seldom comes this far south. It is the property of Mr. Pope, Chemong Park, and was captured near that place last fall, being almost dead from starvation. The bird measures three feet ten inches from tip to tip.

Many Immigrants Pass Through

A Big Train Went up on the C. P. R. Yesterday.

Last night in the stillness of the early evening an immigrant train passed through the city on the C.P.R. The train was composed of eight coaches and contained a few hundred inhabitants from the Old Country who have now become Canadian citizens.

About half a dozen of the party remained in Peterborough while the destination of the others was Toronto.

One elderly lady who was ticketed for Lakefield became "broke" in the financial line before arriving here and the C.P.R. kindly opened their waiting room at the station for her accommodation until this morning when she concluded her journey.

Robt. A. Hamilton Has Passed Away

A Well Known Resident of Peterboro' for Many Years.

Peterborough loses another of its most widely known and respected residents in the person of Mr. Robert AA. Hamilton, who died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The late Mr. Hamilton, some months ago, it will be remembered, suffered greatly from tuberculosis of bone at the elbow joint, which necessitated his being taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where the diseased arm was amputated. Mr. Hamilton stayed for some three weeks in the hospital, and as he seemed to be improving he was brought home, to his residence on Water street. Nine weeks ago blood poisoning, from sarcoma set in, and he was again removed to the hospital for treatment; unfortunately the disease had got beyond medical skill and Mr. Hamilton passed away yesterday morning.

The late Mr. Hamilton was born in Ireland in 1844 and came to Canada with his parents at the age of three years. He was married in Dummer on August 18th, 1881, to Miss Caroline Speers, sister of the Rev. Dr. Speers, of Brampton and he has resided in Peterborough for many years, as an agent of the Sun Life Insurance Company. He was well known to many citizens here, all of whom will remember him as a genial and respected friend.

He is survived by one brother, William, of East City; his only daughter, the late Mrs. Hards, predeceased him some two years ago.

For many years deceased was a member of St. Andrew's church and before his illness was a regular attendant.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock from the family residence, 381 Water street and will proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery for burial.

Sudden Death Came Sunday To a Visitor

Mrs. Andrew Steele Dropped Dead Last Night.

Mrs. Andrew Steele, of Cody, Neb., died last night under particularly sad circumstances, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Squires, 75 Albert street, where she has been visiting, with her husband and one of her ten children, who are now left motherless. The death is especially distressing because of its suddenness. Mrs. Steele had been, up to the instant of her death, almost, feeling quite well. Some weeks ago, she had been ailing slightly, but since then had been quite well, and yesterday she was at No. 5 dam, visiting her nephew, Mr. Davies. She was feeling particularly well yesterday, and was in high spirits.

After she returned to her sister's she prepared for retiring at the usual time, and without a moment's warning, fell over dead, with the words, "Oh, I feel I'm going to die," on her lips.

The deceased was 52 years of age, and was born in England; her maiden name being Julia Sabin. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, who, with the youngest child, nine years of age, has been with her here; nine other children living in Cody. Two brothers and five sisters also survive. They are, Mr. N. Sabin, England; Mr. Ed. Webb, (a half brother) Otillia; Mrs. Wm. Squires, of this city; Mrs. John Barrett, Australia; Mrs. Alt. Mitchell, Orillia; Mrs. John Castle, and Mrs. D. Wagstaff, Toronto.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock from the residence of her sister, Mrs. Squires, 75 Albert street, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Express Company To Build Here

Dominion Express Company to Erect Building at C.P.R. Station.

Tenders have been let for the new depot office of the Dominion Express Company, which they have decided to build at the C.P.R. station this year. The erection of this office has been found necessary on account of the great increase in traffic which the C.P.R. have been recently experiencing. The present baggage apartment at the station which has also been used for express is insufficient in capacity to contain both.

The father of the new scheme is Mr. L. D. Oakley, the Dominion Express agent, who leaves the city for Montreal on Wednesday.

BROUGHT PATIENT FROM SANITARIUM

Dr. Conroy, of Battle Creek, Mich., was in the city on Saturday. He came from Battle Creek to Toronto on Saturday with a patient from the sanatorium to a Toronto hospital. He left for Battle Creek to-day at noon.

GRASS AND FENCE MID-DAY FIRE

A small fire occurred at the corner of Rubidge and Edinburgh streets about noon to-day. Some dry grass was being burned up, when the fire spread to the fence. The fire laddies were called out and in a short time the conflagration was extinguished.

Is Meeting With Splendid Success

Mr. H. D. Kennedy Tells of His Work in Letter to His Brother.

Mr. H. D. Kennedy has received a letter from his brother, Evangelist Kennedy, from Sebastopol, California, in which he gives some additional information in reference to the disaster. He says in part:—

Sebastopol, Cal., May 1.

I don't want to see any more earthquakes. When I wrote my first letters after the shock I did not suppose anything but Santa Rosa (six miles from here) and this town were destroyed. For a couple of days we were more ignorant of the facts than the people in Canada. I saw and felt enough to get up a thrilling lecture. Great cracks were left in the ground, and sulphur smoke was puffing up everywhere. I think the shock was as bad here as anywhere, but people were all in bed and no fires on. If it had been a little later it would have been much worse.

Meetings here are going fine. Don't know yet what I will do when I leave here. Had a call last night to a town in Iowa for May 16. Would rather stay here if work opens, while the lilies and irises are as common as burdocks and dandelions at home. H. D. KENNEDY.

Two Physicians Both Agree on the New Scientific Dandruff Treatment.

Dr. J. M. Powell, of Spokane, Wash., says: "Herpicide has given good satisfaction in my family for dandruff."

Dr. W. G. Alban, of Walla Walla, Wash., says: "I find Herpicide all that is claimed for it as a dandruff cure. I shall prescribe it." Dandruff is a germ disease, and you can't cure it unless you kill the dandruff germ; and you can't do that unless you use Newbro's Herpicide, the only preparation in the world that destroys the parasites. A delightful hair dressing; allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. It is a sure dandruff destroyer. Sold by leading druggists. MR. SIFTON'S CHALLENGE.

Mr. Sifton has taken the first opportunity to categorically deny, from his seat in the House, the insinuations of the Opposition that he had been privy to wrong-doing in connection with the contract made with the North Atlantic Trading Company. There has not been presented to the House or to the country a title of evidence to show that Mr. Sifton or any of his officials in the Department had benefitted to the extent of a dollar by this contract, nor, in fact, that the arrangement had not been a desirable one in the interests of the country. The storm that has been raised has depended for its strength entirely on the one fact that the contract was made with unknown persons. Here was a mystery, and it required little ingenuity to draw from it all sorts of inferences of a character damaging to the Department. Yet the reasons advanced for keeping secret the names of the interested persons appeal with force to anyone who appreciates the situation on the Continent that confronted the officers of the Department of the Interior when they sought to develop a large emigration to Canada. It was desirable to enlist the services of men especially qualified to divert towards our shores the stream of population that was steadily leaving the older countries for the newer ones, and this could not be done unless these men were guaranteed freedom from publicity. That is the essence of the case, and out of it has grown the fabric of misrepresentation and insinuation that is attracting so much attention. It can be frankly acknowledged that a secret arrangement of this sort is not to be commended and should only be tolerated when the necessities of the case are peculiarly urgent. That they were so in this instance is one justification for the contract. Another one is the satisfactory results of the new propaganda.—Montreal Herald.

CANADA'S RAILWAY BOOM.

From the Cleveland Leader.

Canada has ceased to gaze contemplatively over the border at the "hustling" of the United States. It has passed from contemplation to activity. Canada is up and doing.

The Dominion's first necessity is more railways, and it is getting them. Great progress will be made this year. The mild weather of the winter has kept the expenses of the existing companies down, and encouraged them to undertake projects not before contemplated for the immediate future.

The Grand Trunk Pacific has under contract this spring 775 miles of the line with which it expects to carry grain out of Northern Alberta next year. The Canadian Northern Railway will at once spend $2,600,000 for additional rolling stock, and it is building a line toward Hudson's Bay. The Canadian Pacific has on hand projects calling for the expenditure in the Northwest during the next two years of $6,000,000, exclusive of the $7,500,000 recently authorized for new rolling stock. James J. Hill, the American magnate, already has 4,000 men at work on a railway he intends to build in Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It will connect with the Great Northern system in this country, and have branches throughout the three great western Provinces of Canada.

Under these circumstances the future of the Dominion is not hard to read.

G. T. P. WEST TERMINUS.

Victoria, B. C., wants to be the site of the terminus of another great transcontinental railway. It is practically, if not literally, the terminus of the Canadian Pacific, but it wants a railway terminus for its very own. It would be a good thing for Victoria, but in a matter of national importance it is well to consider the effect the railway business will have in developing the country. The G.T.P. will tend to develope the local and surrounding resources of Victoria. Inasmuch, however, as there are two other excellent possible termini besides Victoria or Vancouver — Bute Inlet and Karin Island, or Port Simpson, it will, perhaps, be considered advisable to have a more northern terminus selected. The contract with the Dominion requires the adoption of one of these termini, and the policy of adopting the shortest route, the latter a consideration of the first importance, is important also. The Grand Trunk Railway and the Canadian Pacific have spent millions in shortening their lines by reducing curves, etc., and it will not be advisable to adopt a longer route when a shorter one is available in selecting the first route.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If a high tariff is a boon and a blessing to the United States all the time, what reason is there in the demand for building material to be admitted free of duty to San Francisco people who are rebuilding their ruined city? If the rebate of duty is good for people in very distressing circumstances, why should it not be beneficial to the mass of the people who are less distressed? Of course, the high tariff is needed to make millionaires of a few manufacturers and to enable trusts to be formed and maintained; it is necessary to make the necessary conditions to the enrichment of a few.

The Toronto Star aptly says: Many of the Toronto streets are avenues of beauty in the summer time because of the tree-planting of days gone by. Residence property is enhanced in value, the city is made attractive to visitors, and practical financial public benefit ensues. • • • • • There are public improvements that will be as effective and complete if made two or three years later as if they are made to-day. This is not the case with tree-growing. Every year that is lost in beginning means a deficiency for nearly half a century afterwards. The Park Commissioner is always wisely desirous of doing more of this work than the Council will permit him to do. He ought to be encouraged. It will pay the Board of Control to curtail some other expenditures on improvements, for the purpose of enabling the Park Commissioner to plant trees. He will be a public benefactor who will devise some method of inducing citizens to take more interest and care in the protection of young trees that are set out.

PROVINCIAL LABOUR BUREAU.

The sixth annual report of the Bureau of Labour is an interesting compendium of information relating to industrial conditions in the Province. The tabulated statistics regarding the labour organizations, their membership, industrial conflicts, affiliations, and other phases of development, present in consecutive order the shifting scenes in the growth of modern industrialism. A feature of timely interest is the review of the recent conspiracy charges, in which organized workmen and organized employers united to exact excessive prices from the consumers. This is a new line of operation in Ontario, so far as organized labour is concerned, and its importance, not only to organized labour in general, but to the public at large, fully warrants the attention given to it by the bureau.

The statistics as to wages and hours of labour are less complete, and consequently less valuable, than in former reports owing to an unfortunate reluctance on the part of certain extensive employers of labour to furnish the returns requested. This attitude toward the work of the bureau will no doubt be materially altered when the organized employers see more clearly the value of the compilations towards which they are asked to contribute. A general knowledge of industrial conditions is quite as valuable to employers as a class as it is to employees. The information given is treated as confidential. A calmer view of the matter will no doubt result in a reversal of the hasty action which has resulted in the withholding of necessary information.

Mr. Glockling, who is head of the bureau, under the Minister of Public Works, has had many years of experience in labour organizations. The fairness of his course in directing the work of the bureau, and also in the more trying duties imposed by occasional industrial conflicts, has won the confidence and respect of the employers as a class, as well as of the organized workers. The report shows a broad conception of the often-forgotten truth that the industrial conflict is abnormal and occasional. It is designed to so direct the course of organized labour and organized capital that both may continue in a graceful relationship mutually profitable.—Globe.

AN EXPERIENCE AT RIVER-DRIVING

Everybody can't ride a saw log in the water, at least not long at a time, but one who can swim might have a second chance at the job which seems to the inexperienced as "dead easy," but at times it turns out "soft." A very estimable young man at Kinmount, who fills the responsible position of assistant agent of the G.T.R., was inspired with the idea on Saturday last that he could do the trick, and he did; but when through with the job his nice new boots were very damp, so also was his shirt collar and his boiled shirt and fashionable spring suit were ready to run through a patent wringer, in fact he looked personally as if ready to go through such an operation himself. He was landed without a hook and now prefers railroading to river driving.—Minden Echo.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Did you ever notice the large number of "Smokers" there are in any place—by the above name I do not mean to insinuate that Peterborough residents are any worse than those of any other place in that regard. For instance, a patent medicine man strikes town, lights up a street corner and commences in an earnest manner to display his wares, by the use of cleverly concealed baits—which in nine cases out of ten catch a good many dollars. Then again, only this week—a day or so ago—an Italian, with the aid of a hand organ, a couple of birds and five coloured mice, told fortunes for 5 cents. Did you notice how many easy marks there were? And also, have you heard the noises the whistles have since made in the kids' mouths.

• • • •

I have been thinking lately that with all our loyalty to Canada and the motherland, we are lacking in that essential point when we applaud the distinctly Yankee productions of blood and fire some theatrical companies now have on the road. If you have ever taken notice, the Yankee flag and the Yankee everything is so prominently displayed before your eyes that it is sometimes difficult to realize that one is not in an American city. While Canadians—both actors and actresses have made names for themselves in the theatrical world, yet they play in American companies, in American plays and under the American auspices. Why? Simply because Canadians do not take to the play-wright business like the Yankees do. What we need do is to show these distinctly Yankee companies that Canada is not under, nor ever likely to be, the Stars and Stripes, then they will begin to pay some attention to the fact that the Union Jack is a flag of power.

While we never hesitate to speak of our excellent educational system, we cannot overlook the fact that in these modern days it is often butchered, and this right in this banner province of Ontario, where the school system is said to be the first and foremost in the world. The use of slang phrases have become so familiar to our ears that we lapse into it as frequently as into good English. The habit is not confined to the small boy on the street, but to both the sexes, both young and old, at all times and in all places. In some instances I grant its use is more effective than some English words would be, but in the majority of cases, while it may take the place of oaths, yet in the main it is more harmful than good. "Certainly is", "going some", "up against it", etc., are some of the most commonly used. Let us all from this time forth desist from using these slangish phrases and so speak nothing but the king's pure English.

• • • •

I was glad to see so much interest shown by the people of this city in the parade the other evening by the local regiment. The streets were lined on both sides, and the martial spirit pervaded all hearts. The music of the band was enough to please all onlookers, and the red-coated chaps looked happy, too. They are a fine body of young men—so there is no use wondering why so many of our fairer sex congregated on the route of the march.

• • • •

The spectacle of an intoxicated young man on one of our streets across the river on Sunday and of a young lady one day recently, makes one stop and think some. We have become used to the spectacle of a man getting drunk on week days, but such an occurrence on Sunday is so rare as to become the subject of much comment. The other case this week brings forth all our pity for one so addicted. Drink is said to be a good medicine, but it is mighty poor to bathe in. In the above cases we all as citizens have a duty to do—help those who are slaves to its use to break away from its galling chains, instead of passing them by on the other side. "Let us do unto others as we would they should do unto us".

Big Increase In Custom Receipts

Progress of Peterborough as Indicated by the Custom House Figures.

The growth in the receipts at the local customs house during the past decade furnish interesting evidence of the ever increasing extent of the trade and commerce of Peterborough. The fact can readily be seen when it is known that in a single month at the present time the returns are greater than they were in twelve ten years ago. It is a matter upon which the city can congratulate itself, as evidencing a very healthy growth in property and enterprise.

The following figures showing the receipts for the last twelve years should be interesting:—

1893-94	$ 57483 08
1894-95	45,174 52
1895-96	51,849 55
1896-97	57,355 42
1897-98	74,016 38
1898-99	87,082 06
1899-00	122,496 07
1900-01	130,050 67
1901-02	147,392 49
1902-03	213,626 24
1903-04	222,751 15
1904-05	335,637 29

It will be seen that since 1895, the receipts each year have shown an increase over the preceding year in some cases the increase being very large

Interesting comparisons may be made with the returns in other nearby Canadian cities. Following are some of the receipts:—

Belleville	$ 49,108 14
Cobourg	36,011 86
Port Hope	16,116 69
Lindsay	27,052 39
Kingston	174,233 28
Napanee	10,029 79
Picton	19,104 81
	$380,656 46
Peterborough	$335,637 29

GIRL IRONING RECEIVES SHOCK

The Fenelon Falls Gazette says:

During a brief thunderstorm about 5 p.m., on Wednesday, a few million volts of wild electricity got tangled up in the wires of the town light and power system, and followed them into a number of houses and business places. The Mansion House received a charge that shocked all the inmates more or less, particularly a man who had just come in out of the wet, and had his hand on a brass door knob, and a young lady who was using an electric smoothing iron in the kitchen.

Pure Blood Source of Health

AND THE BLOOD CAN ONLY BE PURIFIED BY THE HEALTHFUL ACTION OF THE LIVER AND KIDNEYS.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

At this season of the year, as at no other, the importance of pure blood is brought home to the minds of most people. As the result of artificial winter life — living on artificial foods and being shut up in badly ventilated rooms — the liver and kidneys become clogged and sluggish in action, the bowels constipated, and the blood loaded with poisonous impurities.

Is it any wonder that spring finds us run down in health and feeling languid and fatigued? Is it any wonder that our systems become an easy prey to every form of disease which lurks in the spring air? Is it any wonder that we have aching heads and aching backs and suffer from indigestion and biliousness?

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are especially suitable as a spring medicine because they act directly on the liver and kidneys and enliven the action of these great blood-filtering organs.

Except by the action of the liver and kidneys, there is no means by which the poisonous impurities can be removed from the blood. With these organs in health a person is almost immune from colds and all forms of contagious diseases.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills should not be confused with medicines which merely act on the bowels. They do effect prompt action of the bowels, and they do infinitely more, for by setting the liver right they bring about a good flow of bile and thoroughly cure constipation.

Biliousness, liver complaint, constipation, kidney derangements and impure blood cannot exist when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are used. And there is a great satisfaction in using a medicine which has stood the test of time and proven its right to a place in every home as a family medicine of worth and reliability.

Put Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to the test and you will avoid the usual ills and weaknesses of spring. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

Oshawa Poker Dive Was Raided By Chief Of Police

Twenty-five Men Found in the Room—A Dozen Men Were Hid in a Bed—Some Took Chances by Jumping From Windows—A Lively Time in Oshawa Joint.

The Oshawa Reformer says: For years a poker dive and general gambling, cock-fighting and dog-fighting den has been supposed to exist somewhere on the flat over the Reformer office or James Mackie's grocery store. Without let, hindrance or molestation, men have been allowed to make a living out of the rake-off coming from such vice there carried on. That such a dive existed had been a matter of common knowledge, and has been a great nuisance to the adjacent business places, although the game was generally carried on during the night. Last Saturday night Chief Constable Crawford had his attention directed to a little boy who was wandering around the streets. The little fellow told the chief that his father was up in a poker room, and pointed to the windows over Mackie's grocery store. Chief Crawford felt very much annoyed to think a man would leave a little boy to wander about the streets at midnight in order to gamble, so he secured Night Constable Keeler, and the two of them proceeded to investigate. They found the door of the den locked, and were refused admittance unless they could give the proper sign. The chief said if the door were not opened instantly he would smash it in. After some delay it was opened, and about 25 fellows were found inside, but a few jumped out of the window, taking chances of the long fall in preference to facing the police. The money was all scrambled off the tables and cards shoved into anybody's pockets, and a few of the fellows sat where they were and tried to look innocent. A bed was found in one corner, and three fellows were conducting make-believe games in it with their clothes and boots on. They were requested to come out where they could be seen, and when the mattress was peeled up it was found that there was another layer of men lying between the straw mattress and the wire one. Under the bed there were five or six more. Attempts were made to square the police with promises of a settlement afterwards, but the names were all taken, and it remains to be seen what will be done about it. Meanwhile Jesse Farewell and Jumbo Rowe, the supposed keepers of the place, have been summoned to answer before P. M. Murton.

New Phonograph, "A Busy Man's Indispensable Friend"

Mr. R. R. Hall's Words in Describing His New Edison Business Phonograph—Recorder and Reproducer Combined—A Stenographer Not Necessary—The First Introduced into Canada—Cost of Cylinders Equal to Stenographer's Note Books—A Remarkable Machine.

One of the newest and most modern office assistants that the genius of an inventor has placed before the public, has recently arrived in the city.

This is a machine called the Edison Business Phonograph, which a short time ago was purchased by Mr. R. R. Hall, M. P., West Peterborough's progressive and industrious representative, for use in his office.

Although there are a great many of the commercial phonographs throughout Canada, yet the type of machine which Mr. Hall has bought, is the first of the Edison Phonographs which has been shipped to Canada. It was manufactured by the National Phonograph Company of New York City, and at present is being extensively introduced into the leading business offices in New York and Chicago. It is the newest of business phonographs on the market and contains all the latest improvements of this practically new invention, and is giving entire satisfaction wherever it is used.

It comprises the recorder and the reproducer on the same machine. By simply setting it in motion, and speaking into a tube, a speech may be recorded upon the cylinder, and by touching a lever the recorder is instantaneously changed to a reproducer, so that the identical words of the speaker may be heard at any time.

On one cylinder there can be recorded about three pages of foolscap typewriting, which might contain in the neighbourhood of ten or a dozen letters. There is also a machine for shaving the cylinders which contain the records off the conversation or letter, so that each of these cylinders may be utilised about seventy-five times. Their cost is about equal to the stenographers' note books. Nor does a person recording the speech from the reproducer need to understand shorthand. Once the machine is in motion, and the forked rubber tubes carrying the sound placed to the ears, it is an easy matter to write down the conversation or letter. If the words come too rapidly the machine may be stopped by merely releasing the foot from the foot spring on the floor until the writer has caught up and by pressing the same spring it is again set in motion. The reproducing apparatus is so complete that a stenographer may write twice as many letters per day as from her shorthand notes.

An Examiner representative tested the sound from the recorder, which was so distinct and clear that every word might have been written down with ease.

Mr. Hall on being asked regarding its efficiency, from his experience, said, 'It works eminently satisfactory, and is a busy man's indispensable friend."

The Edison machine is a rarity and a revelation in Peterborough, and in Canada as well, but from its proficiency there can be no doubt whatever of its being extensively used in this country, as well as in the one to the south of us, in the near future.

Rev. Professor Kilpatrick Preached Eloquent Sermons

At Anniversary Services at St. Andrew's Church Yesterday—Large Congregations Present—God's Greatest Gift to Man Was the Giving of His Son--The Infinitude of His Resources---Simplicity of Religion is the Belief That Christ is All.

The anniversary of the founding of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church was celebrated yesterday. Both morning and evening the services were conducted by the Rev. Professor Kilpatrick, D. D., of Knox Church, Toronto, who preached forcible sermons to large congregations on both occasions. Professor Kilpatrick is an eloquent speaker and could not fail to leave lasting impressions of a most beneficial character upon any congregation which he addresses.

The music, also was of a special nature, commemorative of the occasion. The anthem, "Te Deum in C," was sung very effectively and a solo, "My God and Father, while I Stray," was most beautifully rendered by Mrs. (Dr.) Prust.

At the morning service Prof. Kilpatrick preached from the text, "He that spared not his own Son ,but delivered Him up for us all, how shall He not with Him also freely give us all things?"—found in the epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Romans, the eighth chapter and thirty-second verse.

This verse, he said, belonged to the greatest chapter in the Bible—a chapter that begins with no commendation and ends with no separation. The theme is life in the spirit—a life of victory over sin. It is a life of those who are sons and heirs of God and joint heirs of Christ; a life predestined to Glory. It deals with the problem of pain and suffering in all its varieties which is the only path to glory. The Divine purpose cannot fail; to that which God has predetermined there is no alternative. The latter part of the chapter is a hymn of assurance. The apostle dwells upon the confidence every believer has upon God, and by love manifested and sealed in Christ; all adversaries are conquered and by these we are bound to our Saviour. But in the verse of the text, the apostle has in view a believing one who is a Christian and has accepted Christ as his Saviour and yet has not gotten out of his religious experiences everything he longed for and expected, a man that might be called a doubting believer.

Paul, the apostle, first of all laid the solid basis of fact, which no believing man doubted, that God spared not His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, the greatest gift He could bestow. The title Son is not a mere honourary designation but there is something unique in the relation to God—a son who shares everything with God. Even as Abraham conquered himself and yielded up his son, so God conquered Himself and spared not His own Son for the salvation of the world.

The gift referred to in the text was extended to any human being who, knowing his own sins, would simply receive it. If therefore, there is any human being who comprehends he is in bondage to sin, let him see himself in his own destitution and remember that God has delivered His Son for his salvation. This gift is being pressed upon us by the spirit of the living God so that we may at all times receive this offering of God, and become His friend. The same God who brought anguish of spirit to Himself will surely follow it with more delightful things which give Him joy.

When He gave His son He gave the infinitude of His resources with no reserve of grace, no reserve for bright angels, but gave everything He possessed. The Bible itself is no catalogue of God's riches, but the experiences of believing men in all ages of the church's history. The stories of Moses, Samuel and David are all throbbing with these experiences. What is left for us to do is to be perpetually filling in the catalogue by our experiences. What we have to do is to reckon it a certainty that Christ belongs to us. There is a foolish belief that what He possesses can never be ours, but if we are true to God, anything that is Christ's is ours. "My peace," said Jesus, "I give unto you, the peace that I realise is sorrow."

The apostle Paul revels in the thought of the unsearchable riches that are in Christ that may be ours. Righteousness and peace are personal qualities of our Saviour and can be only realized when we are in His continual fellowship. To get grace to go through the journeys of the day Christ must be admitted to the suffering sway of the soul. The doctrine of exposition must be put aside. Simplicity of religion is that Christ is all, and when he has been obtained everything in life has been achieved. The great reason why we have not got all things is that we have too much love for self and we attempt to combine this with the seeking for the Saviour of the world. These conditions will not combine, so that if we hold unto self we are not receiving Christ in His greatness, and we are only getting the dregs of the cup of life, when we should be getting its fulness. The less we have of self the more we have of righteousness, and when self is wholly parted with we are in the foremost position to obtain the whloe of Christ. This is no luxury, but an absolute duty and honour to our God. If He offers His Son He offers Him wholly to us, and it is our bounden duty to honour Him by accepting Christ wholly, and to separate with self.

If we are to grow in grace it must be on condition of forsaking self and receiving the Redeemer of mankind in His great fulness. To us in the present he offers His Son, our Saviour. We should remember how much God had to bear in sacrificing His Son for the world, and consider with what willingness (we should accept His grace. It remains, therefore, for us to receive and accept Christ as He is, with the deepest of humility.

Ground Rocked Like A Storm Tossed Sea

Mr. H. D. Kennedy Describes the Earthquake—Says Earth Rocked Like Ocean—Trees and Telegraph Poles Nodded Their Tops--Mr. Kennedy's Church Was Not Damaged--Millionaires are Fed Like Beggars When Provisions are Passed.

To-day the Examiner received the following letter from Mr. H. D. Kennedy, from Sebastapool, Cal., in which he describes the earthquake, which was also felt at that town. His letter follows:—

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—A few days ago I saw something that looked like my death notice in your paper, and to-day I write a few lines to satisfy my Canadian friends that I am still safe and sound if you will be kind enough to publish this letter. I sent you a San Francisco paper last week with account of the earthquake. I began work here on the 15th of April, and everything looked very promising, and I was planning to open up evangelistic campaigns in Santa Rosa, Oakland and San Francisco as soon as I was through here. This town is only six miles from Santa Rosa and 550 miles from San Francisco. The earthquake on the 18th, of course, has laid these places in ruins and this town is also down flat, still no one is hurt here, though 2,000 people lay asleep when it shook. In a moment everything in my room upset and the pictures on the wall were turned wrong side out and the ground looked for a few moments like a storm at sea. The earth literally waved like the ocean and the trees and telegraph poles nodded till their tops touched the earth and the houses reeled like drunken men, and in less than two minutes all lay in ruins. The business part was a total wreck, many of the dwelling houses being wooden fared not so badly. The shock was at 5 o'clock. If it had been two later after the fires were started and the people in their stores it would have been much worse, both to property and life. Our church was not hurt and we have continued meetings every night and they are proving very successful and will continue two weeks longer. The country here is at least two months ahead of Ontario, roses and white lilies are as common as burdocks at home. In Santa Rosa and San Francisco things are in bad shape and the scenes of distress have been past description. Still they are rebuilding again and not at all discouraged. The whole nation has offered help and the rich and the poor are for the time on a common level, and the millionaire is glad to wait his turn when provisions are passed. Several provision cars have been sent in to all the towns and cities and one stands in this town for the needy. No calamity has ever been so awful in this part, and we do not want to ever witness another. Kind regards to all Peterborough friends.

Yours truly.

H. D. KENNEDY.

Water Is Unpleasant But Not Unhealthy

This is the Statement of the Water Commission—The Usual Spring Discolouration—Analysis Show it Will Not Injure the Health.

A good many users of city water are complaining of the water these days, and there is no doubt that the supply of this household necessity, is not quite up to the mark. It appears, however, that while the taste is far from pleasant, there is no particular danger. It is the usual discolouration of the weather incidental to the spring freshets, and analysis of the water shows the presence of no organic matter to speak of, so that the citizens may use it without fear of any serious results.

One of the commissioners to-day, referring to the matter was quite indignant at the action of the Private Bills Committee in throwing out the clause in the city's Bill, giving the Commissioners the authority to control the disposal of sewerage along the river bank above the waterworks pump house. He stated that the Provincial Board of Health was in reality to blame, because, had it not been for the opposition to the clause, shown by that body it would have passed the Committee, and the Legislature. If that clause had passed, the Commissioners would have been able to exercise a much more rigid control over the water supply; but the Provincial Board of Health, it appears, stated its intention to introduce a bill giving the same control to the Commissioners, but has not done so.

At any rate the users of water need feel no alarm, because while the water is not pleasant, it is not dangerous to health.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

The Miners To Accept Award Made in 1903

Coal Miners' Convention Take Big Step Toward Peace.

IF OPERATORS REASONABLE

United Mine Workers' Convention Decides to Call Off Strike If Dismissed Miners Who Obeyed Suspension Order Are Permitted to Go to Work —Miners Rejoice Over the Decision of Their Convention.

Scranton, Pa., May 7.—On the advice of President Mitchell, representing the sub-scale committee, the miners' convention Saturday unanimously voted to adopt the first proposition of the operators, a continuation of the award of the anthracite coal strike commission, with the modification that the terms which it is to continue shall be mutually agreed upon. The operators' suggestion was that it should be at least three years. The action of the convention, together with a request for a conference on Monday was telegraphed by President Mitchell to Chairman George F. Baer of the operators' committee, and an answer was received agreeing to a conference at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, at the Jersey Central office in New York.

An intimation has reached here from President Baer that the operators will not discriminate against the miners now on suspension, and the local representatives of the coal companies say the same thing. It looks, therefore, as if a strike has been averted, and that the miners will return to work probably on Monday, May 14.

When President Mitchell returned to his hotel he issued the following statement:

Mitchell's Statement.

For several months we have been endeavoring to negotiate a wage scale and adjustment of conditions of employment with the representatives of the anthracite coal mining companies. During these negotiations we made a number of propositions, each of which materially modified our original demands. We did this, not because we were convinced that our original propositions were unfair or wrong, but purely for the purpose of finding a common ground upon which we could reach an agreement that would secure and maintain peace in the anthracite coal industry. We still believe that our first proposition was reasonably fair, notwithstanding the modifications we have since made in the interest of peace. Now we are face to face with the alternative of continuing at work under our former conditions, or declaring a strike. In this crisis the committee recommended the following policy:

The Terms.

First, that we agree to work on the basis of the award of the anthracite coal strike commission for such a period of time as may be agreed upon mutually between the representatives of the anthracite coal mining companies and our scale committee, provided that all men who suspended work on April 1, or since that time, or who have been dismissed because they stated that they would refuse to work if a strike were declared are reinstated in their former positions and working places.

Second, that the scale committee proceed at once to meet the representatives of the coal companies, with a view of securing an agreement upon this basis.

Third, that the convention remain in session until Tuesday, and the scale committee shall report to the convention at that time.

Fourth, that the suspension of work shall continue until an agreement has been made and its terms approved by the convention.

Adopted.

This recommendation was suggested by the full scale committee and was adopted unanimously by the convention.

The news that the convention had decided against a strike was received with great joy throughout this region. Now that peace is assured, there is rejoicing on every hand, although, as yet, there have been no demonstrations other than individual expressions.

To the miners themselves the news is very satisfactory. They were willing to strike if John Mitchell thought they ought to, but they are glad that he decided otherwise.

Idle Coal Men Rejoice.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 7.—General satisfaction was expressed throughout the anthracite coal region when it became known that the miners' convention had decided to accept a renewal of the strike commissioners' award of 1903. After five weeks' idleness, a great majority of the men appeared anxious to return to work, though all had been hopeful of better results from the suspension of the negotiations with the operators. The fact that President Baer and the operators' committee will meet the miners' scale committee in New York on Monday is generally regarded as an indication that the operators are satisfied with the action of the convention.

UNION AND NON-UNION.

Vessel Owners Will Make Supreme Effort to Break Strike.

Cleveland, May 7—Vessel owners here state that they will put all docks in operation Monday morning with whatever union men are available and fill the places of others with non-union men.

At the Mates' Union headquarters but a few members could be found, the others, the union claim, have departed for their homes in surroundings towns, where they can better fight the long fight which they believe inevitable.

Members of the union stated Saturday that they have added to their ranks within the past few days many mates, who, not being members of the union, were anxious to enlist themselves in the cause.

To Checkmate Carriers.

Buffalo, May 7.—The monthly men in twenty-one of the local elevators were yesterday ordered to strike on Monday morning if an attempt is made to unload grain with non-union men. The monthly men are employed in separating the different kinds of grain as it comes out of a vessel's hold, and their work cannot be performed by men unacquainted with the machinery and location of the different bins. The union men claim this will checkmate the lake carriers in their attempt to elevate the 2,500,000 bushels of grain afloat in the harbor.

The efforts to start the grain elevators Monday, it is expected, will be a supreme test of strength between the unions and the lake carriers.

135 Mates Leave Vessels.

Detroit, Mich., May 7.—President D. J. Keefe of the International Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers' Association has received reports from his lieutenants, going to show that 135 mates have left their vessels at Lake Erie ports and joined the strikers.

ONTARIO TO SHERRING.

Provincial Treasurer Has $500 In Estimates For Marathon Hero.

Toronto, May 7.—The supplementary estimates of the Provincial Treasurer will be completed on Monday and submitted to the Legislature on Tuesday. They will include a vote of $500 to William Sherring, the Marathon hero.

Hamilton's Reception of Hero.

Hamilton, May 7.—Hamilton will give Billy Sherring, the Marathon hero, a reception worthy of the occasion. The general committee met Saturday evening and agreed to make an effort to have the hero arrive at the T. H. & B. station at 3.05 in the evening. A procession will be formed and will march to Victoria Park, where the reception will take place and the testimonial presented.

The committee will spend no money on fireworks and as little as possible on hacks, leaving that part of the show for clubs and citizens.

The general committee was divided into several committees and given special work to do. One committee will look after the collection of a suitable testimonial.

INCREASED CANADA REVENUE.

All Deparaments Assist For Ten Months Ended April 30.

Ottawa, May 7.—The statement of the Finance Department for the ten months of the current fiscal year up to the end of April shows a revenue of $63,-508,250, expenditure on consolidated fund $45,342,499, and capital expenditure of $10,431,769. As compared with last year the revenue shows an increase of $6,677,848, the consolidated fund expenditure of $1,330,841.

For the month of April the revenue of $6,792,796 represented an improvement of $1,693,053 over the corresponding month of last year. The expenditure of $3,642,118 on consolidated fund was an increase of $24,577 and the capital outlay of $1,255,433 was $579,534 larger than last year, chiefly on account of railway subsidy payments.

Every revenue producing branch of the public service contributed toward the improved showing.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—No further steps will be taken to fix responsibility for the fire on the battleship Kearsarge on April 12, which resulted in ten deaths. An opinion handed down Saturday by the judge advocate general of the navy, says the finding of the court of enquiry that nobody should be held responsible for the accident seems justified by the evidence submitted.

Buffalo Preserve Law.

Ottawa, May 7.—In order to preserve the Buffalo in the west, Hon. Frank Oliver will this session amend the Game Preservations Act of the unorganized territories prohibiting the killing of buffalo before 1912. The prohibition in force would expire in 1907.

Crowd Allows Youth to Drown.

Quebec, May 7.—A young man named Tremblay was drowned about noon Saturday under the observation of a large crowd, who witnessed the accident, but were too excited to render assistance. Tremblay was 21 years old.

Sands Traders Insurance Company to the Wall.

FIVE CLOSE OUT IN MICHIGAN

Official Statement That the Food Supply in San Francisco is Running Short—Many Cases of Food Ration Repeating—One Relief Committeeman Had Great Store of Necessaries In His House.

Chicago, May 7.—The first failure of a fire insurance company because of the San Francisco conflagration came Saturday. The Trader's Insurance Co. of this city, one of the largest fire insurance companies in the west, was placed in the hands of a receiver.

Byron L. Smith, president of the Northern Trust Co., was appointed receiver by Judge Julian W. Mack of the Circuit Court on petition of several directors, controlling a majority of the company's stock.

The action was taken only when all other measures to save the company had failed. It was forced by liabilities in San Francisco amounting to $3,748,-000.

The total assets of the company as given in the petition will not exceed $3,300,000. In addition to the San Francisco liabilities the company is indebted, according to the petition, for fire losses and upon other claims, in a total of $111,962.

Just what the San Francisco policyholders can expect to receive is problematical. Conservative insurance men were of the belief that, taking into consideration the expenses of a receivership, the San Francisco property owners might consider themselves fortunate if they were paid 50 per cent. of their losses.

Five Quit Business.

Lansing, Mich., May 7.—Five fire insurance companies doing business in Michigan have informed Commissioner Barry that owing to losses in the San Francisco conflagration they have been compelled to re-insure their present patronage and cease operations for the present. In each case, however, the policyholders are fully protected. The companies are: New York, American of Pennsylvania; American of Boston, Mercantile Fire & Marine, and United States Fire Insurance Co. Selling their business to other companies will enable them to pay their San Francisco losses.

Insurance Rates Up.

New York, May 7.—Forced by their losses in the San Francisco fire to strengthen their reserves a score of fire insurance companies in this city Saturday raised their rates and cut down commissions to agents and brokers. This advance in rates will amount to 25 per cent., and is applicable to all risks in what is known as the conflagration section.

$1,835,000 to Pay Insurance Losses.

Southampton, May 7.—The American Line steamship St. Paul, which sailed Saturday for New York, carried $1,835,-000 for American banks. It is mostly for the account of agents of British insurance companies.

SHORT FOOD SUPPLIES.

Grafters Get to Work to Heel Their Own Nests.

San Francisco, May 7—A conference to discuss the problem of husbanding food supplies was held at the Presidio Saturday. Among those in attendance were: Major-Gen. Greely, Brig.-Gen. Funston, Dr. Devine and Allan Polkik. All present agreed that rigid economy should be practiced in the future. Gen. Greely said later, in part:

"The condition of the food supply will render is possible to issue very little except flour, which will last ten days, potatoes, coffe and rice. Meat we are buying in small quantities.

"We are issuing but two-thirds of the quantity of food that was distributed prior to the time of the regular army took charge of the system. The teams engaged in hauling and distributing have been reduced from 500 to 262 in number. The last official report showed that supplies were issued on Thursday to 251,000 persons. I hope that this day's report will show rations issued to fewer than 200,000.

"The census of each district is being carefully computed. I am convinced that there is regular repeating."

The police and military authorities are ferreting out persons who have abused the free supplies privilege. Detectives are assisted by numerous anonymous letters, telling of the hoarding of stores. These letters, in almost every instance, were found to state the truth. A letter came last night, saying that Charles B. Tribell, a member of the relief committee, had not neglected to look out for himself. The detectives found at his home, so they say, a store of provisions, tents and bedding sufficient to last many months. They took away from his house supplies valued at $75, but this did not represent all that was found at his home. Detectives also found at the home of Mrs. Leviline $500 worth of military blankets, bedding and clothing.

Sad Death of Noted Man.

FRENCH ELECTIONS BEGIN.

First Day's Results Show Government Gain of 18 Seats.

Paris, May 7.—Results thus far announced in the general parliamentary elections, which were held yesterday, show few changes in the chamber, most of the former deputies being re-elected, but an extraordinary number of second ballots will be necessary in Paris. The Government has gained eighteen seats. It is estimated that there was a record poll of votes.

Including Paris, 411 results are known. Of these the Government captured 183 seats and the Opposition 112, while 111 will require second ballots. The net gain to the Government is 18 seats.

LATE WIRELETS.

Edward Greenwood, a young Sarnia man, was shot in the side by an intruder in his back yard about midnight on Friday. He will recover.

The body of an unknown man was found in a ravine near Morris, Man., Sunday with the head smashed and every indication of foul play.

A fatal accident happened morning at Rat Portage Lumber Co's. No. 1 mill, Kenora. W. B. Drummond, the night foreman, while attending a belt fell and was caught by the sett screws and hurled around the shafting. His right arm was torn from his body at the shoulder while the left arm was terribly fractured. The injured man was taken to the hospital, where he survived for nearly two hours. Deceased was forty-seven years old.

Fighting In East Africa.

Berlin, May 7.—The latest news received from German East Africa completely contradicts the official announcement of Feb. 2, that the insurrection had been suppressed. The Lokal Anzeiger's Dar Es Salaam correspondent, in a cablegram, gives reports of a series of engagements extending from March 12 to April 26, in which he says the natives lost over 400 men and the Germans 13.

Body Carried on Car Bumpers.

Napanee, May 7.—A young Englishman named King, between 20 and 25 years of age, while stealing a ride on the blind baggage of the westbound G. T. R. express Saturday night, was caught between the bumpers and killed at Kingston, but his body was held until the train arrived at Napanee when it was discovered.

BLOOD HUMORS

PIMPLES
BLOTCHES
FLESHWORMS
HUMORS

Many an otherwise beautiful and attractive face is sadly marred by unseemly Blotches, Pimples, Eruptions, Flesh worms and Humors, and various other blood diseases.

Their presence is a source of embarrassment to those afflicted, as well as pain and regret to their friends.

Many a cheek and brow—cast in the mould of grace and beauty—have been sadly defaced, their attractiveness lost, and their possessor rendered unhappy for years.

Why, then, consent to rest under this cloud of embarrassment?

There is an effectual remedy for all these defects, it is,

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

This remedy will drive out all the impurities from the blood and leave the complexion healthy and clear.

Miss Annie Tobin, Madoc, Ont., writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending your Burdock Blood Bitters to any one who may be troubled with pimples on the face. I paid out money to doctors, but could not get cured, and was almost discouraged, and despaired of ever getting rid of them. I thought I would give B.B.B. a trial, so got two bottles, and before I had taken them I was completely cured and have had no sign of pimples since."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, for over 30 years, and has cured thousands in that time. Do not accept a substitute which unscrupulous dealers say is "just as good." "It can't be."

Mr. Eugene Hurtubuise Three Times Champion

Won the Canadian Heavy-weight Wrestling Championship on Saturday--Threw J. McDonough in Second Bout --Many Peterboro' Men Saw the Close of Tournament.

Eugene Hurtubise is for the third year in succession Canadian Wrestling Heavyweight Champion. He won this title on Saturday night for the third time at the Canadian Wrestling Tournament in Toronto, when he threw J. McDonough, of Lakefield. The Peterborough men who attended the bouts on Saturday night report that it was a great finish to the tournament and that the crowd got the worth of their money from the heavyweight bout alone. McDonough gave the champion a good argument, and in the first six minutes' period, Hurtubise was unable to throw him. In the second, however he succeeded and won the championship.

The contest this year had more than usual interest for local sports, because of the fact that both men are well known here, and practically local men. It was accepted that Hurtubise had a good chance to again win out, but McDonough's friends were confident that he would give the champion a hard run, if not win out. Hurtubise has again demonstrated that he is a great wrestler, and Peterborough will rejoice in his winning the championship again.

PETERBORO'S WON FIRST PRACTICE CAME

Peterborough's Midland League Team and the George street church Guild team played a 7 innings game at the Riverside Park on Saturday, the Big Leaguers winning by 24-5. Neither team had its strongest lineup, and the game, especially in fielding, was ragged. Errors were more plentiful than people, the attendance being very small. The players, as was natural, seeing it was their first work-out, missed many chances. The Guild team could not do anything with Quinlan, while the Pirates hit Parnell rather freely, and were greatly helped by poor fielding. At that Parnell pitched a good game.

Two new men were seen on the Peterborough team, Carter, formerly of Boston, and Mattison, a Montreal boy. The former made a pretty catch in left field, but didn't do anything with the bat. Whitcroft played second base, and was right there with the swat stick, getting away with five hits. Quinlan and Shea also landed on the ball hard and often each getting a home run.

Jack Sheridan umpired satisfactorily to all parties.

The teams were :

NORTH END TRIMMED THE SOUTHERNERS

An interesting game of baseball—the 2nd of the series of the shop league—was played on Saturday afternoon on Central Park, between the North and South Ends of the Brass Department of the Canadian General Electric works. The score ended in a victory for the Northerners by 15 runs to 10. This is second win for the victors who kept their opponents going the most of the game. A large crowd of interested spectators witnessed the play which was the centre of attraction at the park during the afternoon.

The line-up was :—

North Ends.—Curtis, c.; Pedler, p.; Sanderson, s.s.; Doris, 3 b.; O'Brien, c. f.; Hillier, r. f.; Grosse, 1 b.; P. O'Toole, 1 b.; Barrie, 1 f.

South End.—Ryan, p.; Sherwood, c.; Adamson, 1 b.; Holmes, 3 b.; Poole, 2 b.; O'Connor, r. f. M. O'Toole, s. s.; Prest, c. f.; Tobin, l. f.

Referee—H. Roddy.

Scorer—A. M. Grant.

WEARY DAYS AND SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

Many men and women toss night after night upon sleepless beds until near dawn. Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system that it cannot be quieted. Or, again, you have heart palpitation and sensation of sinking, a feeling you are going to die; or perhaps you wake up from your sleep feeling as though you were about to choke or smother, and rest leaves you for the night. Allow these conditions to continue and you will feel your health declining.

It is the nerves and heart that are not acting properly.

They can be set right by the use of

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They soon induce healthful, refreshing sleep, not by deadening the nerves, but by restoring them to healthy action and removing all symptoms of heart trouble, which is often the cause of nervousness and sleeplessness.

Mrs. Ennis Chambers, Massey Station, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with dizziness, weak spells and fluttering of the heart. I was so bad at times I could not lie down in bed at nights but would have to sit up. I doctored for a whole year and got no relief. I took three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and was so completely cured I have not been troubled since. I cannot recommend them too highly."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or sent direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Trophy Forfeited To Bowmanville

Locust Hill Have Handed Over the Silverware.

The Locust Hill Football Club has turned over the Midland League trophy to Bowmanville. Last year, it will be remembered, these two teams did not play off for the championship and the former claimed the cup by default. The Midland League Executive, however, decided otherwise. Locust Hill at first did not comply with their ruling and refused to hand it over. Through the instrumentality of the present secretary they have agreed to the wishes of the Executive, and the dispute has now been settled.

BRIDGENORTH OUT OF MIDLAND LEAGUE

Mr. E. Brumwell, secretary of the Bridgenorth Football Club, was in the city on Saturday, and he states positively that Bridgenorth will not enter the Midland League this year. The team, he said, was crippled on account of the loss of a number of the old standbys, and under no consideration would Bridgenorth play in the league this year.

This means that the Peterborough Quaker Intermediates will be alone in Group I., and therefore win that district without a game, unless some other team decides to enter.

If Mr. Allen will call at the box-office he will receive tickets for two of the best seats for the Buster Brown Cartoon Comedy, which appears here on Wednesday night. "By All means see the famous cartoon comedy, 'Buster Brown' —nothing but slaughs," is the correct solution of the puzzle.

Uses and Abuses Of Newspapers

Address by Rev. Dr. Crothers to Ministerial Association.

The Ministerial Association held an interesting session in the Y. M. C. A. this morning, when there were present Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. A. H. Brace, Dr. Crothers, Rev. J. G. Potter, Rev. F. J. Scott, Rev. Dr. Torrance, and Rev. Dr. Kilpatrick, the latter as a corresponding member.

The visitors for the past month reported favourably as to the efficiency of the Nicholls Hospital, and as to the attention and sympathy shown by those in charge.

The Hospital and Home weekly visitation was arranged as follows: Rev. A. H. Brace, Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. Dr. Crothers and Rev. J. G. Lewis.

Rev. Dr. Crothers gave an address on "The Use and the Abuse of the Press." After referring to the origin of newspapers, he suggested as a fitting motto, Caxton's words, "Let there be light." He commented on the power of the press and the wide use of it by the people. The newspaper was a great pulpit. The Montreal Witness was instanced as a Canadian newspaper, fearless and outspoken, on moral and religious questions.

The newspaper, he said, had a great opportunity for the denunciation of graft, jobbery and all open forms of immorality. Three abuses were spoken of. The newspapers, said the speaker, offended the sensibilities of their readers on moral and religious questions, displayed undue inquisitiveness, and want of etiquette, in news gathering, and were open to bribery.

Rev. Prof. Kilpatrick gave an admirable address. He strongly deprecated the incoming of low grade American papers, with writings and pictures of a demoralizing character. He also emphasized the need in regard to church union of getting clearly before the people the advantages of such a union.

After a general discussion a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the speakers.

Six Months For Henry Watters

He Didn't Take a Hint on Saturday and Was Punished This Morning.

Six months in the Central Prison, was the sentence that Henry Walters received at the Police Court this morning on a charge of vagrancy. Henry was up on Saturday on the same charge but was allowed to go on promising to be good. On Saturday afternoon he staggered into the police station and asked for lodging, and this month was assigned a six months' berth in the Central Prison.

As an aftermath of a mix-up which occurred last week, a well-known citizen was charged with drawing a revolver on a North End resident, at the same time threatening to "drop" him. The complainant asked that the defendant be bound over to keep the peace.

It appears that the complainant rents a portion of his house to a woman, whom, it is alleged, by the complainant, the defendant, a married man, visits at night. The complainant ordered him off the premises and, on his refusing to go, attempted to put him out. The defendant, it is said, then drew the revolver, and made the threat to "drop" him.

Mr. Dumble held that it had not been proved that the complainant was in actual danger of his life and accordingly dismissed the charge.

The same man was charged with assault, and he was remanded until Wednesday on that charge.

Making a Big Hit in Toronto this week.

Toronto Blessed With A Cemetery Trust

In Existence Since 1826 But Has Never Made a Statement to Anyone—Something About Its History and Transactions in Land.

The Toronto Star has an interesting article, detailing, according to its story, how the "trust" system, not content with preying upon the living, operates even in the domain of the dead. After giving the names of the trustees, the Star says:

"The above seven gentlemen compose what is probably the closest and snuggest little combine on the continent of America to-day. They are in receipt of what in the aggregate must amount to enormous sums of the money of the public, and render no account whatever in any shape, form or kind. Not one of them, so far as can be learned, has a single dollar invested in the enterprise, except in the shape of a family burial plot, and as one or two of them are young men it is doubtful if they have even that.

"There is not the slightest check upon their handling of the immense trust funds which must have either passed through their hands or still remain in their possession in the shape of investments for the 'perpetual-care fund.'

No Statement Ever Published

"Apparently, neither the lot holders who supply the money, the city nor the Government have the right to demand an audit or even a statement and the Star has been informed that since their organization in 1826 not a single financial statement of anything like a complete character has been rendered by the trust. For over 80 years they have been doing business on money supplied entirely by the lot-holders placed unreservedly in their hands and no one until recently has appeared to think it worth while to ask for an account of their trusteeship. They have enlarged, extended, bought real estate and sold it again, planted trees and undertaken large and expensive improvements on roads, bridges, buildings and landscape gardening and yet, so far as can be learned, nothing but bouquets and cash have come their way until recently.

"As a matter of fact no one supposes that anything which will not bear the closest inspection has occurred in connection with the affairs of the Trust, and the gentlemen who hold us in the hollow of their hands apparently deserve great credit for their efforts in our behalf, but — here's the point — why do they object to furnishing a statement? In other words, why should they deny themselves that meed of praise which would undoubtedly be vouchsafed them, if they laid before a greateful public the record of their philanthropic efforts?"

Began With $300.

"The Toronto General Burying Grounds' Trust was incorporated in 1826, and their first purchase was the 'Potters' Field,' consisting of six acres situated at the north-west corner of Bloor and Yonge streets. The price paid was $300, so that undoubtedly their beginning was small. When in the course of time the Potters' Field was finally closed they had already acquired the Necropolis, consisting of fifteen acres, bought from Hon. John McMurrich for $16,000. It appears according to their records, that they only had $1,000 in the treasury at the time of purchase and that the remaining $15,000 was temporarily advanced on the security of the purchase by three of the trustees. However, this amount was apparently wiped out in course of time, as it is not again mentioned.

The Necropolis proving too limited in area to accommodate the ever-increasing demand for space, Mount Pleasant Cemetery was purchased in 1871, consisting of 200 acres, at a cost of $20,000. In 1883 an additional 53 acres was added, costing $15,000. In 1887 the Prospect Cemetery, consisting of 105 acres, on St. Clair avenue, was acquired at the price of $29,040.

373 Acres Now.

It can thus be seen that from the original $300 (supplied by public subscription), the affairs of the Trust have flourished by leaps and bounds, until now they own no less than 373 acres of extremely valuable property, for which they have paid, so far as can be learned, in cash the total sum of $80,040.

About the time of the boom the Trust appears to have been tempted to take a little flurry in real estate, and sold 63 1-2 acres at a price which is not mentioned in their Historical Sketch issued to the public. The fact, however, is mentioned that 53 acres was returned to them, so that some one—not the Trust— evidently lost money in the general collapse. They have recently purchased another eight acres, which has brought down upon them the disapproval of Mr. John W. Moyes and some of the adjoining residents.

As these purchases were made many years ago, at a time when land was comparatively low in price, the value of the holdings must, in the ordinary course, have immensely increased.

Now, the only source from which the money to finance these large undertakings has come has been from the proceeds of the sale of burial plots, excepting possibly the amount realized by real estate sales. This being the case, it is interesting to investigate not only what they have paid for their present holdings, but how they manage to pile up the money to enable them to improve and beautify them to the extent they have.

The present price of lots 8 ft. by 12 feet, is $45 for the lowest, and others are sold for same going up as high as $6,000 for a single plot of say 40 feet square in teh best position. However, in order to be conservative, let us figure on the average basis of $50 for an 8x12 lot, or, say, 100 square feet. An acre contains 43,560 square feet, which, at 50 cents a foot, totals $21,780 per acre. In order to be more than fair, let us deduct one-half the acre for roads and footpaths, and we still have a price of $10,890 per acre net. For some of the land, so far as can be learned, was more than $1,000 paid, and the average price was apparently less than $200 an acre all round.

The above calculation on the face of it shows a profit of $10,640 for each acre sold, and as there are no taxes to pay, it does not cost much to carry the unsold portions. This undoubtedly explains how this wealthy corporation has garnered its frugal, but unknown, and so far, untold, hoard.

It is only fair to the Trust to point out that for a long time the price of lots was much lower, however, than it is at present.

For a long time the care of the graves was provided for by an annual charge levied upon each lot-holder, but this system was found to be unsatisfactory for many reasons, and a number of years ago the trustees decided to start a "perpetual care" fund and to add to the price of the lots a sufficient amount, which, capitalized, would ensure sufficient to provide for the object for all time. So that undoubtedly a large proportion of the amounts realized from the sale of lots is accounted for in this manner. The Trust have also expended very large sums on mortuaries, tree planting, grading and otherwise beautifying the grounds. At least $150,000 must have been spent in this manner.

Although, of course, in the absence of any definite statement, it is impossible to make more than a guess at the amounts of money which have been handled by the Trust, it certainly looks as if at least $750,000 to $1,000,000 must have been, or is being, administered by them, in addition to which an unknown sum is in their hands for investment in which every lot-holder has a stake, as on it depends the care and attention guaranteed by the Trust to the last resting place of the departed.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

BUSTER BROWN.

The successful pantom comedy, "Buster Brown," will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday next, May 9. This merry play, with the clever Brown family, is bound to attract a large and appreciative audience, and possibly reach "record-breaking business." The management has spared no expense in making this organization second to none in farce comedy. This is the original company. Prices—25, 50, 75, $1.00.

THE PETERBORO' LUMBER COMPANY

The Peterborough Lumber Company will be the eroporate name of the new lumber company which will succeed the Dickson Company. It is understood that incorporation will be applied for in a short time.

ST. ANDREW'S BROTHERHOOD CONDUCTED THE MEETING

There was a good attendance of men at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon when the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of St. John's church, had charge of the meeting. Mr. Jas. Bell, director of the Brotherhood, presided. A sextette of choir boys from St. John's, under Mr. Devey's direction, sang an Easter carol set to music by Hadyn, in a most effective manner.

The lesson was read by Mr. Goodacre, another member of the Brotherhood. The addresses were given by Messrs. Slinger and N. A. Howard-Moore, the former speaking on "Fellowship," and the latter on "Faith." Both addresses were pointed, practical and helpful.

The meeting next Sunday will be in charge of the Evangelistic Band, a new organization in the Y.M.C.A. The subject will be "Popular Excuses."

Proposal To Establish Park In North End

A Citizen Suggests That Old Methodist Cemetery be Turned Over to Nicholls Hospital Board for Park—Its Present Condition a Disgrace.

House cleaning time, and its operations should not be confined to the work carried on inside the house, but the grounds, surrounding should also receive some attention.. In this connection a citizen to-day talked to the Examiner in reference to what is known as the Old Methodist Cemetery at the north end of the city, speaking about it he said:—

This sacred spot, abandoned as a place of burial for thirty or forty years, has ever since been utterly neglected. The fences have fallen from decay, or been wantonly torn down, so that the grounds now lie open to the highway in front, permitting cattle to browse over it, and people of ill repute to freely enter this hallowed spot. The roads and ways and almost the whole cemetery have become overgrown with bramble, dogwood, etc., to the height of six or eight feet. Head stones, slabs and monuments with their inscriptions of homely virtues and simple faith in God, over thrown or broken into fragments by the low and vicious who have free entry. The exception is to find a monument in its place.

I view it as simply shameful that this should continue and no effort made to find a remedy.

From reading the names recorded on these monuments, etc., I observe that the remains, near at hand, are those of persons, who in their lives, were among the most respected and prominent in the city and county. In some instances their decendants still continue present, but seem too callous and selfish to take action, while probably the majority have no relatives in this vicinity.

If this state of affairs, I would most respectfully suggest that the powers who control these grounds should approach the trustees of the Nicholls Hospital, with the proposal that they would take them over, erect proper fences, clear away the tangled undergrowth, replace the monuments, and convert the place into something in the nature of a park, attached to the hospital, that would serve as a breathing place for convalescents. There should be no thought, as one steps on the grass, that as in our Central Park, beneath are the ashes of those who once lived and suffered and loved; and no sense of guilt or desecration, but rather a feeling of nearness, and intimacy, and oneness—the living with the dead.

The Canadian General Co.

---IN LETTER TO CITY COUNCIL---

Offers To Extend Works

Will Erect Addition to Cost Up to $400,000---Condition Being That Fixed Assessment Be Given For Twenty Years at $150,000---Will Mean, Practically Doubling of Present Works---Total of 2,000 Men Will be Employed---Matter Will be Dealt With at Special Meeting To-night.

At the meeting of the Council last night a most important communication was received from the local manager of the Canadian General Electric Company, Mr. E. G. Patterson. This letter is published in full below. It gives an idea of the intention of the company in respect to its works here. It will be seen that the talk of the extension to the works has not been idle and unfounded, and that the prospects for the city securing an immense works are good. The extension proposed, and which will be made if the request contained in the letter is complied with, will mean that the present works will be practically doubled, and that instead of 1,000 men, the company will employ 2,000 men here.

The matter last night was referred to the Committee of the Whole, and will be dealt with at a meeting to be held to-night. The letter is as follows:

"The Canadian General Electric Company intends to extend its buildings and plant, either here or at its property in the Township of York, near Toronto.

One of the advantages of putting the extension near Toronto is that the company's assessment there is fixed at $150,000 for 20 years, from January 1, 1903, and no additional taxes would be imposed. Further, as the property is in the Township of York the taxes would be township taxes.

The company now has a fixed assessment of $100,000 on property originally acquired, on which school taxes only are payable, and this extends until 1910. I am extraordinarily anxious, as manager of the works here, to have the extension made here, and if the Council would give the company the same terms as in the Township of York, I could secure this being done here.

If the Council will agree to give the company a fixed assessment of $150,000, including business tax for 20 years on all property now owned by the company in Peterborough, or hereafter purchased for manufacturing purposes, this to be done by bylaw, to be confirmed by the Legislature, the company is prepared to spend from $200,000 to $400,000 in increasing its manufacturing facilities here.

In the event of the Legislature insisting that the school taxes shall be paid on the full assessable value of the company's property, that the fixed assessment for general rates, other than school taxes, be fixed at $100,000. The terms of this bylaw to be from the termination of our present agreement with the city.

The company, upon the passing of this bylaw by the Council, are prepared to start and prepare plans and call for tenders for the addition of buildings required.

Yours respectfully,

Canadian General Electric Co.

E. G. PATTERSON."

Canadian Northern Goes Close To South Side Of Rice Lake

But in All Probability the Company Will Run a Branch Line to This City—Another Railway From Toronto to Ottawa.

The Toronto Globe to-day has a seven column map of the route proposed for the new Canadian Northern Railway from Ottawa to Toronto. This map shows the new line as passing through Northumberland, south of Rice Lake, which is the nearest point the line comes to Peterborough, as indicated by this map. In all probability, however, there will be a branch line running to this city.

Speaking of the new line the Globe says:

The projected line of the Canadian Northern Railway from Toronto to Ottawa is shown in the map reproduced above. The original was filed a few days ago in the office of the Railway Commission. The map indicates the position of the three trunk lines from Toronto to Montreal. The first road, the Grand Trunk, held closely to the lake shore, because it was there that fifty years ago the principal centres of population were situated. The Ontario and Quebec division of the C. P. R. took a route well to the north, Peterborough being the most important point on the line between Toronto and Ottawa. It has developed a good deal of local traffic in the district traversed. Evidently in planning their east and west line, Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann believed there was better prospect for the picking up of traffic between the G. T. R. and C. P. R. lines than by going to the north and trenching on the Canada Atlantic's territory, so the Great Northern is to be built between the two older roads. Dozens of villages that have heretofore been many miles from a railway will be served. It will be observed that the three great railways will all in the end have trunk lines of triangular form in Ontario. There are the three lakefront lines, if we may so call them, shown here. Then there will be three lines running north from Toronto — the G. T. R. northern division, the C. P. R. Toronto-Sudbury line, and the Canadian Northern's James Bay branch, now nearing completion. Away to the north these branches will connect with the main east and west lines or transcontinental divisions. The natural conditions have forced each of the three great trunk lines to follow the same general strategy. As a result older Ontario is gridironed with railways. From Ottawa east to the vicinity of Montreal the Canadian Northern will hug the south shore of the Ottawa River.

Rapid Tool Company To Commence Work By July First Next

Latest of Peterboro's Industries Starting With Excellent Prospects—Will Manufacture the Caldwell Lightning Auger Bit—1000 Bits a Day Will be Initial Output.

This seems to be Peterborough's growing time without doubt. Almost every day news of some new industry is received. Yesterday reference was made to the fact that the Rapid Tool Company had been granted incorporation. To-day the Examiner is in a position to state that this company, the provisional directors of which are, Messrs. G. L. Hay, W. Rudkins, and W. Quinn, will, in all probability, be ready to commence manufacturing operations by July 1st. The company has an agreement with the inventor of the Caldwell Lighting Auger Bit, by which the company is given the sole right to manufacture this bit in Canada. The initial output of the works will be 1,000 bits per day, and negotiations are now proceeding for the purchase of the machinery for equipping the works, which of course, will be located in Peterborough, but the company has not decided definitely yet on the exact site. Other lines of small tools will be manufactured by the company, and it is expected that big business will be developed. At the present time there is only one firm manufacturing these lines in Canada, and it is stated that it supplys only 10 per cent. of the trade in Canada, the remaining 90 per cent. coming from the United States. It would seem, therefore, that there is a first-class opening in Canada for an industry of this kind, and the local concern starts with the brightest prospects for success.

Presentation To The Directress

Y. W. C. A. Gymnasium Class Honours Miss Adams.

Last evening the members of the evening and Thursday afternoon Gymnasium classes of the Y.W.C.A. gathered for the last time this season. They dressed as usual in their gymnasium suits, prepared for a high good time and they had it. Games and refreshments were the programme for the evening. Laughter and fun abounded, especially during an obstacle race, in which the contestants fought valiantly, while the onlookers cheered lustily. After refreshments, when all had gathered ostensibly for a game of French tag, Miss Adams was much surprised to find herself the centre of attraction. Miss Stevens, representing the classes, presented Miss Adams with an address and a sunburst of pearls, as a token of the love, esteem and gratitude of the classes. Miss Adams thanked the girls for this token of their appreciation and also for their thorough interest and good work throughout the year and especially for their faithfulness to her and the work during preparation for the Opera House concert. "For She's a Jolly, Good Fellow," "Auld Lang Syne" and hurrahs followed. The evening's fun ended with a flash light, taken by Roy.

Died Suddenly In Gananoque

Mr. Bert. McWilliams, Former Peterboro' Man, Died Yesterday.

Mr. R. J. McWilliams received word yesterday from Gananoque telling him of the death of his brother, Mr. Bert McWilliams, which occurred very suddenly. His friends here had no intimation previously that he was ill, and were greatly shocked to learn of his death. No particulars have been received as to the cause of death.

The deceased was quite well known in this city, where he lived until six years ago, and was employed as a baker with Mr. Lane. While living in Peterborough he was married, his wife being Miss Bates, a sister of Mr. Fred. W. Bates, Stewart street.

The late Mr. McWilliams was 38 years of age, and besides his wife leaves seven children to mourn his loss. The surviving members of the family are his father, John H. McWilliams, Lakefield, who left last night to bring his body home; four brothers, R. J., of this city; Fred, of Hastings; George, of Rapid City, Man., and Matthew, of Toronto; and two sisters, Mrs. McCormack, of Winnipeg, and Miss Effie, Lakefield.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon from the residence of the deceased's father, the body arriving to-night.

CORDIAL INVITATION

ADDRESED TO WORKING GIRLS

Mlle. Robitaille Tells How Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Helps Working Girls.

Girls who work are particularly susceptible to female disorders, especially those who are obliged to stand on their feet from morning until night in stores or factories.

Day in and day out the girl toils, and she is often the bread-winner of the family. Whether she is sick or well, whether it rains or shines, she must go to her place of employment, perform the duties exacted of her—smile and be agreeable.

Among this class the symptoms of female diseases are early manifest by weak and aching backs, pain in the lower limbs and lower part of the stomach. In consequence of frequent wetting of the feet, periods become painful and irregular, and frequently there are faint and dizzy spells, with loss of appetite, until life is a burden. All of these symptoms point to a derangement of the female organism which can be easily and promptly cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mlle. Alma Robitaille, 78 rue St. François, Quebec, Quebec, tells what this great medicine did for her. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

Overwork and long hours at the office, together with a neglected cold brought on a very serious female trouble until finally I was unable to go to work. I then thought of a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when her health was in the same condition that mine was and straightway sent out for a bottle. I finished that and took two more before I really began to improve but after that my recovery was very rapid and I was soon well and able to go back to work again. I certainly think your medicine for sick women worthy of praise and am indeed glad to endorse it.

It is to such girls that Mrs. Pinkham holds out a helping hand and extends a cordial invitation to correspond with her. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Her long record of success in treating woman's ills makes her letters of advice of untold value to every ailing working girl. Address, Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

THE PULPIT AND THE PRESS.

Yesterday morning at the regular meeting of the local Ministerial Association, the public press was honored by being made the subject of an address by one of the members, Rev. Dr. Crothers, who gave an address on "The Use and Abuse of the Press." The report of the proceedings furnished the Examiner was too meagre in even the bare outline presented, to afford an adequate idea of the nature and scope of the address. We are informed that "the newspaper is a great pulpit." That may be correct, in a figurative sense or as applied to religious journals, but the newspaper strictly defined is not generally published as a pulpit, though in a sense it may perform the functions of a pulpit. A newspaper is really a business enterprise whose primary object is pecuniary profit. It is established to provide news to its readers—a record of the happenings of the world, in such a form as will be interesting and instructive to its readers. The ordinary secular newspaper is under no more obligation to perform pulpit functions, to preach morality, than a merchant, or a manufacturer, or tinker, or a tailor, or candlestick maker. A newspaper seeks to provide news which will interest its readers, in fact it is under an implied contract to do this. The newspaper also discusses public questions in relation to the interests of the public—its readers. In this discussion the newspaper, as a rule, aims to deal with public questions in a way to serve the interests of its readers, materially, morally, socially and, in a civil sense, in reality, and not necessarily, from any lofty moral motive, but because it is good business—the better the quality of its constituents the more prosperous they are made or become, the better patrons they become. While the newspaper is not necessarily under obligation to undertake moral propaganda, its best interest as bound up in those of its constituents, is to be, as it generally is, on the right side of moral and political questions as it sees the right side. Though the ordinary newspaper is under no obligation to become, or be ex-officio, or officially the champion of morality, still, as a purveyor of news, it incidentally becomes, as Dr. Crothers is reported to have styled it, "a great pulpit." Take the newspapers of Peterborough, for instance. On an average, every week in the year the Examiner gives in the way of reports of sermons, reports of church functions, notices of church meetings etc., the equivalent of space for which a merchant or other advertiser would pay at least $50. This is done not necessarily from any lofty moral motive, but because it is considered good business — because reading is thus provided which it is assumed, as it is hoped, will be of interest to a certain class of its readers. On the same principle reports are given of the proceedings at Council meetings, Boards of Trade, hockey and lacrosse matches, and news of war, pestilence, famine, earthquakes, etc., etc., police courts, courts of law. Deaths, marriages and births are also recorded, accidents are "written up," personal gossip is given—in fine, on the assumption that what people like to talk about, they like to read about, everything conceivable, that will interest its readers is aimed to be provided—a little for every class and taste every day. The live and progressive newspaper aims to hold the mirror up to the multiform happenings of the every-day world, and if more of the seamy side is reflected, it is due to the nature of things, and not to any particular wicked perversity on the part of the newspaper management.

As a rule, reputable newspapers are on the right side of great moral questions, and national issues, that is, what they think is the right side. A newspaper stands for a certain set of political principles, which are variously dealt with, according to its party or independent view point. In so doing its work, the press may make mistakes, and err in judgment, and, therefore, has that much in common with the pulpit, which, though it is not infallible, is regarded by some of its occupants as being above — especially newspaper — criticism, and especially commissioned to keep the press in the right place.

While the press is not necessarily a "great pulpit"—it is no more its function to preach morality than it is a minister's to preach party politics—they can often co-operate to mutual advantage — the press helps the pulpit, and the pulpit helps—itself. The press owes to the pulpit, or the influences it used to represent, the conditions which make its existence in a civilized community possible, and the pulpit owes more to the press than can be easily conceived or told.

The newspaper may not be perfect, it may perhaps be so bold, as to criticise the pulpit, but it rarely, if ever, uses the violent and sweeping generalities of denunciation that are employed by the pulpit, as more obiter dicta. Rev. Dr. Crothers is officially reported as saying that:

"The newspapers offended the sensibilities of their readers on moral and religious questions, displayed undue inquisitiveness, and want of etiquette in news-gathering, and were open to bribery."

This language seems to be extremely intemperate and uncharitable in its inclusive generality. It may apply to an odd newspaper, but does not apply to all newspapers; and is no more true of all newspapers, or of any considerable number, than it would be true to say of all ministers that they are bigotted, narrow-minded, meddlesome, offensively dogmatic, given to harsh criticism, and uncharitable attitudes towards the press, and to preaching party politics from their pulpits, because an occasional minister offends in this way. The Examiner denies that it "offends the sensibilities of its readers on moral and religious questions." It may in this regard run counter, on occasion, to the views of some of its readers, and in the process invite the sympathy of the mass of its readers. The press does not show, as a general thing "undue inquisitiveness." It is as much the business and duty of a newspaper reporter to inquire for news, as it is the business and duty of a minister to inquire into the moral condition of the members of his flock. The reporter may, on occasion, show want of etiquette in news-gathering, may not possess the culture of an Admirable Crichton, nor the fine manner of a Chesterfield, yet on no occasion can he be more wanting in courtesy than some persons occupying public positions, who brusquely repulse inquiries for news which the public have a right to get. It is not true to say that all newspapers are "open to bribery." Some newspapers may be, as may be some ministers, who are "open to bribery" by preaching half truths, when the whole truth would offend some rich or influential members of their congregations. But the mass of newspapers, as the vast majority of ministers, are above any action that would warrant the charge that they are "open to bribery." It is too violent and too inclusive "abuse of the press" that begets strained relations. The newspaper unjustly attacked, and unjustly charged, has a right to retaliate, or, at least, state its case.

LAND FOR THE SETTLER.

Here is another land deal that Hon. George E. Foster is connected with, as told by Mr. Duncan Ross in the House:

"But I am not through with the hon. member for North Toronto and his policy of the land for the settler. I find that since he got into the cold shades of opposition, the expert knowledge which he acquired as a member of this government in connection with land deals in the North-west, has been exploited to his own advantage and the advantage of his friends. I find that some few years ago he and his friends got possession of 40,000 acres of land adjoining the village of Tisdale in the province of Saskatchewan on the line of the Canadian Northern Railway. They got both the odd numbered and even numbered sections—in fact, every acre in two townships except the lands of the Hudson's Bay Company and the school lands. Although he had been approached numerous times by the owners of the lands in adjoining townships, with the offer that they would let him select from their lands as good or even better if he would only release the even numbered sections so that they could be thrown open to entry of free homesteads — notwithstanding these offers and the protests of the people in that district and to the great detriment of the village of Tisdale, he persistently held on to the lands, with the result that there is not a single settler in either township; and the hon. member for North Toronto to-day enjoys the distinction of being fire manager of the only two townships of arable land between Winnipeg and Prince Albert which remain unsettled, and which he is holding at $3 or $4 an acre above market price. And this is the hon. gent'eman who frowls in this House about the land for the settler."

HERPICIDE'S MISSION

It Takes Away the Dread of Birth days.

Nothing is more annoying to men and women of middle age than to see those unmistakable signs of age — thin hair and grayness—approaching. But science has discovered that these conditions are no longer "unmistakable" evidences of old age, for the dandruff germ theory proves that even very young people may suffer hair loss, while those fortunate enough to escape the ravages of the scalp germ, retain their abundant locks to a ripe old age. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and removes the risk of appearing old before your time. Save your hair and your feelings by using the genuine Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Granolithic Walk On George Street

Proposal to Construct One on East Side to C.P.R. Station.

At the meeting of the City Council last night Ald. Ball, when the report of the Board of Works was read, inquired if the Board had ever considered the advisability of constructing a granolithic walk on the east side of George street from King street to the C.P.R. station. He considered it was an eyesore to the city to have the one side of that street without a sidewalk. Ald. Hicks agreed with Ald. Ball that it would be very desirable to have the walk constructed on that side of the street, but the trouble was that the Board had so much work on hand that it was doubtful if this work could be gone on with this year. It was finally decided that the Board should advertise this work along with the other sidewalks to be constructed.

The Heavy Routine Business Of Council

A Lengthy Session Was That Held Last Night—Many Communications on Various Subjects—Petitions for Sewers and Sidewalks—Session Lasted Until Midnight When Council Adjourned Till To-night.

The City Council had a heavy session last night, so heavy, in fact, that after sitting until 12 o'clock it was decided to adjourn until to-night to complete the business. About 20 bylaws were ready to be presented, but it was desided to postpone them until the meeting to-night, when other important matters will be taken up. There were rather more than the usual number of citizens present at the meeting last night, and those who remained to the finish got a taste of what it means to be a member of the Council.

Those members of the Council present were Mayor Best, Ald. Johnson, Tovey, Hicks, Mason, Elliott, Graham, Ball, Duncan, Wilson, McIntyre, McWilliams and Adams.

The minutes of the last meeting were taken as read and adopted.

The following communications were read and dealt with:

Petitions for sewers were received for the following streets: Burnham street, from Hunter to James streets; Hunter street, from Rogers to Concession streets; Dublin street, Water, to 12 feet east of Jane between Fife's and Kendry's; Mark street, Hunter to Douro streets; Concession street, from Clifton street to the southern boundry of Nicholls Park.—Board of Works.

From Separate School Board, asking that two crossings be glazed on Reid street, opposite the new school. —Board of Works.

From the Colonial Weaving Co., asking that they be remitted taxes on their assessment over $4,000. In 1903 a bylaw was passed fixing the assessment at $4,000, but owing to some technical error, the Government would not ratify same. The company has more than filled its side of the contract. The Manufacturers' Committee will deal with it.

From N. A. Belcourt, House of Commons, Ottawa, asking the Municipal Corporation to endorse the action of the Canadian Parliament, in extending the invitation to His Majesty King Edward and Her Gracious Majesty Queen Alexandra to visit Canada at as early a date as possible.—Received.

From W. D. Lighthall, Hon. Secretary-treasurer, U. C. M., asking the Council to have a special representative present at the meeting of the Railway Committee on the morning of Wednesday, May 9, to support the other cities in obtaining the prevention of more charter powers being granted to infringe on municipal home rule and street control. The Mayor, the city clerk and Ald. Elliott were appointed a deputation to attend the meeting.

Granolithic walks are wanted on the following streets: South side London street, from Reid street to 114 feet west on London street; east side Water street, from Antrim to Smith streets, outside the tree line; west side Downie street, from Simcoe to Hunter streets; north side Douro street, from Driscoll to Rogers streets.—Board of Works.

From the secretary of the Board of Health, enclosing a resolution that the Board recommends the City Council to construct a sewer on Queen street, from Simcoe to Hunter streets, and on Simcoe street from Queen to Water streets, for the purpose of draining that locality for sanitary purposes as a local improvement, and asking the Council to proceed with the work at once. —Board of Works.

From E. H. D. Hall, notifying the Council that the County Council had appointed Messrs. Carey, Buck, Stinson and Webster as the representatives for the county in connection with the disposal of the Foley estate, and also that it would be necessary to appoint a committee from the city, of two, besides the mayor. —Finance Committee.

From the Armour estate, re the extension of Hunter street. — Received.

From T. Q. Quartermaine, re a letter received from the publishers of Rod and Gun, asking the city to insert an advertisement to advertise Peterborough as a place for tourists. —Received.

From John Robinson, clerk of Niagara Falls, Ont., soliciting the assistance of this city in opposing the Government's Power Bill.—Received.

From ratepayers, asking for a plank walk to be laid on Euclid avenue, from Erskine avenue to Cameron avenue.—Board of Works.

From secretary of the Board of Health, enclosing copies of resolutions passed in connection with an isolation hospital.—Finance Committee.

From residents in the vicinity of Dublin and Downie streets, asking that a light be placed at that corner.—Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Tax Collector's Statement.

The following statement was received from Tax Collector W. J. Green for month of April:

Amount on roll...	$114,611 27
Amount deposited...	109,576 78
Balance—	$5,034 49

Amount deposited in April, $1,954.48.—Received.

A communication was received from ratepayers, asking that the Water Commissioners be instructed to extend the mains south of Mark street to James street.—Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The usual reports of committees were presented and adopted. These reports cover the work transacted at the meetings of the committees, which have already been reported.

It was decided to make a contract with T. Williams for providing a refuge ground for 1906 at $300.

The Council adjourned to meet to-night at 9 o'clock.

The Fair Directors Want A Guarantee

$1000 is the Figure Named Which the Directors Want the Council to be Responsible for in Case of a Shortage—Expenses This Year Would be Less Than Those of 1905—Deputation Waits on Council—They Need the Money.

The question as to what assistance the City Council is willing to give the Peterborough Industrial Fair this year, was considered last night, when, in Committee of the Whole, prior to the meeting of the Council, a deputation representing the Fair, waited on the members of the council. The deputation consisted of Messrs. D. Hughes Charles, K. Hardley-Wilmot, W. Irwin, R. J. Munro, Alex. Elliott, H. C. Winch and F. J. A. Hall.

Mr. Huthes Charles addressed the council in connection with the matter and suggested that instead of asking for a direct grant the the association be given a guarantee, similar to that in Lindsay. This guarantee might not be called for at all. The Fair Directors were learning to do things more economically, and this year the expenses would be much less than in previous years. The experiment of the night attraction tried last year was disastrous, and $500 was lost on this experience. This would not be tried again in future. The fair here was being built up gradually, and from the standpoint of an exhibition was a great success. It was hard work building up a fair, the directors and superintendent working for a fiddler's pay. If the city wanted an exhibition, the council should, he thought, give a guarantee to encourage it. The city, too, should own the grounds and buildings, when they would be in a position to have a first class fair. In other places the corporation took an interest in the fair, but here the whole brunt of the work and responsibility fell upon the directors. He suggested that a guarantee of one thousand dollars should be made, to place the fair on the same basis as that at Lindsay.

Mr. Alex. Elliott, the vice-president, also addressed the committee along the same lines. He was prepared to give his time, but did not like to go down into his pocket, unless the council took an interest in the matter.

Mr. William Irwin felt sure that the Mayor and Council would grant the request and did not care to take up the council's time in discussing the matter further.

Mr. H. C. Winch thought that it was most desirable from the standpoint of the city to keep the fair in existence, and thus encourage the breeding of high-class stock.

The Mayor replied to the deputation, stating that the matter would be dealt with at a meeting of the Committee of the Whole in the near future.

In reply to Ald. Adams, Mr. Charles stated that if the proposed legislation was carried out the grant to the Peterborough fair would be $600, or $120 more than the grant made last year, and the grants to the smaller fairs would be cut off.

Croup Comes Suddenly

HENCE THE WISDOM OF KEEPING IN THE HOUSE THE MOST EFFECTIVE CURE.

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Slight hoarseness in the evening is the only warning of croup.

About midnight the child awakes coughing—that peculiar, metallic cough called croupy, and which strikes terror to the mother's heart.

Then begins the struggle for breath, and if relief is to be obtained treatment must be prompt and effective.

Anyone who has tested Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as a cure for croup will not hesitate to pronounce it an unqualified success.

It is wonderfully prompt in loosening the cough, clearing the air passages of the head, and soothing the excited nerves.

People who realize the suddenness with which croup comes on, and the danger which accompanies it, usually keep some of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house for use in case of emergency.

For bronchitis, whooping cough, asthma, and every form of throat and bronchial trouble, this great family medicine is a quick and certain cure.

Mr. Wm. McGee, 69 Wright avenue, Toronto, Ont., writes: "There is no remedy in my opinion that can act more promptly than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my son of croup, absolutely, in one night. We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking. It gave him instant relief and cure."

There are imitations of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Be sure you see the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, on the bottle you buy; 25 cents a bottle; family size, three times as much, 60 cts.; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Why Red Rose Tea is Economical

RED Rose Tea has all the good points of two good teas and none of the weaknesses of any. You never drank a cup of straight Ceylon or Indian tea that could compare in strength, richness, delicacy and fragrance with the "rich fruity flavor" of Red Rose Tea.

Yet Red Rose Tea goes further and costs no more than either Indian or Ceylon teas alone.

Red Rose Tea is better than either Indian or Ceylon tea and is more economical because it goes further.

Board Of Education Awarded Contracts For The New Public School

Rutherford Bros. Tender at $25,000 Accepted—School Will Cost $34,400—City Council Passed By-law Authorizing the Borrowing of Sufficient Money—Will be a Twelve-Room School With Eight Finished Rooms.

Another step towards the erection of a public school in the south ward was taken last night when tenders were awarded for the construction of the building and for the plumbing, heating and lighting. Rutherford Bros. were awarded the contract for the building itself, McGregor & Reid for the plumbing and heating and Alexander and Miller for the lighting. These tenders were the lowest received. Before awarding contracts it was necessary for the Board to wait upon the city council and urge upon them the necessity of passing the by-law providing for the borrowing of $35,000 to cover the cost of the new school. This was done and the Board returned to their place of meeting to complete the matter of letting the contracts.

The Board first met in committee of the whole with Mr. Fair in the chair in the absence of Chairman W. G. Ferguson. There were present Messrs. Wm. Pringle, W. H. Hill, B. F. Ackerman, Dr. M. A. Morrison and D. W. Dumble.

The Committee on Public School Accomodation reported as follows:—

Gentlemen,—Your committee in accordance with the resolution passed at the last meeting of the Board, advertised for tenders for the erection of a 12-room school in the south end of the city; also for the heating, plumbing, and wiring of the same.

Four tenders were received for the building, five for the heating, three for the plumbing and three for the electric wiring.

The lowest tender for the building heating, plumbing and wiring and architect's fees was $31,400. The committee also obtained from the tenderers the cost of an 8-room building and find that the lowest figure is $22,700.

The committee would advise that considering the small difference in the cost of a 12 and an 8-room school, and in view of the rapidly increasing population in that part of the city, that a 12-room school be built and that the Board wait upon the city council at once in order that the contract may be let and work proceeded with.

WM. PRINGLE,
Chairman.

The report was adopted and acting on the suggestion offered the Board decided to go down and wait upon the council.

Before the Council.

Mr. Fair introduced the deputation to the council and called upon Mr. Pringle, as Chairman of the Building Committee to state the Board's case.

Mr. Pringle said that the Board's architect had estimated that the cost of the building would be somewhere in the neighbourhood of $35,000. Acting upon the advice of the council the Board had advertised for tenders and had found that the lowest received for the building, heating, plumbing, lighting, land and architect's fees amounted to $34,400.00. This sum did not mean that the school would have 12 furnished rooms; 8 would be completed and the remainder left unfinished.

When the Board asked for a 12-room building they had felt justified in view of the condition of the public schools at that time. Now they were more than ever convinced of the wisdom of the step. The South Central and West Ward Schools were overcrowded, the latter so much so that it had been condemned by the Provincial Board of Health. The only reason for this was that the school was over crowded for in other ways the building was all right. In one room in the South Central the speaker had found 87 pupils and the half-day system of attendance had to be resorted to by those in charge. In one room recently 25 pupils had been admitted, 12 of whom were from the neighbourhood in which it was proposed to build the new school.

Under the present conditions children had to come from the North Ward to the Central and from the West Ward to the South Central, when they reached the fourth book class. The Board said the speaker thought it unwise to go on in this way. They wanted to build not only for the present but for the future. He thought that a 12-room school would be occupied before long and that 8 rooms could be filled by September.

Ald. Hicks asked if the amount included seats and was informed that it did not. The seats in the Menzies School might be used.

Ald. McWilliams expressed his opinion of a 12-room school and said that he had no doubt that 4 or 5 years would see every room filled. He approved of the site selected by the Board and thought that the council should co-operate with the Board at once.

Mr. Dumble.

Mr. Dumble spoke strongly in favour of a 12-room as opposed to a 8-room school. The proposed changes in the South Ward would mean more people in that neighbourhood. Chatham and Stratford, said the speaker, had nothing but large schools and the case was the same in Winnipeg. The third storey of the building might be used as an assembly hall while not in use.

Asked as to the site, Mr. Dumble mentioned placing the building in the middle of the lot. He spoke of the advantages of having a good play ground for the children.

Dr. Morrison said that there was unanimity in the Board in regard to the matter. The members were satisfied that the school should be built.

Mr. Hill pointed out that a 12-room school could be built and maintained more cheaply than two smaller schools. This was the idea that was being carried out in other places. Mr. Hill also spoke of the necessity of having a good play ground for the children, a feature decidedly lacking in most of the city schools. Mistakes had been made in the past in this respect.

By-Law Passed.

The question was not discussed by the council, Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Ald. McWilliams, that a by-law be passed authorizing the borrowing of $35,000 for the erection of a school in the South Ward. The by-law was passed unanimously.

Tenders Let.

The Board then returned to their meeting place. After a brief discussion it was moved by Mr. Pringle, seconded by Mr. Ackerman, that the tender for the building itself from Rutherford Bros. at $25,000; McGregor and Reid, for the plumbing and heating $4262 and Alexander and Miller at $139.75, be accepted and that these gentlemen be notified to furnish bondsmen or an approved guarantee bond for the completion of the works—Carried.

Another Horse Gets Shock On The Street

Teamster Driving Across Tracks When Horse Dropped to the Ground—Has Been Helpless Since—Someone Will Have to Pay—Necessity for Inspector Emphasized.

Are there some electric currents floating around the city promiscuously? This is a question which some persons would like answered, and the chances are the finding out will cost someone some money.

There is a growing suspicion that the system of electric wiring in this city is not what it should be. It may be that it is, but if that is the case the people would like to know it, and the facts do not seem to warrant the belief that all is as it should be.

Ald. Wilson relates that on Friday night last a man who has been working for him as a teamster, was driving up George street, and when almost opposite McDonald's mill, he attempted to cross the track, and the minute the horse's feet touched the Street Railway track the animal flopped over, apparently receiving a shock, and has been practically helpless ever since.

The shock was not sufficiently severe to kill the horse, but the owner thinks there is no reason why it should be shocked at all in driving peaceably along the street, and, and if it does not recover soon, Ald. Wilson says the courts will be resorted to, to disclose who is the responsible party, and damages asked for.

This case, coming so quickly after that which resulted more disastrously some weeks ago has given rise afresh to the belief that at once an expert should be engaged to thoroughly investigate the wiring system of the city and report on it.

No settlement has yet been effected with Mr. Gibbs for his team which was killed recently. It is understood that an effort is being made to secure a settlement but so far very little success has been met with.

All Saint's New Church Now Seems A Certainly

Question Was Discussed at Considerable Length at Vestry Meeting—Number of Details Have to be Settled First—Financial Report Indicates a Flourishing Condition of Affairs.

The adjourned vestry meeting of All Saints' church, was held last night, with the rector, Rev. William Major, in the chair. There was a large attendance, and deep interest was manifested in the affairs of the church.

The financial report was presented by the wardens, Messrs. Wise and Daymán, and was of a very satisfactory nature.

Messrs. J. H. McClellan and F. Wise were elected lay delegates to the synod to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Messrs. Bell and Edgar.

Mr. W. A. Broudrette, who has for some years filled the position of vestry clerk, last night handed in his resignation, owing to his leaving the city. This step was greatly regretted by the people generally as he has performed his duties in a very satisfactory manner. Mr. E. Poole was appointed to succeed him in the office.

The salaries of the organist and choir leader were increased, the congregation feeling that this was well deserved.

The question of building a new church was talked over at considerable length by the meeting. It is almost certain that the church will be proceeded with, but there are a number of details which will have to be settled first, and these were considered last night. The site selected is the lot immediately south of the church, from which the buildings are now being removed.

Auburn Woollen Co. Makes Some Requests

Mr. Kendry Wants Smith Street Bridge Opened, Fire Protection Provided for the Mills and Some Consideration in the Shape of Fixed Assessment—His Modest Requests.

The question of a bridge across the Otonabee above the Hunter street bridge is one which is giving the Council some concern. At the council meeting last night a communication was received from the City Solicitor to the effect that the Peterborough Hydraulic Company was satisfied with the form of agreement to allow the Dickson Dam Bridge to be used by the city providing the corporation will make no claim against the company for raising the water above the dam, and also asking that the matter be brought before the Property Committee.

The letter was referred to the Board of Works to deal with, and at the same time Mr. Jas. Kendry asked permission to address the council in reference to the Smith street bridge, which he wanted opened again for traffic.

He stated that the closing of the Smith street bridge was a great disadvantage to the Auburn Woollen Mills, as well as to the residents of the north end of the city, on both sides of the river. He thought that the people there should have some consideration, and that the Smith street bridge should be opened instead of spending money on private property, as he understood the city intended to do.

At the same time Mr. Kendry called the attention of the council to the fact that the woollen mills had no fire protection, and this was another consideration which the council should take. Mr. Kendry also stated that his company be given some fixed assessment. It was one of the oldest manufacturing concerns in the city and had not asked for fixed assessment, or any other consideration, for that matter. He did not want to block any assistance to any other concern, but wanted some consideration for his company. All concerns, he thought should be treated alike.

The Mayor assured Mr. Kendry that the matter would be dealt with at once. It was also decided to refer the matter of increased fire protection for the mill to the Fire, Water and Light Committee. The assessment of the Auburn Woollen Company this year, was, real, $29,000; business, $17,400, or a total assessment of $46,400. This includes the eastern half of the dam.

St. Andrew's Tea And Concert Was A Successful One

The Annual Congregational Reunion—A Large Number Were Present—Dainty Supper Served by the Ladies' Aid—Musical Programme of Vocal and Instrumental Variety—Highly Appreciated by the Audience.

REV. J. G. POTTER WAS THE CHAIRMAN

The annual congregational tea of St. Andrew's Church was held in the Sunday School Hall last night between six and eight o'clock and proved to be one of the most successful the Ladies' Aid have ever undertaken. The tea and the musical programme that followed were a continuation of the celebration of the anniversary of the church which was begun on Sunday. Three long supper tables were beautifully decorated with flowers and were well laden with dainty eatables provided by the ladies.

After supper the tables were removed and an excellent musical programme consisting of vocal and violin solos and quartettes was presented by the chairman, Rev. Mr. Potter.

After the chairman's address, a vocal solo, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus say," by Rathbun, was charmingly rendered by Miss Annie Ivory, of Omemee, a talented pupil of Mr. Foreyth, organist at St. Andrew's.

St. Andrew's male quartette, consisting of Messrs. Lang, Waram, Gerrard and Campbell, were heard in that old favourite, "Safe in the Fold," and received due appreciation from the audience.

Miss Daisy Sawyers who is fast becoming a favourite with Peterborough music lovers sang in her usual finished style, "Dawn," which simply captivated the listeners.

A violin solo by Miss Crothers formed the next of the many delightful selections. Her musicianly renditions of Handel's Largo and "Kuiawiak," by Wieniawski, were most acceptable and were pleasing features of the programme.

The next selection was a vocal solo by Miss Kidd, "A Song of Sunshine," by Bunning. Miss Kidd was warmly welcomed and created a very favourable impression.

The last number was a Scotch solo by Mrs. (Dr.) Prust entitled "Within a mile of Edinboro town" was rendered with a most appropriate spirit which greatly commended her to the audience.

Rev. Mr. Potter during the programme gave short addresses in reference to the church anniversary and the excellent work carried on by the ladies who had provided such a delightful programme and palatable supper.

The evening's enjoyment was brought to a close by the hearty singing of God Save the King.

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the disease was eradicated from my system in less than six months. I have gained in weight, sleep well and feel better than I have for twenty years."—Mr. W. Charming May Wedding Celebrated At St. Peter's Nuptials of Miss Margaret Moher and Mr. Eugene Plouffe, Son of Ex-Ald. Plouffe, of Ottawa—City Loses One of Her Fairest and Most Popular Young Ladies—Both Parties Have Numerous Friends.

A very charming wedding was that solemnized at St. Peter's Cathedral this morning, when Miss Margaret Moher, second daughter of Mr. Daniel Moher, Patterson street, was united in marriage to Mr. Eugene Plouffe, son of ex-Alderman Plouffe, of Ottawa. The bride is one of Peterborough's fairest young daughters, and the groom is very well known here. Both have hosts of friends in the city who will unite in congratulating the young couple.

The cathedral was filled with friends of the contracting parties. The mass was celebrated by, Rev. Father McColl, and the wedding march was splendidly rendered by Miss Doherty, organist of St. Peter's. The altar was prettily decorated for the occasion with carnations and roses.

The charming young bride was handsomely attired in a gown of cream silk eolienne over taffeta, prettily draped in embroidered chiffon. She carried a mother of pearl prayer-book, a present from the groom's mother, and mother of pearl beads, a gift from Mr. Plouffe, the groom's father. She wore a picture hat to match. The bridesmaid, Miss Lena Plouffe, the groom's sister, looked charming in a tasteful dress of white silk trimmmed in pink chiffon, and wore a white legborn hat. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groomsman was Mr. Jas. Moher, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony the party proceeded to the residence of the bride's parents, 20 Patterson street, where a delightful dejeuner was served by Messrs. Long Bros., in their most approved fashion. The rooms and tables were daintily decorated. About 50 guests were present, and many were the congratulations showered on the newly-married couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Plouffe left on the 11.38 C. P. R. train for Ottawa, where they will hold a reception tonight at the groom's home. They will reside on Rochester street, Ottawa.

The bride's travelling dress was of dark green bucar, made in patrol effect, and she wore a white Panama hat with navy blue velvet and wings. The bridesmaid's going-away gown was of navy blue lady's cloth with hat to match.

The gifts received were very numerous and costly, a silent testimony to the esteem in which both parties are held by a large circle of friends. The groom's gift to the bride was a sunburst of pearls in pendant effect, and the groomsman's present to the bride was a handsome necklace. The groom gave the bridesmaid a crescent of pearls, and the groomsman a pearl pin.

Among the guests from a distance were Dr. and Mrs. Moher, of Brockville; Miss Clara Maloney, of Toledo, O., and Mr. M. Plouffe, of Ottawa.

Mr. Brundrette will leave on May 19 for Alberta, where he owns a large portion of land about 40 miles north of Calgary, upon which he intends to reside.

Mr. Brundrette has a host of friends in Peterborough who will learn with regret of his departure from the city, but who will wish him every success in his new home.

The Ottawa Free Press says: Mr. Eugene Plouffe, son of ex-Alderman Plouffe, was the recipient Saturday night of $100 in gold from his friends in Ottawa as a token of esteem on the occasion of his approaching marriage. The presentation took place in Charlebois' hall and was accompanied by a congratulatory address read by Mr. Paul Moffat. Mr. Plouffe left at 11 o'clock for Peterborough, where his wedding takes place to-morrow. The prospective bride is a Miss Moher, of that city.

CAPTAIN COOK'S FIRST VIEW OF AUSTRALIA.

An Australian Discovery

BENEFITS THE CIVILIZED WORLD!

An Australian Native

EXPLORERS have found that the healthiest races of the world at the time of their discovery used roots and herbs as medicines. Christopher Columbus would have died when he discovered Jamaica but for the herbal medicines the natives brought him. When Captain Cook discovered Australia various roots and herbs were used as medicines by the natives. So effective were they that he wrote :—"I did not observe (amongst the natives) any appearance of disease, or eruption or bodily complaint. Very old men, without hair and teeth, showed no sign of discrepitude and were full of vivacity." If vegetable remedies are thus powerful when taken in crude form how much more so must they be when concentrated and purified?

Bileans for Biliousness, the great Australian herbal remedy for indigestion, biliousness, headache and all liver and stomach ailments, are purely vegetable. They are compounded from the finest medicinal roots and herbs yet known, and everywhere where they have been introduced have rapidly displaced the old-fashioned and often harmful liver and stomach medicines containing various mineral poisons.

Bileans are so compounded that they operate directly upon the liver and stomach. Here again they differ from the operation of other medicines. Most medicines taken for—say, constipation, cause purging more or less violent, clearing the intestines out for the time being, but leave the CAUSE OF THE CONSTIPATION untouched. To make such medicine is like trying to empty a barrel placed over a spring. You may empty it, but immediately you stop the emptying process it will rapidly fill again.

When Bileans are taken for Constipation, they do not merely purge, but they act upon the liver, regulating and correcting its bile secretion. Bile is the natural purgative of the body and by thus working on nature's lines Bileans effect a cure in nature's own way. In consequence a permanent cure results from their use—not a merely temporary relief as in the case of ordinary medicines. Just so in Indigestion and all stomach troubles, Bileans do not, like ordinary medicines, merely remove the fermenting food. To do that is to give relief certainly, but it is no cure. Bileans tone up the secreting glands of the stomach and intestines, regulate the flow of gastric juice, stimulate the muscles of the digestive organs to healthy action, and thus remove the root causes of digestive disorders. Bileans always act mildly, never cause griping, are suitable for the most delicate constitution, and do not create the pill-taking habit.

A FREE SAMPLE BOX To obtain a free sample box of Bileans for Biliousness, cut out this coupon and mail it, with full name and address and one cent stamp (to pay return postage), to The Bilean Co., Colborne Street, Toronto. This will allow you to test Bileans without cost, and the proprietors feel that to allow the public to test the merits of Bileans free is the surest way to win public favor.

Constipation and Liver Disorder Cured

"From girlhood I suffered at intervals with liver complaint," says Mrs. G. Shepherd, Frederick road, Stapleford (Notts) but of late years I became very bad. I generally awakened in morning with a sensation of heaviness in my head, and that feeling was continued day after day. I became subject to constipation which no amount of medicine seemed able to cure. My food would often repeat, and very frequently the whole of my meal would return, tasting like vinegar. This was very weakening, and for days together I have been unable to leave my bed. When I did get about I was weak and used to feel miserable and wretched, and quite unable to get through my housework. I have had three children, but they were all still-born, and the continued bad state of my health had undoubtedly something to do with that.

"I was advised to try Bileans, and did so. I persevered with them, and a few boxes worked a wonderful change in me. I am now quite restored to health. Previously, because of my absolute inability to do it, the washing used to have to wait until Friday or Saturday. I can now get it done in good time."

Bileans for Biliousness are a Cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Piles, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Headache, Debility, Anaemia, Female Ailment, Dizziness, Wind Pains in the Chest and between the Shoulders, and all ailments arising out of defective bile flow and assimilation. They are also useful for rheumatism, sciatica, etc., and by toning up the system enable it to throw off colds, chills, etc. Bileans are Obtainable from all druggists and medicine vendors at 50 cents per box. Should your druggist be temporarily out of stock, however, a box will be sent you post free by the Bileans Co., Colborne street, Toronto, upon receipt of price, 6 boxes for $2.50.

To Secure Cheap Electric Power For The Province

Ontario Power Bill Read in The Legislature—Control of Rates Government Policy—Commission Will Regulate Prices That Companies May Charge—Will Have Powers of Expropriation If Rates Are Not Considered Reasonable—Hon. Mr. Ross Cites Act of 1903 as Bill's Foundation.

Toronto, May 8.—Hon. Adam Beck introduced in the Legislature yesterday a bill which is entitled "An Act to Provide for the Transmission of Electrical Power to Municipalities." Its meaning, the promoter said, was that the Government associated itself with the municipalities in the distribution of power. The first sections provided for the appointment of a commission who would have power to appoint engineers and other officials to apportion the cost among the various municipalities. The commission was enabled to furnish plans and estimates on application of the municipalities, the Government not assuming responsibility for any errors or omissions in the reports. The Government retained power to approve of any contracts made with the municipalities. The commission could purchase power from any of the existing companies. At Niagara where power could be purchased at $11 or $12, the commission could enter into contracts with any of the companies and contract with the municipalities to transmit the power, but the municipalities must secure the Government against loss.

Current to Railways.

The bill, Mr. Beck proceeded, enabled the commission to supply power to railways or distributing companies. In such cases profits would accrue to the benefit of the municipalities, either in a reduction of the cost of production of in being applied on the payment of the plant.

The Minister outlined the method of apportioning the cost of the works. Annual payments would be made by the municipalities. They would pay interest at 4 per cent. on capital construction, and an annual sum to pay in 30 years for the retirement of the securities issued by the province. The sinking fund would be $1.75 for every $100, and this would be added to the 4 per cent. The cost of maintaining the works would be paid by the municipalities.

Conmee Act Not Applicable.

The Conmee Act would not apply to any municipality receiving power under the act, except if the municipality or the company asked that a valuation be made the commission could do so.

The commission might designate any plants to be used for the purposes of the act. Wherever it was impossible to come to any agreement with the existing companies the commission might expropriate any lands, water privileges or plants. The bill permitted the commission to take power from the companies under an agreement.

Accountants and engineers would be appointed to apportion the amounts to be paid by the municipalities. No matter what quantity of power would be used the price at point of development would be the same, and the cost of transmission added. Municipalities at a great distance would pay a higher price by reason of the cost of transmission. The cost of transmission would also depend on the amount transmitted.

Rate Regulating Clause.

Clause 17 authorised the Government to raise funds to carry out the project. There was also a rate regulating clause. If the municipality contracted a debt the commission should have the right to regulate the rates the municipality charged for power. This applied to companies already in existence, whose rates were exorbitant. The municipality could complain to the commission, which would regulate the rates. A penalty of $100 was provided in the case of any company refusing to furnish information.

The commission was also given power, Mr. Beck said, to report on any water power available in the province.

Mr. Ross Wants Time.

Mr. Ross said it was evidently a comprehensive bill, which gave the Government power to raise money on the strength of a commission. He couldn't grasp all its provisions, and asked that it be distributed a couple of days before taking it up again.

The Premier said the bill meant that the Government should, as far as possible, take it to themselves to see that consumers received power at reasonable rates. The only question was as to the method of doing this. The commission was authorised to make arrangements with producers, and if the producers refused to furnish power at reasonable rates then the bill gave power to expropriate or deliver power to fulfill the pledge made by the Government to the people. He believed that the object of the bill would be arrived at without drastic measures on the part of the Government being necessary. He believed the Government would be able to carry out its scheme to the satisfaction of reasonable producers and reasonable consumers, and that expropriation would not be necessary.

Applies to All Sections.

Mr. Ross asked how it was proposed to deal with parts of the province not reached by Niagara power.

Mr. Beck said the bill applied to every section of the province. If a company secured the right to develop power at the Trent or the Severn the commission could deal with municipalities wanting power from such company.

Capitalists Ready.

Mr. Beck pointed out that under existing agreements with the companies at Niagara Falls Canadian consumers were assured of as low rates as are charged in the United States. It was known that they were selling power at $12, and he had reason to believe that it could be got at $11. Within the past 48 hours a lawyer of standing, representing capitalists, had made the statement that if the Government wished to enter into negotiations they were prepared to develop and transmit power at the prices mentioned in the report of the hydro-electric commission. That meant that if the commission said power could be delivered in Toronto at $17 the company were prepared to take the contract. It would not be interfering with vested rights to fix the price at Niagara Falls, for if the companies were willing to supply power to United States consumers at $9, $10 or $11, surely they would be willing to give the same rates to the municipalities.

What Cost Means.

The Premier interjected that what was meant by supplying power at cost was not at cost of production, but at cost to the commission. While there might be some slight amendments he would be disappointed if the bill could not be carried out without interfering with vested rights. If necessary the commission would expropriate, but he would be disappointed if it was necessary to expropriate.

Mr. Preston (Brant) asked if any further development was contemplated. He referred to the agreement of the Waterways Commission limiting the development.

It was impossible to say, replied Mr. Whitney, until it was ascertained what could be done with the existing companies.

Subject of Treaty.

Mr. Beck added that the bill did not refer to the Niagara district alone. The action of the deep waterways commission made it necessary to proceed at once. It was apparent that the waterways were to be the subject of a treaty and that the users of the water at Niagara Falls on the Canadian side would be limited to 36,000 cubic feet a second. That would mean that the present companies would absorb the whole of the present supply.

Under the existing agreements the companies were permitted to export one-half of the power supply, so that there would be only 18,000 cubic feet a second available for Canadian consumers. Two of the companies were controlled by American capital and the Canadian company had made contracts to export power, and if one-half the power were exported this would give the Americans 36,000 cubic feet and the Canadians 18,000. He hoped that the whole of the 36,000 feet would be available for Canada when required. He was sure that the leader of the opposition would see the wisdom of canceling the contract made by the old government with the Electrical Development Co.

Referring to the provision that the price of power should be regulated by the price paid in the United States, Mr. Beck asked what had we to do with the price there. Canadians could regulate their own price. He believed that the distributing companies could sell at whatever price they pleased.

Foundation of the Bill.

Hon. Mr. Ross cited the act of 1903 as the foundation of the Government bill, and, reading sections I. and XIV. of the act, stated that all the powers of acquiring or developing and transmitting, distributing, and operating electric power covered by the new bill were covered by the old. The commission by the old act was to be appointed by the municipalities, but he could see no difference between that and one appointed by the Government. Mr. Graham said that, so far as his constituency was concerned, the bill was merely in the air. He thought the municipalities, which had now reached the limit of taxation permitted them, would be unable to take advantage of the bill. Mr. Preston (Brant) elicited the statement that the Government considered the Dominion Government had displayed a friendly attitude in bringing in the bill to license the power companies.

The bill was read a first time and then several measures were taken up in committee. The Toronto General Hospital bill was allowed to stand at the request of Mr. Ross, but Mr. Hanna said he would insist on the third reading being proceeded with to-day.

IN A CLASS BY ITSELF

There are many emulsions of Cod Liver Oil, all more or less good, no doubt, and all very much alike, the principal difference being in the quantity and quality of the oil that enters into their composition, and perhaps something in the method of manufacture.

FERROL

on the other hand, while it is an emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, occupies a place entirely above and beyond the ordinary preparations above referred to.

The reason is, that FERROL combines with the oil Iron and Phosphorus, which all other emulsions lack, and without which no emulsion is anywhere near perfect.

In FERROL the well-known virtues of Cod Liver Oil as a flesh and weight producer, the unparalleled qualities of Iron as a blood builder and purifier, as well as the undoubted advantages of Phosphorus as a Nerve and Brain tonic, are all not only combined and retained, but wonderfully enhanced by the process of amalgamation.

No argument is necessary to prove the inestimable value of such a preparation as FERROL in the treatment of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup and all Bronchial or Lung Troubles.

FERROL is not a patent mystery. The formula is freely published. It is prescribed by the best Physicians. It is endorsed by the most eminent Medical Journals. It is used in the prominent Hospitals, Sanatoriums, etc.

Four Workmen Drowned.

Quebec, May 8.—A drowning accident occured yesterday morning, when four French-Canadian workmen, fathers of large families, found an unexpected watery grave in the Montmorency River Rapids, at the natural steps, a half mile distance from the Montmorency Falls. Five workmen entered a flat boat to cross the rapids, to reach their work. The boat upset and all five were thrown into the turbulent waters. Only one was saved.

Ekaterinoslav Assassinated.

St. Petersburg, May 8.—The report of the assassination of the governor of Elisabethpol, in revenge for his savage repressions in the Caucasus, which reached here Sunday night, was incorrect. It was the Governor-General of Ekaterinoslaw, South Russia, who was assassinated Sunday evening by six unknown persons, who fired volleys from revolvers at him and then escaped.

Immigrants in Wreck.

Toronto, May 8.—The ditching of the special immigrant train at Megantic, Que., a 24-hours' run from Halifax, injured a number of immigrants who arrived in Toronto yesterday. When the train was nearing Megantic two luggage trucks left the rails and several crowded passenger coaches followed. Several of the immigrants were pretty badly injured.

COMPARES WELL WITH AMERICAN HUMORISTS

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt gave his lecture, "The Evolution of a Boy," in Omemee recently, and the Mirror devotes half a column to a report, in the course of which it says:—

"The incidents that formed the occasion for Mr. Langfeldt's humour ranged all the way from the trials and tribulations of Adam under the very disadvantageous circumstances under which he was placed in raising his boy to the vicissitudes in the life of a modern boy from the cradle to the grave. And there was not an incident in that strange, eventful history that did not afford Mr. Langfeldt an opportunity for the most mirth-provoking humour or the most heart-touching pathos. Then, too, the quality of his humour is original and unique, and, because of this, all the more irresistible. There were passages in the lecture that perhaps reminded one of certain features in one or other of the great American humourist; but Mr. Langfeldt's humour does not consist in unconscionable exaggeration—which seems to be the chief characteristic of American humour.

The annual meeting of the Public School Baseball League, was held yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, when the officers for the year, were elected, and the schedule drawn up for the season.

Mr. T. J. Wallace, the retiring president, occupied the chair, and the following officers were elected:

Hon. President—W. H. Hill.
President—D. Walker, B.A.
Vice-President—Mr. Walkey.
Secretary—J. W. Kelly.
Executive Committee — Principals of the different schools.

It was decided that five innings should constitute a game.

The following schedule was arranged:

Senior—
A. Monday, June 4 — Central vs. Separate, Central Park.
B. Wednesday, June 6. — Ashburnham vs. South Central, at Central Park.
C. Friday, June 8, — Winners of A play B at Riverside Park.

E. May 30. — Winners of B. and C. at Riverside Park.
June 1. — Winners of D and E at Riverside Park.

This series of games promises to be of considerable interest as the teams have been strengthened up materially since last year.

CENTRAL SCHOOL TEAM ORGANIZED

A meeting was held in the Central School Monday and the baseball team of last year was re-organized. The following officers were elected:—

Hon. President—Mr. D. Walker, B. A.
President—Mr. Wm. Smith.
Vice-President—T. J. Wallace.
Captain—G. Long.
Secretary-Treasurer—Leo. Borradaile
Manager—C. Lech.

BASEBALL

The Port Hope Guide has the following:—

The players signed by Manager Crawford for the Port Hope Baseball Club have been handed in to Sandy,, says the Cobourg Post. The list contains nearly every "has been" except Pop Anson, of Chicago. And the Post might have added, one Peter Duncan, of Cobourg.

And speaking of has beens (of course the Cobourg junior hockeyists were has beens last year.) This is only an illustration and it is baseball "has beens" we wish to speak about. How would Cobourg like to play these "has beens", excluding Pop Anson and Peter Duncan, for $300 a side, home and home games and a third on neutral grounds if necessary? No doubt Cobourg will accept this—and then back out.

. . . .

The Port Hope Guide says:—The baseball practice on Saturday afternoon turned out to be a fizzle. Some fellows forgot that to practise baseball properly it was necessary to have a cage and protector. Neither of these articles were on the grounds and the result was that the practice game was nothing more or less than a burlesque. There is no time to waste and the management had better realize this fact at once. To-morrow night a full turnout is requested at 6.30 when everything will be in readiness.

FOOTBALL

The first football practice on the Riverside grounds was held last night and proved to be the best of the season. A large number turned out in uniform and an excellent practise game resulted. The next practice on the Riverside grounds will be arranged between the juniors who will go to Norwood, Saturday, with the Intermediate team. , Jack Sullivan will referee the game.

LACROSSE

All members are asked to be present as business of importance will come up for discussion. Arrangements will be completed for the game here on May 24th.

Appeal Case At Osgoode Hall

McWilliams-Dickson Company Case There Yesterday and To-day.

The now celebrated McWilliams-Dickson case, was again considered at Osgoode Hall yesterday. It was on the appeal entered against the judgment of Justice Street rendered at the fall assizes. The case was not concluded yesterday, and is up again to-day. The Globe reporting yesterday's proceedings says:

McWilliams vs. Dickson Company, of Peterborough — R. F. McWilliams, Peterborough, and A. R. Clute, for plaintiff, appealed from judgment of Street, J., (6 O.W.R. 702) dismissing action brought to replevy a quantity of basswood, ash, elm, maple, cedar, hemlock and other sawlogs cut by the defendants upon lot 18 in the 5th concession of Cavendish, and removed by them to Burleigh Falls on Stony Lake. Street, J., held that plaintiff had failed to make out a right to the logs in question. G. H. Watson, K.C., and G. M. Rogers, Peterborough, for the defendants, contra. Not concluded.

Drinks Go Up Again; This Time They Will Stay

New Schedule of Prices Posted in Hotels To-day.

The price of drinks has gone up again, and in the hotels of the city a scale of prices has been posted, this time to stay, the hotel men say.

In future Canadian whiskies are 10c straight, and imported goods 15c., or two for 25c. Milk punches, collins, and other fancy drinks, are 15c. straight. There are no more 5c. whiskies.

It will be remembered that a few days ago this increase was decided on, but it did not last long. This time, however, the edict has gone forth and no hotel can sell drinks under the scheduled prices.

Battle Royal On Aylmer Street

Six Men Were Fighting at Once and Scrap Was Lively.

A lively fight caused considerable excitement on Aylmer street, south yesterday afternoon. It appears that a young man well known to many citizens got into a "mix-up with several recent arrivals from England. He offered, it is said, to trim them one by one, but the bunch believing that in union there was strength, made an attack in force. A man driving past saw the bout and jumping out of his rig, sailed in to help the weaker party. The scrap is said to have been a wicked one, the two Peterborough men fighting four of the immigrants. A police court case will likely follow.

TOOK A BATH IN THE LITTLE LAKE

An unexpected cool bath was taken in the waters of the Little Lake this morning by one of the river drivers assisting on the alligator tug which has been operating there for some time. The young fellow was manipulating a pike pole in bringing to the boom a log that had strayed away from the others, when suddenly he lost his balance and fell into the "drink." With a few strong strokes however he hove alongside the friendly alligator, and was hauled in little the worse for his premature ducking.

The Puffed Rice Social Was A Charming Event

Cards and Dancing Passed Away a Few Pleasant Hours.

Among the many interesting and successful social events which have been given by the T.A.S. this year was the Puffed Rice Social last night in their hall, George street. This was an event which from its uniqueness had the result of attracting a large number of the T.A.S. and their friends, who thoroughly enjoyed the delightful evening.

Progressive euchre formed the preliminaries and two hours or more pleasantly slipped by in the enjoyment of the game. The first prize winners were Miss L. Dennaird and Mr. M. Sweeney, who were presented with a handsome clock and a bag of flour respectively. Mr. J. O'Brien succeeded in losing the most games and was awarded the gentleman's "booby" prize. Excellent music which lent a pleasing tinge to the enjoyment of the games, was rendered throughout by Professor Milner, who presided at the piano.

After the winners were announced the ladies brought in plenty of the delicacy, which gave the social its name, and this formed, probably, the most interesting portion of the programme.

The tables were then cleared away and dancing until midnight concluded one of the most charming social evenings the T.A.S. have ever presented.

WEDDING BELLS

MERCIER—CONNELLY.

The Pasadena, Cal., Evening Star of Monday, April 30, gives some further particulars in reference to the wedding of Mr. Jos. A. Mercier, a former well-known Peterborough man. Mr. Mercier, when he lived here, was popularly known as Albert, by which name he will be readily recognized by his many friends here. The Star, reporting it, says:

At St. Andrew's Catholic church on Saturday, the marriage of Miss Theresa Connelly and Mr. Joseph A. Mercier was solemnized with nuptial high mass. The church was very handsomely decorated, the altar bearing stately calla lilies, white and pink roses and delicate coleus in white and pink. Rev. Father Farrelly said the impressive nuptial service.

The bride's gown was a very dainty one of white mull with lace garniture. She carried a bridal bouquet of bride roses and ferns. Miss Margaret A. Cronin was her maid of honour, and was attired in white with pink roses. Mr. Louis Banegolis was best man.

The bride has been for 15 years in the service of Mrs. James A. Garfield, widow of the martyred president, and in the evening the handsome Garfield home in South Pasadena was thrown open to receive the friends of the bride and groom. The home was very handsomely decorated and refreshments served by the sweet and gracious mistress of the house. Mr. and Mrs. Mercier will remain at the Garfield home during the absence this (summer of Mrs. Garfield in the East.

St. John's Young People In Tennis

About Fifty Members of the Society Will Play This Year.

At a meeting of St. John's A.Y.P.A., held last night in the Sunday School Room, over thirty members of the Association signified their intention of playing lawn tennis this summer. It was decided to place the membership fee at 25 cents for the regular members of the Association and $1.00 for outsiders. It is expected that about twenty more young people will take up tennis. Six courts will be kept in shape for the players on Nicholls Oval.

Escaped From Mimico School

Two Boys Left That Institution In Their Night Clothes.

Chief of Police Boazel has received the following letter from Mr. C. Ferrier, superintendent of the Mimico Industrial School. Anyone knowing anything of the missing boys may communicate with the police.

"On April 26 two boys made their escape from the Industrial School, Mimico.

"Wm. Tuft, 14 years, small boy for his age, has small freckled features, dark complexion, blue eyes, and dark brown hair. He came from Waller's Falls, near Owen Sound.

"Percy Ryson, aged 13 years, has light hair, fair complexion and blue eyes. He came from Guelph, but his father resides in Winnipeg.

"When they left the school they took little or no clothing with them, having escaped from their dormitories in their night shirts, which were made of blue striped cotton, consequently no description of their clothing can be given. A reward of $10 will be given for their capture.

"C. Ferrier,

A Communication Received by Police Gives Some Description.

The local police have received a postal card from Martin L. Catlin, Chief of Police, of Syracuse, N.Y., notifying them that a man named James Stewart, claiming to be an Indian agent, had hired a horse and buggy from John W. Crouin, of Syracuse on April 23, stating that he intended to drive to the Indian reservation. Neither the man nor the outfit returned. The horse is a dapple gray, about 10 years old, and with a short gait. The alleged thief is from 35 to 40 years of age, 5 feet 7 or 8 inches in height, with sandy complexion and a red Van Dyke beard. The writer adds that he holds a grand larceny warrant for the arrest of Stewart.

THE CHEESEMAKER DIED WHILE FACTORY BURNED

Lindsay despatch dated May 7th, says: A sad occurrence took place early this morning at Downeyville, Emily township's interesting little northern hamlet. Fire broke out in a barn owned by Mr. Michael Flynn, opposite the Maple Leaf cheese factory, in which Mr. John Reid, the cheesemaker and family reside. At one time it was feared the factory would be destroyed, a spark having caught in the roof, and the excitement proved too great for Mr. Reid's over-wrought nerves. He was observed to stagger and fall while he was directing some helpers, and when he was picked up he was breathing his last. Heart disease was no doubt the cause of his death. He leaves a wife and family who will have the sympathy of the community. Deceased before taking charge of the Maple Leaf factory, was maker at Star factory, Scotch line, for five or six years.

Our Boys' Clothing

Our Boys' Clothing Department is the birthplace of many new and beautiful styles.

Boys' Norfolk Suits, in Single and Double-Breasted, are very popular for this Spring and Summer.

RUSSIAN BLOUSE SUITS

Are still quite the rage, and, perhaps, there is scarcely a mother who would not dress her boy in a Russian Blouse Suit until he was grown up, if she had her way about it. We have them in beautiful patterns and styles, and the prices are real moderate, too

WE SELL THE BEST OR NONE

This is our policy in every department, and it is by keeping none but the choicest goods, that we have built up such a splendid CLOTHING AND FURNISHING BUSINESS.

Our Boys' Suits are made from strong—yet attractive fabrics—well-sewed, with all points where strain comes made doubly strong.

Miners Decide To Start Work Monday

Strike Now Permanently Off—Miners' Convention To-day Ratify Agreement Unanimously.

Special Heintz & Co. Wire.

Scranton, Pa., May 8.—To-day the Miners' Convention decided to end the coal strike, and the vote to ratify the agreement made yesterday at the conference between the operators and representatives of the miners was unanimous. Following the action, a vote was taken directing that work be resumed on Monday, and that the repairmen should be back on Thursday. The convention adjourned shortly afterward. President Mitchell will issue a statement later in the day formally calling off the suspension.

MOTHER SHOT, KILLING FAVOURITE DAUGHTER

Special to The Examiner

New York, May 7. — Mrs. Mary Waters entered the room where her two daughters, Agatha and Ruth, lay sleeping to-day, and shot and killed Agatha, the eldest, and her favourite, and, without attempting to harm Ruth, then killed herself.

Temporary insanity, due to worry over the daughter's ill health, is assigned as the cause. Mrs. Waters was the wife of John R. Waters, a well known insurance broker, and was 52 years of age. Agatha was 26, and Ruth is 17.

About two o'clock this morning Mrs. Waters entered the room occupied by the two girls, who slept in separate beds.

"Haven't you girls heard the telephone ring!" the mother asked. Without waiting an answer she placed the revolver at the temple of her daughter, and fired, killing her instantly. The mother then walked out of the room. Her husband who was awakened by the sound of the shooting rushed into the hall just in time to see his wife put the weapon to her own head. The shot was almost instantly fatal.

Council May Amend The Building By-law

A Proposal Was Made to Revise the Present Fire Limits —Mr. J. J. Turner Asks to be Allowed to Erect 9-Inch Brick Wall Inside Fire Limits.

There seems to be a general opinion among the members of the Council that the building bylaw requires some revision, and that the present regulations as to the erection of buildings inside the fire limits need some attention and, possibly, alteration. This matter was discussed at the Council meeting last night when Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., addressed the Council, asking permission to erect a 9-inch solid brick wall, on Water street within the fire limits. He learned when he applied for a permit to erect the house that the bylaw passed by the City Council called for a thirteen-inch wall within the limits, which he considered an injustice because he believed that a 9-inch wall was sufficient for the class of house which he proposed to erect. It was decided to refer the matter to the Fire, Water and Light Committee to deal with. Ald. Elliott, McWilliams, Hicks and Johnston, speaking in favour of amending the fire bylaw to contract the area in which 13-inch walls were required and to extend the area for the 9-inch walls.

The desirability of appointing an officer to whom application could be made for building permits for all parts of the city was again referred to last night, and Ald. Johnston was firm in his opinion that such an official should be appointed.

LOCAL REGIMENT WILL SEND AN EMBASSY TO BRANTFORD

To-morrow evening a embassy from the Peterborough Rangers will go to Brantford to make arrangements with that city for the accommodation of the regiment on Dominion Day and also for the big celebration which Brantford intends holding that day.

The delegation will consist of Col. Miller, Capt. Eastwood, Quartermaster, and a third, whom the Colonel has not yet decided upon.

Brantford is preparing for one of the biggest celebrations in the history of the city and before completing their plans they desired to meet a deputation from the regiment here.

The Brantford Expositor in reference to the matter says:—

Colonel Cameron received a telegram on Saturday from Colonel Miller of the 57th of Peterborough, stating that he would arrive with the members of his staff on Wednesday in Brantford, to make arrangements for the visit of the Peterborough regiment over Dominion Day.

THE "WATER LILY" LAUNCHED INTO HER NATIVE ELEMENT

Notwithstanding the fact than an evening contemporary contained a lengthy account of the launching of Captain White's steamer, the "Water Lily" on Saturday, yet an Examiner representative just witnessed the ceremony this morning. Captain White had intended launching on Saturday, but was waiting until Mr. R. Davis, Kingston, steamboat inspector, had inspected the hull. Mr. Davis, however, arrived in the city last night and examined the "Lily" this morning, pronouncing the new hull in No. 1 shape.

Just at half past ten the blocks and stays beneath were hammered away and at twenty minutes to eleven she slid gracefully down the greased timbers into the waters of the Little Lake.

A large number of interested spectators were present and many were on board to witness the launch which was concluded without a hitch. The "Water Lily" which is practically a new boat, sits very neatly on the water and presents a very attractive appearance. The remodelling which has been underway for sometime will probably be finished this week and the Lily will make her first voyage down the Otonabee next week.

An Octogenarian Passes Away

The Late W. B. Talbot, a Well Known Resident, Dead.

Another of Peterborough's octogenarians has passed away in the person of Mr. W. B. Talbot, who died this morning at six o'clock, at his residence, 37 Dennistoun avenue, at the age of eighty years. The late Mr. Talbot has been ill for the past eight months, but up to that time was always in fairly good health. He was born in Weymouth, England, in the year 1826, and came out to Canada fifty years ago. For the last ten years he has lived retired in Peterborough where he has many friends amongst whom he was always a much respected citizen. He was a member of the Anglican Church all his life and attended St. John's while here. He leaves two sons, Albert L., and W. E. Talbot, of Peterborough, and one daughter, Mrs. A. E. Flewell, also of this city.

The funeral will take place from his late residence on Dennistoun avenue, on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery.

ST. PETER'S C.O.F. MEETING SUCCESS

The Catholic Order of Foresters are meeting with much success in securing members for the order. Last night, at the regular meeting of the order, 10 members were initiated, and applications from 15 others were received.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the ladies and gentlemen who so kindly assisted in the benefit concert on April 12, and also to the T. A. S. for the kindness in giving the use of their hall for the entertainment.

Youth Loses Both Limbs In A Train Accident

Distressing Occurrence on C. P. R. Track To-day--Sixteen Year Old Boy May Die as Result--Struck by C.P.R. Freight Train--One Limb Buried Beside the Track--He Did Not Lose Consciousness.

A most distressing accident, by which Willie Taylor, the sixteen years-old son of Philip Taylor, loses both his legs, occurred this afternoon about 12.30 on the C. P. R. tracks, just beyond Mr. R. C. Braund's store.

Young Taylor, who lives at 17 Alfred street, was on his way to his work at the the Cordage Works, when the unfortunate accident happened.

The 2nd section of No.52 meat train was coming in from the west, and the lad evidently thinking it was on one of the outside tracks, chose the middle and main one of the three lines which are laid there. He was struck by the engine, and fortunately fell to the outside of the track, else it is altogether probable he would have been instantly killed .

When found a minute or two afterwards he was moaning with the pain and with one of his limbs lying beside the track completely severed below the knee. The other still clung to the body by a few remaining shreds of flesh.

The plucky fellow did not lose consciousness and was able to talk intelligently about the distressing occurrence.

He was first discovered by Leonard Potter, a young man, who happened to be walking down the track, just after the train passed. Mr. Wm. Vass, a sectionman, residing near the spot where the accident happened, telephoned for a doctor and the ambulance, and Dr. Grear and the Dan Spence ambulance soon arrived, and he was taken to the Nicholls Hospital. Soon a large number of spectators appeared at the scene of the mishap, Where the young fellow's severed limb lay, and which was surrounded by a pool of blood. A hole was dug beside the track, in which it was buried.

Great sympathy for the little fellow and his family is felt in that locality, as he was always a bright and active youth with many friends.

A number of his fellow associates were present, and looked with sorrowful faces to see their young friend carried away with but one limb attached to his body.

He was still conscious when he arrived at the hospital but it is not yet known by the doctors whether he will recover or not.

Anarchists Plot To Take The Kaiser's Life

Fortunate Discovery of Dynamite Probably Saved Life of German Emperor—Five Foreigners Under Arrest.

Special to The Examiner.

Berlin, May 9.—A dangerous anarchist conspiracy, to murder the German Emperor has been discovered and frustrated at Urville, near Metz, where the Emperor has a castle. Kaiser William is scheduled to arrive at his Urville castle on Friday next. This morning the police discovered a large quantity of dynamite on the premises, sufficient to demolish the whole palace at one stroke. Five foreigners were placed under arrest. They have been identified as notorious anarchists.

The Cigarette By-law REGARDED BY DEALERS AS Useless And Unjust

Will Drive Young Men Into Hotels to Get Cigarettes—Hotel Keepers Have Entered Into No Agreement to Stop Selling Them—Dealers Will Not Likely Pay License Fees.

There was a great deal of indignation among the cigar dealers this morning when it became known that the Council last night had passed a bylaw placing a $200 license fee on the sale of cigarettes. The Examiner this morning interviewed T. W. McDonough, S. Ray and several others of the larger tobacco dealers, and found them unanimous in the opinion that the action of the Council was a mistake.

All pointed out that if the intention was to stop the sale of cigarettes, the movement was bound to be a failure, as the Council had no jurisdiction over hotels. They could sell cigarettes in their bars or anywhere on their premises, and the result would simply be that instead of a young fellow buying his cigarettes in a cigar store, he would have to go to a hotel for them, and there he would be placed under the influence of temptation towards a much greater evil than cigarette-smoking.

The bylaw means that no dealer will be able to sell cigarettes, as there is not enough profit on them to make up the license fee. This seemed to be the general feeling among dealers to-day. Mr. T. W. McDonough, one of the largest dealers in the city, said that he handled about 20,000 assorted cigarettes per month.

Mr. Ray pointed out that a dealer would have to sell $1,400 worth of cigarettes to pay for the license. He, for one, would not pay the license fee, and did not think that any one else would.

The statement was made at the meeting of the Council last night that the hotel-keepers had come to an agreement not to handle cigarettes. The Examiner has inquired into this matter, and has found no verification of the statement. Three or four hotel-keepers were interviewed this morning, and none of them had entered into, or heard of, any such agreement. There was nothing to stop them selling cigarettes, and they would in all probability go on doing so. The Ontario License Act gives them power to deal in cigarettes and tobaccos, and the Council has no jurisdiction in the matter. Mr. A. Rountree, secretary of the License Holders' Association, was also interviewed, and confirmed the statement that no agreement had been made. There were only two or three hotels, he said, that handled cigarettes at the present time, and he did not think that their number would be augmented in the future.

One dealer thought that they should have been given a chance to state their case before the Council and considered that the latter should have at least notified them that the bylaw was coming up for consideration.

The feeling among the dealers in regard to the matter is very strong. The universal opinion is that the bylaw is an injustice to them, a bonanza to the hotel-keepers, and a total failure as far as prohibiting the sale of cigarettes is concerned.

WEDDING BELLS

BLODGETT—LAZURE.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral this morning at 8 o'clock, when Miss Julia Lazure, daughter of Mr. Arthur Lazure was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Ambrose Blodgett, of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McColl. The bride looked pretty in a dress of white silk, trimmed with lace and white chiffon hat to match. The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bride was assisted by Miss Mary Moher, who wore a dress of cream, trimmed with lace and baby ribbon and a blue hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Joseph Lazure, brother of the bride. After the ceremony the wedding party drove to the home of the bride's father, Parnell street, where a dainty breakfast was served. The bride received a number of costly presents, eluding a silver fruit basket from the Canadian Cordage Works. Mr. and Mr. Blodgett will reside on Parnell street.

FIFTY "SEMI-READY" STORES

Extending From Coast to Coast in the Dominion of Canada.

In the cities of Canada "Semi-ready" stores have been established to the number of fifty. Nelson, B. C., is one of the last additions to the Semi-ready family.

So popular have they become with the best-dressed men that it is the intention of the Semi-ready Company to open more than one store in the larger cities. This has been thought necessary in view of imitators who coin names with which they hope to make capital out of the Semi-ready reputation.

In this city and district exclusive franchise for the sale of Semi-ready clothing is held at Crassman's.

From the Smoker's View Point.

ANOTHER bylaw on the books,
Passed only to be broke—
For, like the licensed cigarette,
It will go up in smoke.
Another sumptuary law
From tyrant times called up—
In trampling on the subject's rights,
The Council's all Balled up.
And since the Council by its acts,
To club law has resorted;
The smoking fiends themselves will club,
And have their weeds imported.

The Dear Boy.
Chicago Record-Herald.

"WHY, mamma," said the sweet girl, "I'm surprised to hear you say such kind things about Mr. Spriggson. Of course he deserves everything you say about him, but you have always spoken so disparagingly of him in the past that I had about given up all hope that you would ever learn to like him. May I tell him that that he is at liberty to hope? Will you try to persuade papa to listen to reason?"

"Yes, dear. Don't worry. I'll see that your father gives his consent. Now hurry and get ready or you'll be late for the concert. And he said he would judge that I didn't weigh more than 130 pounds. I wonder if he honestly meant it—the dear boy! I must look at myself in the glass again. I believe I am really getting thinner."

Mark Twain Works in Bed.
Cincinnati Post.

"I HAVE never reached the happy stage where I can smoke two cigars at once," said Mark Twain, as he lay reclining in his big mahogany four-poster, "but I have found as a compromise the scheme of smoking in bed."

Eleven o'clock is Mark Twain's rising hour. After the European system, he has his coffee and rolls in bed. Then comes a fat cigar and one hour's work with pencil and tablet.

More than one-half of Mark Twain's work is now done in bed.

"I know of nothing more pleasant or convenient than writing in bed," he said, when the photographer was making the picture. "The attitude is correct for writing. I am not hampered by tight-fitting clothes. I am at ease and at the same time I am centered upon my work. If a parade of brass bands passes the house I do not run into the street, thereby losing my train of thought. My nightgown holds me to my task. I'm not bothered by callers. My servants are not forced to lie to keep callers from me. A man in bed is certainly 'not in.'"

Appeal Decision Against Plaintiff

Theo. McWilliams Loses Appeal Against Justice Street's Decision.

In the Court of Appeal, in Toronto yesterday, before Chancellor Boyd and Justice Magee and Justice Maybee, the appeal case of McWilliams v. Dickson Co., was decided against the former with costs to the plaintiff. This was the first of the cases tried at the fall assizes, and was the one involving some $300. It was decided against McWilliams, who had appealed against the decision of the trial judge.

In the second case, which the Dickson Co. is appealing, the matter will likely come up in the course of a few days. The date has not yet been set.

Twentieth Century Ideas Incline Toward Sanitation and Preventatives.

Nowadays scientists believe that in cleanliness lies the secret of prevention of diseases.

To prevent a disease, remove the cause.

Just as unclean habits breed many diseases, so careless habits will breed dandruff. Improper use of another's brushes, combs, etc., will surely cause dandruff, and, in time, will just as surely cause baldness.

It's microbic infection, nothing more nor less.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and causes hair to grow luxuriantly. Herpicide is absolutely free from grease or other injurious substances.

Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Belching of gas after eating, mean weakness.

More than that, FRUIT-A-TIVES correct the Constipation which usually attends stomach trouble—and by acting directly on kidneys and liver, put the whole system in healthy condition.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1906.

THE CANADIAN GENERAL.

The City Council last night, in securing for Peterborough practically another Canadian General Electric Works, by granting a fixed assessment of $150,000, to come into effect at the expiration of the present arrangement in 1910, made an arrangement which will doubtless meet with the general approbation, being in the interests of the city as represented by a most important addition to our industrial forces. In meeting the request of the company, this city has done less than would at first sight appear. Under the present arrangement with the company the latter enjoys practical exemption from taxation, only paying school taxes on $100,000 of an assessment. This continues till the expiring of the term in 1910. The company will pay upon the land recently acquired, and the new buildings to be at once erected thereon, the full rate of taxation, on the general scale of assessment, as applied to any other property, as well as continue paying $600 per year school taxes for the next four years, at the end of which time the new arrangement will come into effect. These terms cannot be reasonably objected to, and the city is to be congratulated upon having secured an important addition to the works. We should have jumped at a similar opportunity of securing an entirely new industry of the same importance as the additional buildings and plant will represent. Besides the arrangement made is amply justified by precedent. Peterborough has dealt liberally from the beginning with the Electric Company, and it is generally admitted that this generous treatment has been worth while, that the presence of the works has done a very great deal in building up the city, increasing population, adding to the value of real estate, and furnishing employment to large numbers of our citizens. Now to have the works doubled in capacity with a corresponding duplication of the advantages to the city which the works stand for, is something which cannot be regarded unfavourably.

THE POWER BILL.

The Bill introduced into the Ontario Legislature, dealing with the power question for municipalities, seems in some ways to fill the bill. Though the Private Bills Committee sat on Peterborough's enterprise and refused the city permission to develop power. Yet the same principle has been adopted in regard to other municipalities, Peterborough included. No doubt the general law concerning the subject is preferable. Peterborough, however, proposed to develop power by its own money and enterprise. The general bill proposes that municipalities may acquire power through the commission created by the bill, and that the funds necessary, may be advanced by the province to be repaid with interest at four per cent. by the municipalities entering into such an arrangement. The bill gives the Commission power to fix rates of light, heat and power. This does not seem to be extreme as these powers are similar to those exercised by a Railway Commission in the public interest. The one possibly dangerous element is the rather drastic power given the government to authorize the Commission to expropriate power plants and transmission lines. Though this power may not be exercised except in extreme cases, yet its very existence may operate as a deterrrent to private enterprise, which will perhaps be chary in investing capital in development works that may be seized upon and expropriated. If the bill has this tendency or effect its favourable features will thus be largely offset. It is to private enterprise working along legitimate lines that the greatest progress in industrial expansion is to be looked for. Private enterprise in this direction is a proven success; while municipal ownership or operation has yet to justify its practicability. The public will await with interest the passage of the bill through its various stages. The experiment in paternalism it represents, is a large one, which it is hoped may work out to the promotion of the public interests.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The new Whitney Government power bill provides that the money required for acquiring electric power shall be advanced to municipalities by means of Provincial loans. It should be stipulated that Col. Matheson shall sell no more Ontario dollars for 96 cents.

Premier Whitney has promised, on behalf of the Ontario Government, a grant of $500 towards a testimonial to Sherring, the Canadian, who in winning the long distance road race at the Olympic games in Greece, beat the world, and brought not only a great honour to Canada but incidentally contributed largely in calling wrold-wide attention to this country and its resources, as a home for millions, and as a breeding ground for stalwart manhood. There is a good deal fo provincial money less worthily spent.

President Roosevelt's rejection of Canada's contribution to the fund for the San Francisco sufferers may have been dictated by a spirit of independence, but it was open to objection as being not only ungracious, but thoughtless and as events prove, heartless. In spite of his big-headed assurance that the United States was quite able to take care of its own sufferers, it seems that there is still terrible destitution in San Francisco, and need for all aid that may be possible from any source. It may suit the fiscal policy of the United States to exclude foreign trade products, but it is going too far to put an embargo upon the practical sympathy of neighbours.

A Simple Cure for Piles.

Pile sufferers know that Ointments and other local treatments sometimes relieve, but never cure. They don't remove the cause.

There is a little tablet that, taken internally, removes the cause of Piles and cures any case of any kind no matter how long standing.

NEW LEGAL LIGHT ADDED TO LIST

Another addition has been made to the ranks of Peterborough's legal lights. Mr. G. N. Gordon, a young barrister of Toronto, has come to the city to reside, and will enter into partnership with Mr. D. O'Connel. Mr. Gordon has many friends here who will be glad to learn that he has decided to remain in Peterborough.

It Actually "Grows" Skin!

A New and Wonderful Discovery.

One of the greatest triumphs of recent years is the discovery of a unique preperation for growing new, healthy skin. Indeed accidents and skin diseases are so common to-day, that there is no reader who will not feel that the discovery meets a real and distinct need in home, factory and field.

Ever since man acquired the instinct to rub a place that hurts, attempts have been made to find the right article for him to rub with. In the times of Ancient Greece warriors and gladiators used a secret balm upon the injuries they received, in the arena or in battle.

These articles, like the cheap ointments, salves and embrocations sold to-day, were very crude and unreliable. Until recently there was one fatal objection to this class of preparation—that they were too course for the pores of the skin to absorb their healing and soothing ingredients; or the presence of rancid animal fat and mineral poison rendered them not only inefficient but even dangerous for the average skin.

These long standing and serious objections have now been entirely overcome by the introduction of Zam-Buk, a natural skin healer, composed entirely of herbal essences and extracts. A study of the problems connected with the skin's growth led up to the idea that Nature having given to man the instinct to rub, might well be supposed to have secreted somewhere the proper substance to rub with. Certain rare medicinal herbs were taken, and the gums and juices which they yielded were combined in a unique manner, and found to possess healing, soothing and curative properties to a remarkable degree. Experiments with mixtures and blendings of these juices resulted in the production of Zam-Buk, which can be fairly claimed to meet all requirements as an excellent skin preparation.

Zam-Buk is entirely free from the objections levelled against ordinary ointments. It is entirely free from rancid animal fats and coarse mineral substances, being instead a refined herbal preparation, capable of regenerating old or diseased tissues. Zam-Buk virtually produces new and healthy skin. It gives naturally just that assistance Nature is asking for, when pain, swellings, eruptions, or inflammations occur. Zam-Buk allays all forms of irritation, expels disease, stops suppuration, stops festering and virtually feeds the skin toning it up in Nature's own way.

Zam-Buk is invaluable for cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, pimples, running sores, spreading scabs, scalp diseases, poisoned wounds, festering sores, piles, chronic sores, ulcers, bad legs, diseased ankles, abscesses, boils, ringworms, erysipelas, scrofula, psoriasis, barber's rash, blackheads, acne, insect stings, chafings, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, abrasions, back pains, sprains, stiffness, rheumatism, and all injured, diseased, or inflamed conditions of the skin and tissue. Of all chemists at 50 cents a box, or post-paid from the Zam-Buk Company, Colborne street, Toronto, upon receipt of price. To obtain a free sample box cut out this article from the Examiner, and mail it, with a one cent stamp, (to pay return postage) to the Zam-Buk Co., Colborne street, Toronto. This is a unique offer.

A BELLEVILLE GIRL'S ROMANTIC WEDDING

The lady mentioned in the following despatch from Belleville, is quite well known in this city, where she frequently visited, before she went to California. The despatch follows:

One of the many romantic occurrences which grew out of the great disaster at San Francisco, was the marriage of a young lady formerly of Belleville. Telegraphic stories stated that after the disaster was over many young men who had been paying attention to young ladies without any present idea of matrimony, had their gallantry aroused by the sad plight of their fair maidens in distress, who had lost their all in the great fire, and were without relatives or protectors in the big, half-destroyed city. Many marriages, the dates of which were not fixed, took place almost so soon as the interested parties met each other, after the disaster, the brides and grooms evidently believing that if ever sorrows needed halving and joys doubling it was then. On April 25, in San Francisco, Miss Ethel Mackie, formerly of Belleville, was married to Mr. W. W. Stewart, electrical engineer. Miss Mackie is a daughter of Mr. James Mackie, hotel keeper of this city, and hosts of friends in Belleville will hope that the marriage contracted under such romantic circumstances will be an exceedingly happy one.

An Enjoyable Evening Spent at Murray Street Church.

The "Pink Tea" given last night by the Willing Workers of the Murray street Baptist Church, in aid of the fund to support a Bible woman in India, was a gratifying success. The attendance, in spite of the disagreeable evening, was large, and the young ladies, under whose auspices it was given, are greatly encouraged at the recognition of their efforts. The Sunday School room, in which the event took place, was prettily decorated, pink, of course, being the predominating colour. An unique feature of the evening was the fact that those who attended contributed one cent. for each year of their age.

The chairman of the evening was the pastor, Rev. F. J. Scott, who, in opening gave a short address, commending the young ladies for their work. The programme was opened with a selection from an orchestra composed of Mr. F. W. Miller, Mrs. G. B. Miller, Miss Hope Miller and Mr. J. Butcher. A dialogue, "A Matrimonial Advertisement" was much enjoyed. Miss Clara Kidd, rendered a vocal solo which pleased the audience, as did also a piano solo given with much skill by Miss Frances Routley. Mrs. Dunroombe gave a recitation and Mr. Hooker, a vocal solo. Another dialogue, "The Train to Mauro," created much amusement. A piano duet by Miss Emily Walker and Miss Jennie Quinn was rendered in a splendid manner. The musical programme closed with a chorus, "Way Down Upon the Swanee River."

Dainty refreshments were served, and the evening's entertainment closed with the National Anthem.

Former Local Man Promoted

Sergt.-Major Brown on Medical Staff at Victoria, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Devine, 82 Patterson street, will leave on June 1 for Victoria, B.C., where they will join their son, Sergt.-Major Brown, of the Government medical staff, of that city.

Major Brown, although but a young man of 28 years, has reached an enviable position on account of his efficient services in the past as a soldier of skill and a man of ability. Until a week ago he was in Ottawa, where he has spent the past year on the medical staff. His recent promotion to Victoria will be received with much favour by his many Peterborough friends, who have been watching his brilliant career.

Major Brown some time ago spent six years in a Toronto hospital studying medicine, after which he came back to Peterborough and clerked in the Canadian General Electric storeroom. He next moved to Kingston, and at the time of the South African war enlisted as a corporal in the first Canadian contingent to Africa, where he picked up a wide range of knowledge, which has been of such assistance to him in his present work. His ability then attracted the attention of Colonel Drury, of Halifax, and it was through his instrumentality that he was given the responsible position at Ottawa which has brought such success.

It was on account of the invitation from their son that Mr. and Mrs. Devine have decided to go to Victoria. Needless to say they are greatly pleased with his success, and gladly accepted.

To Rebuild The Body

WHEN IT IS WEAK AND WASTED BY OVERWORK OR DISEASE YOU CAN USE

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

"Our bodies," says Huxley, "may be likened to an eddy in the river, which retains its shape for a while, though every instant each particle of water is changing."

The tissues of the body, composed of millions of tiny cells, are being constantly broken down and wasted away by the process of life and especially by overwork and disease.

In order to reconstruct these wasted tissues there are necessary such elements as iron, sulphur, magnesia, potash, etc., and when these are not supplied in sufficient quantities in the food we eat it is necessary to aid Nature by the use of certain restorative preparations.

Especially during the winter season foods are unusually artificial and as a result the spring finds the body in a weak and run-down condition.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is particularly effective under such circumstances because it is composed of the very elements of nature which go to form new, rich blood, create new nerve cells and rebuild wasted tissues.

This great food cure is radically different to the medicines that are usually used for nervous diseases, for while they stimulate tired nerves to overexertion or by narcotic influence soothe and deaden them, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food revitalizes the wasted nerve cells and so accomplishes lastingly beneficial results.

While modern and scientific in composition and preparation, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been on the market sufficiently long to prove in thousands of cases its extraordinary restorative and reconstructive power.

For men who are suffering from headaches, indigestion and sleeplessness, for women who besides these symptoms suffer from weaknesses and irregularities of the delicate feminine organism, for children who are pale, weak and puny, there is, we believe, no preparation extant which will bring about such satisfactory results as the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

"PE-RU-NA WORKED SIMPLY MARVELOUS."

Suffered Severely With Headaches—Unable to Work.

Miss Lucy V. McGivney, 452 3rd Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"For many months I suffered severely from headaches and pains in the side and back, sometimes being unable to attend to my daily work.

"I am better, now, thanks to Peruna, and am as active as ever and have no more headaches.

"The way Peruna worked in my case was simply marvelous."

We have in our files many grateful letters from women who have suffered with the symptoms named above. Lack of space prevents our giving more than one testimonial here.

It is impossible to even approximate the great amount of suffering which Peruna has relieved, or the number of women who have been restored to health and strength by its faithful use.

Bridge Whist Condemned By Rev. Mr. Skey

Well Known Divine Says it is One of Most Abominable Gambling Games.

Rev. L. E. Skey, rector of St. Anne's church, Toronto, is one of the best known Toronto Anglican preachers in this city. He was here a short time ago preaching anniversary sermons at All Saints' church. His utterances, therefore, in respect to bridge, which are reported in the Toronto Globe to-day, will be read with interest. The article referred to is as follows:

"Bridge whist is one of the most abominable gambling games in the country."

This remark on the well known game was made last night by Rev. L. E. Skey, rector of St. Anne's church, in an address delivered at the annual festival service held in St. Alban's Cathedral in connection with the Sunday school Teachers' Association of the Diocese of Toronto.

Rev. Mr. Skey was preaching on the essential qualities of good teachers, and among those essentials he named consistency. A person to be effective in winning boys and girls, he said, must be consistent in their own lives with that which they taught, and in this regard he cited an instance of a lady teacher whom he knew. "She had failed to win her pupils," said the speaker, "because she was inconsistent. She told her pupils not to gamble with marbles, but the boys of her class learned she went out and gambled with cards. She played bridge, which is one of the most abominable gambling games in the country, and the boys said they might as well gamble with marbles if their teacher gambled with cards."

Women's Auxiliary Thank-Offering

$106.31 Collected by the George Street Ladies Yesterday.

The annual thankoffering of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the George street Methodist church was held at the parsonage yesterday. A large number of ladies were present and the meeting was an interesting one. The collection, including two life membership fees, amounted to $106.31.

At the conclusion of the business portion of the meeting an enjoyable programme consisting of vocal solos by Miss Muriel Crothers and violin solos by Miss Maud Crothers, was rendered. Mrs. Crothers also contributed a reading in an effective manner.

Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Crothers at the conclusion of the programme, after which a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Crothers for her hospitality.

Auburn Woollen Co. Asks An Assessment Of $50,000 On Mills

Mr. Kendry Addresses Council Making This Request—Chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee Refers to By-Gone Days and Mr. Kendry Does Not Like It—Says He Wants to Deal With the Present—His Company Has Been Given No Consideration From the Council.

The Auburn Woollen Company is the latest applicant for a fixed assessment. Last night at the special meeting of the city council, the following letter was read:

"The proprietors of the Auburn Woollen and Auburn Power Company, owning as they do, a valuable, but partially developed, water power within the city, are naturally anxious to still further develop the same. They would therefore respectfully submit that they should have extended to them the same measure of assistance as has already been extended, and as it is proposed to still further extend to enterprises calculated to benefit the city.

"JAS. KENDRY,
"Pres. Auburn Woollen Co.,
"JOHN CARNEGIE,
"Pres. Auburn Power Co."

Mr. Kendry was present at the meeting and addressed the council in connection with the request contained in the letter. He stated that the company has never asked for any favours from the city, and thought it about time that the oldest manufacturing concern, and the poorest, in the city, should be given some consideration.

As chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, Ald. McWilliams took the matter up on behalf of the council, with Mr. Kendry, and some lively passages took place between these two gentlemen. Reading the letter Ald. McWilliams thought that it was the water power property on which fixed assessment was asked, and asked Mr. Kendry if this was the case. The latter replied that it was the Auburn Woollen Company that asked for the fixed assessment, and added that no one but a lawyer would pick the letter to pieces and find fault with it.

The Alderman referred to the assistance which had been given the company in its early days; but Mr. Kendry said that he did not like these references to the days gone by, —he wanted to deal with the present, not the past, and said that since he had taken hold of the property the council had given the company no consideration. He stated that the company had from time to time been making improvements, and had added a large number of employees. Still further improvements and additions will be made in the future, and the undeveloped property will be developed. There were, Mr. Kendry said, only two concerns in the city which paid more taxes than his company. His proposition was that the council should give his company a fixed assessment of $50,000, which he thought would be about the right thing. Speaking of the growth of the business Mr. Kendry said that four years ago the pay roll was $44,000, while at the present time it was $70,000 a year. The business had increased 30 per cent., and still further progress was contemplated.

No action was taken in the matter last night, except to refer the matter to the Manufacturers' Committee, the Mayor promising Mr. Kendry that in spite of the "ragging" he had received at the hands of the chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, the council would give his request a careful consideration.

The Canadian General's Proposal Accepted By The City Council

City Solicitor Was Instructed to Prepare By-law Giving the Council Fixed Assessment for Twenty Years at $150,000—In Consideration of This Company Will Commence Inside of Six Weeks on Large Extension to Their Works—Will Spend $300,000 to $400,000.

Within six weeks work will be commenced on the foundations for the extensions which the Canadian General Electric Company has now decided shall be located in this city. This is the statement made at the special meeting of the council last night, when an agreement was arrived at between the company, as represented by Mr. E. G. Patterson, and the council.

The letter presented at the meeting of the Council on Monday night, and published in yesterday's papers, formed the basis of the proposition, as submitted by the company to the council, and at last night's meeting the council approved of the proposal, and a bylaw will be prepared by the City Solicitor at once, and a special meeting of the council called again to pass it; in order that the company may make arrangements at once to proceed with the work of enlargement, since the manager stated that it was very desirable that action be taken at the very earliest possible moment, as the company had outgrown the present capacity of the local works.

Council Unanimous.

When the matter was discussed last night at the council meeting, there was not a dissenting voice, and every alderman present arose and spoke in favour of granting the privileges asked for by the company. They all stated their opinion that the request was a reasonable one.

Worked out in dollars and cents by Ald. Adams, the city will be ahead of the city in any event. By his figures the company pays about $600 a year in taxes on the $100,000 assessment on which they pay the school taxes, amounting to about six mills on the dollar. By the new agreement the company will pay taxes for all purposes on the $150,000, which at the present rate of 18 mills will amount to $2700. The present agreement with the city does not terminate until the last of 1910, and the new agreement does not go into effect until the termination of that formerly made, and in the interval upon the property owned by the company and purchased since the former agreement was entered into, and upon any improvements upon it, the usual rate of taxes will be paid on the assessment as made by the assessors. It will thus be seen that in the meantime the city will gain considerably, since the work of constructing the buildings will be proceeded with at once, and they will be assessed in the regular way.

City Will Benefit.

The benefit to the city by this agreement can not be easily overestimated. It will mean that the already immense works of the company will be practically doubled, and that instead of 1000 hands being employed the number will be in the neighbourhood of 2000. These works at the present time are the largest in the city, and the additions decided on will make them rank with any industrial works in the Dominion.

At the meeting last night all the members of the council, with the exception of Ald. Johnston, were present. After the reading of the communications the meeting resolved itself into a committee of the whole for the purpose of considering the proposition of the Canadian General Electric Company, and the communication from Mr. Patterson was again read, after which he addressed the council. He stated that the company had reached the point when it had become necessary to practically double the capacity of the works. This could be done either here or at Toronto. The company had prepared comprehensive plans for the new buildings, which when completed, would accommodate the requirements of the company for years to come. There was no intention of having to tear them out again for a few years. There were two distinct propositions before the company. The new works could either be built here or at Toronto, where the Canada Foundry Co. had 75 acres, and a fixed assessment of $150,000. The company proposed to spend from $200,000 to $400,000, in the extensions which will be made, and, if the council agreed to the proposal, he fancied that inside of six weeks ground would be broken for the foundations. The large building would be extended 250 feet south to Albert street.

An argument in favour of putting the new building in Toronto was the freight which would be saved on the coal used in the works here. At the present time about 1600 tons are used each year, and with the enlarged works he supposed 1000 tons more would be required. This was for heating purposes alone. On this coal 65 cents a ton freight had to be paid in addition to the rate to Toronto. This in itself was a considerable item of expense.

The Aldermen Favourable.

Ald Adams was of the opinion that this was a proposition which the council should consider most favourably, and one which there should be no hesitation in accepting. He assumed that the company would employ a great many more men when the new works were erected, and to this Mr. Patterson stated that the company had no intention of spending, say, $400,000, for stone rooms alone. The new buildings would be used for manufacturing purposes, and there could not be much manufacturing without men.

Ald. Hicks felt that the council was unanimously in favour of granting the request, and moved, seconded by Ald. Mason, that a bylaw be prepared to accept the proposition of the Canadian General Electric Co., as contained in the letter of May 7th, 1906, with the addition agreed to by the company that the company pay local improvement rates.

In seconding the motion Ald. Mason said that the Electric Company was a concern which the city could not afford to have take its extensions to another place.

Ald. Ball also spoke briefly in favour of the proposal. He was, he said, favourable to taking the taxes off all industries. The city taxed dogs, he said, to make them scarce, and his opinion was that all buildings should be exempt from taxation.

The other members of the council, Ald. Tovey, Elliott, Graham, Duncan, Wilson, McIntyre and McWilliams, all spoke, and were unanimous in their opinion that the proposition was a good one and should be accepted.

The motion of Ald. Hicks was carried without a dissenting voice.

Many By-laws Were Passed

At the Special Council Meeting Last Night.

Last night's meeting of the Council was practically a bylaw meeting. Possibly at no meeting of the Council this year has there been a greater number of bylaws than at that of last night. The cigarette bylaw was the only one of any real importance, the others were simply confirming reports already adopted by the Council, and included one to confirm a contract with H. Carveth for the erection of the new firehall, and a number of other matters which had already been passed by the Council.

Ald. Adams referred to the loss the city had sustained in the death of the fire horse, and stated that it would be necessary to buy another horse or team, since one of the bay horses was also in bad shape.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Tovey, that the Fire, Water and Light Committee be authorized to purchase the necessary horse for the fire department, and that the treasurer be authorized to pay for the same on the certificate of the chairman of the committee.

The Cigarette By-law Passed The Council

After July 1st it Will Cost $200 to Sell Them in This City—Hotels Said to Have Agreed to Discontinue the Sale of Cigarettes in Case By-law Passed.

Last night Ald. Ball's cigarette bylaw passed the council at its special meeting and after July 1st, no storekeeper, or anyone else for that matter, except hotelmen, can sell cigarettes, without paying a license fee of $200. The fee originally in the bylaw was $50, but a motion made by Ald. Mason, increased the license fee to the larger sum, and he stated that unless the hotels agreed to stop selling, he would be in favour of repealing the bylaw, as it would be a bad thing to prevent the dealers from selling, which the bylaw would practically do, and permit the hotels to still continue in the business, because it would simply draw the boys there to buy the cigarettes.

Ald. Ball replied that he had been assured by the president and secretary of the License Holders' Association that the hotels in the city would not sell any cigarettes if the bylaw passed.

The main provisions of the bylaw are as follows:

The owner or keeper of any store or shop in the city of Peterborough (other than taverns and shops holding licenses under the Liquor License Act) where cigarettes are sold by retail shall procure a license from the city clerk, and no person shall sell or expose for sale cigarettes without first obtaining such license.

No person licensed under this bylaw to sell cigarettes shall directly or indirectly sell any cigarettes otherwise than by regular sale, in his licensed shop or store, and no cigarettes shall be sold by means of any mechanical device or machine exposed, placed inside, or upon the outside of such licensed store or shop.

No person licensed under the bylaw shall keep his shop open for the purpose of selling or shall sell any cigarettes on Sunday.

The license must be posted up in a conspicuous place on the premises.

Veteran Of 1837 Passes Away In Durham County

Deceased Was Father of Mr. Albert Hanna of Peterborough

One of the oldest pioneers and worthy citizens of Durham County departed this life at Enniskillen on Monday, April 30, having reached the ripe age of 92 years and nine months. Deceased was born in Monaghan, Ireland, in 1813, and emigrated with his father, James, to New York, about 1822; after some eight years deceased then crossed the border to British soil, settling in the County Leeds, Kitley Township, only remaining here about three years, moving then to the Township of Manvers early in the thirties, and from the bark of the wolf called the country a howling wilderness. Remaining here with his father some 10 years, during which time a call was made for volunteers to quiet Mackenzie rebellion, being like his father who had served as a soldier in the war of 1812 against Napoleon Bonaparte, he was one of the foremost to respond to the call, and marched off to Muddy York, viz. Toronto. But, after the rebellion, the deceased became one of the strongest supporters of the Reform party. Deceased was strong in his principles and loyal to his country. He was brought up to the Presbyterian faith and adhered firmly to the same, being a descendant on his maternal side of the early Scottish Covenanters. In 1843 he married Eliza Frances Arnold, of Lawrence County, New York, and formerly of Rugby, England. The family consisted of five, William, of Cartwright; Albert, of Peterborough; Maria, who is now Mrs. Jonas Samis, of Clarke; Ezra, who resides at Enniskillen, and Frances, who was Mrs. John J. McLaughlin, Oshawa, deceased.

Deceased, during his married life, first settled in Cartwright Township, there hewing out a home for himself, remaining there until 1859, when he bought the Yankee James McLaughlin farm and moved to Darlington. A few years later he purchased the Henry Stinson farm, the Floody farm and the Sylvester brothers house, Enniskillen. Retiring from active life, he sold the Sylvester property and bought a house in Bowmanville, where he lived until about six years ago, when occurred the death of his wife. Thence he came back to Enniskillen, where he resided until his death.

Deceased was an active worker and always enjoyed good health until about a month before his death, during which time he became somewhat helpless. Being visited several times by Rev. Mr. Snowden during this last days, he was pleased to hear how the deceased would repeat passages of the Bible, especially the Psalms of David, the first and twenty-third Psalms being some of the favourites.

BLOODLESS GIRLS.

Can Obtain New Health Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Anaemia means bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new, rich, red blood and thus cure anaemia. When the blood is poor the nerves are starved and irritable. Then comes hysteria, neuralgia, sleeplessness and other nerve disorders. Headaches, backaches and sideaches wear out and depress the poor pale victim. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills soon bring ruddy health and lively vigor. They soothe the jangled nerves and give new strength to every organ. Miss Winnie Allen, Montreal, says:—"I was so weak and run down that my friends thought I was going into consumption. I was as pale as a corpse, had no appetite and did not sleep well. The least exertion tired me out, and if I walked a few blocks I would be almost breathless. My sister advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using them for a few weeks I am again enjoying good health, and have good colour. I think every weak girl should take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure any case of bloodlessness just as surely as they cured Miss Allen. The pale, anaemic needs only one thing—new blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich blood with every dose. That is why they cure all common diseases like anaemia, indigestion, neuralgia, palpitation of the heart, headaches and backaches, St. Vitus' dance, partial paralysis and the secret troubles that make the lives of thousands of women miserable. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Officers For Signal Corps

Rest of the Corps Will be Named Next Drill Night.

The Signalling Corps in connection with the local regiment has now become a certainty. At a meeting of the officer last night after the drill it was finally decided to institute the corps at once. Lieutenants Kelly and Wallace have been appointed as the officers in charge and the non-commissioned officers, (two from each company) will be selected next Tuesday after drill. A competent instructor will at once be sent by the Government to instruct the new corps in the use of the signals.

TELLS BY THEIR SLEEP

"I can tell by my little ones' sleep when a cold is coming on" said a mother when speaking of the advance symptoms of colds in children. "They toss about, are restless, their breathing is heavy, and there are symptoms of night sweats. The next morning I start with Scott's Emulsion. The chances are that in a day or two they are all over it. Their rest is again peaceful and the breathing normal."

Here's a suggestion for all mothers. Scott's Emulsion always has been almost magical in its action when used as the ounce of prevention. Nothing seems to overcome child weakness quite so effectively and quickly as Scott's Emulsion.

Sudden Death of Mr. Edwin Layfield's Sisters

Two Ladies Died Within Twenty-four Hours of Each Other—One Found Dead in Bed—Other Dropped Dead --Distressing Circumstances of Their Demise.

Mr. Edwin Layfield received word yesterday afternoon of the death of his younger sister, and this morning the sad news was received by him of the death of his older, and only remaining sister. The circumstances surrounding the two deaths are pathetic in the extreme. They both died very suddenly, and within 24 hours of each other. On Monday night, Miss Emma Layfield, aged 69 years, was found dead in bed, at her home in Verness, Megantic county, Quebec, and last night her sister, Agnes, aged 81, dropped dead. Both of these ladies had been in good health up to the time of their death, which, in both cases, came without warning, and suddenly.

It is thought that the shock occasioned by the sudden death of her sister may have been the cause of the older sister's death.

They were the only sisters of Mr. Edwin Layfield of this city, and aunts of Mr. R. E. Layfield, and, as will be imagined, the extremely distressing news of their sudden death has greatly affected their brother. With his son, he will go to Verness to-night, and will attend the funeral, both bodies being buried at the same time.

Engineer Confers With The City

In Respect to Dredgings From the Otonabee.

The Minister of Public Works is a man who does things. When last week he promised the deputation from Peterborough that the city's request for the use of the dredgings from the Otonabee would be looked into and reported on at once, he must have meant it, because to-day; Mr. Marrisk, of the department of Public Works' Toronto office under Mr. Sing, is here, and is the afternoon meeting with the chairman of the Board of Works, the City Engineer and other members of the council in respect to the request of the city to Mr. Hyman. He is here for the purpose of reporting on the difference in cost of dumping the dredgings in Little Lake and placing them on the city's property. And is this afternoon going over the work with the representatives of the city.

NEW CURE FOR HAY FEVER

The latest treatment for the prevention of Hay Fever prescribes systematic and continued exercise taken in timely advance of the season for the appearance of the complaint. Specialists in the disease do not understand its nature. It is now supposed to be a form of catarrh and local applications have been largely abandoned. The theory that it is rheumatism of the mucus membrane is not accepted. A more favoured idea attributes the inception of hay fever to sluggishness of the liver, and bicycle riding is recommended to keep that organ in an active and healthy condition. After hay fever has arrived the sufferer will find neither comfort nor relief in bicycling, but systematic and easy wheeling during the preceding months is warranted to greatly modify the severity of an approaching attack, or to entirely prevent it.

IMPROVED machinery will not, of itself, produce good flour.

You may be an excellent cook, but you cannot produce light, wholesome baking unless the flour you use be the kind that permits such results.

So in the milling; machinery alone cannot produce

Royal Household Flour

out of the wrong kind of wheat any more than you can make the right kind of bread or pastry out of the wrong kind of flour.

Ogilvie's Royal Household Flour is made from hard spring wheat—a wheat that is rich in nutriment, that grinds fine and white, and produces bread and pastry that are wholesome and nourishing as well as light and crisp—it's a flour that begins to be good in the wheat fields, not in the mills.

Your grocer prefers to sell you Ogilvie's Royal Household Flour because he knows the value of a pleased customer.

Charlrand Has Escaped From Penitentiary

Murderer of Constable Irwin Takes French Leave.

SCALED WALL WITH ROPE

Extraordinary Shrewdness of the Prisoner at Kingston in Taking His Departure From the Provincial Penitentiary — How He Went About His Work—Believed That He Must Have Had Accomplices.

Kingston, May 9.—At 7 o'clock yesterday morning the discovery was made that Joseph Chalabran, alias Chartrand, the Sault Ste. Marie murderer, whose sentence of death was commuted to life imprisonment, because of alleged insanity, had escaped from the insane ward in the penitentiary.

The alarm was at once sounded and the country side is being scoured for him. He has been in the prison two years. His mode of escape was cutting the iron bars in his cell, and also those of a window across the corridor.

A rope was available and he scaled the wall. The manner of his escape will be investigated, as it is thought he had confederates. The methods employed, too, were extremely cunning.

Chalabran cut two bars of his cell, also two bars on the window of the ward, three storeys above the ground level. Each cut is a clean one. Where he secured the steel saw, the instrument used, is a mystery.

Put Dummy in Bed.

He secured the window sash cords and made his rope from them. So that his hands would not be blistered in sliding in the ropes, he tied it in sailor knots. The hook he used to throw to the coping of the wall, he made from the handle of the pail in his cell. This he covered with a piece of bed clothing in order to deaden the sound of "the cling" when the hook came in contact with the stone. The west gate was the spot he selected for climbing over to freedom.

The guard on duty was James Fegg. In the cell was found a dummy made of flower pots and other articles. The make up was sufficient to deceive any official. The watch clock was wound regularly, an indication that the guard was awake and alert. His rounds were made regularly.

"At 8 o'clock," said the warden, "the guard says he spoke to Chalabran. He means that he addressed the form in the bed in the cell. That was quite natural."

Takes to the Water.

It seems that after dropping from the wall on the west side, the convict cut loose the yawl of the schooner Marshall, loading stone at the prison wharf, and used it to propel himself over to Portsmouth. The yawl was not further used. It is thought that the convict has escaped by way of the water, as he was an expert sailor.

It is six years since a prisoner successfully got away. That convict hid in a building while the gang were marched back from the farm. He was never caught. It is a score or more of years since a convict got away from the inside. To get out generally requires aid. Chalabran left in his prison garb, a red and grey check.

Chalabran was found guilty of murdering Constable Irwin, who went to arrest him on a train standing at Webbwood Station, not far from the Soo. He escaped, and had his liberty for several days, but in the man hunt that followed he was caught in a swamp.

The convicts were not allowed out of the cells yesterday. Deputy Warden O'Leary is dangerously ill with pneumonia.

Half French, Half Indian.

Chalabran, the escaped man, is half French and Indian. His original home was in Montreal, and then he drifted to Ottawa. After that he went up to the Soo. He found employment there as a trapper and combined that life with the one of a rough sailor.

Chalabran is aged 28, weighs 140 pounds, was 5 feet 9 1-4 inches high, complexion fair, eyes grey, hair brown, birthmark on left leg back of knee, two scars on head.

One hundred dollars is offered as reward for his capture. Many men have been out all day looking for him, but no trace of him can be found. It is supposed that he is hiding in the woods in the vicinity, but he is so desperate a character that the greatest care is exercised, lest he may have fire arms, in which case he would use them without hesitation, as he did, with deadly effect, before.

PRINCE OF WALES BACK.

Great Naval Demonstration at Portsmouth and People Cheer in London.

Portsmouth, Eng., May 9.—The Prince and Princess of Wales, who arrived here Monday from India, landed after over six months' absence. They were accorded a great naval welcome.

The three elder children of their Royal Highnesses were awaiting their parents. They raced up the gangway of the Renown and were the first shore visitors to board her.

At London.

London, May 9.—The Prince and Princess of Wales arrived at Victoria Station last evening. They were greeted here by King Edward, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Henry and Ena of Battenberg. The route to Marlborough House, their London residence, was lined by cheering people and guarded by about 4,000 police.

Winnipeg, May 9.—Four Indians at Rutchrn and a white man at Mistawasis, are dead and many are reported dying as the result of drinking Florida water, which is being sent to the backwood in large quantities as a cheap substitute for whiskey. Stories tell of most agonizing deaths of those poisoned. Inspector Genereux of Prince Albert has commenced an investigation.

$5,000 Jewel Robbery.

Toronto, May 9.—Charged with the theft of $5,000 worth of jewelry from Mrs. Minnie Clark, 150 West Richmond street, Julie Leonard of the same address was locked up last night by Detectives Mackie and Sockett. She is a Jewess, of about 23, and comes from New York City.

Will be Fight Over Power Bill In Legislature

Hon. Mr. Ross Intimates Opposition to Mr. Beck's Measure.

THIRD READINGS WERE MANY

A Number of Measures Passed by the Legislature—Morning Sessions of the House Will Be Held If Necessary to Bring Session to a Close—Actual Business of Assembly to Conclude This Week.

Toronto, May 9.—The actual business of the Legislature will certainly conclude this week. Splendid progress was made at the two sessions held yesterday, a number of Government bills being read a third time, including the Toronto General Hospital bill, the act amending the veterans' land grant act, the two railway bills, the act to prevent fraud in the manufacture of cheese and butter, the municipal amendment act and the assessment amendment act.

Hon. Mr. Ross intimated that the "power bill," the second reading of which was by agreement declared carried on division, would be opposed, and a lively discussion on this measure may be expected.

Morning Sittings.

The Premier announced in the Legislature yesterday that on and after Thursday there would be morning sittings beginning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Ross agreed. It is hoped to finish the session this week.

Mr. McCoig called attention to an article in a Chatham paper dealing with the ravages of the San Jose scale in the Kent district. If something was not done many orchards might be killed outright.

Hon. Mr. Monteith replied that inspectors of the department had been through the district and found that the people there had not been as active as they might have been. The remedy was simple, and it was their own fault if they did not take advantage of it.

Favors Sunday Cars.

On the third reading of Mr. Hendrie's bill respecting steam, electric and steam railways being referred back to committee, Mr. Bowyer raised the question of Sunday cars. The Government refused to grant charters to companies operating on Sunday, but they could go to Ottawa, and he did not see what was to be gained by withholding the privilege here. He did not care to divide the House, but he knew that many members would support a resolution in favor of Sunday cars. He also thought a clause should be inserted empowering the province to take over electric roads at the expiration of their charters. He quoted from The Globe on this line, which he said, were the identical words he had used some time ago. A clause giving such power could not possibly do any harm.

Not to That Point Yet.

The Premier said in reply that the Government had not yet got to the point when it desired to take over the roads indicated.

Mr. Bowyer: Just that you may.

Mr. Whitney: We don't propose to take the power.

There was no doubt that as time went on events might occur which would make it wise to do it. The Government might take the power and find that it was an unwise action. There was no use trying to settle the future of the world.

On the question of Sunday cars there was no doubt that a large majority of the public were not ready to take the position outlined by Mr. Bowyer.

Mr. Ross said it was wise to strike out the Sunday clause.

The Premier said the clause was inserted on the advice of a gentleman prominently connected with the Sunday Observance Association, but it was found that public opinion was against the privilege.

The bill was read a third time after some verbal changes were made, and Mr. Hendrie's second bill to appoint a railway and municipal board was also passed.

Hospital Bill Passes.

On the third reading of the Toronto General Hospital bill, Dr. Currie again registered his objection to the clause which prevents students receiving instruction in surgery from their own professors. The bill passed.

THAT OVER WORKED, PLAYED OUT FEELING AMONG WOMEN

There are thousands of females all over our land who are broken down in health and dragging out a miserable existence, overburdened with diseases peculiar to their sex, apparently growing old while yet young. Often they have pale or sallow complexion, hollow, sunken eyes, with a lifeless look; the face has a pinched and haggard appearance; they are weak, weary and trembling, often extremely nervous, starting at every little noise. Many are low-spirited, and some are fretful. Some are apparently bloodless, with cold hands and feet, while others are flushed by an unequal circulation of the blood, dizziness, and sometimes dimness of vision, loss of memory, and often loss of appetite and sleep, and are wearied with terrible dreams.

Palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, smothering and sinking spells, shortness of breath and the sensation of pins and needles are all indications of a weakened condition of the heart or nervous system, and should any of these be present we would strongly advise the use of

They bring health to the broken down, energy to the weakened constitution, tone up the tired, overstrained nerves, and strengthen the weak heart.

Mrs. Edward Jackson, Hall's Bridge, Ont., writes: "For a year I was greatly troubled with nervousness and loss of appetite, and could neither sleep nor eat. After taking a few boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I was completely cured and can recommend them to all sufferers."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

AMATEUR BASEBALL AND LACROSSE PLAYERS, ATTENTION!

The Examiner is prepared to publish scores by innings together with the batteries of all amateur baseball games and score by quarters with the line-up of all lacrosse matches, played by Peterborough teams in this city or elsewhere. No matter of how little importance the game may be, if the score is authentic, it will be printed by the Examiner.

Scores must be sent in on the day on which the games are played. They may be mailed to the Sporting Editor or left in the Examiner office, thus assuring their publication the following day. Be sure that the scores are absolutely correct with names properly spelled and figures clear and correctly totalled.

Secretaries of all leagues and clubs are requested to send to the Sporting Editor the names of the members of their teams, schedules of games and such items of interest that they deem worthy of publication. Communications may be sent as often as desired and will receive prompt attention.

First Lacrosse Game Here On The Holiday

Young Torontos Will Play the Shamrocks on That Date —Should Draw a Monster Crowd—Seven of Last Year's Senior Team are on Visitors Line-up.

The lacrosse season will open here on May 24th, when the young Torontos, one of the fastest intermediate C.L.A. teams in the province will meet the Shamrocks. The step was decided on at a meeting of the Executive held last night in the office of the chairman, Dr. Wightman.

This game should attract a monster crowd. The Young Torontos have seven players on their line-up who played on their senior team last year and who were professionalized and afterwards reinstated. They have a fast well balanced team and will give the Shamrocks a great game.

Arrangements were completed for the use of the Riverside Park for practise purposes. The locals will practise on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Ed. Howell Will Retire From Game

Former Peterboro' Hockey and Lacrosse Player Says He Will Play no More.

The Brantford Expositor says:—Word comes that Ted Howell, the famous professional hockey player, whose home is in Paris, will never play the game again. Howell has accepted a lucrative position in London, Ont., and will settle down in the Forest City. As he is a pro. and therefore not eligible for Ontario hockey Ed. will have to give up the game entirely. In a letter written to a friend in Brantford, he states that he will not play the game any more. As a point player Howell was almost without an equal. He played with Paris when the greens were at their best, and he has since played with Peterborough and Michigan Soo in the Yankee pro. league. Howell has a great reputation as a hockeyist.

Flaherty Will Be With Lindsay

Galt Battery Will Work for Cinnamon's Redskins.

The Lindsay Redskins have made the haul of the season in landing Flaherty and Marshall, the famous battery of the Galt Canadian League team. Both have a large section of the goods and Lindsay's stock has gone away above par. There was a rumour that this pair was coming here, but they arrived in Lindsay last night and will remain there for the season. Bill Cinnamon will likely be pensioned off.

CATCHER RATTRAY HAS ARRIVED

Rattray, who caught for Peterborough last year, and who will be behind the bat again here this season, arrived in the city to-day, ready to start the season. "Rat" caught for the Park nines on Saturday and says that he is as fit as possible.

Canon Farthing For Coadjutor?

A Rumour That He May Secure the Appointment.

Special to The Examiner.

Toronto, May 9.—There is a growing feeling in Aglican ecclesiastical circles here that Rev. Canon Farthing, M.A., of Woodstock, may be the choice of the diocese for the coadjutorship of the Toronto diocese to assist Bishop Sweatman. Canon Farthing has many warm friends in this diocese, who think he is well qualified for, and deserves, the position.

The reverend gentleman referrd to above is well known in Peterborough, where he has preached a number of times in St. Luke's church. His friends here would like to see him get the appointment.

First Visit In Over Twenty Years

Mr. D. Burnside Renews Old Acquaintances in the City.

Mr. Burnside, of Montreal, the eastern representative of the Hugh C. MacLean Co., Limited, publishers of the Commercial, the weekly financial, commercial and general trade newspapers of the West, has been in the city for the last few days interviewing the manufacturers in the interests of his journals. Mr. Burnside is an old Peterborough boy and is well known to many citizens, especially to the firemen, as he was during the early eighties a member of the brigade. This is his first visit to Peterborough in 20 years, and naturally he was impressed with the great progress and growth made during that time.

Archie Morton's Valuable Property

The stories of New Ontario, coming by mail, and other sources, are increasing. Mr. Archie Morton, who some time ago left Peterborough for New Liskeard, where he owns 160 acres of land, says that all the stories about the wealth and prosperity of that new country are warranted, and he is in a pretty good position to know. Mr. Morton has dropped into a pretty valuable property himself in that country. His 160 acres of land are located almost within the corporation of New Liskeard, and an adjoining property recently sold for $17,000, and in view of the fact that it cost practically nothing, it will be seen that this is a very good figure.

Mr. Morton, who was accompanied by Mrs. Morton, will remain here for a short time, and will return to the north, which he believes is a great country and destined to become still greater in the near future.

Mission Circle's Prosperous Year

Annual Meeting of Park Street Circle Held Last Night.

The annual meeting of Park Street Baptist Church Ladies' Mission Circle, was held last night and it was a most enthusiastic and hearty gathering. Miss Maggie Mann was elected president, Mrs. Robt. Wright vice-president; Mrs. T. G. Gillespie, treasurer and Mrs. Jos. Johnston, secretary.

In the absence of the president, the vice-president, Mrs. Wright, occupied the chair and after thanking the meeting for the honour of re-election, she called upon the pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace, to deliver an address. His text was the word "Circle" and divided it into three thoughts; first, "unity"; second, "the Circle's development" and third "the Circle's communion."

A quartette, "The King's Business" was beautifully rendered by Miss Nelly Pilling, Mr. Jas. Tranter, and Mr. and Mrs. John Rome. Mrs. Jos. Johnson read the secretary's report which said "We are pleased to report a very successful year. We have had three new members added to the roll and are looking forward to a much greater increase during this year. It is with sincere regret we have to mention the removal from our midst, one of our oldest and most faithful members, Mrs. Martin, who died after a long and trying illness, firmly trusting in Jesus. Mrs. Martin was a charter member of our Circle and her loss will long be felt and deeply regretted by each member who enjoyed the privilege of working with her.

"We have twenty-two members, have held eleven meetings during the year. The meetings have been made very interesting by the programme committee, Mrs. M. Mowry and the vice-president, who have the advancement of the circle at heart."

The treasurer reported that thirty dollars had been raised and equally divided between the Home and Foreign Boards.

Miss Maud Everson read a very excellent paper on Christian Stewardship or how to use the Lord's Money. Her arguments were scriptural and enforced with Divine authority. The personal question was facing any Christian "How much owest thou unto my Lord."

Choice refreshments were served and two sittings were necessary to accomodate the large crowd which was most encouraging to the workers.

Some Quick Deals In Peterboro' Real Estate

Property Was Placed on Sale on Friday and by 10 O'clock Saturday Morning Purchaser Had Paid Over the Money.

Property in Peterborough is moving pretty rapidly these days, and at the present rate it will be a matter of only a short time until there will be a genuine boom on.

An evidence of the rapidity with which property is being disposed of is furnished by the following:—On Friday, Mrs. Storts, who with her family is removing to North Bay, placed her property on Elm street, in the hands of a local real estate dealer, with instructions to sell it. On Saturday morning, when the bank opened Mrs. Storts received her money for the property, which had been sold in the interval.

Some two years ago Mr. Raymond Storts went to North Bay where he took a position with the C.P.R. Shortly afterwards his sister,, Miss Etta, went to the same town and took a position in one of the large stores there. To-day Miss Josie left to accept a position in the same store, and the other members of the family, it is reported, have positions waiting for them when they go. The whole family will, as soon as possible, move to the new metropolis of the north, which North Bay is rapidly becoming.

Gin Pills Cure Kidney Troubles.

OR YOUR MONEY BACK.

Read this letter from Mrs. Gargill. Has it not the ring of truth? Does it not describe your own sufferings? And does it not point the way to quick relief?

"For three years I suffered more than I can tell with terrible pains in the small of my back. When I stooped over, it seemed as though I would never be able to straighten up. I tried Kidney Pills for a year and a half, but was getting worse all the time, until advised by my neighbor to try "Gin Pills," as she had been almost similarly affected, and had been completely cured by them. I took three boxes of Gin Pills, and almost from the first dose I began to feel better. Now I am pleased to say I can do as good a day's work as ever in my life without feeling tired out. Before getting Gin Pills I had to have a girl to do my housework, but now I can do it all myself, including the washing. I will always recommend Gin Pills for kidney trouble.

"Mrs. GARGILL, Winnipeg, Man."

Don't suffer the agonizing tortures of Kidney Trouble. Don't let it run into dreaded Bright's Disease. Cure yourself now with Gin Pills—the pills that cure. Sold at all druggists on a positive guarantee that they cure or you get your money back. 50c box—6 for $2.50.

If you will write asking for it and tell us the paper in which you saw this we will send you a trial box of Gin Pills absolutely free. The Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg.

Hayes Assault Charge Caused Some Amusement

Considerable Evidence Was Heard—McWilliams, the Complainant, Was Badly Used by Somebody—Case Was Enlarged Until To-morrow Morning.

The case of Albert McWilliams' vs. William Hayes, was the attraction at the police court this morning, and there was a large attendance of railbirds, to whom the case was of more than usual interest. Much amusement was caused by the evidence of several of the witnesses.

Hayes was charged with having assaulted McWilliams on Friday night last. There was proof that McWilliams had been assaulted by some one. He came into court looking like the victim of a boiler explosion.

His story was to the effect that he was returning home on Friday night shortly after 11 o'clock. Near the home of Mr. Mitchell at Auburn, where he lived, two men rushed out from the shadow of a fence, and one of them, whom he said was Hayes, struck him in the face and knocked him down, whereupon the two had kicked him severely while he was lying down

Samuel Kennedy swore that he had seen Hayes near his place at 8.30 o'clock on Friday night.

William Connor swore that he had spoken to Hayes about his visiting his (witness') mother, and that the defendant had drawn a revolver on him. This was on Thursday night.

Timothy Hayes, brother of the defendant, was put in the box by the defence and swore that Hayes was home at fifteen or twenty minutes after nine on the night in question.

Hayes himself also gave an account of his movements on Friday night, and said that he had not gone any farther north than Brock street, and was home at the time stated by his brother.

The case was enlarged until to-morrow morning. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the complainant.

The charge against Mrs. Connors of using threats against Samuel Kennedy was dismissed. Mr. G. N. Gordon was counsel for the defendant.

New Clipping and Grooming Machine

Dr. Robinson Has Installed One of Latest Inventions.

Dr. F. L. Robinson, the Charlotte street Vet. and Liveryman, has just installed one of the latest inventions for clipping and grooming horses, which has yet been placed on the market.

The new machine is called "Priest's Power Clipping and Grooming Machine," and was manufactured by the American Sheaster Manufacturing Company, Nashua., N. H., U.S.A. It is run by a motor and contains two clippers which may be operated at one time. These may be easily replaced by two brushes at the wish of the operator.

The time required to clip a horse in the best manner possible with two operators is from fifteen to twenty minutes, and when used for grooming, two will turn out from twelve to fifteen per hour. By means of a balance arm the weight of the flexible shaft is taken from the hand and arm of the operator, so that freedom of motion and a large range are obtained

Dr. Robinson tested the new grooming machine this morning and says that it works entirely satisfactory. He has apportioned a separate room which he intends fixing up as attractively as possible.

The strength of the motor which was installed by Alexander and Miller, is 500 volts direct and capable of producing sufficient power for grooming purposes as well as for clipping. The total cost of the motor, machine and fixtures will be in the neighbourhood of $300.

Presbytery Held Special Session In Toronto

At Which the Ordination of Mr. A. Bright, Assistant Pastor of St. Paul's, Was Discussed—He Will be Given License to Preach—Springville Church Still Without a Pastor—Rev. J. A. Mackenzie Has Accepted Another Call—Other Matters of Interest Taken Up.

Special to The Examiner.

Toronto, May 9. — The Presbytery of Peterborough obtained leave of Synod to hold a special session today. There were present: Rev. A. E. Camp, B.A., Havelock, Moderator; Rev. D. A. Thomson, Hastings, clerk; and Rev. Messrs. William Beattie, Cobourg; A. K. McLeod, B.A., Brighton; A. C. Reeves, Campbellford; A. McKenzie, South Monaghan; E. F. Torrance, D.D., and J. G. Potter, B. A., Peterborough; G. A. McClellan, B. D., Norwood; D. D. McDonald, Keene, ministers; and Messrs. Sheriff Hall, and William Fowler, Peterborough, elders.

The matters of most importance to the city and vicinity were the consideration of the transfer of Marmora, the licensure of Mr. A. Bright, assistant at St. Paul's, and the call to Springville and Bethany.

Marmora and Beaver Creek have been congregations under the care of the Kingston Presbytery. By mutual consent, Kingston transfers, and Peterborough accepts, these congregations, which will be served by Rev. Jas. Fowlds, in conjunction with Cordova.

Communications from the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa, regarding Mr. A. Bright, states that the court will give leave to licensure at its present session. Presbytery decided therefore that the licensure of Mr. A. Bright to preach the gospel will take place at Port Hope, on July 10th. A memorial from St. Paul's and Knox churches anent the ordination of Mr. Bright, was tabled but action was deferred until after the July meeting of Presbytery.

A letter from Springville and Bethany to the Rev. John Mackenzie, B. A., a recent graduate of Knox College, was reproted, but a letter received from Mr. Mackenzie stated his regret in not being able to accept owing to acceptance of another call.

The matter was therefore not proceeded with, and the Moderator was given leave to call a minister as soon as the congregation is ready.

Leave was also granted to the congregation at Lakefield, to call a successor to Rev. C. A. Campbell, as soon as prepared.

A committee consisting of Revs. Dr. Torrance and J. G. Potter, and Sheriff Hall and William Fowler was appointed to consider the best method of raising the offertories for the mission schemes of the church.

Rev. Mr. Beattie reported the excellent work that is being done in Mill street church, Port Hope, by the Rev. A. B. Neller, and an appreciative resolution was passed.

At the meeting of Synod to-day Rev. J. H. Edmison, B.A., of Cheltenham, a former Peterborough boy, stirred the Synod to a high pitch of enthusiasm in connection with the augmenting of weaker congregations. The Synod pronounced in favour of a forward movement.

Royally Entertained The Local Officers

Three Staff Officers of the 57th Regiment in Brantford To-day—Make Preparations for the Visit of the Regiment to Telephone City for July 1st—Officers of 38th Dufferin Rifles Giving Them a Good Time To-day.

Special to The Examiner.

Brantford, May 10.—Three officers of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, are in this city to-day to-day making arrangements for the visit of that crack regiment to Brantford for Dominion Day. Those who are representing the eastern corps are Lt.-Col. J. W. Miller, Capt. Eastwood, Quartermaster, and Capt. Bennet. They arrived in the city this morning, and were met by Lt.-Col. E. D. Cameron, commanding officer of the 38th Dufferin Rifles of Canada, and Major Howard, with other officers of the regiment, who took the visiting officers for a drive around the city and entertained them very hospitably. They visited the armouries, which they greatly admired, and were taken to the exhibition grounds, where it is probable that the camp will be pitched when the regiment comes here.

It is proposed to have them remain here on Saturday night, June 30, and camp will be in readiness for the morn to turn in and have a few hours' sleep.

There will be the usual church parade on Sunday, in which the 38th Regiment will also participate, with its new bugle band, 40 members strong.

For Monday, July 1, a big programme is being prepared, details being yet in a state of preparation, but the local regiment states that they will give the 57th the time of their lives.

Canon Davidson For Coadjutor?

Toronto News Says He is Mentioned as a Probability.

The Toronto News of yesterday said:

We will be coadjutor to Bishop Sweatman!

This question is a live topic in Anglican circles, and will be settled at the annual meeting of the Synod of the Diocese of Toronto, which begins here on June 12th. Inasmuch as the constitution of the Church says that the coadjutor "shall be" the next bishop, the appointment of that official is attended with unusual interest and great importance. The selection of a coadjutor, therefore, in all human probability, means the appointment of a new bishop. The choice does not necessarily fall upon a clergyman within the diocese, and on occasions an outsider has been chosen.

The names of several gentlemen within the diocese are prominently mentioned in connection with the appointment. Among the Toronto clergy, Archdeacon Sweeny, Archdeacon Langtry, Canon Cody, Provost Macklem, of Trinity College, Canon Welch, and Canon Baldwin, are all mentioned. Outside of the city, the names so far mentioned in connection with the position are Canon Farthing of Woodstock; Canon Davidson, of Peterborough, and Principal Rigby, of the Port Hope College.

If the appointment remains within the diocese, the prevailing impression now seems to be that it will go to Canon Cody, should a Toronto representative be selected, and, in the event of it going outside the city, that Canon Farthing, of Woodstock, will be the choice.

No nominations will be made, and the synod and the representatives will vote independently by ballot. A majority of the votes cast is necessary to elect.

Tragedies Of One Day In The American Metropolis

What the Mail of One Day Tells of Suicides, Murders and Mysterious Deaths—A Horrible Tale of Crime as Recorded by the Stories of One Day in New York City.

One day's mail from New York tells the following stories of tragedies:

A DEEP MYSTERY.

Charles L. Spier, officer and director of numerous corporations and confidential man of Vice-President H. H. Rogers, of the Standard Oil Company, was shot dead early yesterday morning at his home in New Brighton, S. I. At first it was supposed that he had been killed by a burglar who escaped undetected, but investigation has disclosed so many puzzling and contradictory circumstances that there is a question whether Mr. Spier was not killed by a shot from his own revolver. The police pronounce the tragedy a mystery.

The disclosure last night of large life insurance just taken by the dead man may have some bearing. A month ago Mr. Spier made application to the agency of Daniel A. and John D. Boone, Times Building, for $75,000 insurance in the New York Life. There were two policies, one for $50,000 ordinary life, payable only in case of death, and the other for $25,0000, on the endowment plan. Examining physicians pronounced him in perfect health and a good risk.

DOUBLE MURDER.

John Whiteman, aged 70, and his son, George, aged 42, were proprietors of a roadside tavern, near Browntown, N.J., living in a small house, 200 yards away, where John's daughter kept house for them. Yesterday they were at the midday dinner and were seen about the hotel during the afternoon. When they did not appear for supper the daughter ran over to the tavern to call them. The door was closed, and as she tried to force it in, it appeared that a weight held it. She tried the windows and found them locked. There was an odour of burning wood about the place, and peering in through the window she saw a pile of charred wood in the middle of the barroom floor.

The girl called the neighbours and they helped her to force in the door. The weight that had held it shut was the bodies of her father and brother.

They were dead and their bodies were fearfully mutilated. Three razors lay on the floor and the handles which had been broken from them were scattered about the room in pieces. The barroom gave evidence of a fierce struggle on the part of the old tavern keeper and his son against their assailants. The chairs were overturned, tables broken and the glass of the bar scattered about.

SANATORIUM PATIENT'S DEATH.

The body of S. De Witt Burr, a wealthy citizen of Pawling, Duchess County, N.Y., who disappeared from Dr. A. J. Given's sanatorium, Stanford Hall, on April 25, was found hanging from a sapling in the woods near the sanatorium yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Burr was sent to the sanatorium for treatment for neurosis in November. His wife visited him frequently and his condition seemed to have improved so much that last week Mrs. Burr wrote to the sanatorium that she would take him home in a short time, and requested, they say, that he be given the freedom of the grounds. The request was granted and Mr. Burr was strolling about without an attendant when he disappeared.

SHOT HER SWEETHEART.

Miss Ethel Sturtevant, seventeen years old, who is charged with shooting her former sweetheart, Jesse Barden, near Lebanon, N.H. bought arsenic just before her mother's death in this city, three years ago. Dr. D. A. Dunn, of Brockton, who with the police investigated Mrs. Sturtevant's suspicious death, declared the girl's mother died with all the symptoms of arsenical poisoning, and that Ethel finally admitted that she bought an ounce of the poison "to kill rats," and hid it under the carpet in her mother's room. There the most of it was found.

"When I read of the Jessie Barden shooting my first thought was that the girl is the Ethel Sturtevant who used to live here," said Dr. Dunn to-day. I am glad she left Brockton. She sometimes came to my office and I was afraid of her. As a child her mind was abnormally developed.

DEAD IN BED.

Shrouded in mystery is the death from a revolver shot of young Howard Cary, a member of a prominent New York family of that name. He was found dead in bed at a Kensington boarding house, where he was stopping with his cousin, Lord Fairfax.

Although there is evidence pointing towards suicide his relatives and friends scout such an idea, and decide that the weapon must have been discharged accidentally. The coroner is not satisfied and is conducting a rigid investigation.

Another strange feature of the case is that the death was kept secret three days. The young man was found dead on Friday and it is only now that the public is hearing about it.

KILLED BY BURGLAR.

"I am confident that my husband was murdered by a burglar," said Mrs. Charles L. Spier yesterday in her Staten Island home.

"I can find no evidence that there was a burglar in the house," said Police Captain Hogan.

"There was not the least reason that Spier should commit suicide, and by close investigation I am convinced he was shot by an intruder," said Franklin Prentiss, Spier's brother-in-law.

"The wound could not have been self-inflicted," said Coroner Cahill.

The shooting of Charles L. Spier in his home at New Brighton, S. I., early on Monday morning, remains an unsolved mystery. His body will be laid in the tomb this afternoon in the Moravian cemetery at New Dorp. No post mortem examination will be made nor an effort to extract the bullet imbedded somewhere in his body, and thus an important clue will be hidden. The police maintain that with this bullet they might tell whether or not it came from the victim's own revolver, but the widow, supported by the coroner and the District-Attorney declines to permit the body to be mutilated.

His Lucid Answer.

From the Christian Advocate.

ONE DAY, as Pat. halted at the top of the river bank, a man famous for his inquisitive mind, stopped and asked:

"How long have you hauled water for the village, my good man?"

"Tin years, sor."

"Ah! How many loads do you take in a day?"

"From tin to fifteen, sor."

"Ah, yes! Now, I have a problem for you. How much water at this rate have you hauled in all, sir?"

The driver of the watering-cart jerked his thumb backward towards the river and replied:

"All the water yez don't see there now, sor."

How the Boy Fooled Them.

THERE is a good story told of a man who has become a most successful merchant. A few years ago he was employed as an office boy and messenger for a large firm. He was sent to collect an account from a firm which was considered very "shaky," and was told to get the money at all hazards. The debtors gave the lad a cheque for $250. He went to the bank at once to cash it, and was told by the cashier that there was not enough funds in to meet it.

"How much short?" asked the lad.

"Seven dollars," was the answer.

It lacked but a minute or two of the time for the bank to close. The boy felt in his pockets, took out $7, and pushing it through the window, said, "Put that to the credit of Blank & Co."

The cashier did so, whereupon the boy presented the cheque and got the money. Blank & Co. failed the next day.—Bamberg Herald.

Work without worry usually tends to prolong life. The evident moral is "don't worry"—advice easy to give, and in these days of stress and strain practically impossible to take. RESULTS COUNT.

Hon. Mr. Foster sat several days on a mare's nest endeavouring to incubate an immigration scandal, but without success. There was no revelation of wrong doing — the most in controversy was a matter of method. In immigration, as in other things, as a rule, the way that brings the best results, is the better way. The results of the Liberal administration of immigration matters have been eminently satisfactory, and very especially so in connection with past records. The Winnipeg Free Press, deals effectively with the points of the policy of Hon. Clifford Sifton, late Minister of the Interior.

It says this policy has brought into this country during the past five years a total of 521,489 immigrants of all classes, as follows:

From the United Kingdom	186,594
From the United States	182,729
From Continental Europe	152,166
Total	521,489

As against these figures, the total number of immigrants for the five years 1892-3-4-5-6, the last five years of Conservative rule, was only 117,063, as follows:

From the United Kingdom	86,051
From Continental Europe	31,032
Total	117,063

The official records of the Conservative Government show no immigration from the United States. Under Conservative rule the movement of population across the international boundary was southward, not northward. People were forsaking this country. How the Siftonian policy has changed all this is shown in the figures quoted above. To bring these figures down to date it requires to be stated that for the nine months of the present year — that is, from July 1st, 1905, to March 31st, 1906—for which the official figures have been issued, there has come into this country 85,749 settlers, as follows:

From the United Kingdom	37,576
From the United States	30,971
From Continental Europe	17,202
Total	85,749

In March, 1906, twice as many immigrants came into this country as in March, 1905. On one day last month there were no less than 704 carloads of settlers' effects at North Portal, waiting their turn to pass the government inspectors. Facts like these tell the story of the Siftonian policy of immigration, as does also the contrast in the records of homestead entries:

1891-2	4,738
1892-3	4,175
1893-4	3,568
1894-5	3,030
1895-6	1,888
1900-1	8,162
1901-2	14,673
1902-3	31,383
1903-4	26,078
1904-5	30,819

And it is a safe prediction that the homestead entries for this year will exceed in number those of any two years in the progress of the country.

Judged by its results, the Siftonian policy needs little defence, more particularly from the attacks of men like Hon. George E. Foster.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

By the new law, the tax on railways in Ontario is $100 per mile. This is indeed moderate in contrast with the tax on railways in States practically contiguous with this Province. In Michigan the railway tax is $400 per mile, in Illinois $418, in Indiana $458, in Ohio $468, in Pennsylvania $482, in New York $581, and in New Jersey $798 per mile.

If Provincial Treasurer Col. Matheson, the kindergarten financier, isn't too sore on the subject, it might be interesting, suggests the Galt Reformer, for him to know that the town of Galt has been successful in disposing of a $200,000 block of 4 per cent. debentures at par. The best Col. Matheson could get for 3 1-2 per cent. Ontario bonds was 90 net. Galt gets a net price of 99 for 4 per cent. for ordinary town debentures. What is the inference?

We colonies owe a great deal to the Mother Country, but Canada is slowly paying the debt. We owe our lives, under divine Providence, to the Mother Country, and are giving the Mother Country the means of sustaining life. We are the granary of the Motherland. We get our consitutional liberties from Great Britain, but we are making return Britain, but we are making returns by showing the way to make the best use of these liberties, to make the theoretical real. The Liberal Government of Great Britain is introducing legislation to dispense with plural voting—following the example of Canada—one man, one vote—giving the vote to the man, and not to his possessions, making manhood, not money, the standard of enfranchisement.

Bell Telephone Bill Considered Yesterday

The Application for Increased Capital Was Dealt With in Railway Committee at Ottawa—Municipalities Ask to Have Provision Inserted Protecting Their Rights—No Action Was Taken.

Peterborough is deeply interested in Mr. Jacques Bureau's measure, giving the Bell Telephone Company power to increase its capital stock from time to time to an amount not exceeding fifty million dollars. The present capitalization of the company is ten million dollars.

This bill was considered yesterday by the Railway Committee of the House of Commons, to which Ald. Elliott was appointed to represent Peterborough.

Reasons for the Increase.

Mr. Bureau, in explaining the bill, emphasized the fact that it was not the intention of the company to increase its capital stock to the limit proposed at once.

He said that nine million of the present capital stock of the company is paid up, leaving only a margin of one million dollars. The development plans of the company are extensive. During the present year the expenditure would be:—For new exchanges, $2,500,000; underground conduits, $900,000; long distance connections, $700,000; buildings, $400,000. The expenditure for the next ten years for the sub-stations would be $21,000,000; for underground conduits, etc., $23,000,000; for long distance connections, $11,000,000; a total for ten years of $55,000,000. The present investments of the company in Ontario are $5,500,000; Quebec, $4,500,000; Manitoba, $2,000,000. In Manitoba, the expenditure is 25 per cent. to 11 per cent. of the population, as compared with the other Provinces.

The Municipalities Heard.

There was considerable divergence of opinion as to whether the representatives of municipalities present should be heard before the question of increased capitalization was settled. Among those present, awaiting to be heard were Mr. Ethier, City Attorney, of Montreal; Mayor Coatsworth, of Toronto, and Ald. Dixon, of Hamilton.

Finally, Mayor Coatsworth, of Toronto, was called. He said the object of the municipalities was not so much to oppose an increase in the capitalization as to ask the Government to attach condition to the bill, necessary in the interests of Canada. When the company was incorporated, it was given rights to do as it liked with the streets of cities. These rights had since been confirmed by the Privy Council.

The company put down poles where it pleased, and would even tear up new sidewalks laid by the city. It also put wires where it desired, thereby affecting insurance rates. Mr. Coatsworth urged the committee to give the municipalities the right to control their own streets and highways.

An Amendment Proposed.

The demands of the municipalities were laid before the committee in the form of an amendment, moved by Mr. Kemp. This amendment asserts the absolute control of the municipalities over their highways so far as the local service is concerned, preserving the right to long distance systems, subject to the right of appeal to the Railway Commission in case of dispute, and also provides that no existing lines of poles shall be turned into conduits without the right of appeal to the Railway Commission.

The second clause asserts the rights of the municipalities to expropriate existing municipal systems as distinct from long distance services on fair terms.

At 1 o'clock the committee rose. The bill will come up again on May 17.

Orillia Follows Peterboro's Lead

And Grows at the Rate of 487 in Last Year.

Orillia, May 9.—The assessors have returned the assessment roll, and a splendid increase both in population and assessment is shown. The population is now 5,379, the largest in the history of the town, and an increase of 487 over last year. The total assessment of the town has increased almost $400,000. Last year it was $1,580,000, and this year it is $1,970,535. The increases shown on the roll were expected, as the town has been making great progress lately. While there is no boom, building has been brisk, the factories have been busy, and times have been good in every line of business. The outlook for the coming year is bright. Building began early, and several fine residences are already well under way. There will be a large number of houses built for rent also. The Y.M.C.A. are erecting a $20,000 building, and the Merchants' Bank is arranging for a fine three-storey block on Peter street.

Municipal ownership has had a great deal to do with the present prosperity. The town owns all public utilities, and besides selling electric power at the low rate of $16 a horse power, it gives light and water at equally low rates.

ASSAULTED LADY AND WAS FINED

On Tuesday afternoon Magistrates S. J. Fisher of Hastings, and John Thackeray of Roseneath, presided at a trial when Herbert Johnson was charged with assault. On Monday afternoon Johnson entered a residence on New street, and assaulted the lady of the house. The defendant was given the full penalty allowed by law, $20 and costs, $24.50 in all, or two months in jail with hard labour. The fine was paid. —Hastings Star.

Senator Cox's Association With Senator Jaffray

How, Together They Worked up the Midland Railway Into a Valuable Property—They Found a Struggling Road With no Connections and Made it a Railway Worth Millions.

The Busy Man's Magazine for May contains an interesting article on the life of Senator Jaffray, one of the newest additions to Canada's Green Chamber. In this article reference is made to his association with Senator Cox and tells how the two made a valuable property out of the Midland Railway. This portion of the article is as follows:—

His attainments in the realm of finance are due in a part at least to his association with Hon. Geo. A. Cox. In good or evil ways one thing leads to another. It was not luck that brough Geo. A. Cox and Robert Jaffray together in the management of the Midland Railway, then a small affair from Port Hope to Peterborough with a branch to Lindsay.

Sometime before this, how long it doesn't matter, Hon. George Brown had said to a friend and business associate whom he knew to be a friend of Mr. Jaffray, "Why don't you bring your friend Jaffray down? I would like to meet him." The request was complied with and the two Scots became and remained intimate friends. The Philadelphia Centennial brought to America a Scotch gentleman prominent at least in his own town, desiring a friend in Toronto he came on to Canada to see him, and a few leading Caledonians were got together to dine with him, among them Hon. George Brown and Mr. Jaffray. It came out in the course of conversation that Mr. Lyle, that was the visitor's name, had invested $6,000 in the bonds of the Midland Railway, and was much disappointed because it had never paid interest and there didn't appear much choice of saving the principal.

"A good property, but badly managed," declared Mr. Brown. "Why don't you get a good man on the board to look after your interests there? Jaffray, there is the kind of man you want."

Mr. Lyle wouldn't even go and look at the road, but the suggestion was not lost, for a year after a letter came from him stating that he and other bondholders were prepared to place to the credit of Mr. Jaffray and any one else he would select sufficient interest in the road to make them directors. Mr. Jaffray consented to undertake the task and decided his associate should be a Peterborough man. He did not know any one at Peterborough but he knew others who did. Mr. Cox was selected and within a day or two the matter was arranged. When they took hold they found many of the employes unpaid and things in rotten shape. Within a year the bonds that had been worth nothing were quoted at 50 per cent. of their face value, and the Scotch holders offered to sell out at that to their two Canadian trustees. Messrs. Jaffray and Cox said "No, we'll do better than that," and they did. Finally the road was absorbed by the Grand Trunk under a 99 years' lease.

The association of business interests between Messrs. Cox and Jaffray then established has been continued and has meant much to both of them. Probably there are not in Canada to-day two men of sounder judgement, keener business acumen or more industrious.

Of business and finance it only need be added that Mr. Jaffray is, since last month, vice-president of the Imperial Bank, after thirty years on the directorate; vice-president of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., director of the Toronto General Trusts Corporation, of the Canadian General Electric Co., and president of the Globe Company.

Easy to Let A Gold Run On

UNTIL IT DEVELOPS INTO PNEUMONIA OR CONSUMPTION—EASY TO CURE A COLD IF YOU USE

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

It is easy to let a cold run on. You may say with others that you always let a cold take care of itself. There is a danger of following this plan once too often. At this season of the year the lungs seem to be unusually susceptible to disease, and before you suspect it pneumonia or consumption has seated itself in your system. It is possible that you have tried the cough mixtures which druggists offer to ther customers. These may do well enough for slight colds, or tickling in the throat, but they are powerless in the presence of serious disease.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is far more than a cough remedy. It cures the cold as well as loosening and easing the cough. It takes the pains out of the bones, and reaches the very seat of disease when there is pain and tightness in the chest. It would not be too much to say that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has saved thousands of people from pneumonia and consumption. There is not a village or hamlet in Ontario where this famous family treatment has not recognized as a most unusually effective cure for croup, bronchitis, asthma, coughs and colds.

Mrs. R. D. Turner, Broadview, N. W. T., writes: "We have seven children and have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for every one of them and with good results. We get four bottles at a time and find it a good remedy to break up a cold on the lungs."

Don't take anything said to be just as good. There is no throat and lung remedy just as good as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Remember this when buying and insist on having Dr. Chase's; 25 cents a bottle. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Canal Officials Visited Lindsay

Improvements are to be Made on Several Bridges.

Saturday afternoon last a party of Trent Canal officials comprising Superintendent McMahan, Chief Engineer Grant and Overseer Gordon, spent a few hours in town. While here they inspected the dilapidated locks and dam, and took various measurements. We understand that work on substantial new structures to replace those will be commenced in the fall, and that the improvements to be carried out will include steel swings for Lindsay street and Wellington street bridges.—Lindsay Post.

Hastings Grows.

—According to the statistics of the village of Hastings there has been an increase of 32 in the population compared with that of 1905. The total value of taxable property is $193,368, a slight decrease. The population is given as 833.

They're Cheap.

—The fee of the Toronto Board of Trade has been raised to $200 a year. Lindsay's fee is $1, and yet the small membership would seem to indicate that a number of our citizens think the fee ought to be 50 cents or thereabouts.—Lindsay Post.

A Hastings Man.

—The Toronto papers of May 2 contained an account of the arrest of George William Potts of that city on a charge of bigamy and also that he is well known in Campbellford. Potts resided in Hastings about 16 years ago, being employed at the cheese factory.

The Rush For Baby Cabs.

—We have had to send for repeat orders of Go-carts and Go-carriers, for the reason that we have the best values in Peterborough. Our stock in medium-priced rigs, which sold so rapidly, is again complete, and we invite critical inspection. A. H. Burstton & Co.

"Won't Pay" Club.

—A large number of "we won't pay it" clubs have been established in different parts of Toronto. The members of the clubs promise, undertake and bind themselves not to pay 15 cents for case whisky, nor 10 cents for the "cooking" whisky, which the bar keepers are offering at three throws for a quarter.

A Good Medicine.

—The patient getting discouraged with his physician's treatment, asks his opinion of Dr. Roscoe's Rheumatic Remedy. He replies, "it is a good medicine but it would kill you." In his present condition he may as well be dead, so "kill or cure," he takes the medicine and is perfectly well in a few days. We have frequently heard this. 3eod

Larger Grounds.

—The directors of Percy Township Agricultural Society have found that the grounds are becoming too small for the patronage to fall fairs, and have purchased three additional acres of land from Mr. L. Humphries for the purpose of enlarging and improving the property. The racetrack will also be enlarged and repaired.—Journal.

Happy Warkworth.

—The map of the projected line of the Canadian Northern Railway from Toronto to Ottawa was fyled a few days ago in the office of the Railway Commission. The new road will be built between the C. P. R. and the G.T.R. lines, and we presume, by the map, will touch Warkworth. There will be a happy bunch of people in that burg.

Church Extensions.

—The Hastings Star says: We learn from a reliable source that St. George's (Anglican) church will build a new church during the coming summer, at a cost of about $4,000. It will likely be built on the south side of the river. An endeavour is also being made to enlarge the Methodist church, and a subscription for that purpose is at present being circulated.

Earthquake Interferes.

—It is considered likely that Dr. Jas. Allan and family will not spend the summer at Sturgeon Point, as intended. The destruction of San Francisco, where the doctor owned a great deal of property, has upset his plans. The work of enlarging and improving the residence he purchased last fall from Mr. Fremont Crandell, has been stopped, pending further orders.

Charge Against Hayes Dismissed

Two Assault Cases Formed To-day's Police Court Bill-of-Fare.

The charge against William Hayes of assaulting Albert McWilliams on Friday night last was dismissed at the police court this morning. Much evidence was heard in the case yesterday, and it was enlarged until to-day.

Thomas Parker was the only witness to-day. He could not say whether Hayes had brought his bicycle to be repaired on Thursday or Friday night. Hayes yesterday swore that it was on Friday night that he had taken the wheel to Parker.

The magistrate said that while he had a strong conviction in his own mind that Hayes was the man who committed the assault, in the face of the conflicting evidence he had no other course but to dismiss the charge.

A fine of $1 without costs on a charge of assault upon a kid trying to collect wages, was imposed. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the defendant.

BOY SEVERELY BITTEN BY DOG

Mrs. Kelly called at the police station to lay an information against McCollum Bros. She complained that a dog belonging to the defendants had bitten her boy in the wrist. The boy explained that he was picking up a ball when the dog rushed at him. The complainant wanted the dog destroyed.

Sunshine Furnace

The "Sunshine" furnace and "sunny" ways are synonymous.

The cold, dreary winter days can be made cheery and warm with a pure, healthful heat if you have a "Sunshine" furnace.

Is easier to operate, cleaner, uses less fuel and "shines" in many other ways over common furnaces.

Two shakers are used to shake the heavy, triangular-shaped grates. This just cuts the work of shaking-down in half, besides being easier on the furnace than the old one-shaker style.

Sold by enterprising dealers everywhere.

Rev. J. A. Wilson Building New Hamilton Church

Rev. J. A. Wilson, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Hamilton, has received a second letter from Hon. William Mortimer Clark, the Lieutent-Governor of Ontario, stating that he and his aide-de-camp, Captain Fraser McDonald, will be present next Saturday afternoon for the laying of the corner stone of the new St. Andrew's church, corner of Burton street and Smith avenue.

Rev. Mr. Wilson, it will be remembered, was a former associate pastor of St. Paul's church, in this city. His many friends here will learn with pleasure of the success which he is apparently meeting with in his work in the Ambitious City.

NIP IT IN THE BUD

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and in time falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

CAPTAINS CHOSEN COMPOSITE BRIGADE

The local companies which go to Cobourg this year as part of the Composite Brigade will be in command of Captains Bennett and McWilliams. Of the other four officers Capt. McLean as lieuteant and also Lieut. Wallace will accompany the local representatives. The Composite Battalion will in all probability spend the last four days at the Cobourg camp.

Nervous and Worried.

Mr. Archibald Sutherland, Principal South Bur School, Sydney, N.S., writes, "I was greatly troubled with nervous dyspepsia, and after meals I often felt like vomiting, and my stomach was sore. I was nervous and worried, frequently had headaches and shortness of breath. When several doctors failed I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has entirely cured me. I shall be glad to be the means of bringing this medicine to the notice of any one who is suffering as I did."

WHEY CARRIED A MILE TO HOG PEN

Messrs. Nathan Stabler & Sons, the local hog buyers, have a gang of men engaged at Buckhorn, in connecting up the huge tank they recently built about a mile from the Buckhorn cheese factory. From this factory 2 1-2 inch pipes are being laid to the tank, which holds about 30 barrels. The idea of the tank is that Messrs. Stabler have a huge hog pen in which are 180 hogs, and these animals are fed by the whey from the cheese factory, this and pea chop being one of the best known hog-fattenens.

They whey will be carried by the pipes to the tank from which, when required, it is drawn off into troughs and fed to the hogs. The large tank was necessary to store the whey for Sundays when the factory is closed.

The School Board And Aldermen Unite

To Disregard the Will of the People—Passed South Ward School Building By-law With Full Knowledge of Popular Opposition.

The School Board has triumphed, and now possessors of park lots are happy. The Board and the City Council have united to consummate an arrangement by which at least $45,000 of the people's money will be spent to build an unnecessarily large school in an out-of-the-way corner of the city, and to open streets to give access to it and, incidentally at the people's expense, to throw into the market a range of park lots—in some of which it is said, some members of the Board and City Council have an interest.

And this in defiance of the wishes of the people. There's not a single one of the two score and two members of these two bodies who does not know in his heart that, in voting for the bylaw, he voted in opposition to the wishes of the vast majority of the people. Members of the Board gloat over their success in outraging the will of the people; they boast that there was not a dissenting voice. 'Tis true, 'tis pity, pity 'tis, 'tis true.

Amongst the twelve Apostles there was found one man to betray his trust. That was not surprising; but it is surprising that among the twenty-two members of the Board and Council combined, there was not found one man to stand by the people—to recognize the rights of the people to be consulted, in the expenditure of the money which extreme application of technical legality forces them to contribute.

We need a new building in the South Ward, and we need extended and improved school accommodation in other parts of the city. But we require the school to be placed upon a proper site and to be of a size which the requirements of the occasion indicate as adequate.

There seems to be no reason, except some underlying reason, involving the serving of private interests, why a site should be selected which in addition to its other objectionable features involves the expenditure of some ten thousand dollars of the people's money to give access to it.

And that without thinking of consulting the people—all that was thought of was to bulldoze the project through without reference to the people—in defiance of the people.

While the extravagant expenditure and the obsessed site are outrageous enough, the crux of the School Board's and City Council's offence is the insulting disregard of the people who will have to pay.

If the people had been consulted and had "turned down" the proposition it would then have been soon enough for the authorities to have taken shelter behind their technical legal authority to raise a reasonable sum of money, for a building and site of a character indicated by what the people expressed by their votes.

It may have served the aims and interests of the members of the Board and Council to have passed the bylaw over the heads of the people, but it is establishing a dangerous precedent, and has aroused a popular temper which may in the future prejudice even larger interests than a school building and park lot exploitation.

If the people feel that their representatives are bound to take action in defiance of the people, then to teach them a lesson, the people when the occasion comes may administer that lesson.

The people may even reject, at the polls, members of these two bodies who may become candidates; that would not be an irreparable calamity.

But the time may easily and speedily come when some outstanding project of civic importance may compel consultation of the people. Then, piqued by the high-handed action of their representatives, as shown in their recent action, the people, in the temper aroused by the treatment received at the hands of their representatives, may use the occasion to teach the lesson that their wishes are not to be regarded with impunity, and the result may easily be disastrous to the public interests. Of course the people would be indirectly to blame, but the blame would largely rest upon the bodies who by insultingly ignoring the people, goaded them to reprisal in order to teach representatives a much needed lesson.

However, the mischief has been done. The School Board and City Council have sinned with open eyes. They were appealed to to reconsider their decision, but without avail—Ephraim was joined to his idols—park lots were weightier than principle.

The Board has won a temporary triumph, but time will vindicate the reasonableness of the contention of those who, while favouring the provision of reasonable school accommodation, advocated the adoption of more moderate measures of expenditure, who appealed for a consideration of the educational needs of other wards, who have done their duty by the people and towards the best interests of education in Peterborough.

"Me and Gott" methods will not thrive in the atmosphere of Peterborough.

Urgent Local Appeal To Practical Charity

The circumstances arising out of the railway accident of Wednesday by which the lad, Willie Taylor, had both legs crushed off, and the attendant conditions constitute a state of affairs that very directly and urgently appeal to the practical sympathy and Christian charity which the sufferings and needs of humanity evoke.

Briefly told the circumstances are; the father of the family is an invalid suffering cruelly from an incurable disease — cancer—a sober, steady and industrious man, when he was able to work. The family consists of eight children of which the lad, Willie, the eldest, was the chief bread winner, the only bread winner, except a younger brother who earns a matter of a dollar or two a week. The earnings of these two and the occasional earnings of the mother from washing, who, it may be fancied with the care of a sick husband and six or seven children, can spare little time from her home duties, are all that is available to maintain, feed and clothe a family of ten, including an invalid father who in addition requires medical attendance, medicines and dietary comforts.

Now, by the terrible accident to the eldest boy, by which he was crippled for life, the chief and almost only source of supply is cut off.

This is a surely pathetic case which keenly appeals to our best impulses. We contribute to the suffering of other lands, to the destitute San Francisans, to the starving Japanese, and starving Russian Jews; but the claims of those of our own household—of our fellow citizens, of our neighbours, whose need is as great, or perhaps greater than many of those mentioned, specially demand our help and specially and directly appeal to those of us in happy homes, where our children are well fed and clothed and where health and plenty abound, and who are in a position to give of our abundance where the need is so great.

It is suggested that this is a case in which the contributions of citizens can well be forthcoming. Therefore the Examiner announces its willingness to receive contributions and Mr. Geo. Cochrane, Agent of the Children's Aid Society, in whose integrity and discretion the people have every confidence, will undertake the judicious distribution of whatever funds may be offered. His familiarity with such work especially selects him as custodian of the fund proposed.

Mr. Caldwell Says No Agreement Made

Inventor of Caldwell Lightning Auger Bit Writes a Letter —Says He Made no Agreement With Rapid Tool Company—Mr. Hay Produces the Document and Insists the Company Has Right to Manufacture the Bit.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The statement in the Examiner of May 8th regarding Peterborough's new industry, Rapid Tool Company, with its excellent prospects may sound very well, but I hope it wont influence people to buy stock in the Company with the idea they are to make The Caldwell Lightning Bits with my approval.

To be frank and honest with the public I would advise them before buying stock to make them prove they have secured the sole right to manufacture under his patents, or whether they are attempting to carry out their threat to manufacture without me or my patents. For your own sakes investigate carefully and when you get through ask yourself if Caldwell has given them the sole right by signing an option of agreement giving them a certain time to do certain things, no not much, before a company was organized, Caldwell after consulting his lawyers notified them the agreement had expired and would not consent to be bound any longer by same, and now to Caldwell's surprise he is supposed to be a party to this Rapid Tool Company. I wonder how rapid it will be, or if Caldwell is going to get any stock in it, if so, and the directors named are going to control or manage it, Caldwell would be pleased to sell his stock for 50 per cent. on the dollar or less, although if it had been formed with his approval and the goods made under his supervision it would have been difficult to buy it for less than $5.00 inside of 12 months.

It may be well to add that I have not made any assignment of any patents to said Company and it may take a little more preliminary work before I do, as I would require to know something about the prospectus, the bylaws, the charter, the directors, the financial standing of the Company, ability of the parties to superintend or make the goods right, in fact all about it, whereas at present I know nothing about it, but I am in hopes some day of manufacturing a better bit which their agreement has no reference to whatever and if I can get capitalists here or elsewhere to take stock without wanting it all I would be pleased to have the same Company make a good many of my patents and no doubt we could soon have a very large industry and be the instigation of a great deal of money coming here instead of going to the States and give the people a better article for less money.

But, perhaps, before I can get the money to make the goods here I will have to get a Yankee to stand it, then they'll tell the Canadians how may hands they'll employ, get the money for 7 per cent., get a big bonus, save the duty, and for convenience use the Canadians to do the hard work at low wages, fill their pockets once or twice a year with cheques from leading wholesales, go back to the States and start a few more industries, making millions while the Canadians have the money in the bank for safe keeping, getting 3 per cent. Consequently most of the large industries in Canada are run by Yankees and the profits go to the States while the Canadians wonder why there is no money in Canada to do anything with. If all the inventors get the same treatment and difficulty in starting a Company on a good sound basis as I've had its not surprising that the States prosper. Considering that patents are generally the first starting point for most of those large, prosperous concerns. There were millions made from the gimlet and pointed screw patent, and there is no reason why we should not expect similar results from the Caldwell Screw Patents it started right.

Yours, etc.,
J. W. CALDWELL.

Mr. G. L. Hay, one of the incorporators of the Rapid Tool Company was seen to-day after the letter was handed in, and reiterated his statement made on the previous occasion, that he had an agreement with Mr. Caldwell which gave the Company the right to manufacture the Caldwell Bit, and showed the agreement to the Examiner representative.

HOW THE BUYER KNOWS

He Can Look in the Pocket for the Label That Spells Certainty.

Fifty Semi-ready stores, nearly all established within the past few years, is a potential proof of the rapidity with which a really great idea is accepted in Canada. Every store has been successful beyond the expectations of the founders. The "Semi-ready," trademark and one price protect the buyer and the maker against the cheating of those who had made the clothing business a bye-word. Semi-ready labels are the hall-mark of both style and merit.

In this city and district exclusive franchise for the sale of Semi-ready clothing is held at Cressman's.

OPPOSED TO EXEMPTIONS TO THE MANUFACTURERS

The Trades and Labour Council is decidedly opposed to the system now in vogue of giving exemptions and fixed assessments to manufacturers and companies. At the regular meeting last night this matter came up for discussion, and was talked up at considerable length. Most of the members present gave their views on the subject, and all strongly condemned the granting of such privileges, both on the part of the Government and also by municipalities. They argued that such a course was an injustice to the taxpayers, who bore the burden of the taxes. It was pointed out that the school taxes, which some manufacturers pay, did not anywhere near pay for the education of the families of their employees. No resolution was passed, but there was no doubt as to the feelings of the members on the matter.

Several other questions were also discussed by the Council last night. The proper weighing of coal, so that the people might be sure they were getting all they were paying for was considered, and the Council is endeavouring to obtain some information along this line. Another matter talked of was the inspection of milk. It was felt that something should be done to try and arrive at a better state of affairs in regard to the milk supply.

Auburn Scene Of Small Fire

Woollen Mills Private Pumps Were of Great Assistance.

The fire-fighting apparatus of the Auburn Woollen Mills were used to good advantage yesterday afternoon, when fire broke out in some outbuildings at "Auburn," the residence of Mrs. (Hon.) Robert Hamilton. The nearest hydrant was too far away to be of any use in fighting the fire, but Mr. Kendry, manager of the Auburn mills came to the rescue, and offered the use of the company's private pumps.

The fire brigade attached some 1500 feet of hose to the pumps and in a short time had water playing on the flames, which were extinguished before much damage was done. The fire was confined to some sheds, and henhouses. The barns, stables and other out-buildings were saved.

WEDDING BELLS

WARBOY—McCRACKEN.

In Havelock yesterday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, the residence of Mr. James McCracken was the scene of a pretty wedding, when his daughter, Annie, was united in marriage to Mr. George Warboy, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Caplan, in the presence of a large number of friends of the contracting parties. The bride was dressed in white mull trimmed with lace and insertion, and was attended by her two little sisters, Olive and Edna, as flower girls, who were dressed in white silk and carried baskets of flowers. The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Warboy, after the wedding breakfast, left on the afternoon C.P.R. express for Peterborough, where they will reside at 384 Murray street. The bride's going-away dress was of blue lady's cloth with hat to match.

KINGDON—JOHNSTON.

A quiet wedding was celebrated last night at the residence of Mr. James Johnston, Stewart Settlement, Otonabee, when his daughter, Miss Ella Johnston, was united in marriage to Mr. Orville Kingdon, Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Lewis, of the Mark street church in the presence of a few intimate friends.

The bridesmaid was Miss Mildred Johnston, sister of the bride, while the best man was Mr. Noble Johnston, the bride's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Kingdon will reside in Peterborough.

STEAMER "WATER LILY" MADE FIRST VOYAGE TO-DAY

The newly remodelled excursion steamer Water Lily makes her first trip to-day, leaving her wharf at 3.45 o'clock p.m. She will leave Harvalls with a cargo of timbers for the construction work going on at the falls. The new steamer presents a very pretty appearance on the water and is highly complimented on her steadiness and safety. Government Inspector Davis was loud in his praises of the safety of the Water Lily model, and assurances are given the public that the steamer will carry the limit, 225 passengers, with perfect comfort and security.

On Saturday the Water Lily commences her regular Saturday morning market trips from Rice Lake to Peterborough. She will leave Harwood at 6.45 a.m., and call at Gore's Landing, Jubilee and other river points. Returning, she will leave Peterborough at 3.30 p.m. Further particulars and outline of summer service will be given next week. Capt. White is deserving of credit for the enterprise he has displayed in providing a speedy lake and river steamer of a modern type upon the Otonabee River and Rice Lake waters. The public will be pleased to see him meet with success in his undertaking.

Navigation On The Otonabee

The Present Season's Prospects Look Promising.

The prospects for an excellent season in traffic on the Otonabee River and Rice Lake are very promising. The farmers in that district are now chiefly sending their grains and other farm products by boat instead of hauling them into the city on wheels.

Wharves are being built at different points along the steamboat route, thus making the facilities for loading and unloading better.

Saturday visitors to the city from the shores of Rice Lake have now begun to arrive in large numbers since the opening of navigation last week. The Rainbow and Water Lily will be engaged in this work during the summer so that the benefits to the city by these two steamers will be considerable.

Yesterday the steamer Rainbow brought up a scow load of hogs from Rice Lake for the Geo. Matthews Company containing some very fine specimens. The Water Lily as mentioned in another column left to-day with a load of lumber for Healey's Falls.

The navigation season is therefore in full swing with bright prospects for a good season.

LITTLE BELL BIOGRAPHIES

J. Haydn

FRANCIS JOSEPH HAYDN, born at Rohrau 1732, died at Vienna 1809, was another of the 18th century musicians who became famous in their 'teens. His name is inseparably and popularly linked with that of George Frederick Handel in that mode of dramatic music called Oratorio. Handel is the composer of the incomparable "Messiah," and Haydn of the equally incomparable "Creation." This oratorio, written in his 60th year, is to-day as popular as 100 years ago.

Haydn's compositions comprise almost every form of vocal and instrumental music, yet his chief distinction is not in oratorio. His rank in the musical world is determined by his service to instrumental music. He fixed the form of the sonata and symphony which Beethoven (who called him "Papa" Haydn) perfected in beauty and expressiveness, for one thing substituting the light, gay Scherzo for Haydn's stately Minuets. As the musical father of Beethoven, Haydn is perhaps justly styled the father of classical instrumental music.

For the piano he composed 44 sonatas. The wonder is how in those days of the harpsichord, clavier and spinet—small and thin-voiced instruments—the composers could conceive and write sonatas the beauties of which could be revealed only by some such perfect instrument as

Hon. Mr. Ross Debating On The Power Bill

Liberal Leader's Vigorous Onslaught On Government Policy

GAS CLAUSE IS ELIMINATED

Power Company Offers Cheap Rate to Commission — Many Third Readings In Legislature—Invitation to Their Majesties by Parliament to Visit Canada Endorsed — Railway Votes — The Estimates.

Toronto, May 10.—A rush of business yesterday indicated the closing hours of the session of the Legislature, and after 11 o'clock last night Premier Whitney made a statement of railway policy and brought down the supplementary estimates.

Beck's Power Bill.

Besides routine business there was a lively debate on Hon. Mr. Beck's electric power measure.

Hon. Mr. Ross' criticism of the bill was chiefly directed against the power given the commission to expropriate the property of the electric power companies. He objected that the commission was a political body. There were twofold objections to the raising of money by the Government for the municipalities, which should float their own debentures, and whereby the Government might be deeply involved; nor should the expenditure be chargeable on the consolidated fund. He doubted that advantage would be taken of the act, and thought time should be given to see how the act of 1903 would work. The overriding of the Conmee act by the Province would be unpardonable, and he believed the effect of the measure would be to restrain enterprise. He desired to see cheap power, but not at the sacrifice of principle.

Other Speakers.

Mr. Preston (Brant) did not agree with Hon. Mr. Ross on all points, one of his suggestions being that the Government should build the main transmission lines, or contribute one-third of the expenditures which the municipalities might be called upon to undertake. Hon. Mr. Beck and the Premier vigorously defended the bill. The former said that one company at Niagara Falls had already offered to sell to the commission power at $11 per horsepower, and the latter again emphasized the point that the Government expected to be able to make arrangements whereby the drastic clauses of the bill would not have to be put into effect.

No Control of Gas Companies.

The bill was amended in committee by the elimination of all references to gas companies, and by providing that two members of the Government may be and one shall be a member of the commission.

Mr. McDougall's motion that the Legislature join in Parliament's invitation to the King and Queen to visit Canada was withdrawn by that gentleman, who understood that the Premier intended to move such a resolution. Mr. McDougall thought it would be more fitting that the Premier should do so, and that Hon. M. Ross should second it.

Invites the King.

The Premier accordingly moved, seconded by the leader of the Opposition, a resolution to the effect that the House anticipated with satisfaction the possible visit to Canada of the King and Queen, and earnestly hoped that their Majesties might be pleased to accept the invitation of Parliament to do so. The resolution requested his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor to transmit the expression of the House to the Governor-General, with the hope that his Excellency would ask the Colonial Secretary to lay it before the King and Queen. The resolution was carried amidst heartiest applause.

This Bill Was Withdrawn.

The Attorney-General withdrew his bill to amend the Ontario Companies' Incorporation Act. He said the act respecting prospectuses provided for what was aimed at by the bill.

Third Readings.

Respecting the City of Ottawa (McDougall); respecting the Toronto Free Hospital for Consumptives (Crawford); to consolidate the debt of the Town of Wallaceburg (Bowyer); to confirm bylaw 544 of Town of Picton (Currie); respecting the hospital for epileptics (Hanna); to amend the act respecting lunatics asylums and the custody of insane persons (Hanna).

By an amendment suggested by W. H. Cross, Government examiner of York Loan affairs, and incorporated in the Statute Law Amendment Act by the Attorney-General, directors of loan companies are held responsible for the accuracy of returns made to the Government by their officials.

The Municipal Drainage Act was declared "carried on division" on its third reading.

Mr. Ross promised to divide the House on the Education Department bill and the third reading was delayed till Thursday.

Mr. McNaught intimated that he had an amendment to the act to regulate motor vehicles, and this was also laid over.

Subsidies to Railways.

At a late hour last night Premier Whitney announced the policy of the Government with respect to railway subsidies. Two railways will receive money grants. It has been decided to make a grant of $3,000 a mile for 25 miles of the Bruce Mines and Algoma Central Railway, commencing at a point 13 miles north of Bruce Mines and running to the copper mines.

A grant of $5,000 a mile will be made to the Canada Central Railway Co., or any other company that will do the work for a railway from Little Current to the railhead, 13 miles north of Sudbury.

There would be no other railway grants, the Premier said. The necessary legislation would be introduced today.

The Supplementaries.

The supplementary estimates of the Provincial Treasurer were introduced last night. They call for an expenditure of $662,950.46, which added to the main estimates, make a total of $6,288,-293.61. There are items for increases of salaries of officials overlooked in the first draft, and provision is made for several new officials made necessary by legislation just adopted. The superintendent of education to be named will receive $3,500 a year, the half-year salary being put in at $1,750. A provincial chemist calls for $1,100; an additional drainage referee for half-year, $1,250; inspectors of cheese factories, $2,500, while various new officials are to receive lesser sums.

William Sherring, the Marathon hero, is granted $500 for shedding lustre over this part of the realm, and numerous gratuities amount to $10,000. And Queen's is not forgotten. There is a grant of $50,000 for the medical faculty of Queen's College for the promotion of medical education; the art school at Hamilton gets $2,000, and the Niagara Historical Society $500.

Boston, May 10.—District Attorney Moran yesterday announced his intention of summoning before the grand jury the entire membership of the Massachusetts Legislature in connection with charges of bribery recently made over the defeat of the anti-bucket shop bill in the House of Representatives. Already summonses have been issued for seventy-five members of the general court.

Alberta Legislature Prorogues.

Edmonton, Alta., May 10.—The Alberta Legislature prorogued yesterday. Seventy-seven bills were passed. The Premier and Minister of Public Works will visit Ottawa in two weeks, regarding irrigation. The province wants the control of streams. Premier Rutherford estimates that there will be a quarter of a million surplus from revenue at the end of the fiscal year.

Furnace Exploded and Man May Die.

Montreal, May 10.—The furnace in Ethier's dry goods store at St. Catherine and Iberville streets, exploded yesterday and one man was so badly burned that he may die. The explosion set fire to the store and damage to the extent of $30,000 was caused before the firemen got the blaze under control.

Increase in Insurance Rates.

Chicago, May 10.—Fire insurance rates in Chicago on all less desirable risks will be advanced 25 per cent. or more to reimburse companies that have suffered loss in the San Francisco fire. At the same time there will be a large reduction in brokers' commission.

U. S. Senator Gorman Dying.

Washington, May 10.—Senator Arthur P. Gorman of Maryland is critically ill at his home in this city. His sickness began several months ago with an attack of the grippe. He is suffering from a complication of ailments, which give no promise of his recovery.

For Highway Robbery.

Waterloo, May 10.—Clayton Hallman and Irving Wanner of Berlin, accused of highway robbery, were found guilty. The latter was sentenced to eighteen months in the Central and Hallman was allowed suspended sentence.

A Daring Hold-up Near Kamloops Of C.P.R. Express

Imperial Limited Train Robbed By Masked Trio.

AFTER FRISCO REMITTANCES

Although Thieves Confined Their Operations to the Mail Car the Most Valuable Letters and Express Matter Escaped the Robbers — Big Rewards Offered For the Taking "Dead or Alive" of Bandits.

Victoria, B. C., May 10.—Three masked train robbers, whose leader is believed to be Bill Miner, the organizer of the Mission City hold-up of two years ago, Tuesday night held up the Canadian Pacific transcontinental express No. 97 (the Imperial Limited) nine miles westward of Kamloops, compelled the driver to bring up the train and then run the uncoupled combination mail and express car several miles further.

Then it was deliberately ransacked, although to little purpose, as only seven registered letters, all for Victoria, were taken. Several packages piled on a shelf in the car were carelessly tossed aside, the leader of the trio making particular inquiry for San Francisco registered matter. The discarded packages, however, contained upwards of $40,000 in gold and bank notes. The very carelessness of the treatment accorded by the express hands proved their salvation.

Big Rewards For Capture.

The robbers evidently feared to lose too much time and abandoned their search upon learning that the through express matter was not in the car they had captured.

They took horses at the point at which the train had been drawn for overhauling and fled to the southward.

A posse of 100 cowboys and Indians, with police, are in pursuit and hope to overtake the party before they can reach the border. The C. P. R. has offered $1,000 reward for each, or $5,000 for the three robbers, which offer is supplemented by a Dominion Government reward of $1,000 for all and a provincial reward of $500 for each robber, all being payable "dead or alive."

The railway people believe that the band have a cabin in the mountains, well stocked, to which they will make and the location of which it will be difficult to discover.

How It Was Done.

It is supposed that the robbers boarded the locomotive tender while the train was on the siding at Kamloops, keeping concealed until the train was running west. Then, at about 11 o'clock, the driver happened to look forward toward his train and found himself gazing into the muzzle of a revolver, held by a masked stranger.

Two others appeared from the coal stores simultaneously.

In obedience to their orders the train was stopped and the engine then ran on with the coupled mail car.

A big package of dynamite was brought by the gang, for the evident purpose of breaking the express safe. Discovering that the stolen car did not contain the safes the party abandoned it with oaths.

Bill Miner Recognized.

During the search of the car the mask slipped from the face of the robber leader, an elderly man, and he was recognized by Mail Clerk Thorburn as the identical man who held up the express at Mission City on Sept. 2, 1904. Thorburn was in charge of the mails on that occasion.

The desperado, Bill Miner, lost sight of since the Mission City job, the first and only railway hold-up in Western Canada history.

Naval Officer Dies On Train.

Port Huron, Mich., May 10.—While en route to his home in England, Lieut. Walter S. Green of H.M.S. Flora of the British navy, died on a Grand Trunk train, just before it reached here from the west Tuesday night. His remains will probably be buried in Sarnia.

Aid For B. C. University.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

Thousands of women suffer untold miseries every day with aching backs that really have no business to ache. A woman's back wasn't made to ache. Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to help her bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Hours of misery at leisure or at work. If women only knew the cause. Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause in the world.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it's not to be wondered that they get out of order. Backache is simply their cry for help.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

will help you. They're helping sick, overworked kidneys—all over the world—making them strong, healthy and vigorous. Mrs. P. Ryan, Douglas, Ont., writes: "For over five months I was troubled with lame back and was unable to move without help. I tried all kinds of plasters and liniments but they were no use. At last I heard tell of Doan's Kidney Pills and after I had used three-quarters of the box my back was as strong and well as ever."

Kingston For The Permanent Camp

Will be in Cobourg for This Year Only.

The Kingston people are rejoicing now. The military camp is to be taken away for one year only. This is what the Whig says:—

Kingston is to lose the military camp only for this year, according to the Minister of Militia, who has written as follows to Hon. William Harty, M.P.:

"For the present year it will be necessary to hold the camp at a place where there is a good rifle range. I made a short answer the other day to a question in the house, and took every care to state that the change was only temporary, and that so soon as a rifle range was constructed at Kingston the camp would return there. I write you now to assure you that it is our intention to construct the rifle range before the next camp."

Thus Kingston is to have a rifle range and the camp, likely for good. This was the information given by Mayor Mowat to the city council last evening. The mayor reviewed the rifle range question, and read the letter which Hon. Mr. Harty placed at his disposal. The only reason for the removal of the camp this year was because the military council wished the volunteers to have a good chance to practice shooting. Next year Kingston will have a range that will meet all requirements.

Synod Discusses The Mission Fields

An Appeal Made on Behalf of the Rich Mining Fields of North Hastings—Incidents of the Meeting of the Synod in Toronto Yesterday.

An increase in the augmentation fund of the Presbyterian church, stationary conditions in the Sunday school enrollment, favourable conditions in the aged and infirm ministers' fund, were among the matters discussed at the annual meeting of the Presbyterian Synod of Toronto and Kingston, held in Knox church yesterday.

One of the most prominent features of the day's proceedings was the discussion elicited by Rev. S. Childerhose's remarks upon the subject of liquor licenses issued in New Ontario, in contravention of what was believed to be Secretary Hanna's promise to issue no more licenses in that district.

The afternoon sederunt was occupied with the topics of home missions and church life and work. The report of the Committee on Home Missions was presented by the Convenor, Rev. J. A. Dow of Gravenhurst. Steady and persistent progress had marked the year, several new fields having been opened up, and several others raised to the status of augmented charges. The aggressive work in the Cobalt region was mentioned. The church was ready for the great rush that was expected this spring.

The adoption of the report was moved by Rev. E. W. MacKay of Madoc, who pleaded for the older fields, especially mentioning the rich mining districts of North Hastings, in the Presbytery of Kingston, and declaring the need of the spirit of sacrifice as the essence of Christianity and the rich prospects of present investments of church activity in that district.

The property formerly owned by the McClellan Coal Co., and prior to that by M. Carton, has been purchased by A. Low, of Toronto, and S. It is understood that the property, which fronts 61 feet on Simcoe street, and extends 192 feet back on Bethune street, was sold for $5,000. The new purchasers have formed a partnership and will carry on the business of buying and selling rags, old metal, etc. They will open for business in a few days.

THE CARPET FACTORY PLANS PROGRESSING FAVOURABLY

Plans for the erection of the new Carpet Factory, according to Mr. Preen, are proceeding satisfactorily, and it is expected that in the course of a short time they will be in such shape that tenders will be asked.

The company is anxious to get the work pushed along as rapidly as possible but the architects have so much work on hand that it is difficult to undertake any rush jobs. Every effort will be made to have the buildings completed this summer.

I noticed in your paper some days ago that the police intended to keep a sharp eye on the dogs running around the street minus tags. Now, Mr. Editor, don't you think it would be a wise act on their part to also have a vigilant eye on the thieves who have been continually taking tags off other people's dogs? I bought a tag this spring and in a few days it was gone. I do not feel like buying another nor do I care to be fined and I think it a good idea for the police to chase up the crooks and lay aside further trouble with the matter.

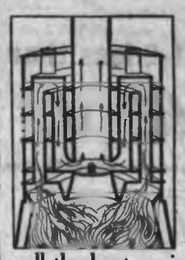
BISON FURNACE

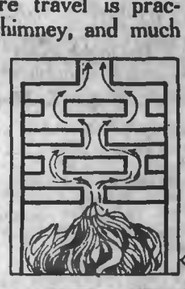


Twice as much heating surface is covered by the fire in a Bison Hot Water Furnace as in any other.

The flames are drawn up through the side flues, then down and to the chimney through the middle flue.

Burns all the gas and traps all the heat against the top section.

In other furnaces the fire travel is practically a direct one to the chimney, and much valuable heat escapes, the important top section getting less than any of the others.



The Bison has more good heating points than all other heaters combined.

St. Luke's Reports A Successful Year

Adjourned Vestry Meeting Was Held Last Night When Financial Statement Was Presented—The Receipts Last Year $3021.34--Rector's Services are Appreciated

A large number of members of St. Luke's church were present in spite of the inclement weather, at the adjourned vestry meeting last night.

The Rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, was in the chair, and opened the meeting with reading of the Scriptures and with prayer. He then gave his annual address in which he made some observations on the year's work. One hundred and six Sunday services, and 59 week day services were held and the Holy Communion was celebrated in public 54 times and in private 21 times. Five hundred and thirty-nine adults and 230 children are on the church register, of which 372 adults are confirmed; 31 infants and 8 adults were baptized; 48 were confirmed; 18 marriages were solemnized, and 19 persons were buried. The Rector preached during the year 189 sermons and gave 69 Bible readings or addresses; and paid 931 parochial visits. With regard to the various societies he commented on their work and expressed his hearty appreciation of the many token of zeal in the work for the Master.

The Rector's Warden presented his report in which he thanked the congregation for their hearty co-operation with the Wardens, and their ready and hearty response to all appeals made. The prosperity of the congregation was in no small degree do to the rector, who has never failed the sick or the afflicted, of which there have been many, and who has materially aided in the finances by keeping in touch not only with St. Luke's people, but with many others who are often seen at St. Luke's.

Mr. Warde commented upon the harmony and good will of the congregation, one towards another, for which St. Luke's was noted.

It was moved by Mr. Warde that Colonel J. Z. Rogers be appointed a member of the advisory committee.

The auditors' report was read by Mr. Jamieson, reporting the books, accounts and statements of the officers and wardens of the church, to be correct. The auditors congratulate the congregation on the improved financial condition of the church.

Then proceeded the reading of the following reports:

For the Sunday school, by Mr. T. H. Adams.

For the Men's Guild, by Mr. A. Kingdon.

For the Bible class, by Mr. P. Crane.

For the Woman's Auxiliary, by Mrs T. Garkins.

For the Girls' Auxiliary, by Miss Isabel Hay.

For the P.M.C. Collectors, by Mrs. L. Turner.

For the Mothers' Guild, by Mrs. J. Strain.

No reports were given by the Mission Band or the Chancel Guild, the officers not being present.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Walter Wesley for his valuable and efficient services as choir leader, regret being expressed at his resignation.

Votes of thanks were passed to the various societies, the choir, organist and sexton.

Mr. Pratley moved and Mr. R. B. Rogers seconded a motion that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered the press.

Upon motion of Mr. Warde, seconded by Mr. R. B. Rogers, a cordial vote of thanks was tendered the rector for the faithful discharge of his duties.

A committee of the Sunday school and Bible class was appointed, to confer upon the advisability of holding a combined picnic during the summer.

The rector tendered his thanks to his lay readers, especially to Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., for the great assistance received during the year. He also thanked the Wardens, Mr. F. Adams, for his business like and admirable financing of the church's affairs, and to Mr. Warde, his own warden, for his loyalty and support of him.

The total receipts of St. Luke's from all sources during the year amounted to $3021.34.

After the singing of the doxology, and the benediction pronounced by the rector, the meeting adjourned.

HIGH PRICE FOR DRINKS MAKES FEWER DRUNKS

Chief Rorke states that the increase in the price of drinks has worked a marked reform, at least a temporary one, because during this week he has hardly seen a drunken man.

His only fear is that it may not continue, and that the reform which he has noticed during the last few days, may not last much longer. In any event he thinks that the effect has been good, so far, and if the improved condition is lasting, it will be a good thing that the hotelmen took the action referred to, that of making those who crave for liquid refreshments, pay more for satisfying that thirst.

CITY MAY SECURE THE DREDGED MATERIAL

The question of the disposal of the dredgings from the Otonabee River, made by the operations now being carried on there was not settled yesterday, when Mr. Merrick, the engineer from the Public Works Department, was here reporting on behalf of the department on the difference in cost of depositing the material in Little Lake, and on the city's property. He will report to the chief engineer of the department, and it is expected that his report will be one favourable to the contention of the city, that it can be dumped on its property as cheaply as to haul it to the lake.

Mr. Merrick was known around the world by Ald. Hicks, chairman of the Board of Works, and the city engineer.

1906 A BANNER YEAR FOR LOCAL INDUSTRIES

Nineteen hundred and six looks as if it would be a banner year for industries in Peterborough. The year is just nicely started and already four or five new concerns are assured to the city. If it keeps up at this rate all the year, Mrs. Fay's prediction that the population of the city would be 50,000 will be realized in less than the five years she gave as the period required to reach that figure.

There are others, in addition to those already secured, which there is a probability of locating here.

MEN AND WOMEN HAVE TO SIT UP ALL NIGHT

A Peterborough man, who has recently returned from Cobalt, states that people here can have no idea of the rush of people into that country. Every train is crowded, and at the junction points along the line to North Bay, there is a great congestion. At Orillia, for instance, the other day, the gentleman referred to, saw four men and their wives, who came to town, and were unable to secure accommodation at any of the hotels. They tried all the places of accommodation in the town and in the end had to sit up all night in the public sitting room, every room being filled.

ATTENDED MEETING OF BOOK ROOM COMMITTEE

Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, president of the Bay of Quinte Methodist Conference, and Rev. Dr. Crothers, of this city, with Mr. Thos. Wickett, of Port Hope, and Mr. T. W. Clarke, of Millbrook, were in Toronto yesterday attending a meeting of the Methodist Book Room Committee. These four gentlemen constituted the representatives to the committee from this conference, which comprises two ministers, and two laymen, from each of the Ludoon, Hamilton, Montreal, Bay of Quinte and Toronto Conferences.

Mr. Jolliffe stated to-day that the meeting of the committee was most satisfactory. The resignation of Rev. Geo. Bond as editor of The Christian Guardian came up for consideration, but the matter was left over. The board confirmed the sale of the old book-room property on King street west. Although the financial report for the year has not yet been presented, the business turnover and profits have been larger than ever before.

The Six Best Selling Books.

The best selling books in Canada during the month of April were Lady Baltimore, by Owen Wesley; Kard Grier, by Louis Tracy; Hearts and Creeds, by A. C. Ray; The Wheel of Life, by Ellen Glascow; The Jungle, by Upton Sinclair; Alton Somasco, by H. Bindloss.

We have these at the Peterborough Bookstore, and all the popular books, Street and Smith's novels, all good titles, 5 cents each, or 6 for 25 cents. A. H. Stratton & Co., 417 George street.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

BUSTER BROWN.

"Buster Brown", Melville B. Raymond's cartoon comedy by Richard F. Outcault, amused a big house at the Grand last night with one of the best offerings of the season. From the opening chorus to the grand finale the audience was kept in a hilarious condition. Everything was new and bright and the result was a most entertaining production.

The action centres around the adventures of Buster Brown, made famous by Outcault in the comic section of the New York Herald, and with him, of course, was his canine friend, "Tige". In addition to these several other comedy roles are introduced and the climaxes are very amusing. The chorus composed of basketball girls, Gladys girls, fire flies, Buster girls and several other varieties, were pretty and lively and could sing too. The costumes and electric effects were gorgeous.

To Master Rice, as the terrible Buster much of the work fell and the clever youngster speedily captured the affections of the audience. His role was splendidly taken. Arthur Hill as the immortal Tige added considerable fun. The other parts were in good hands.

A novel feature that proved highly effective was the drill by Raymond's Scotch Fusilcers. The Girls dressed in Highland Costume introduced many imposing and complex manoeuvres.

Harry West sang in a number of parodies on the popular songs of the day that brought down the house and the Hughes musical trio played a little of everything on everything in a decidedly clever manner.

The "Buster Brown" has many new features and as a fun producer has not been surpassed by anything seen here this season.

ASSESSMENT BY-LAW PREPARED BY SOLICITOR

The city solicitor has lost no time in putting the bylaw fixing the assessment of the Canadian General Electric Company into shape, and this morning the first draft of the bill was prepared and placed in the hands of the chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, and after it has been looked over by him it will be sent to Toronto to have the solicitors for the company approve of the premiums and terms imposed in it. If it is satisfactory to all parties concerned it will probably be passed at a meeting of the Council which will be called for that purpose in the near future. It will, of course, have to be ratified by the Legislature, which, of course, cannot be done until the next session, when it will be placed in a private bill.

Britain's Demands Must Be Respected

A Counter Proposal Made by Turkey's Foreign Minister Sternly Rejected by British Ambassador--Warning Issued to Turkey That Troops Must be Withdrawn.

Special to The Examiner.

Constantinople, May 11.—The Turkish foreign minister made a visit to Sir Nicholas O'Connor, the British Ambassador, to whom he made proposals in regard to settling the Tubah dispute. Sir Nicholas sternly rejected his proposals however, and warned the minister that the time in which Turkish troops must be withdrawn from Tabah, under the British ultimatum is rapidly expiring, and stated that only absolute compliance with Great Britain's demands will be accepted.

The Commissioners Increase The Force

Board of Police Commissioners Add George A. Rutherford to Force—New Police Constable With Salary of $500 —Consideration of the By-laws for Which Board is Responsible.

The Board of Police Commissioners met last night in the City Clerk's office. Judge Weller presided, and the other members of the Board the Mayor and Police Magistrate, were present.

It was decided to make an addition to the staff of the police, and the application of George A. Rutherford for a position as police constable was accepted. His salary will be $600 a year. A number of other applications were received, but the Board considered that Mr. Ruthenford's claims to the position were superior to those of the other applicants.

The members of the Board were of the opinion that not only did the necessity of the case warrant the action taken, but they believed that the people of the city would support them in adding to the force, which was at present inadequate to the demands put upon it.

This was the only business actually concluded at the meeting last night but some time was spent discussing the bylaws of the city relating to matters which are now in the hands of the Board, since the formation of that body. The cart and cab bylaw was taken up, and a number of changes decided on. It is probable that this bylaw, as well as that relating to and regulating livery stables and second-hand and junk dealers, will be revised and amended. These bylaws were passed years ago by the council, and in many cases require to be changed to meet the conditions existing to-day.

These matters have been taken out of the hands of the council by the law, since Peterborough became a city, and the Board of Commissioners now have absolute control over them.

CANADA ATLANTIC SOLD TO CANADIAN NORTHERN

Special to The Examiner.

Ottawa, May 11. — Startling changes in the railway position, are promised for Ottawa in the near future. Principal among these is the purchase of the Canada Atlantic section of the Grand Trunk, or a portion of it, by the greatest railway operators of to-day, Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann. That some deal of the sort has been on the tapis for several months has been known among railway men. The negotiations have been conducted with the secretiveness usual in such big transactions, but it is stated by those in a position to know that the sale and transfer are assured, and that, no later than yesterday divisional officers received word to be ready for sudden changes. None employed by the railways admit the imminence of change of ownership, but nothing sure can be known from that. When the negotiations for the sale of the Canada Atlantic to the Grand Trunk, were in progress, Mr. J. R. Booth, denied all knowledge of any negotiations. Still they had been in progress for a year. The denial of Mr. Booth was merely diplomacy.

It is a matter of record that the Canadian Northern has been seeking access to the Capital. The Canadian Northern is synonymous with the James Bay Railway, or with Mackenzie & Mann. Charters have been procured by them for a railway from Toronto to Montreal, via Hawkesbury and Ottawa, and for another from the mouth of the Branch River to Ottawa. Any necessity for the construction of the latter line is obviated by the purchase of the Ottawa and Depot Harbour section of the Grand Trunk, the section that is said to have been sold to Mackenzie & Mann.

Mr. E. B. Edwards Goes to Edmonton

To Practice His Profession—Mr. R. E. Wood Takes Over His Peterboro' Practice.

This morning Mr. E. B. Edwards left the city en route to Edmonton, where he will enter upon the practice of his profession. Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, has taken over Mr. Edwards' practice in Peterborough, and is installed in the office in the Cox block, George street, recently occupied by Mr. Edwards. For a time Mr. Wood, for the convenience of his clients who may not know of the change, will keep open his office on the second floor of the Bank of Commerce building, Hunter street.

Mr. Edwards has all his life been a resident of Peterborough and taken a prominent position as a citizen generally, in his profession and in connection with military matters, having been an energetic commanding officer of the 57th Rangers, in which capacity he is credited with an excellent record of good work. He has qualities as a citizen and lawyer which will heartily commend him to the citizens of Edmonton, and no doubt contribute to a successful professional career in the northern Provincial capital.

Detective Wells Has New Developments

In the Barton Murder Case--Some Statements Made at Time of Woman's Death Now Shown to be False—Belief That Mr. Wells Has Found Sister of Dead Woman.

In view of the fact that in Peterborough Detective Wells made his first public statement to the effect that he had some new developments in the Barton murder case, the following despatch from Hamilton will be read with interest here:

What seems to have been a bad bungle on the part of someone in the investigation to ascertain the identify of the Barton murder victim, was proved to-day. To clear up a point which was considered vital to the inquiries being pursued by Detective W. J. Wells of Toronto, the body of the woman, which was buried only last week, was exhumed this morning, and it was definitely shown that the disfigurement of the woman's left breast, as set forth in the official notice, issued by the police and provincial detective force, was untrue. The description declared that the left nipple was missing; this morning's examination showed that it was not. Only a trace of decomposition of the face and hands was apparent. The clearing up of this may now lead to the woman's identification. Detective Wells long ago, after diligent inquiry, which revealed the makers of the women's shoes, finally struck a clue, which brought him into communication with a woman in the Western States, who, if his surmises are correct, is a sister to the dead woman. In all respects the descriptions tallied, except in the matter of the reported disfigurement. A photo which detective Wells has bears a close resemblance to the dead woman. Now that the big obstacle is removed he is confident of proving his theory.

Arrangements Completed For The Brantford Trip

Representatives Arrived Home Last Night—Hospitably Entertained by Col. Cameron and His Officers—Camp to be Pitched on Exhibition Grounds—Church Parade on Sunday—A Big Day in Sports—Some Impressions of the Western City.

The representatives from the 57th Regiment to Brantford, consisting of Lieut.-Colonel Miller, Captain Eastwood, Quartermaster, and Captain Bennett, arrived home last night, on the midnight, greatly pleased with their visit.

Colonel Miller arrived in Brantford, on Wednesday night about 10 o'clock, and was met at the station by Lieut.-Colonel Cameron, and officers of the 38th Dufferin Rifles. The Colonel was greatly delighted with the reception given him, and the officers of the 38th, he says, are jolly fellows.

Next morning Captains Eastwood and Bennett, who remained in Toronto over night, reached the city and, together with the Colonel and officers of the 38th, got down to business, in preparation for the visit of the 57th to the western city.

The sleeping tents will be pitched on the exhibition grounds, upon which the various sports will be held. The representatives visited the different hotels for billeting the men, and all arrangements have been made for board. The exhibition grounds are very attractive and could not be more suitable for military purposes.

The Regiment will go to Brantford on Saturday night, and on Sunday, in company with the Dufferin Rifles, will parade to church. On Monday afternoon the regiment will parade about the city, commencing and ending at the Exhibition Grounds will be held.

Other matters of importance which have not yet been decided upon will be considered by Col. Miller and Col. Cameron, by communication.

The deputation had a few hours to spend in Toronto last night and were fortunate in witnessing the inspection of the Grenadiers by Col. Galway.

Brantford City.

On being asked regarding the city of Brantford the Col. replied that it was one of the busiest manufacturing centres for its size he had visited. The Massey-Harris factories were immense buildings, he said, and a very important factor in making Brantford an important city. Dozens of other factories of large size, make Brantford a busy spot.

The armouries there are very beautiful and complete. They are situated on a fine location on the heights of land overlooking the Grand River. The camping grounds lie just across the stream.

Col. Miller has every assurance that the trip to Brantford this year will be a pleasant one and the city is certain that the regiment will acquit itself favourably while there.

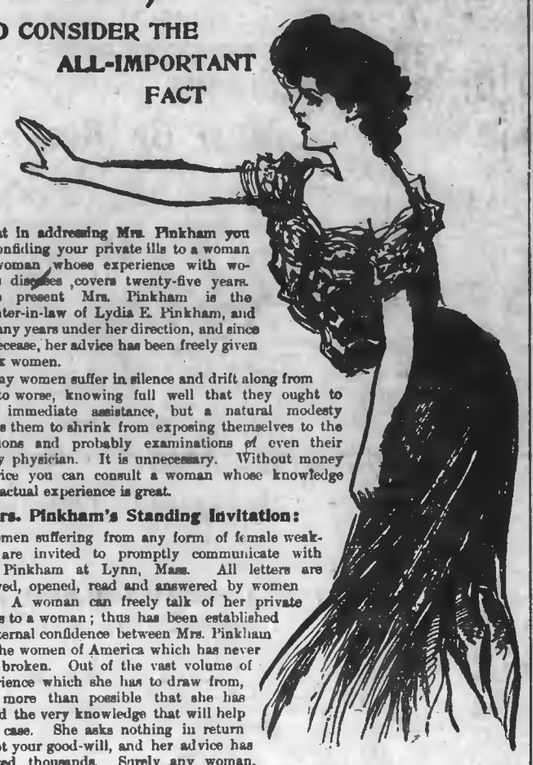
MONEY TO LOAN AT 5 PER CENT

DENNISTOUN, PECK & STEVENSON

STOP, WOMEN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT



That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers twenty-five years.

The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, her advice has been freely given to sick women.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probably examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Following we publish two letters from a woman who accepted this invitation. Note the result.

First letter.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For eight years I have suffered something terrible every month. The pains are excruciating and I can hardly stand them. My doctor says I have a severe female trouble, and I must go through an operation if I want to get well. I do not want to submit to it if I can possibly help it. Please tell me what to do. I hope you can relieve me."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 56th and E. Capitol Sts., Washington, D. C.

Second letter

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"After following carefully your advice, and taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am very anxious to send you my testimonial, that others may know their value and what you have done for me.

"As you know, I wrote you that my doctor said I must have an operation or I could not live. I then wrote you, telling you my ailments. I followed your advice and am entirely well. I can walk miles without an ache or a pain, and I owe my life to you and to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I wish every suffering woman would read this testimonial and realise the value of writing to you and your remedy."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 56th and E. Capitol Streets, Washington, D.C.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women whose testimony is so unquestionable, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

FOLLOW CANADA'S EXAMPLE.

There is a disquieting unrest in South Africa. The natives have broken out in various ways, and in addition to the trouble that has already developed, greater trouble seems to be looming up for the authorities and civilized residents. It is stated that the cause of this unrest is the deliberate policy of coercing the native out of his tribal existence, and maintaining him in practical slavery. The natives are the men who work, and the whites are ourselves. The policy of collecting a poll tax—taxation without representation—is responsible for recent outrages. Past outbreaks are referable to mistakes on the part of the governing authorities, who might well take a leaf out of Canada's book in the matter of dealing with the native population. While the United States has, by its policy towards the natives, inflicted untold hardships and injustice, and incurred, by its rapacity, the necessity of spending millions to exterminate the native Indians, the Canadian Government, by a policy of just dealing, by a recognition of the rights of the natives, has never had any trouble to speak of, has seldom or never unjustly dispossessed the natives, and has, as a rule, peacefully and quietly solved the problem of clearing the way for the advance of settlement and civilization. This has been the policy of successive governments, no matter what their political complexion. With, perhaps, a rare and isolated exception, the the results have been of the most happy character. Until the authorities in South Africa adopt some such policy there will be trouble, bloodshed, and expensive measures of armed repression.

The Power Bill More Air Than Power

How the Hamilton Times Regards This Power Development Measure.

The Hamilton Times says:

The power bill introduced by Hon. Adam Beck yesterday, and which the Government intends to railroad through the House in the closing hours of the session, is a notable case of appearing to do much, while doing little—of placing burdens on the municipalities, while manufacturing glory for the Government; a case, in fact, of "much cry and little wool." Mr. Graham, who characterized the second report of the commission as "bosh," summed up the situation by saying that the mountain had laboured, and brought forth a mouse.

The Ross Government in 1903 passed an act empowering any municipality or municipalities, by and through the agency of commissioners, and their successors to be appointed, to secure the acquisition, construction, maintenance and operation of all necessary works, plant, machinery and appliances for the development, generation, transmission, transformation, distribution and supply of electrical and other power and energy, including heat and light, for their own corporate use, as well as for general public uses and purposes, and for the use of such persons, firms and corporations as may desire the same. Last night when Hon. Mr. Beck had finished his explanation of his bill, Hon. Mr. Ross enquired what more was in it than was in the bill of 1903, and the Premier replied proudly, that the commissioners under the new Act were Government commissioners. Indeed, the principal difference is that in the new act the Government appoints the commission, and the commission charges back all expenses, plus interest, salaries and cost of management on the municipalities, which are thus made the burden bearers while being deprived of the power of selection.

The general effect of the bill is that if municipal corporations move to secure power it must be through this Government commission, which is empowered absolutely to fix rates, and if these rates are not accepted, the commission may expropriate or develop power. All the cost of the work falls on the municipality desiring it. This is to include interest at 4 per cent., and a sinking fund to wipe out the liability incurred. Government may impose penalties on municipalities for disobedience, and may require the commission to deal with any other water powers. The sale of the power when delivered is to be regulated by the municipality on terms prescribed by the commission. The commission must have the sanction of the Government for its acts. One chilling feature is that this electric service must not be used as municipal bonuses and all receipts for electric power must be paid over to the commissioners!

It will be observed that the principal points of difference between the act of 1903 and the much heralded measure of last evening, is that under the new act the Government appoints the commissioners and invests the money of Ontario, charging all costs, salaries, interest, sinking fund, etc., to the municipalities, and may if it so deem wise develop power itself, while the municipalities give up all voice in the matter and merely pay the bills. The discussion of the measure may disclose other important differences but they are not of such magnitude as to be mentioned by its sponsor. Mr. Ross called attention to the gross discrepancies in the commission's reports, especially as to the cost of power generation, the first making it $4.95, while now $12 was given as the figure. But it matter little to Whitney what power may cost under the scheme contemplated. The municipalities that wish to plunge will have to pay the bills, no matter what they are. And, indeed, it may be better that the gold-brick power bill has been so framed as to make that feature prominent. While there was a chance that Whitney would tax the country as a whole for the municipal power plungers, their enthusiasm would continue; perhaps now they will view it from a saner point of view. At least the taxpayers, who are not after power at other peoples' cost, may think it over. The provision inserted that "neither the commission nor the Province shall be liable to any corporation or company, on account of errors or omissions in the plans, specifications, or estimates prepared, in connection with the scheme" shows that Hon. Mr. Beck and his colleagues, while willing to take all the glory out of the occasion, are far from sure of their figures, and they wish to be ready to "stand from under" and let the municipalities bear the cost of any blunders they may have made. And they are wise in preparing a path of retreat.

Chemong Indian Village will have a new Methodist Church this year. Tenders have been called for which will be received up to May 19th after which the work of erecting the new building will be commenced at once.

It has been found necessary to do this on account of the increased membership due to the agressive work carried on by the Methodists of that village.

A DIMPLE MAKER.

Find a child with dimples and chubby arms and legs and you find a healthy child. Find one with drawn face and poor, thin body and you see one that needs Scott's Emulsion. Your doctor will no doubt tell you the child is fat-starved—its food is not nourishing it.

Nothing helps these thin, pale children like Scott's Emulsion. It contains the very element of fat they need. It supplies them with a perfect and quickly digested nourishment. Scott's Emulsion brings dimples and rounded limbs.

STEALING INDUSTRY FROM PORT PERRY

This is the way the Port Perry Standard treats the proposal to remove the Williams foundry from that town to Lindsay:—

The Standard is very sorry to learn that the old and familiar practice of stealing industries has been carried out with regard to the M. Williams' foundry. The robbers in this case are certain prominent Lindsay people. For years the Lindsay people have been yearning to secure additional industries, but instead of establishing new ones of their own, they have been trying to induce industries already established elsewhere, to move to Lindsay, and thus to build up Lindsay at the expense of other places. Several attempts have been made in the past to induce Mr. Williams to go to Lindsay, and at last their efforts have been crowned with success. The fact that this stealing is going on all over the country does not alter its character at all. Toronto is leading the procession with a Commissioner of Industries, whose special duty is to look for and attract industries to Toronto.

BROTHER DIED ON THE DAY OF HIS FUNERAL

The Norwood Register says: Mr. Samuel D. Reynolds, brother of the late Mr. P. W. Reynolds, of this village, died on Tuesday, May 1, at his home in McLouth, Kansas. He was nearly 83 years of age, and had been sick for a good while.

A remarkable thing about this death is that it occurred the same day that his brother (the late P. W. Reynolds) was being buried here, which coincides with a circumstance which happened in 1896, when his brother, (the late Wm. Reynolds, of Chicago) died the day of the funeral of another brother, (the late Hiram Reynolds) of this town.

SHIRT SLEEVE CAUGHT BOLT

Mr. Wm. Martin, who has lately been employed at Mr. W. C. Harrison's mill at Norwood, went to oil a shaft the other day, when the head of the bolt which fastens the collar to the shaft to keep it from moving, caught his shirt sleeve, and, in less time than it takes to write it, Mr. Martin was compelled to part company with the garment. He was very glad, however, to get rid of it without injury to himself, and this may be credited to his presence of mind. Although he had very little time to think, he appeared to instantly realize the danger of being thrown around the shaft and used his efforts to prevent this; which, fortunately, he was able to do.—Norwood Register.

This is what they want: A minimum salary of $1000, increasing $100 a year until a maximum of $1500 is reached for eight room schools; $1600 for a ten room school; $1700 for a twelve room school; and $1800 for a sixteen room school.

Recruiting For 24th Battery

Major Young Accepted a Large Number of Men Last Night.

Major Young, commanding the 24th Battery, commenced recruiting last night for the new battery, which the Department of Militia has decided to form here.

A number of good men were sworn in last night, and Major Young will be at the armoury again to-night for the purpose of taking on others who may wish to join the battery.

He states that it is his intention to make it a city battery entirely. He has no doubt that he will receive enough applications from city men to make up the 101 men required to bring it up to full strength.

On June 19th the Battery will go to camp at Cobourg, and those who wish to join in time for that are reminded that they will have to hand in the names at once as this year a new regulation has been made by the headquarters staff that the complete lists must be in the hands of the headquarters staff not later than June 10th. This applies not only to the members of the Battery but to all others who go to camp.

Variety Of Cases On Police Court Calender

Aftermath of the Battle Royal on Aylmer Street—$1 Fine for Two of the Participants—Vicious Dog Case Heard —Mrs. Connors' Children Given to Children's Aid Society.

A few days ago Benj. LeBar got into an argument with three Englishmen, recent arrivals in this country. The affair started in an up-town hotel, ending on Aylmer street south. The three sons of Albion united in an attack on LeBar, and the resulting scrap was described by an Englishman as a rough and tumble affair. Albert Crouter happened along when the revelry was at its height and proceeded to take a hand in the fray.

This morning at the police court, LeBar and Crouter had to answer to a charge of disorderly conduct. The Englishmen were unknown and escaped the after proceedings. LeBar and Crouter were assessed $1 each.

Mr. Bert McCollum of McCollum Bros., was charged with harbouring a vicious dog. A boy named Kelly was the complainant, and stated that he was bitten while playing ball on Water street, when the canine had bitten him on the wrist. The ball had been thrown by his brother, and rolled near the dog whereupon the latter had seized the complainant. The Magistrate gave orders that the dog should be killed or sent out of town.

Assault Case Dismissed.

A foreman of the Dickson Company was charged with assaulting a sixteen-year-old boy. The boy's story was to the effect that he had refused to do some work he was ordered to, and had been told by the defendant to go home and stay there. His brother had asked the defendant for his wages, whereupon the latter had struck his brother and also hit and kicked complainant.

Several witnesses called by the defence testified that the boy had struck defendant, and that the latter had slapped his ears. None of them saw the defendant kick him. The case was dismissed. Mr. R. F. McWilliams appeared for the complainant, and Mr. F. D. Kerr, for the defendant.

Children Taken Away.

The next case was one brought by the Children's Aid Society, who asked that the three children of Mrs. Connors, who were taken by the society a short time ago, should be given permanently into their charge. The children are Ernest aged three years; Ethel, aged five years, and Cecil, aged eight years.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane, the society agent, and Chief Rossel testified that Mrs. Connors' general reputation was very bad and that she was not a desirable person to bring up her children.

The magistrate ordered that the children be given to the society. Mrs. Connors asked that the youngest child be left with her, but the request was refused.

Moved House Without Permission.

J. Hoffman was charged with moving a house without having the necessary permission from the city engineer. It appears that he had gone to see the engineer, but failed to find him, and went on with the work. He was discharged, but ordered to abide by the provisions of the bylaw in future.

Rev. J. G. Potter Gave Report Of Young People

As Convenor of Committee on Young Peoples' Societies, He Presented Report to Synod—Membership is 7783 —An Increase Over Last Year—Raised $14,549 in 1905—Also an Increase.

Rev. J. G. Potter, as convenor of the committee on Young People's Societies, presented the report of that committee at the Presbyterian Synod in Toronto yesterday. The report revealed a wonderful variety of work carried on by the young people. Marked progress characterised the labours of ministers and those associated with them in the work among the young people. The membership of the 208 societies reported was 7,783, as against 6,871 in 180 societies last year; of this number 3,218, 896 more than last year, are young men, 4,565 young women. The number of members in full communion is 4,806, as compared with 4,030 last year. The total contribution for schemes of the church was $3,880, and for all purposes $14,549, as compared with $9,943 for 1904.

Among the recommendations were the following:—"That the committee have authority in the very best way to interest the many hundred Presbytsrian young men and women attending the universities and other higher institutions of learning in Kingston and Toronto; that the Presbyteries ask societies within their bounds to adopt some systematic method of raising money for missions, supplementing the arrangements of sessions in this matter; that the societies and guilds be again urged to adopt the 'plan of study,' which, with the help of 'reapers in many lands,' will be found most profitable; and that the Forward Movement Mission study classes be commended as supplemental."

Threatened With Paralysis

THE DOCTORS TOLD THE WRITER OF THE LETTER QUOTED BELOW —RESTORATION BROUGHT ABOUT BY USE OF

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

It is customary to consider paralysis, insanity and other diseases of the nerves as afflictions which come upon a person without warning and which are, therefore, unavoidable.

As a matter of fact such results are preceded by months, if not years, of symptoms, which point to an exhausted condition of the nervous system. These symptoms are such, however, that many pass them by as not being of serious concern and thinking that they will wear away of themselves.

Sleeplessness, nervous headaches, indigestion, bodily weakness, fainting spells, twitching of the nerves, inability to concentrate the thoughts and loss of memory are among the most common indication of a run-down nervous system. It is sometimes only a step from such symptoms to prostration, paralysis, locomotor ataxia or insanity.

Stimulants and narcotics, though sometimes affording temporary relief, only hasten the exhaustion of the nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, on the other hand, reconstructs and restores the wasted and depleted nerve cells.

Naturally, gradually and certainly this great medicine instills into the blood and the nervous system the life-sustaining principles which replenish the nerve force in the body and so effect lasting benefit.

Miss Emma Scott, Athens, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a world of good. I was troubled with fainting spells, bodily weakness, and spent restless, sleepless nights. I frequently had cramps in the stomach and would at times become entirely insensible, not knowing what was going on until others told me afterwards.

"I doctored with several doctors and they told me I was threatened with paralysis. They gave me relief, but could not cure me. After suffering for three years I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and it has done me more good than all the medicines I ever used."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 18

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARY ANN HUGHES.

The Brooklyn Times says: Mrs. Mary Ann Hall, widow of Richard Hughes, died yesterday at her home, 209 Sterling place, from pleurisy, brought on by old age. Mrs. Hughes was born in Brooklyn on November 22, 84 years ago. She was the daughter of John and Jane Hall. Her father, who owned the largest dry goods establishment in Brooklyn for many years, had a store at Fulton and Sands streets. It was there the deceased was born. Mr. Hall came to America with A. I. Stewart, and was for some years associated with him in business. About two years ago Mrs. Hughes wrote a genealogical sketch of the Hall family, which contained many interesting recollections of the early history of this community. She was perhaps the oldest living member of St. Ann's Protestant Episcopal church on Clinton street. Twenty two years of her life were spent in Peterborough, Canada, where she lived until about 30 years ago. Mrs. Hughes made her home with her son, Richard Hughes, who alone survives her. To-morrow evening funeral services will be held, at which it is expected the Rev. Dr. Tracey, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, will officiate.

Mrs. Hughes was a sister of the late Mr. J. J. Hall, of Peterborough.

STILL LOOKING FOR THE MINE

The Havelock Standard says: Mr. Alexander Rose has returned after spending a week trying to locate the silver mine out north, but the mine is still hidden. Another effort is being made this week to find this rival to Cobalt.

SUMMONS ISSUED TO DELINQUENT DOG OWNERS

Dog tags are selling this year somewhat better than they did in 1905, but not fast enough to suit the Chief of Police yet, a number of summons having been issued to-day for persons who have not paid the necessary fees.

This morning 716 tags had been issued for this year, and on this date last year only 675 had been taken out. Altogether last year, however, 853 dog owners paid their one dollar entitling their canines to a lengthened existence.

There are evidently more dogs in the city this year than there were in 1905.

PRICES OF DRINKS AGAIN DROP TO OLD FIGURE

The local hotelmen are experiencing some difficulty in maintaining the liquor prices, alleged to have been mutually agreed upon a few days ago. Some of the larger hotels still continue to charge the 15c for imported liquors, but their path is not a bed of roses, for they are frequently reminded by their customers that in other hotels in the city the same old prices prevail. This appears to be a fact, too, and yesterday The Examiner was informed by one of the hotelmen that he had decided to sell at the old prices. For some time he maintained the new schedule of prices, but he was told that other hotels were selling at the same old rates, and to satisfy himself he took a stroll around to the different bars of the city and found this to be the case, and since then he sells as low as the lowest of them.

WANTED LIFT LOCK OPENED FOR A CANOE

This morning Mr. McClellan, superintendent of the Trent Canal, received a modest request. Two Montreal men are on a canoe trip up the Otonabee River, and they ran against a snag to-day when they reached the lift lock, and found that it was not in commission yet, because part of their programme as outlined, was to have their craft taken up on the lift lock. It was not in operation, however, and they called Mr. McClellan up by 'phone to see if he would not direct that it be placed in operation for them. He explained that this was a request which he could not grant, and in any event it would be useless because there was no water in the reach from the lock to Nassau. He advised them to hire a "lift" from a farmer to take their canoe to Nassau.

WALKERVILLE LADIES CAUGHT SMUGGLING

A Walkerville woman who crossed the ferry to Detroit and came back a few hours later looking as though she had grown fourfold in her general dimensions, was taken into the private room of the customs office and searched by the matron. She had stowed about her person five night robes, two children's dresses, three kimonas and six pairs of hose. Indignant at the treatment received, the lady threatened to give the names of most of the leading ladies of Walkerville who shopped as she had done. One may imagine there was no rest in Walkerville that night. With a tariff law like ours, only bachelors reside near the border.

The Presbyterians And Their Church System

Some Information as to the Manner in Which the Officers of the Church are Governed by the Various Bodies—An Interesting Article.

In view of the fact that the Presbyterian Synod has recently held a session in Toronto, the following article describing the methods of church government, witten by Rev. J. J. Ross, will be read with interest:

The Presbyterian system of church government anticipated the principle of representation by which the freest states in the world are now governed. Presbyterians believe with all Christendom that the Lord Jesus Christ is the only King and Head of the church, which consists of all those throughout the world who profess the true religion, together with their children.

He is the final authority in all matters of doctrine and conduct among those who believe in Him. He formed the nucleus of an organized society among the disciples He left behind Him, and as they went up and down the world preaching Jesus as the Messiah, they gathered their converts together into little congregations formed on the model of the Jewish synagogue. These congregations were taught and governed by several elders chosen from among themselves by an open vote of all the members, and solemnly set apart by those already in office. It is now universally acknowledged that throughout the New Testament the words "elder" and "bishop" mean one and the same person.

Towards the end of the second century one of these elders in every community began to absorb most of the power and to stand out as the superior of his brethren, and to him the title of bishop came to be exclusively applied. The episcopal form of government thus originated continued to prevail in the church throughout the middle ages, although here and there bodies of Christians arose that adopted the representative principle. At the Reformation a number of the national churches went back to the democratic organization, which they believed they found in the New Testament.

The essential principles of Presbyterian, then, are that all church power is derived from Jesus Christ, and is vested in the whole body of the people; that Presbyters or elders are the highest officers in the church, and through them, as their representatives, the people administer their right of government; and that the visible church is one in such a sense that a smaller part is subject to a larger, and the larger to the whole.

The liberty of the people is secured by the right of electing their office-bearers who are to represent them in the government of the church, and in this election the poorest and humblest have equal rights with the richest and most learned. Every congregation chooses its own minister, and calls him to undertake the work. The same Spirit Who influenced the man to separate and prepare himself for the ministry enables the people to see that his gifts are fitted to edify them. The government of each congregation is conducted by the session, which is composed of the minister, who is chairman, and a number of pious and prudent men from among the members of the congregation, and called elders.

The affairs of a number of congregations throughout a convenient district are superintended by the Presbytery, which is composed of all the ministers and an elder elected by each session within the bounds. The synod consists of all the members of a number of adjacent Presbyteries, and the General Assembly, the highest court of the church, is composed of one-sixth of the ministers of each Presbytery, together with an elder for each minister, and both these are elected once a year by the Presbytery.

If any member of the Church should consider himself unjustly dealt with by the session in its exercise of discipline he has the right to appeal to the Presbytery, and after his complaint has been heard and judgment given thereon he can carry his case, if he is not satisfied, to the Synod, and from it to the General Assembly, thus securing that his case shall be decided by the representatives of the whole Church, and entirely apart from all personal feeling and local prejudice.

When the General Assembly proposes to enact any new law regarding doctrine, discipline, government, or worship, it must be set down to all the Presbyteries, and a majority of them must express approval of the measure before it can be finally passed. In very special cases the matter may be submitted to all sessions, and even congregations. Before the question of church union is finally decided it will no doubt be submitted to a vote of every congregation, and consequently every member will have an opportunity of expressing his or her opinion in regard to it.

A number of churches not Presbyterian in name are essentially Presbyterian in government, for example, the Methodist church in this country. In it the leaders' meeting and the quarterly meeting do the work of the session; the district meeting corresponds to the Presbytery, the annual conference to the Synod and the General Conference to the General Assembly.

Thus far the Principle of Presbyterianism has been confined to the church of a nation or country, but it might easily be extended further, and might embrace the whole earth.

In the Pan-Presbyterian Council, which meets once in four years there are representatives of every Presbyterian church in the world, but it is only a conference for consultation and advice, and has no legislative power.

PARK STREET BAPTISTS WILL BUILD A NEW CHURCH

At the annual business meeting of the Park street Baptist church last night, the question of the erection of the proposed new church, came up again for discussion. A number of the congregation wanted the matter discussed at once, but it was finally decided to hold it over.

The pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace, suggested that if the heads of the families of the congregation would subscribe a certain amount to be paid each year for four years, the financial difficulty would be considerably lessened. A new church was absolutely necessary, he said, as the present building on many occasions has been too small to contain the crowds which have attended. He would like to see some aggressive step on the proposition of building at once.

After discussing the matter it was decided that the Finance Committee consisting of Messrs. Gillespie, Holt, Kemp, Barrie and Banton, be appointed to canvass the members of the congregation and find out how much each would subscribe to the building fund.

There is no doubt, therefore, that the Baptists of the southern portion of the city will have a new church at no distant date.

St. Paul's Young Men Were Guests Of The Ladies

Enjoyable Banquet Tendered to the Guild Last Night—Post-Prandial Speeches Were Bright and Witty—About Fifty Young Men Were Present.

The hospitality of the ladies of St. Paul's church has been exemplified on many occasions, but never in a more striking manner than last night, when the members of the Young Men's Guild were entertained at a banquet by the Ladies' Aid Society, assisted by the young ladies of the Fraser Mission Band. The affair must be considered as a marked success, and the ladies are to be congratulated upon the happy results of their efforts. About 50 young men were present, and the evening was most pleasantly spent. The repast served by the ladies left nothing to be desired. The after-dinner speeches were witty and bright, and a feeling of jovial good fellowship pervaded the gathering. But few such enjoyable functions have been held this season, and the success of last night reflects great credit upon the ladies who were in charge of the arrangements, and who saw that they were carried out in a manner that was satisfactory to everybody.

The tables, which were arranged in an oblong form, were tastefully decorated with carnations and ferns. Mr. R. F. McWilliams, president of the guild, who, during the evening, acceptably filled the position of toast master, was seated at the head of the table, with Rev. Dr. Torrance on his right and Rev. A. Bright on his left. Vice-President J. A. Hodgson, with several other guild officers, was at the other end of the table. The imposing array of tempting viands served by the ladies received ample justice from the guild.

The toast list opened with that to the King, which was heartily honoured by the gathering singing the National Anthem. Mr. R. Freund was heard with pleasure in a vocal solo, "Spring is Coming," which was rendered in splendid voice and received with warm applause.

The next toast was that to "Canada." To Mr. E. S. Clarry fell the duty of proposing the toast, which he did in a graceful speech. After thanking the ladies for their hospitality, he briefly pointed out the advantages possessed by Canada, and the great resources waiting to be developed. Particular reference was made to the manufacturing industry. The gathering rang "The Maple Leaf" after honouring the toast.

Mr. J. A. Hodgson made an eloquent and patriotic reply. He, too, spoke of Canada's resources, the mines as yet untouched, and the great forests stretching for thousands of miles. The scenery of Canada was referred to by the speaker as being as beautiful and as romantic as that of Switzerland. He looked upon the future with a prophetic eye, and saw the time when the centre of the Empire would be transferred from England across the sea to Canada. At this point Mr. Freund sang the popular song, "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree."

The assemblage waiting in the chorus.

"The Guild" was the next toast on the list, and was proposed in an effective manner by Mr. G. H. Van Blaricom, who, in a humourous speech, referred to the mock parliament introduced by the guild, and drew a comparison between President McWilliams' position as Premier of the country, and the one he now holds as alderman.

Mr. McWilliams, in replying to the toast, made references to the success attained last season. He spoke of the mock parliament and also of the guild baseball team. The motto of the guild was that that man was best who was best all around. The object was to make all-round men.

Mr. W. S. Davidson rendered the comic song, "Everybody Works but Father," with the gathering joining in the chorus.

"The Ministry," the next toast, was heartily honoured. Mr. J. H. Conal, in proposing the toast, gave some amusing reminiscences of his boyhood associations with Rev. Dr. Torrance, and paid a strong tribute to that gentleman. Mr. Bright made an effective speech in reply. He dwelt upon the qualifications that a minister should possess, and stated that he must be a man of sterling qualities. The distinguishing feature of a soldier should be bravery; of a judge, impartiality; of a merchant, honesty; and of a minister, a sterling character.

Rev. Dr. Torrance also replied to the toast. After paying a tribute to the ladies, he spoke of the help rendered by the guild.

Mr. E. S. Clarry recited "Casey at the Bat," and was warmly applauded.

The toast to "The Ladies" followed. Mr. W. S. Davidson made a most witty and humourous speech. His remarks concerning the fair sex were much appreciated by the members of the guild, and undoubtedly by the ladies themselves. Dr. McCulloch and Mr. Ross Cameron were the champions of the ladies, both making effective replies.

This concluded the toast list, and Mr. McWilliams heartily thanked the ladies for their oft-repeated acts of kindness towards the guild, and also Mr. Freund for his solos. After singing "Good Night, Ladies," the happy gathering dispersed.

The affair, as has been stated, was a success, and a most enjoyable evening was provided.

NO DANGER OF TYPHOID FEVER

Those who use "Sanitaris" spring water for the table, need have no fear of typhoid. "Sanitaris" prevents typhoid because it is pure. Filtering and boilnig do not remove all the disease germs from the water. The one safe way to be sure of having water that contains no typhoid germs is to drink "Sanitaris." It is bottled at the springs at Arnprior, Ont., and may be obtained both sparkling and still, in all size bottles up to quarts. A. Rountree, local agent, and most dealers in Peterborough, are ready to supply families with any quantity of "Sanitaris." They deliver orders to the home and call for empty bottles, free of charge.

THE "NORTH STAR" RE-BUILDING

A Gore's Bay despatch says: The building of the new North Star is being pushed forward with all possible speed, with a good gang of workmen. Mr. Dan. DICKSON COMPANY FOREMAN HURT

The Lindsay Post says: — Mr. M. Dineen, foreman of a Dickson Company camp in Anstruther township, came out yesterday to have an injured foot attended to by one of our physicians. His camp is situated about 35 miles north-east of Bobcaygeon, and the gang numbers about 50 men. Mr. Dineen says that lumbering in the spring and fall has winter work beaten to a standstill for comfort.

Flakes of Dandruff on the Collar and Shoulders of a Gentleman in Full Dress.

This is the thing you quite frequently see in the ball-room — a man's black dress coat literally covered with dandruff.

It must be annoying to the wearer, and certainly not a pleasant thing to observe. But dandruff can be eradicated. It is a germ disease that will some day cause baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the hair-destroying germ and stimulates the hair to a rich, abundant growth; it does more—keeps the hair soft and pliant.

Furthermore, Herpicide is a most pleasant toilet accessory; of pleasing odour, and cooling to the scalp. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Editor Post Card Column:

Sir,—Speaking about the midweek half holiday and how it might be brought about, some time ago the Ministerial Association advocated the early closing of the stores Saturday evenings and their efforts met with a measure of success; let them now approach the business men in the interest of the clerks, to adopt the half-holiday. Proprietors themselves have the privilege of coming and going ad libertum — and business goes on uninterrupted, but the clerks are denied the same privilege and are the only interested ones and such it would appear in their employers' estimation.

Ottawa Wants Light; We Have Too Much

At Any Rate on the Street Cars--The Capital Wants Headlights Used--Here There is an Agitation for Their Abolition--What Makes the Difference?

In Ottawa the people are not satisfied because the Street Railway Company does not use headlights, and in Peterborough there is a kick because they are used. This is the way the Free Press deals with the matter:

"Why are the street cars not provided with headlights as recommended by the coroner's ujry in the Emmins inquest?" was the question put to Superintendent Hutchison of the Ottawa Street Railway by a Free Press reporter yesterday. As will be remembered, the jury in the Emmins case found that there was no headlights on the car which struck down deceased and they recommended the use of the lights. The answer of the superintendent was to the effect that the headlights would be more dangerous to foot passengers than no lights at all. The argument of the street railway people is given in his own words:—

"Headlights on street cars are being abandoned in every city as a source of danger. They use them neither in Toronto or Montreal and it is several years since we discontinued their use. We have lots of them and it would only cost $5 each to equip our cars with them and the cost of electricity would be trival. It was not the cost that made us discontinue them. It was the danger in their use—a danger experienced in every city where the streets are lighted."

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS STILL INCREASING; ONE DAY $4000

The customs receipts at the Port of Peterborough are still mounting. On Wednesday alone more than $4,000 was received, which is a pretty good record for one day. At this rate the month of May will be away ahead of this month last year. One of the officials states that when the C.G.E. extensions are made this will largely increase the receipts at the customs house here.

BLIZZARD YESTERDAY AT MIDLAND AND PENETANG

Peterborough is not as badly off as it might be after all. Mr. Andrews, of Hastings, was in the city to-day, and states that in Midland and Penetang yesterday there were three and a half inches of snow. It was correspondingly cold, too, and a regular winter's day was experienced. The farmers in that part of the province are feeling very much discouraged at the cold weather, and the snow storm of yesterday, which at times developed into a regular blizzard, has been the finishing touch.

In Peterborough the thermometer has been hovering around the freezing point almost every night for a week past, and last night the temperature went down to 26 deg., or six degrees below freezing. Quite thick ice was to be seen in many places by early risers.

Taylor Family Relief Fund Contributions

Generous Response to Examiner's Appeal for Help in a Worthy Cause--$140.00 Contributed to Date.

Yesterday an appeal was made through these columns for contributions towards a relief fund for the benefit of the Taylor family, consisting of ten persons—eight children, reduced to a condition of acute distress by the terrible track accident by which the eldest son, practically the sole bread winner of the family, lost both legs. The Examiner which offered to take charge of contributions, is pleased to announce that already a liberal response has been made to the appeal, and that in addition to the $4 handed in today to the Examiner $100 has been contributed by the employees of the Canadian Cordage Company. It was announced also yesterday that Mrs. Geo. Cochrane had consented, at the Examiner's request to assume the onerous office of custodian and administrator of the fund. The selection was a most happy one as Mr. Cochrane is a gentleman of undoubted probity, of sound judgment and discretion, and with a large experience in dealing with cases where the application of these qualities brings good results. It is Mr. Cochrane's intention, and it is a wise one to distribute the fund to the family from time to time, as may be necessary. As some of the contributions are in kind, it would perhaps be permitted to suggest they take the form of goods—in the way of provisions—that will be of a permanent character, though little luxuries of a perishable character, within reasonable limits, will be acceptable.

As stated, the fund up to the hour of going to press, amounts to $140.

The following is a list of the names of contributors. It is not complete, as contributions are continually coming in, and some too late for acknowledgment, will be acknowledged tomorrow;

RETURN ENGAGEMENT.

Paterborough theatre goers will be pleased to hear that Roselle Knott, in "When Knighthood Was in Flower," will be seen at the Grand Opera House again on Tuesday next, May 15th. Those who saw her on her last visit here went away from the Grand pronouncing the attraction one of the best the Grand had given to the public this season. Miss Knott is this week playing at the Grand, Toronto, and on her opening night taxed the capacity of theatre, and the Toronto press speaks in the highest terms of that company. 1d

RADIAL RAILWAY CO. RETAIN PRIVILEGES OF SPECIAL ACT

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, solicitor the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, was informed from Toronto yesterday afternoon that the Railway Committee had inserted a clause in the railway bill after it had passed the committee, and that the new Railway Act should apply in all particulars to the Peterborough Railway Company.

A notice of this change was only received by Mr. Dennistoun yesterday afternoon, and the House was expected to prorogue in the evening, thus there was little time left in which to oppose the change. Mr. Dennistoun, however, took the 5.10 C.P.R. train to Toronto, and interviewed the Attorney General, pointing out that the company would be prejudiced if half its construction work was carried on under the special act of incorporation, and the remainder under the general Railway Act, and that part of the bonds had now been issued under the special act, and to issue the remainder under the general act would cause confusion, and possibly loss.

The Attorney General admitted that these points were material, and the objectionable clause was withdrawn from the bill upon its third reading in the House. The Peterborough Railway Company will therefore retain the privileges which were granted them by the special act of incorporation.

ORGANIZER HERE IN INTERESTS OF C.O.F.

Mr. John Muir, district organizer for the Canadian Order of Foresters, is at present working in the city in the interests of the order, and is meeting with success. A special meeting of Court Langton will be held this evening, when a number of new members will be initiated.

ARCHITECTS CAN UNDERTAKE WORK

The statement made yesterday in The Examiner to the effect that the architects in the city were so busy that they were unable to get the plans for the new carpet factory ready, should hardly be taken literally. While there is a great deal of building going on, and the architects, as a result, are very busy, they are like the proverbial omnibus, they have always room for one more job.

Sitting All Day Closes The Ontario House

Brings to a Close Notable Session of Legislature.

PROROGATION ON MONDAY

The Electric Power Bill Passed Without Division — Opposition Divided House on County Councils Bills—Amendments to University and Education Acts Defeated—Resignation of President Loudon.

Toronto, May 11.—The Legislature concluded its business at 11.15 last night and prorogation will take place at 11 o'clock on Monday morning. The attendance of members during the closing hours of the session of 1906 was comparatively small, and there were very few persons in the gallery when the House adjourned with the singing of the National Anthem.

The power bill was read a third time during the afternoon and passed without discussion and without a vote. The university bill, the mines act, the county councils act, on which the first division of the day was taken, the Opposition amendment being voted down by 51 to 12, and the education act were among many other measures read a third time.

Franchise Is Free.

Mr. MacKay, in committee on the provincial long-distance telephone bill, moved as an amendment that in case hereafter of any public acquisition of the company's business, in determining the value of the same, no allowance should be made for the franchise. After discussion the amendment was negatived and the bill reported.

Sleigh Runners Not Regulated.

Mr. Tucker's bill to regulate the width of sleigh runners was amended in committee by the withdrawal of all the clauses except that repealing the legislation of last session, which in effect fixed the width of sleigh runners at four feet from outer to outer rim.

Company Law Consolidation.

A bill respecing joint stock and other companies was introduced by Hon. Mr. Hanna. This bill is not to be passed until next session, but in the meantime it will be distributed for consideration. The measure is a consolidation and revision of a number of companies acts, including timber slides companies, piers and dry docks companies, exhibition buildings companies, gas and water companies, heat, light and power companies, cheese and butter companies, co-operative societies, benevolent and provident societies, trust companies, cemetery companies.

Cattle Market Beaten.

Mr. Crawford attempted to have the House insert a clause in the City of Toronto bill to allow the selling of hay on the city cattle market.

The House divided on the amendment and it was defeated by 28 to 22.

Auto Bill Passes.

Mr. McNaught moved that the auto bill be referred back. The Premier said it would be a great mistake to amend the bill.

The amendment was snowed under an avalanche of "noes," and the bill finally passed.

Vote on County Councils.

Wm. Reed of South Wentworth moved an amendment to the county councils bill, that any qualified ratepayers be eligible for election for the county council. This would enable a reeve of a municipality to run for the commissionership and not upset the present county council system.

The vote was taken and the amendment voted down by 50 to 18, a majority of 37. There were 17 "pairs." The third reading was carried on the same vote reversed.

Education Amendments.

Mr. Pense moved an amendment on the third reading of the Education Department bill allowing qualified teachers of public, high or separate schools to have votes in the election of the advisory board, prescribed, and Mr. Preston (Brant) moved to have the provision for a superintendent of education struck out. Both amendments were defeated on the same division as recorded for the county councils act.

Orange Sentinel Charges.

On the third reading of the Education Department bill, Mr. Labrosse (Prescott) rose to deny statements claimed to have been made in the Orange Sentinel to the effect that in portions of Eastern Ontario, the English language was taught once a week, and that 80 per cent. of the French-Canadian population couldn't read or write. Mr. Labrosse said the charges were absolutely false. He asked Hon. Dr. Pyne what steps had been taken to promote the interests of separate schools, which should receive as much consideration as public schools.

The Premier in reply said that the question was not one that could properly be asked Hon. Dr. Pyne, and that it wasn't in the latter's province to take notice of anything quoted from The Orange Sentinel. Mr. Labrosse couldn't expect to have the House deal with the point raised with the session almost at an end.

Mr. Ross thought Mr. Labrosse had a right to resent any reflections cast by The Orange Sentinel, and that the question asked bore upon the duties of the Minister of Education. However, the point was dropped.

University Bill Passes.

Some amendments were made to the university bill before it was finally passed. Regarding the board of governors, six are to hold office for six years, six for four years, and six for two years. The board may not incur any liability or make any expenditures on lands or buildings unless they can be met out of the annual income, or unless they are sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. The proportion of succession duties, which will go to the support of the university, will be 50 per cent.

Mr. Harcourt, in amendment, moved that no expenditures shall be made which would have the effect of impairing the endowment of the university unless an estimate shall have been approved by the Legislative Assembly. This was declared lost on the same vote as before.

Mr. Graham proposed an amendment giving the power of veto of the appointments of the board of governors to the Government. After this was declared lost on division, Mr. Mackay spoke on the clause to fixing the income of the university. The legislation should revise the estimates of the university and the income should not be based on the receipts from succession duties, which varied from year to year. He moved an amendment along the line of his suggestion.

Mr. Ross again criticized the Government for creating a board of governors which would not be subject to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. A resolution he offered was recorded as having been voted down.

President Loudon Out.

The third reading being passed without further discussion, the Premier arose to express his regret that President Loudon was about to retire from active work as head of the university. Some months ago the Premier received a letter from President Loudon stating that he would be unable to continue his connection with the university, at the same time expressing his strong love and attachment for the institution. The province was to be congratulated on the connection of President Loudon with the university. He had devoted a great deal of care and had spent himself physically on his work. If ever a man sacrificed himself it was President Loudon, and he bore upon his face the proof of what the Premier said. Mr. Whitney believed that everyone would join in the fervent wish that the future of the president would be happy and that he would for many years look back with satisfaction on the years that he had been associated with the university. As a last word, not of advice, however, to the board of governors, Mr. Whitney said he hoped the board would change the name of the university.

Mr. Ross added his testimony, sketching the connection of President Loudon with the university. Mr. Ross spoke with pride on his connection with the appointment of this son of Ontario, who had distinguished himself as a scholar. Mr. Ross had been for ten years in intimate relationship with Mr. Loudon and no one in his (Ross') position would fail to give praise where it was so manifestly due. The Government had been blamed sometimes for not taking his advice, but Mr. Ross boasted that not an appointment made by the Government to the university staff had been a failure. There may have been degrees of success, but there had been no failures. Sometimes these appointments were made without the recommendation of the president, but never against his will.

Confirms Orders-in-Council.

The Premier introduced a bill to confirm the orders-in-Council withdrawing the Ghlles' limit and Kerr and Cobalt Lakes from the area open to prospectors.

The Supplementaries.

The House went into supply on the supplementary estimates, and after some criticism the estimates were then concurred in.

Extensions of time were granted to the following railroads: Central Ontario, till Dec. 31, 1905; Bracebridge and Trading Lake, Dec. 31, 1906; Bruce Mines and Algoma, June 30, 1909; Manitoba and North Shore, 2 years form Dec. 1, 1907. In the act respecting the securities for the "Soo" guarantee, the date was changed from 1906 to 1907.

Big Posse in Pursuit.

Victoria, B. C., May 11.—The trio who held up the westbound Imperial Limited Express near Kamloops are still enjoying freedom, with pursuit being continued by over 100 regular and volunteer police. The rewards have been increased to an aggregate of $11,500. Indications yesterday show that the hold-up men are still keeping together and working toward the American boundary.

Cost of a Strike.

Cleveland, May 11.—The longshoremen's strike lasted nine days, cost $2,500,000 directly in loss of actual money to the strikers, and carriers, exclusive of indirect loss, and the men are returning to work on the same basis as last year. Bad faith, is charged by the longshoremen against the officers of the Mates' Union, in whose behalf they struck.

An Ancient Mariner.

Utica, N. Y., May 11.—Daniel Slowmaker died yesterday at his home in Frankfort, aged 105 years. He was captain of the first boat which navigated the waters of the old Chenango Canal, long since abandoned.

Passed Second Reading.

London, May 11.—The education bill passed its second reading in the House of Commons yesterday by a vote of 110 to 204.

The Wornout Nerves, The Weak Heart, The Tired Brain, The Wasted Strength.

What a multitude of women there are who feel that these words exactly suit their case. From early morn until late at night they have been on the go, year in and year out, attending to the daily household duties, looking after the wants of her children and spending the rest of her time attending to social and church work. Is it any wonder then that sooner or later there comes a general collapse? The action of the heart becomes weak and palpitating, the nerves become unstrung, the brain feels in a whirl half the time and the usual force of vitality is lacking.

It is at this time a woman should look after herself. If she does not, serious female disorders may set in and often cause weary months and years of helplessness and miserable suffering. What she wants is something to build up her system. For this purpose there is nothing to equal

They are the women's friend in every scene of the ward.

They will strengthen the weak heart, tone up the shaky, starved nerves, make the brain clear, and restore the lost vitality.

Mrs. George Loiness, Stanley Section, N.S., writes: "I was greatly troubled with weak and dizzy spells and was so run down I could not attend to my household duties. I bought two boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and after taking them I found that my trouble had all passed away. I am now strong and healthy again."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25. If your dealer does not handle them, send direct to The Milburn Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

Clever Apology Of Mr. Ingram In House Yesterday

Follows Speaker's Ruling With Reference to Mr. Maclean.

REPORTERS WERE BLAMED

Several Members Have Grievances Against the Press—Mr. Ames Criticizes the Land Administration of the Northwest—Mr. Sifton and Mr. Turiff Reply—Mr. Fitzpatrick's Power Export Bill.

Ottawa, May 11.—In the less feverish air of yesterday, followed Wednesday night's exciting debate in the House on the indemnity question, Mr. Speaker Sutherland informed the members that a part of Mr. Ingram's language in reference to Mr. Maclean had been unparliamentary. Mr. Ingram, after accepting the ruling and substituting language of a milder tone, again complained of The World's report of the previous discussion. Several more personal grievances against newspapers were also aired.

The House generally approved of Mr. Fitzpatrick's bill providing for the licensing of companies desiring to export power or gas.

A debate then sprang up on the land administration in the west. Criticisms by Mr. Ames of land speculation were replied to by Mr. Sifton and Mr. Turiff, and the debate was adjourned.

Bills Introduced.

To incorporate the Burk's Falls & French River Railway Co.—Mr. McKenzie.

To incorporate the Cobalt Range Railway Co.—Mr. McCool.

Respecting Queen's College, Kingston—Mr. Harty.

Respecting the Trans-Niagara Bridge Co.—Mr. Calvert.

Mr. Stockton's committee to consider amendments to the law respecting the sale and advertisement of fraudulent medicines and those containing deleterious or injurious ingredients was increased to eight members, as follows: Hon. Mr. Templeman, Hon. Mr. Fisher, Mr. Bole, Dr. Belaud, Dr. Sproule, Mr. Lennox, Mr. Maclean (Lunenburg), and Mr. Stockton.

G. T. P. Branches Dropped.

Ottawa, May 11.—Provincial rights were discussed again yesterday at the railway committee. When the Montreal Park and Island Railway bill was called Mr. Emmerson pointed out that while he was in favor of the bill, still it was purely a local one, and that if local roads were to be opposed they should be consistent. The bill was reported.

When the bill to incorporate the Grand Trunk Pacific branch line company came up the general clause for construction of branches was struck out. It was decided to put down the bill for further consideration on Friday next.

DELAYS BURTON BILL.

Differences of Opinion As to Depletion of Water of Lake Michigan.

Washington, May 11.—After two days of executive session on the Burton bill for the preservation of Niagara Falls, the House committee on rivers and harbors yesterday appointed a sub-committee to take the bill in hand and report May 21 to the entire committee.

The differences which have made this step necessary concern the amount of water which the measure shall state may be taken from Lake Michigan for the use of the Chicago Drainage Canal.

The delay caused by this action is regarded by some as endangering its passage at the present session.

Earthquake In Nebraska.

Cody, Neb., May 11.—At 6.25 o'clock Wednesday night an earthquake shock, lasting nearly one minute, passed through the Elkhorn Valley, the earth seeming to move north and south. Towns in all directions, for a radius of sixty miles, have reported feeling the shock.

Held Up For $325.

Kemptville, May 11.—About 4.30 o'clock yesterday morning, Wm. Jackson, egg buyer, was held up by two toughs at the point of a revolver, and relieved of about $325.

its wrong starch that costs ---right starch saves two costs

The price you pay for a package of Celluloid Starch is an insurance against clothes-wrecking. For this right starch saves clothes and saves more than clothes. People never go back to the wrong starch once they've tried the right—that's Celluloid Starch.

The price of Celluloid Starch buys just this: A starch that needs no cooking . . . . that's made so it can't possibly ever stick or cling to the iron . . . . that swells under the heat, so there's never a pucker in stiff-starched things . . . . that gives a far better finish with far, far less iron rubbing. Isn't that a lot for a few cents to buy, ... isn't it, when you think of the trouble common starch makes?

Less rub-rub the iron gives the starched pieces, longer those pieces keep from going to pieces. For it's the iron . . . . more than the wear . . . . that wrecks starched things. Here's a starch we say will save that wear . . . . and save worry ironing day. If it will do that, it's worth the cost, ... isn't it now? You can't believe all that's true of Celluloid Starch until you test it.

DRY DETAIL OF INSURANCE

Harry Symons, K. C., Clear Up Many Union Life and National Agency Points—Dividend on Deficit.

Toronto, May 11.—Two sessions of the Insurance Commission yesterday were uninteresting and given over to dry detail. No new points were brought out, although the Dominion counsel took exception to several items in the various annual statements of the Union Life.

Harry Symons, K. C., secretary of the Union Life, cleared up many points that had been a stumbling block to Manager Evans. He was on the stand all day and assisted by Auditor Clay and Cashier Carrie, answered nearly all the questions Mr. Shepley asked.

One important feature in the afternoon was the admission of W. H. Carrie, that the books of the National Agency were in a rather complicated state.

He also insinuated that the work of the Dominion official expert, Mr. Dawson, in compiling the new statement, was subject to correction.

The taking over of the Century Insurance Co. by the National Agency was practically the only new point brought out all day.

Dividend on Deficit.

When the National Agency was in existence a year shareholders who had paid 25 per cent. on their stock and a premium of 25 per cent. clamored for a dividend. The president of the National Agency sought out Mr. Clay, the auditor, and asked him as to the possibility of paying something on the stock. Mr. Clay found that by taking into account the earnings of the next month a half-yearly dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. could be paid. The investigating counsel at the Insurance Commission maintained that when the first dividend was declared there was in reality a deficit of from $32,000 to $35,000. Mr. Harry Symons, K. C., who was on the witness stand, ascribed all of the entries in the asset column to the experts of his company. One of the assets was the organization expenses, and another the contingent premiums, which are the value of the premiums policyholders contract to pay.

Were Fishermen Justified?

Windsor, May 11.—The question of whether the fishermen along Lake St. Clair had the right to catch the fish which were seized by the Government inspectors at Niagara, is to be decided by a Government investigation. The fishermen allege that the pickerel seized was of a kind that they can legally take even during the closed season.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

Ashburnham Horse Won Mayor Eker's Cup

"Wild Rose," Formerly Owned in This City, Won a Race in Montreal Last Night—Was Sold by Ashburnham Man to Percy Pearson.

Special to The Examiner.

Montreal, May 11.—"Wild Rose," owned and ridden by A. H. Pearson, son of W. J. Pearson, won Mayor Eker's silver cup in the hunters' class at the Horse Show here last night. The horse was purchased by Percy Pearson from an Ashburnham man. She stands 15 hands high, and is two years of age. She took the jumps well, but the win was largely attributable to conformation.

None of the local horsemen recall a horse by that name here, but it is probable that she was given that name after Mr. Pearson bought her. The man who sold the horse to him, too, has not yet been found.

MIDLAND LEAGUE OPENS TO-MORROW

The Midland League opens to-morrow when Oshawa will play at Port Hope. There will be no ceremonial parade to commemorate the beginning of another season, but there will likely be a big bunch of Lakeshore fans at the game neither team has had much practise, so the dope sheet does not pick a winner. Still Port Hope with Surphlis doing the box-artist turn look like a betting proposition.

HOCKEY

The Port Hope Guide says:—Mr. A. Alcott, treasurer of the Junior Hockey Club published an article in the Times to-day dealing with the club's finances. It states that the total receipts amounted to $1,179.83 and the expenditure was $1,139.83, leaving a balance of $40. We accept this report, of course, as correct, and we feel sure that every dollar was expended upon the club.

Traveller Near Warsaw Injured

Head Badly Cut Resulting From a Runaway.

Special to The Examiner.

Warsaw, May 11.—What may probably be a runaway accident with serious consequences, occurred about a mile from here to-day.

Mr. R. J. Wilkins, a traveller for the James Corcstine Co., Montreal, was being driven by Mr. Perry Smith, liveryman, of Norwood, to the latter village, when the horses suddenly took fright, throwing Mr. Williams violently out. Four trunks filled with hats, caps and furs, fell on top of him. His head was badly cut, but as yet the full extent of the injuries is not known.

The horses ran about a mile before they were captured. The injured man was taken on to Norwood, where his injuries were dressed.

Preachers Will Tour New Ontario

Rev. Jas. Allen Has Plans for Toronto Preachers' Holidays

Rev James Allen, superintendent of Methodist missions in New Ontario, has prepared a plan by which he will give a number of the Methodist ministers in Toronto a holiday outing in the Northern wilds this summer, and at the same time make use of their time.

He will, in the language of one of them, "have us paddle all day and preach at night." The plan is to arrange an itinerary so that the people in many settlements who seldom hear a sermon may have an opportunity to hear the best men of the Methodist ministry in Toronto. The ministers will be moved from place to place, will camp out, fish, hunt, paddle and have all the fresh air and exercise they need or want. Their old sermons will suffice.

Toronto preachers are enthusiastic in support of the scheme.

Keene Man Not One of Victims

Mr. Edward Eason is Safe at San Francisco.

Special to The Examiner.

Keene, May 7.—An excellent social—was held at the home of Mrs. John Macfarlane, under the auspices of the Epworth League. There was a large attendance and a good programme was run off. Among those taking part in the entertainment were, Mrs. (Dr.) W. T. Harrison, Miss Mabel Harrison, Miss Lillian Bell, who contributed a couple of solos, Miss Minnie Wilson, Miss Jean Hore, and Miss Lillie Macfarlane. After the programme refreshments were served.

Master Harold Smith, who has been visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Dense, in Peterborough, returned to Keene Tuesday.

Mr. George Shearer moved from Lang to Peterborough last week.

Considerable anxiety was felt by the relatives of Mr. Edward Eson, a former resident of Keene, who is now in California. Just a short time before the San Francisco disaster he wrote to his relatives in Keene saying that he intended going to San Francisco, and as they did not hear from him for some time since the earthquake it was feared that he was among the victims. However, they were much relieved to hear from Mr. Eson last week and to know that he was safe.

MACCABEES GROW IN MEMBERSHIP

The regular meeting of Peterborough Tent No. 69, K.O.T.M., was held last night in the Sons of England Hall, at which a large number of candidates were initiated into the Order. A committee was also appointed to make arrangements for the annual picnic, which will probably be held as usual on Civic Holiday.

After the meeting the members present spent an enjoyable time for an hour or more at M. Callum's restaurant, where luncheon was served.

Park Street Baptist Church Reports Show Progress

Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Church Entirely Free From Debt—A Good Balance in the Bank—Rev. A. H. Brace, the Pastor, Receives Increase in Salary—Twenty-nine New Members During the Year—The Reports.

The annual meeting of Park Street Baptist Church was held last night in the church at which the various reports of the different committees and organizations were received and other matters of great importance considered.

All the reports showed a very prosperous year and one which was very gratifying to the pastor and the officers. The financial standing of the church is one of which the members may well feel proud—the church is entirely free of debt and the building fund report showed a credit of almost $375. During the year twenty-nine new members were added to the congregation and twenty-one were added to the membership list of B.Y.P.U.

In the reading of the Finance Committee report, the chairman, Mr. T. G. Gillespie, recommended that the pastor's salary be increased $50, as Rev. A. H. Brace's pastorship during the year had been one given entirely to the welfare and work of the church and the committee considered it desirable that the congregation should show some appreciation of his valuable services. The congregation unanimously approved of this suggestion and his salary was increased.

The chair during the evening was occupied by Rev. Mr. Brace and after devotional exercises the minutes of the last meeting were read by the clerk, Mr. A. Haddow, and received.

CLERK'S REPORT.

The Clerk's report was next presented as follows:—

Received by Baptism	17
Received by letter	8
Received by Experience	4
Total increase	29
Dismissed by letter	9
Dismissed by death	2

A. HADDOW.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT.

The statement of the Finance Committee was next read by T. G. Gillespie as follows:—

Total receipts for last quarter ending April 30th	$276 26
Total expenditure for last quarter	274 15
Balance to next quarter	2 11
Total receipts for year	$1,070 34
Total expenditures	1,068 23
Balance on hand	$ 2 11

To the Officers and Members of Park Street Baptist Church, Peterborough.

Dear Brethren and Sisters,—We have reached the end of another year in the history of our church, and your Finance Committee, wishes to congratulate you, on the success that has crowned the efforts of the members of this church, and their friends, during the year just closed. We rejoice because it has been a year of unprecedented success, financially, during that time we had the pleasure of seeing the old mortgage go up in smoke, and also wiped out our indebetedness to the "Church Edifice Society", we also rejoice with you, that as a church, we are free from debt, and can show a balance of nearly four hundred dollars in the bank.

We attribute our success in a very large means to the untiring zeal of our pastor in his efforts to extend the "Master's Kingdom" and advance the welfare of this church, and now to show our sympathy with him in a practical way and also stimulate him in his work, we would suggest that his salary be increased Fifty Dollars, during the coming year to commence June 1st, 1906.

Respectfully submitted,

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Mrs. Martin was one of the charter members of our circle and her loss will long be felt and deeply regretted by each member who enjoyed the privilege of working with her.

Home Circles' Open Meeting Was Enjoyed

A Delightful Evening Was Spent in Foresters' Hall.

A delightful evening was spent last night in the Foresters' Hall, George street, when the local circle of Canadian Home Circles gave an open social evening to the members of the Order and their friends. The hall was filled, a large number of visitors not connected with the Order accepting the invitation to be present, and, that they enjoyed the evening, goes without saying, for the Home Circle Order, and particularly the local Circle has the reputation, well deserved, of giving its guests a good time, and last night was no exception.

It was an informal gathering, and everyone was made to feel perfectly at home. A pleasing programme was rendered, and the visitors were not only entertained but instructed, the chairman giving a short address in which some facts concerning the progress of the Order were interestingly given. Refreshments were served at the close, and this function proved to be a fitting climax to an evening of solid enjoyment.

The chair was filled very acceptably by Serg.-Major Brittain, and the first number on a decidedly interesting programme was a whistling solo given by Mr. E. Hall, Miss Winnie Anderson playing the accompaniment. Miss Throop followed with a recitation, which delighted the audience and she was enthusiastically recalled and had to respond with a second number. A poem by Mr. J. H. Brittain greatly pleased the gathering. The chairman, at this stage of the evening gave a short talk on the Order, in which he welcomed the visitors, on behalf of the local Circle. He spoke of the present satisfactory standing of the Home Circles in Peterborough, the Order having 115 members in good standing and, possessing excellent prospects for a corresponding growth in the future there was nothing but a gratifying measure of success in store. Mr. Hall favoured the gathering with another whistling solo, and Miss Throop also gave another recitation. Dainty refreshments, served by the lady members of the Circle brought the evening to a close

HICKS AND CO'S NEW SAW MILL

Messrs. Hicks and Taylor, who run a wood and lumber yard in Peterborough, have put in a sawmill at the head of Stony Lake, on Mr. Frank Newall's place, to cut what logs they took out last winter on their own land. They draw the lumber to what is known as South Bay and will ship it in from there in scows to Peterborough by the Trent Valley Canal.

No Sleep For The Kidneys.

Old people are especially liable to Kidney and Bladder Irritation. The organs are weakened by age. This starts up inflammation—blood is not properly purified as it goes to the kidneys—and the bladder is unable to retain the urine properly. There is a constant desire to urinate day and night—and sound, restful sleep is unknown.

A DESTITUTION CASE IN BELMONT

The Havelock Standard says: Some weeks ago the dwelling of Mr. Emmory of Belmont, was entirely destroyed by fire, while the family was away, and everything of value was lost. Since then Mrs. Emmory, who supports her blind husband, has been circulating a subscription list for funds to erect a building for her family, and we understand that she is meeting with encouragement.

A TALK ON INLAID LINOLEUM and It's Advantages

For use in Halls, Dining-Rooms, Offices, Hotels and Public Buildings where the maximum resistance to wear is desirable.

The very nature and composition of Inlaid Linoleum insures durability, composed as it is of White Lead, Ground Cork and Oil with which is mixed the desired colour to produce the pattern. These ingredients being mixed to-gether as a pulp, are pressed on canvas between heavy rollers and subjected to a pressure of about 25 tons weight. Therefore one can easily conceive the superiority over the to ordinary printed Linoleum. The pattern is through the back—will never wear off—colours will never change.

We Offer This Week a Number of Pieces of

Inlaid Linoleum at 75c Sq. Yd.

Short End only—not a full piece of any pattern at this price, regular value $1.00 and $1.10.

England Contributes To Earthquake Victims

London Insurance Companies Feel the Loss Keenly—The Transportation Problem in London—Barnardo Girls Were a Happy Company—Other Immigrants From the British Isles—Salvation Army Still Continues its Work

Special Correspondence to The Examiner.

London, April 25th. — London gasped when the terrible news arrived from 'Frisco, panic ruled the Stock Exchange, for some time, and the most flippant returning holiday-maker hesitated before being funny about "American enterprise again—always doing things on a huge scale!" Telegrams filled columns of the newspapers every day, and now that things have quieted down speculation is rife as to what would happen in London under similar circumstances.

Several hundred Americans residing in or passing through London, gathered at the Hotel Cecil to pass a vote of condolence and to express their sympathy in a substantial form with their distressed fellow-countrymen in 'Frisco. Mr. Whitelaw Reid, in opening the proceedings called for prayer, and the Rev. A. C. Hendley, an ex-chaplain of the U. S. navy, delivered an excellent extempore prayer, at the conclusion of which the meeting recited in unison, the Lord's Prayer. Mr. Whitelaw Reid headed the subscription list with 500 pounds, and Mr. Jos. Fels, of the Fels-Naptha soap company, contributed a similar amount. Altogether subscriptions to the amount of $12,500 were collected in ten minutes, and the amount was immediately cabled to the American Red Cross Society. Lord Strathcona, who was present, said that Canadians felt the disaster very keenly, and the fact that the Dominion Government had voted $100,000 towards the relief of the sufferers, clearly indicated the good feeling that existed between the two nations.

Of course the disaster has affected comparatively few people here directly, with the exception of the insurance companies. The loss sustained by the principal insurance companies alone amounted to £40,000,000, or $200,000,000, and it is said the loss of the smaller concerns will add another $50,000,000 to this enormous total. A few of the companies have excluding clauses with regard to earthquakes but these have been waived and the companies have decided to pay their clients dollar for dollar, without discriminating between fire and earthquake losses. The fact that a number of buildings were purposely blown up in order to check the progress of the fire, has introduced various complications, but it is said the companies are equally liable for these claims. Insurance stocks fell considerably on the Exchange but all the companies are expected to weather the severe blow.

I was sorry to see the result of the investigation of the Royal Commission inquiring into the Canadian Insurance Companies. The American insurance scandals promoted considerable distrust in the U. S. investments of all kinds among English investors, and if any similar abuses are shown to exist among the Canadian insurance companies, it is to be feared that capitalists will look askance at Canada. I don't suppose, however, that there will be exposures of anything like the magnitude of the New York Life frauds; probably such faults as may appear will be mainly faults of mismanagement, which can be rectified.

In the letter before last I spoke of London's traffic and the difficulties it presented. Since then a new possible solution of the problem has arrived and we are waiting breathlessly to see how it works. The petrol motor-'bus came as a blessing but it has its drawbacks. It is noisy, does not smell particularly fragrant, and is hard to start after being stopped. These inconveniences we are prepared to cheerfully submit to in view of its rapidity, but now the "electro-'bus," or electric omnibus, threatens to supercede. One of these "electro-busses" has been constructed, and was a great success during the press trials. I must say I have never ridden through London so comfortably — not a jolt or jar, no rattling, banging or whirring, of machinery, and, above all, no cloud of evil smelling smoke in its wakes. We expect to have them amongst us in about a month and I prophecy that they will come to stay—at least till we get moving sidewalks or air ships.

I should have liked to have been in Peterborough to see the arrival of the little girls that I saw depart last Wednesday. They will be quite experienced travellers by the time they leave the train at Peterborough, but I hope is happy, healthy a band as they looked in St. Pancras station here. Mr. Baker, Dr. Barnardo's successor, who was in charge, of them at the station told me that many of them would find homes in and around Peterborough itself, though some were bound further field. A hundred healthy lasses is not a bad contribution from the Old Old Country. I can picture them "growing up with the country," and probably in the future marrying Peterborough boys and thriving with the city.

On the same day that these adopted daughters of Canada sailed, 450 picked emigrants also left Liverpool under the auspices of the Self-help Society. These are all people assisted out of the Queen's Labour Fund, and they will be known as Queen's men. They are consigned to Mr. E. Marquette, the Quebec Government agent and are bound to settle either in that province or in Ontario. I have seen the detailed descriptions of some of them with their qualifications and they seem a really excellent lot. A great many emigrants, chiefly townbred factory workers, are now choosing Ontario rather than the West and it seems to me that the population of Peterborough and other cities will soon outstrip their housing capacity, and these towns will face the same problem that now agitates London.

The Toronto correspondent of a London daily has, it is said, stated that the Salvation Army has stopped any emigration under its auspices owing to lack of funds. This is emphatically denied at the S. A. headquarters, and, in view of the active preparations they have now in progress it is difficult to see how such a report got about. The Salvation Army would be glad if this is denied in Canadian papers, wherever the report may be current.

The Alien Act recently passed here is undoubtedly very good, as far as it goes, in stopping the stream of pauper emigration into England. But there are too many holes in it and one could drive the proverbial "coach and four" laden heavily with diseased Russian Jews into the country without fear of the law. For instance an Italian or Hungarian can come third-class to Calais or Dieppe and then by paying $0.75, the difference between the third and second-class fare, he can enter the country uninspected and unchallenged. Entering Canada or the States second-class passengers are almost as rigourously examined as are the steerage and this where the difference between the fares is far more than $0.75.

An Australian has written to the papers denouncing the present generation of Britishers as mollycoddles, and making disparaging comparisons between English and Australian boys of 12 or 13 years old the Australian lads being a couple of pounds heavier and an inch and a half taller than the English ones. Whereupon, a Canadian, signing himself "Western Slope," instanced his British Columbian born son, aged twelve and a half years, who is eight pounds heavier than the Australian, and three inches taller.

Standing in Fleet street about 2 o'clock in the afternoon one may see feats of reckless riding unsurpassed at any circus. Darting at lightning speed through the maze of traffic are the cyclist distributors of London's evening journals, and alternately one admires or swears at the tense-faced boy who, with such skill, swoops round a sudden corner, and yet just avoids knocking any one down. Sixty of these boys, employed by a leading evening paper, went on strike this evening, being dissatisfied at the rates at which they were paid. They chose an excellent time for striking, since today the "City and Suburban," one of the most popular races of the year was run, and the fact that it would be unable to place the names of the winners first before the public would lessen its sales enormously. It is believed that the paper will have to comply with their demands, as such skilled riding is only the result of training, and the boys cannot be replaced off-hand. If the press can be dictated to by a few newsboys, what power newsboys must have.

Robert Churchill Bovile, of Holmwood, was killed while hunting with the Warnham stag hounds, of which he was secretary. Mr. Bovile's horse, when taking a fence, caught its forelegs in some wire fencing, and, falling, kicked its rider on the head.

A young gymnast, named Baxter, who wished to qualify as understudy to "The Human Bullet," allowed himself to be fired from the air-gun at the music hall in Manchester. He failed to catch a trapeze when shot out of the gun, and, falling head downwards into the net, was killed.

One of Keller's comrades descended in the diving bell and recovered the body, but life was extinct.

Several tons of earth fell into the excavation made for new sewers in Stockman Road, Hackney, and buried a man named Stanning, who was at work there. It took other workmen a long time to dig him out. He was conveyed to the German hospital, where it was found that he had sustained dangerous internal injuries.

Workmen, while excavating in Sheffield, came upon an iron chest, beneath which they found a five pound note, while inside the chest was a remarkable picture of a miser counting his gold. John Rigg, while working at a quarry at Ambleside, fell 120 feet into the quarry and was killed. With a companion named Capstick, he was standing on a plank suspended by iron hooks from the runner of a ladder. The men were drilling in the rock. The plank slipped from its fastenings. Rigg fell, but Capstick had a remarkable escape. He clutched a rope that was hanging near and climbed to the top of the pit.

The extraordinary spectacle of a wife prohibiting her husband's banns was witnessed at a Wednesbury church, when Walter Williams was charged with deserting his wife. He had been married 10 years, and three weeks ago he got up the banns to marry another woman. His wife accidentally heard what he had done, and she attended the church, produced her own marriage certificate, and publicly forbade the banns.

Two little girls, Alice and Jenny Stavers, aged five and two, respectively, were the victims of a hidden danger at New Lambton, Durham. The children were playing near the pithead on a heap of refuse, when it gave way and they fell into its burning centre. Their cries attracted attention, but before help reached them Jenny was so badly burned that she died within two hours, while her sister now lies in a serious condition.

Mr. James Colthurst, Godwin, iron merchant of Bristol, who was Lord Mayor of that city in 1899, was found shot at Clevedon. He retired from the town council a few weeks ago on account of ill health. His condition was just as usual on the morning of the suicide, but in the evening his daughter, on entering a room at the top of the house, found her father dead, with a six-chambered revolver by his side, three chambers being empty.

A curious story of a "ghost" is being told at Kearsley, near Farnworth, Lancashire. Smoke was seen issuing from a drawer in a dresser of a house in Primrose street, and there was a smelling of burning wood. The drawer was pulled out, but no fire could be discovered. On the following night two women were watching the dresser, when they saw it move forward about a yard without any human aid, and glass ornaments standing on it were thrown to the floor.

April 12 was the warmest day of the year in England and Wales, and four deaths resulted. It was warmer than a mid-summer day. Two soldiers died from the effects of the heat in a march under ordinary military conditions, and 30 others dropped out and were taken to barracks in ambulances. Two labourers were killed by lightning during a severe thunderstorm that swept over Glamorganshire. A house was partially demolished by lightning in the midlands.

William Thompson, a survivor of the famous charge of Balaclava, has just been found at Sutton-in-Ashfield, Nottinghamshire, and the War Office has forwarded him £3 8s. 6d., the first instalment of his pension. It is 40 years since he left the army, and he is now 86 years old. The total amount of the pension he should have received is said to be more than £500. Thompson states that for a considerable time after joining the army his pay under the Duke of Wellington was one penny a day and two meals.

On June 17th next, Mr. Jos. Chamberlain will have completed thirty years' continuous parliamentary representation of Birmingham, and on July 8 he will celebrate his seventieth birthday, and his burg is preparing a remarkable demonstration in his honour. The suggestion which finds most favour is on the lines of the Bright celebration of 1882. This would mean a procession through the streets of say 100,000, a great gathering at Bingley Hall, and some other centre — both to be addressed by Mr. Chamberlain — the presentation of congratulatory addresses, torch-light processions, and fireworks displays.

Observe The Signals

An Examiner classified advertisement is a signal of safety. It means that the man who is advertising in the classified columns of The Examiner is anxious for business; that he wants your friendship, and that he will try to please you. The Examiner classified advertisement is a signal of enterprise. It shows that the man is placing his notice where the most people will see it, and where it will be observed by a critical audience. It will pay you to deal with a man who wants your friendship. A man who is indifferent in this respect may cheat you. It is always worth while to observe the signals, and so it is always worth while reading Examiner classified advertisements.

Nature's Own Healer

Zam-Buk

THE GREAT SKIN-CURE.

THE old Greek custom of anointing wounds and sores with healing balms had its foundation in sound scientific principles. To rub a wound is instinctive; and in Zam-Buk is found the ideal preparation with which to rub or anoint all injured or sore places.

The objection to ointments and embrocations in the past has been that they are imperfect in their action—partly because they generally contain mineral poisons, and partly because they contain quantities of rancid animal fats and oils. A simple theory led to the discovery of a substance free from both these fatal objections. This theory was that nature having implanted the instinct to rub, must certainly have provided in some form the proper substances to rub with. Experiments and investigation led to the discovery and combination of vegetable juices and essences, which, when properly compounded, provided a combination of healing, soothing and antiseptic properties. Zam-Buk, the great natural healer, was the result.

Zam-Buk is entirely vegetable in its composition—absolutely free from all trace of animal fat or mineral poison. In color it is nature's own "green." In operation it is soothing, healing and antiseptic. Applied to burns, cuts or wounds, or to diseases of the skin, such as eczema, etc, it is equally effective.

Whoever watches the healing of a wound, chronic sore, or diseased surface with Zam-Buk, is face to face with one of nature's greatest wonders. The healing process thus set in motion is nothing but a phenomenon of regeneration—a natural process of replacing destroyed tissues by new ones. The antiseptic substances contained in Zam-Buk first attack and kill off the microbes or germs that are the cause of the inflammation or disease, and then the healing ingredients proceed to build up new tissue to replace that which has become damaged or diseased. New cells appear like a builder extending a new row of houses; the whole of the wounded area is gradually over lapped; and soon it is difficult to tell where the injury or sores have been, so perfect and complete is the growth of the new skin.

Write for free sample of Zam-Buk and try it before buying a supply. Note free sample coupon in this article.

Zam-Buk and the Woman in the Home.

In all the many countries to which Zam-Buk has so far been introduced it has invariably become the "house-wife's friend." When one considers its many uses and its handy nature this is not surprising. To the wife Zam-Buk is a veritable good fairy, are her hands rough from the wash-tub, or raw and chapped—she rubs in Zam-Buk and it restores their natural softness. Are her feet sore with being on them all day, she finds relief in Zam-Buk. Baby's skin is chafing and hot—a purer or more wholesome emollient than Zam-Buk she could not have. Her little boy cuts his finger, or her daughter burns her hand while ironing—Zam-Buk again is the healer. Do you wonder then that with these and her many other needs so easily catered for by Zam-Buk, the methodical house-wife should never allow herself to be without a box in the house? There is nothing so healing as Zam-Buk; it is most readily absorbed by the skin (a very valuable property for a salve); it soothes and softens the skin, cleanses the pores, stimulates the tissues, and acts as a powerful antiseptic when there is dirt in a wound. Now that Canadian women are offered an opportunity of obtaining Zam-Buk without writing to England for it—as many of them have done hitherto—they will doubtless welcome the privilege.

What Zam-Buk is Used For.

Zam-Buk possesses a wide range of usefulness, being especially recommended for cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, sprains, stiffness, weak ankles, swollen joints, bad legs, blind and bleeding piles, running sores, eczema, ulcers, pimples, boils, rash, raw chapped hands, scalp irritation, sore heads, barber's rash, raw chin after shaving, sore throat and chest, sore and aching feet, chilblains, cold sores, festering sores, poisoned wounds, and other diseased, injured, and inflamed or irritated conditions of the skin. Rubbed well into the parts affected, Zam-Buk gives great relief for neuralgia, toothache, sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, chest and back pains, and colds, used as an embrocation it ends stiffness after cycling, football, hockey, etc. A BOX MAY BE OBTAINED of any druggist for 50 cents, or post free for the same price direct from the Zam-Buk Co., Colborne Street, Toronto.

The Adventurers

By H. B. MARRIOTT WATSON

COPYRIGHT, 1903, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

"Suddenly the whole business flashed upon me. And, gentlemen, what do you suppose he was proposing? Nothing less than the murder of these poor devils as they lay in their sleep. You think I judged too quickly. Wait a bit. The thing came upon me in an illumination. I believe it was his eyes that did it. But I said nothing of what I felt; what I said was this:

"'There's no other way out that I can see, and if there was another way I wouldn't take it,' and I looked at him very closely, so that he should see what I meant. He dropped his eyes.

"'All right,' he said. 'You'd better go and lie down. I'll think it out.'

"I went, for I was pretty sleepy, and, besides, I thought I had disposed of that worm in his head. And presently I got to sleep, but it couldn't have been for long, for I was awaked by some sound in the night and sat up. The Greeks were snoring about me, but somewhere I could hear a regular noise, struck at intervals and coming from a little way off. It was still dark, but I guided my steps to the sound, and what do you think I found? Mr. Greatorex, gentlemen, it has a nasty sound, and might very well go for a lie in another man's mouth."

Sercombe took a sip from his glass. "I struck a match, and there were some feet of earth piled just in front of me and below that a man digging—digging, with his head at the level of my feet. He started at my light and uttered an exclamation, and then stopped, looking at me. We watched one another till the light went out. Then I stepped forward and grabbed his neck.

"'By the Lord,' I cried, 'I am in two minds to throttle you and make this place a grave for yourself!' And, by George, I would have done it for two pins! He wriggled in my grasp, and I jerked him up and landed him on the surface.

"'Look here, Hood,' said I, releasing him, 'I've known your bad qualities for ten years, and I've seen you do things that beat most things I've seen, but I haven't come to this, nor you won't, while I'm by.'

"'Very well,' said he, like a lamb. 'I'll fill it in.' And he never said another word.

Sercombe paused again and refreshed himself, casting a glance at us in which I thought I detected a look of fear renewed from his experiences.

"Perhaps you say," he went on in a slow voice, "that I might have cut and run for it. That thought occurred to me, but I put it off. I thought this was a mistake on their part which I could explain. Anyhow, I thought, they're taking no active proceedings. They want to pen me up, that's all, and the morning was wearing on, and, to say the truth, I thought I'd argue it out and have some food, but I soon found that, for any arguments I had, I might as well have talked to the wind. To begin with, only two of them understood more than a sailor's English, and of these Stamboulos merely grinned by way of reply, while the other paid no heed. What Hood had said to them I don't know. He had pretty well alienated them from me before this—and they were only the scum of the earth to begin with—but up to now they had proved pacific. I guess he poured some poison into their ears. That dirty Levantine breed is superstitious. Perhaps I was supposed to have the evil eye, but more probably it was filthy greed that was at the bottom of it. Anyhow, I could not come to terms with them, and so I sat in my place, with my back against a ledge of rock, and whistled. 'All right,' I said, 'I'll dine on it.'

"It may have been an hour or two later when they prepared a meal for themselves. Up to this it hadn't occurred to me to wonder where my food was coming from. But just as this notion came on me I saw Stamboulos, who was the worst of the lot, approaching with a dish in his hand.

"'Come; this looks better,' said I. 'They're only playing it down on me after all.'

"He came to a halt a yard away and, grinning all over his face, offered me the dish. I was pretty hungry by this time, but there was that in his grin which made me sit up. I fixed my eyes on him.

"'You're a nice sort of scoundrel!' I said. For answer he grinned wider than ever out of his black mug and, slowly drawing a paper from his pocket, emptied a yellow sort of powder deliberately over the dish.

"I believe I turned white; at least I know I felt it. That notion had never entered my mind. But the vermin set down the dish before me and returned to his companions, who greeted him with laughter. Sickness wasn't the word for what I felt. I kicked the dish away and stood up, a fury yelling in my belly. I was not going to wait. This last straw tickled me into action. I ran down the slope toward the track, but, quick as I was, there were three of the devils after me, and I am not so fleet as I was once. One of them came up with me and jabbed his knife at me. I got him in the head with my fist, and down he went, but before I could recover I got a push in the back, and when I pulled myself up there were two long blades gleaming in my eyes. To go farther would have been to impale myself on a bayonet, and I drew off and backed slowly to the rock again. Here I sat down, and for the first time I was afraid.

"Gentlemen, I will not go through the series, for the time gets on and I've work to do, with your help. But take that for a sample. That was one. Well, you can multiply that by a dozen. I sat at my post till dark, without food, of course, and then in a sort of blind despair of the darkness I gathered some big stones about me. I could use them and break some eggshells if nothing more. And a little after that night fell.

"I tell you, sirs," said Sercombe in a husky voice, "I don't want the horrors

"Set down the poisoned dish before me."

of that night—no, not as long as I live. And, what's more, I don't want any man, save one, to pass such a night as that. There were things that crept up my brain that night. I confess to you that I know what D. T. means. I've seen a bit in my life, but to sit still and have that game in one's head till the maggots worm about there, and—I got one with a stone; at least, I think so. That was good.

"I saw the dawn rise in a crimson glory. It fell over the cavern and got at the bushes about me. Then it crept on and advanced over the drunken Greeks. Sirs, there they lay, and I never knew it! With that hell in my soul and that great fear of death roasting out my nerves, I had lived through a carouse. I saw them every minute of the night. They had their orders. I knew that well enough. I can hear Hood at it, with his low and humble voice:

"'Let me find him rotten when I come back.' I know the man, I say. Yes, I heard his voice every moment of that night—last night, Mr. Greatorex—and all the while the swine lay drunk or numbed.

"See here, gentlemen. I came in an hour ago. I had had no food for thirty-six hours. I have been hunted like no human being for all that time. I was without a weapon. I had no means to call for aid. I was the subject matter of their knives, as plain as if I was a post mortem. I"—

Sercombe's breath fell short, and he gathered it in with a gasp. He lifted the glass to his lips and sucked in the spirit greedily. Then he resumed more equably:

"I went back to the cave, but this time I was not going to sleep, for I would not trust that black devil any more than Beelzebub. A little after I took a sleepy fit on me, but I fought against it tooth and nail. I sat up, with my back to the rock, and looked out of that window, as you might call it, at the growing light. Of Hood I got no sign, and there I sat and yawned and swore and pinched myself to keep my eyes open until one by one the Greeks stirred about me, kicked their legs and opened their eyes. Then I knew that my vigil was over, and when Stamboulos got up, shook himself and went outside to look at the morning I reckon I fell asleep.

"I slept very heavily for an hour or two, for when I awoke the sun stood high in the heavens. But not a sign of living human creatures was there about me. I sat up sharply, thinking that Hood had played the trick upon me as I had thought of playing it on the Greeks. So up I got, wondering where the deuce they all were, and I issued out of the mouth of the cave. As I came forth my eyes fell on a group of them standing together in close conference just before the cavern, but there was no Hood. I went up to Stamboulos, the very man I had with me in the Ionian islands, and to my amazement he turned sharply away.

"'Hello, sonny!' said I in surprise, but without reply they all vanished into the wood and left me staring after them with a mouth wide open. What had come to them? I asked myself and gaped for an answer.

"I thought I was bewitched. There was still no Hood, and presently I sat down to breakfast and the Greeks returned and grouped together a little way off. But when I approached they sat silent and gave me no answer till, getting beyond toleration, I seized two and cracked their heads together. But, upon that, up leaped one of the scoundrels and drew his knife on me. I stepped back, but Stamboulos, a dirty thief, took him by the arm and whispered in his ear, and there were noddings all round the party.

"By this time, as you may guess, I was in a deuce of a huff, and off I strode into the wood, whistling to show my indifference. It was silly, no doubt, but I did not want a pack of skunks like that to imagine I was worrying about them. Just as I had got a dozen yards or so I heard some one come into the forest after me and, turning, caught sight of a man named Demetrios. 'What are you after?' thought I. But I paid no attention and kept on. I kept straight ahead, for the wood was very thick there, and there was no one about. I only wanted to get away for a spell and consider the position. But after a bit I pulled up and took a seat on a patch of heather where the ground was more open. The morning sky shone on the bushes and worked into the corners of the forest, and as I sat there in a meditative way I heard sounds coming nearer, and presently Demetrios pops his head out of a bit of shrubbery and glances at me. Immediately after some one approached upon the other side, and I caught a glimpse of another of the gang poking his ugly phiz from behind a tree, and then, again, I found a third to the left. This set me up right awake, and I asked myself what it meant. You can't wonder if I could not make it out. Could you have tumbled to it? Well, I didn't, not just then. But, for all that, it made me angry. I rose and ran at Demetrios with the express idea of kicking him; but, retreating, he slipped out a knife and snarled at me like an angry dog, and at the same time his fellows drew up to support him. I had come out without a weapon, and I was at a disadvantage, but by this time it seemed to me to be growing serious, and so I made off back toward the cave. The beggars followed me.

"When I got near the cave—there is a track that runs hard by, winding somewhere over to the western valleys, but unfrequented—'I will take a walk here,' I said to myself, and accordingly I turned off, but at that motion of mine there was a sort of scrambling among the undergrowth and three of the cut-throats barred my path, each showing an ugly knife. 'Very well,' thought I, 'I don't know yet what you're up to, but I'll warrant I'll find out, and meanwhile I'll see that I'm on a little better footing in the matter of arms.' I got back to the cavern, where the two remaining scoundrels sat tossing coins, and I went in. My revolvers had been removed, and there was not so much as even a pocketknife left to me.

"You will conceive now that I began to be scared. What was the issue of all this? I moved down toward the slope, and two beasts got in my way and grinned at me. I turned back and tried another route, but there I was confronted by two more. I tell you that it dawned on me then that it was plain black murder they meant!"

"You will see that this could not go on, gentlemen. I decided that morning to run upon the knives, if I could do no more. At the first sign of my stirring Stamboulos was by me, with his creese.

"'All right,' I stammered, 'finish me,' for I was as weak as a cat and all a sweat.

"He laughed and went away, shaking another man by the shoulders.

"I lived through that day somehow, but it was not so bad as the night—no, not by a long way. All the while I was snarling like a tiger prepared for a spring, and spring I did. Look here.

"In the afternoon—I guess it at 4 o'clock—I started out. They took me to be too weak, I think. The Levantine is as cruel a creature as God made. He loves blood, but I believe if he is educated to know starvation is worse he will choose starvation. Stamboulos chose starvation, I take it. I starved. That was a good joke to them as they waited for the end of me and the coming of Hood. They were safe enough perched in that high hollow. But I started out. I ran down and gained the track. Then of a sudden I thought they could catch me in the open track, and I jumped off into the forest.

"They were after me—oh, yes, smart enough, the lot of them, I think—but I sped through the growth like a tough. I was a hare, I tell you. I was upon a cinder track; that was how I felt. I neara nothing and saw little, but presently something clutched me, and on the instant I turned. There was nothing could stop me now. I got him and his neck in my hands, and I pulled and squeezed. I should have knuckled the soul and the life out of him, but I had no weapon. He raised his hand. I saw his knife. It got me somewhere."

Sercombe raised his coat, and a black stain showed on his shirt.

"But I held on, and I choked harder. Then I heard other voices. I think I was supersensitive just then. It ran over me suddenly that the game was up. 'All right, knife me,' I thought, and the black brute did. It struck my shoulder blade, and I dropped my hands off him and lay still."

He ceased. We drew our breaths deeply.

"I knew I was done," he said. "I wanted no bother. I lay quiet. Then I was conscious that he was off me and stood there looking down.

"Presently there were some feet close by my head, and through my half open eyes I saw there was another of 'em, and he was looking down. I didn't care, but I must have gone off about that time, for when I looked up again there was no one there, and I felt stiff and faint and sick in my stomach."

GOLD OF THE WORLD GOES TO JOHN BULL

Washington Star.

Some startling facts are revealed in the report of the director of the mint just issued by the treasury department, for 1904. First is the discomforting knowledge that the English flag floats over the countries contributing 58 per cent. of the total gold production of $228,000,000 for 1904, while the United States must be satisfied with 23 per cent. Secondly, English capital is shown to be mostly active in the United States, Mexico, South America and Russia, and in gathering the profits there from the best mines to swell the total of 23 per cent of the bonded indebtedness of the world, owned by the people of the United Kingdom. Thirdly, it indicates that the financial shortsightedness of our Government, and of our moneyed men, is responsible for a goodly part of this disparagency.

No other product of nature has so fired the imagination, stimulated the energies of mankind, without regard to race, colour or climate, as the search of gold. Almost universally distributed, no nation or race is ignorant of its value. Unlike any other product, it is money per se, and the fixed unchangeable medium of exchange and measure of value for everything bought, sold, or bartered in the markets of the world. It moreover, becomes, wherever found, at once a permanent, not temporary, addition to the world's wealth. However it may change its form, it still remains the fixed unit of value. While 16 per cent. goes into industrial use, much of that returns to the melting pot to become again primary money.

The story of gold is the story of conquest, of war, of peace, of government, of civilization. Its production, therefore, becomes a serious question to our national life, and an economic factor to be studied by our statesmen and publicists, as well as of practical suggestion to our moneyed men.

This report of the treasury is approximately accurate for a period corresponding to that of our national existence—1792-1904. It is not necessary here, however, to go further back than 1860. From that date until 1872—twelve years—the gross gold production of the world was $1,628,-000,000. This vast sum is exceeded by the production for the years 1893-1901—$1,791,000,000—the year 1904 reaching $346,000,000, of which, as before stated, 58 per cent. comes from British territory, and the remaining 42 per cent. goes largely into London because of English capital being the greatest factor in development of both the new and old gold fields.

What is the explanation of English supremacy in gold production, in other words, of primary money? And why this indifference of our Government, and our moneyed class to this vital industry that is becoming more profitable each year through advanced metallurgical knowledge of the production of ores?

London is to-day the best market on earth for the sale of meritorious mining property, wherever located. The absorption of such shares seems without limit. This condition of things does not obtain on New York, Chicago, or elsewhere in the United States. Why? May it not be due to the stricter accountability exercised by Parliament over the corporations, and corporate acts, thus precluding the frenzied over-capitalization of companies, which, in many of our States, is not only allowed, but brazenly encouraged through the grant of wide-open charters and of stockholders' liability? These "fee begging" bids are a disgrace to our people, and a just criticism of our Government itself.

Are such charters other than legal licenses to chicanery and fraud and a stimulus to speculation so reckless that otherwise profitable industries are wrecked to satisfy a gambler's day? Is not this stricter accountability by the one government and the greater disregard by another government (our own) responsible for the difference in character and intentions of the two peoples—considered as investors — nationally considered.

The English public, protected by laws enforcing obedience by corporations, are investors, wanting only reasonable interest and a return of principal at long periods—conditions that contribute to economy, increasing wealth and personal responsibility.

The American buyer of shares in any institution is rarely an investor, he buys for speculation. He knows that his minor interest has no protection against a major interest, and that success in careful building up is too slow for any speculative clique that would not hesitate at anything to "bull" or "bear" his shares, even to "closing down."

This has been the history of our industrial development. The same disregard of common honesty that killed the "golden goose" of life insurance, is keeping our industries, including mining, from becoming, as Judge Grosscup says, "peoplized" and is fast turning over our mineral wealth to Europe to our impoverishment, just as through reckless waste our forest reserves are denuded.

The point I wish to emphasize is that American money ought to dominate the mining industry far more than it does, especially in the United States, and that closer reciprocal trade relations with Mexico (thought by many well informed to be the "treasure house of the world"), would give us there the untold advantages in trade that are ours for the asking, and by an intelligent application of good business judgment and enterprise.

What is true of Mexico applies equally to Central and South America. There is no influence so potent for peace as intimate trade relations between nations. We should think of this more when the Panama Canal will soon emphasize our self-imposed suzerainty over these southern republics.

The Railway Tax And Whitney Government

Lost in Office the Courage Show in Opposition.

The Provincial Government has brought down a railway taxation measure of a comparatively mild description. It demonstrates the insincerity of the conduct of Mr. Whitney and his followers, when in Opposition, in throwing their support to the Pettypiece bill, which provided for a much more drastic degree of railway taxation than Mr. Whitney and his followers, clothed with the responsibility of office, now propose. Their offer to support the Pettipiece bill is shown to have been a trick and manoeuvre, a playing fast and loose with legislation involving enormous financial interests. If Mr. Pettypiece had walked into the trap by moving the second reading, the Government might have been overturned, but the false friends of his measure would have repudiated it, as they have now done.

The Matheson bill, brought down yesterday, reaffirms the principle of mileage taxation introduced by the late Government. The impost is practically doubled. Railways exceeding 150 miles in length in organized districts will pay $60 a mile for single track, and $20 per mile for additional trackage, instead of $30 and $10 as now. In unorganized districts the tax will be $40 and $10 respectively, instead of $20 and $5 as now. Electric railways over 150 miles in length will pay $10 per mile for each track, but there will be no increased taxation on street railways.

For the year ending Dec. 31, 1905, the provincial tax on railways, excluding street railways, yielded $191,-990.15. It is estimated that the new mileage tax will yield an increase of between $180,000 and $190,000. Of this the large sum of $30,000 will be consumed by the expenses of the railway commission to be appointed, and the cost of collecting the railway taxes and distributing them among the municipalities, which are to receive one-half the balance.

It is figured that each municipality will receive from this source 5 cents per head of population. But the Provincial Government is by no means acting as their good fairy. It demands a quid pro quo, and a stiff one, in the form of contributions towards the maintenance of the insane. Hitherto the asylums have been supported exclusively out of provincial funds. For the first time since Confederation, a portion of the burden is to be thrown upon the municipalities. Each of them is to be required to pay 10 cents per day for every asylum patient from within its own boundaries. In most cases the Government is taking more from the municipalities than it is giving. The departure is a very radical one, and it will be necessary for the Government to advance strong arguments to convince the public that the new policy is necessary or reasonable. During the late regime we heard from the Conservative party that the municipalities had been pillaged by the Government in respect call this new burden laid upon them by a Conservative administration!—of liquor license fees. COD LIVER OIL and IRON

Add PHOSPHORUS and you have FERROL

For many years it has been recognized by physicians everywhere that Cod Liver Oil and Iron should be given in combination if possible, as where one is required the other is in all probability needed, too, each enhancing the value of the other.

Strange to say, although many attempts have been made, no one ever succeeded in combining the oil and iron until, quite recently, a Canadian physician, after some years of study and experiment, managed to solve the problem He then added just a little phosphorus; the result is which contains in an elegant, palatable and easily digested emulsion Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus, the exact constituents necessary to Increase the Weight, Enrich the Blood and Build up the System.

No argument is needed to prove the value of such a preparation in the treatment of Bronchitis and Pulmonary Diseases, Scrofula, Rickets, Anæmia and wasting diseases of any kind.

For Croup, Whooping Cough and Chronic Coughs and Colds Ferrol is an absolute specific.

FERROL is not a patent mystery. The formula is freely published. It is prescribed by the best Physicians. It is endorsed by the most eminent Medical Journals. It is used in prominent Hospitals, Sanatoriums, etc.

FROM PULPIT TO POORHOUSE AND BACK TO THE MINISTRY

Once Prosperous Rev. Wm. H. Smith Is Discovered in a Lapeer Congregation and Set on His Aged Feet Again.

Lapeer, Mich., May 11.—Emerging from the poorhouse, an aged preacher turned to a church in this city for spiritual comfort, slipping in unheeded and sitting quietly in a pew. Others began to tell their experiences in open meeting. He was moved to tell his. This is the story.

With three good farms and a substantial bank account to his credit, Rev. William H. Smith, pastor of one of the United Brethren churches in Ontario, was considered one of the wealthiest men in the community where he resided some 30 years ago.

But reverses came. Smith has been married twice. His first wife was a victim of tuberculosis, and when death ended her suffering, her husband's fortune had dwindled to almost nothing.

When he married his second wife trouble arose over the residue of his property, and in order to save his good name he gave Mrs. Smith No. 2 all he had, and left her to shift for himself. He finally located near Columbiaville, ten miles north of Lapeer, where he preached, having no regular charge.

AAdvanced in years and having no home, the friends of former years on foreign soil, he must face the inevitable, and as a last resort landed in the poorhouse. There he remained during the past winter.

On a beautiful Sunday morning in April with the aid of a walking stick he came to Lapeer and asked a stranger to direct him to the "little church," the Protestant Methodist. He reached the church about 9 o'clock in time to attend "class meeting." Before the meeting closed he testified and remarked that he was a regularly ordained minister, but not of that denomination.

Rev. C. England, pastor of the church, gave his brother minister a corial welcome, and invited him to the rostrum at the regular service. While the choir was singing the opening song, and when it was announced that "Brother Smith" would preach there was a surprised look upon the faces of the congregation.

Rev. Smith, 74 years of age, arose, and with a few explanatory words entered into his subject with Christian fortitude, and when he had finished, the astonishment was even greater than when he started.

"When I listened to that sermon," said Rev. England, "I said to myself, 'Is it possible that one of God's chosen servants should occupy a room in an almshouse?' I had been asking the president of our association to send me a man to assist, as I had more work than I could attend to, and had to drop the church at Millville.

"I believe God had answered my prayer in sending this man to fill the vacancy. Had I not done something for this saintly person I felt that God would take everything I have."

How The Man From Glengarry Goes

For Him the Whole Boundless Continent is His.

The Cornwall Freeholder points out that a surprising proportion of the great railway contractors of the continent are Glengarry ro Stormont men. J. D. McArthur, who has recently secured the contract for building the western section of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, aggregating over $13,000,000, is a Lancaster man. By June 1st he will have 10,000 men on his payroll. A. R. McDonald, who with his partner, Mr. Hogan, is to build four or five million dollars worth of the Government section, hails from Williamstown. D. D. McBean, who has just finished the Harlem tunnel at New York, an enormous work, hails from Lancaster. James A. McIntosh and Donald McIntosh, of Milwaukee, Wis., were recently awarded the contract for building 1500 miles of road for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul corporation, the price of which was nearly $50,000,000. This is said to be the largest contract ever given to one firm for railway building on the continent of America, or in the world for the matter of that. Their native place is St. Andrew's, Cornwall. Besides these there are the Grant Brothers of California, W. A. Grant of Illinois, and the McDougalls of Milwaukee, all representatives of that Celto-Canadian element that has made so distinct a mark in the Glengarry-Stormont settlements of Ontario. There must be something in the mental equipment as well as in the big, vigorous frame of the people of that section, which fits them for this sort of work.—Torronto Globe.

OBITUARY.

DOUGLAS BERTRAM.

The Toronto Globe refers in the following terms to the death of a young man well known here:

It will be learned with deep regret that Mr. Douglas Bertram passed away on Saturday morning after a three weeks' illness. He was only 23 years of age, and died in the flower of his youth at the opening of a career which gave brilliant promise. Mr. Douglas Bertram was the son of the late Mr. George H. Bertram, M.P. Showing marked musical talent when a lad, he was placed under Mr. A. S. Vogt for instruction in music, principally in piano playing. After a few years' study with Mr. Vogt he successfully developed both his musical knowledge and his technical ability, and was sent to Germany, where he studied under the famous Professors Jedliszka and Frederick Lamond. He returned to Toronto about a year ago and commenced his professional career as soloist and teacher. His death will be a great loss to the musical community. He was an estimable young man of blameless life, and completely devoted to his art. The funeral, which will be private, takes place at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

LITTLE Bell BIOGRAPHIES

Mozart

WOLFGANG AMADEUS MOZART, though but 35 years old at his death, left a name second only to Bach's. He was born in 1756 and died in 1791. He was the first "infant prodigy" of the musical world, and his career proves the necessity of having good music in the home for the making of a musician.

When the merest child, Mozart would always be found at the clavier picking out sweet little melodies. When four he was placed under a teacher and even then composed short pieces which astonished his parents and instructor. At seven he played so wonderfully that he made a concert tour of Europe. Before he was ten he had written six sonatas, one composition for full orchestra, and an oratorio. At twelve he wielded the conductor's baton. Of his many compositions the most popular are his opera, "The Magic Flute," and his "Requiem;" the latter sung by some friends and himself as his eyes closed in death.

As a pianist Mozart was the originator of the concert tour, and as great in his day as Paderewski in ours. But, like Bach, he was handicapped by the instrument he used—the clavier. How wonderful had been his music if he could only have played upon

The Bell Piano

With all his powers he could not even imagine the pure beauty of its FULL, RICH, SINGING TONE which makes it the most perfect piano in the world.

BANK OF MONTREAL; HISTORY AND SUCCESS

New Head Offices—The Largest Most Monumental Bank Building in the World.

The Bank of Montreal was founded in stormy times. England had only recently concluded arrangements with Austria, Russia and Prussia, relative to the future of France, now that Napoleon was put where he could no longer disturb the peace of Europe. Trade in the old land was seriously depressed, and bread riots prevailed. The Habeas Corpus Act was suspended and gatherings of the unemployed were fired on by the military. There had been a succession of bad harvests, which, combined with the financial storm caused by 23 years of war with France, and the outbreak of war in India, had brought the monetary affairs of England into an alarming condition. Politicians were busy with schemes for relieving the depression, one of which, in 1817, was the Act establishing the present silver, and gold coinage.

On the 23rd of June, 1817, several citizens met in Montreal, and subscribed £25,000 towards founding an institution to be known as the Montreal Bank, afterwards the Bank of Montreal. With incomprehensible stupidity the Colonial Office refused to sanction the Act incorporating the institution. Probably there was some fear of the Army bills being sent home for redemption at an inconvenient time. Notwithstanding this the Bank was opened for business on 3rd November, 1817, with a paid up capital of $350,000, at the office in St. Paul street, between St. Francois Xavier and St. Nicholas streets. The event was one of the most memorable in Canadian history, it inaugurated a new era, it was Canada's Financial Birthday.

The new institution came into close association with the Government, a relation which, with some temporary interruptions, has since been maintained to the eminent advantage of the Bank, the Government, and the country. To the first it brought prestige, inspiring public confidence, to the second it gave invaluable services as a financial medium and convenience, also as a negotiator and provider of loans, while to the mercantile community it offered a safe resort for deposits, a monetary reservoir into which ran the streams of savings and surpluses from which flowed supplies of capital that gave life and vitality to an embryonic trade. To the founders of the Bank of Montreal, Canada owes an inextinguishable debt of gratitude.

In 1820 the Bank was incorporated by Act of Parliament, which received Royal assent on May 18th, 1822. During this year there were clouds gathering that presaged the disastrous financial storms which a few years later swept scores of English banks into insolvency, and made the financial path of Canada full of peril. Through these years of distress the Bank of Montreal passed unscathed.

Though pre-eminently a Canadian bank, it has been the policy of its Management to establish agencies in centres outside the Dominion where Canada has large commercial interests. Besides, therefore, its hundred odd Canadian branches, it has offices in London, New York, Chicago, Spokane, Newfoundland, and Mexico. At all of these points it enjoys an importance commensurate with its stability and magnitude, and affords valuable facilities to Canadians away from home.

Since 1817 Canada has developed from being a scattered collection of hamlets along the shores of the River St. Lawrence, into a nation which, in population, in trade, in wealth, in transportation facilities is superior to many of the kingdoms of Europe, and is in a fair way to rank with France and Germany ere another generation has passed.

Without engaging in sensational methods of competition or indulging in unprofitable expansion out of keeping with sound and conservative banking, the Bank of Montreal during its eighty-nine years of history, has been one of the most effective agencies in the development of the Dominion, amply justifying its ere l though not actual, title of "Canada's National Bank."

Description of New Building.

Probably the largest, and, architecturally, the most monumental bank building in the world, is the new building of the Bank of Montreal. A new lot of about 200 feet frontage on Craig street, and about 100 feet deep, directly opposite the east and west axis of the old building on St. James street, was purchased. As the grade of Craig street is about 25 feet below that of St. James street, it was possible to bridge the intervening space over Fortification Lane between the two lots, so that the old building, with its connecting bridge, became a sort of propylaea leading to the new banking room. The given conditions afforded an unusual opportunity for a satisfactory solution of the problem.

The building on Craig street has a frontage of 180 feet, and is set back about seven feet from the buildings on the east and west, so that it is practically isolated. The entire fronts, including the walls on the east and west and on Fortification Lane on the south, are of Chelmsford granite. An idea of great security is gained by the massive front on Craig street, which is without openings for a height of 16 feet above the sidewalk. Above this level the windows of the safe deposit rooms, vaults, etc., are heavily grilled, giving a massive appearance suggestive of the buildings of Rome and Florence. The bridge over Fortification Lane is carried on the heaviest kind of steel construction, and its appearance of strength suggests a railway viaduct.

The only public entrance is through the Corinthian portico of the old building on St. James street. This leads directly to the main banking room, which occupies the entire area of the new building at the St. James street level. From this banking room, ample staircases and elevators descend to the rooms of the Royal Trust Company and the Clearing House below. The entire central portion of the building below the banking room floor [illegible] extensive vaults, which stand on their own foundations, and which are protected by grilles of massive steel reaching to the ceiling. A basement, finished throughout in enamel brick, for the storage of articles of value, is below.

The easterly end of this section of the building is occupied by the Clearing House and committee rooms and by lunch rooms, locker rooms and lavatories, for the clerks of the Banking Department. Below this are the kitchens.

The boiler room is directly under the main hallway at the Royal Trust Company level on the Fortification Lane side, and is connected by a tunnel under Fortification Lane with the old building, so that the heating, ventilating, electric lighting, etc., throughout are controlled by one plant. There is a sub-cellar below the kitchen and storage room levels, extending underneath the entire structure, which furnishes a convenient place for the running of pipes, ducts, etc., and is also an additional protection to the building as a repository for articles of great value.

The main banking room is in the form of a Roman Basilica, like the famous churches of St. Maria Maggiore and San Paolo Fuori. The Basilica type of room, as is well known, was originally used in Roman times for the great meeting halls, wherein all kinds of business transactions were made, and while it became, in Romanesque times, a type for many of the churches in the vicinity of Rome, it is, historically, as well as practically, an appropriate type for a large banking room. The main floor is about 60 feet wide and 165 feet long, surrounded by a colonnade of 32 Corinthian columns, 31 feet high, of polished green Syenite, with Belgium black bases, and solid bronze capitals plated with gold. These columns are separated at intervals by massive piers of Pink Knoxville marble, which material is also used for the entablature around the entire room. Above this colonnade arises a clerestory, which gives continuous light on two sides, roofed by a flat coffered ceiling of simple and dignified design. The remaining floor space behind the columns is in the form of an aisle, with a ceiling at the level of the architrave over the columns, in which are located the entrance to vaults, correspondence department, stairways to the Royal Trust Company, letters of credit rooms, etc. The counter screen extends the entire length of the room, leaving a floor space about 20 feet wide for the public along the southerly side of the main floor. This screen is the longest of its kind in the world, and is of bronze, surmounted by electric lights, with a base of Levanto marble, inlaid in patterns.

One of the largest parts of the undertaking was the remodelling of the old building on St. James street. The directors of the Bank had a great deal of sentiment for this old building, and it was desired not only to retain the front in its entirety, but to restore the dome, which formed a part of the original design of the building, and which, on account of the settlement of the old wooden trusses of the roof, had, in later years, been removed. To find a suitable interior expression for this dome was one of the principal architectural problems of the design.

Passing through a small vestibule of Pink Knoxville marble, one enters the main rotunda, which is approximately the centre of the old building. Looking directly up through an octagonal well hole in the ceiling, the main dome is seen rising to a height of about 90 feet above the entrance. The domical room proper is really, at the third storey floor level of the old building, and forms the central hallway, around which are grouped the various departments of the head office, from which is conducted the general management of the various branches of the Bank of Montreal throughout Canada. Above this, and reached by a slight projecting gallery around the dome, is a floor of bedrooms and bath, occupied by some of the employees of the bank.

It has been the aim throughout, in the interior treatment of the building, to obtain an effect of extreme simplicity and dignity. The materials are of the finest quality and finish. By the use of few materials, however, in large masses, great breadth has been obtained, and the general effect of grandeur is principally due to the large scale and frequent repetition of the individual units. The main walls of all the public spaces are of Pink Knoxville marble, finished with an antique tooled surface. The columns are of a polished green Syenite granite, from Vermont, and in their solidity and richness of character are in some respects suggestive of ancient porphyry. The bases throughout are of Belgium black marble, and the caps of the columns of solid bronze, plated with gold. The colour scheme has, consequently, been a simple one of three colours—the mauve tone of the Pink Knoxville marble, the gold of the caps, and the green of the columns. These colours have been repeated throughout the plaster work of the superstructure, so as to give an effect of harmonious simplicity. The banking room proper is most elaborate in its decoration, all the ornament of the ceiling being richly outlined in gold. A graduation of tone has been introduced from the banking room to the main entrance, by which the amount of gold is appreciably diminished as the entrance is approached, the ceiling of the dome, seen through the octagonal opening, being entirely white. In this way the banking room becomes the central or focal point of the entire scheme, to which all the other sections of the building are subordinated.

The Royal Trust Company, the Clearing House and the halls leading to the head office, are finished more simply, with plain white Norwegian marble trims and simple panelled plastered walls, painted in light tints. The rooms of the Manager and General Manager are finished in mahogany, with panelled plaster walls and ceilings in simple tints, and marble mantels of great solidity and simplicity. The board room on the second floor is somewhat more elaborate, with English oak plastered and panelled walls extending to the ceiling; the frame of the main entrance door, the mantel and base being of black and gold marble. The ceiling of this room is elaborately panelled and coffered and finished in a dull ivory tone.

Sunshine Furnace

WHERE DOES YOUR HEAT GO TO?

The science of furnace-building is the utilization of all the heat units.

The "Sunshine" furnace utilizes all the heat and sends none up the chimney.

You can't put your hand over the chimney when some furnaces are in use, because so much heat goes up the chimney. Your hand would be burned. That is heat wasted, time wasted, because it takes so much more firing up when a large part of your heat is lost.

The "Sunshine" Furnace is built to extract all the heat units from the fuel and distribute them through the house. It does not waste heat like common furnaces.

"I have suffered with kidney and liver trouble and chronic constipation for some time. I was subject to dizziness, bilious headache, nervousness drowsiness, pains in the back and side, and a tired, weary feeling nearly the time.

"I tried almost every remedy, was treated by doctors and druggists with little or no benefit.

"Finally, a friend advised me to try Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill, and the results have been truly wonderful.

"My husband has used Anti-Pill for rheumatism and was benefitted greatly We agree that Anti-Pill is a most wonderful medicine and heartily recommend it."

The Genius Of Westinghouse

The Importance of His Inventions Recognized the World Over.

George Westinghouse has a creative mind. There is no country in the world, says Success Magazine, where a train runs, or an engine works, or a dynamo turns, in which his name is not honoured and familiar. He has brought new mechanisms and new industries into being; he has contributed largely to the progress of modern methods of transportation and communication which have shaped to such an extent the relations between individuals and communities, between nation and nation. The postoffice, the telegraph, the railways and the steamship unite the most distant regions. Upon these modern life is wholly dependent, in its social, industrial and commercial phases. Stephenson gave us the railway, Westinghouse made the modern complex railway system a possibility by his inventions which control the movements of trains. Had he done no more than this his name would still stand among the great archives.

George Westinghouse will be 60 years of age next October; he is built on a massive scale, tall and as strong as a blacksmith. He is alert, far-sighted, quiet, sanguine, and untiring, with a constitution strong as nickel steel. He is a most agreeable man to meet, and has a rare faculty for inspiring others with his own enthusiasm.

A remarkable fact in his career is the early age at which he became prominent. At the age of 22 George Westinghouse made his first great invention, the air brake. This was the source of his fame and fortune, and since that time his life has been so intimately associated with the history of engineering and of manufacture that it is impossible to think of many of the great advances of the past 40 years without thinking of him.

Port Hope To Have Another Industry, Too

The Press of That Town Airs a Grievance Against Harbour Board.

The press of Port Hope has a grievance. The Board of Harbour Commission meet and do not tell the press anything about it until after the meeting is over.

That is an indignity which the Guide will not stand for and that paper says of it:—

A meeting of the Harbour Commissioners was held in the council chamber yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. As usual there was no notice sent to the press and we are obliged to make our report from the little we have been able to gather from the different members. Postal cards were mailed to all the members notifying them of this meeting and it surely wouldn't have been much trouble to drop one to the press. A couple of the members state that most of the business was of a private nature and is not yet ready for publication. The Guide has no desire whatever to publish any business which might prove detrimental to the town's interests, but at the same time we do not like being entirely ignored. One of the members of the Board has promised to move a resolution to have the Secretary notify the press of all future meetings and this, no doubt, will overcome the trouble.

The chief business was in connection with the proposed new factory. Mr. Bush, on behalf of the Central Foundry Company with a capitalization of $200,000, made application for the lease of the buildings lately occupied by the Radiator Co. and for the storehouse on the west side of the track. The Company intends manufacturing cast iron steam pipe fittings. They want a lease of all the buildings for ninety-nine years and exemption from taxes except school tax. They agree to employ at least twenty-five men the first year and pay out in wages $24,000.

Malta-Vita

"The Perfect Food"

Same Big Package Same High Quality

Now 10 cts.

Malta-Vita "The Perfect Food," malt life, as its name implies, stands for that intense vitality that results from the daily use of a food skilfully prepared from the whole of the wheat, of which, after being cooked, each kernel has been subjected to the searching digestive action of the diastase and other enzymes of barley malt. This makes it a "predigested" food of highest nourishment value, which explains the remarkable results obtained in cases of nervous debility, deranged stomachs and constipation. Besides, it is the best food to eat.

"We have used several boxes of Malta-Vita and think it the finest food we have tried yet. Having used different kinds, we find Malta-Vita has a flavor which excels all others. We had almost despaired to find something our baby could eat without being distressed. He had, since birth, been a constant sufferer from constipation and a general derangement of the stomach and bowels. Since we began feeding him Malta-Vita he has improved wonderfully in health and is entirely cured of constipation. In fact, myself and husband realize a great benefit since using the food, as we have suffered from general debility. We find it gives life and tone to the entire system." Name given on request by Malta-Vita Pure Food Co.

MALTA-VITA is a food with a "taste." It does not belong to the tasteless variety of "flaked foods" and no great credit cannot be claimed for Malta-Vita on account of the fact that it contains its own sweetening agent—maltose always being present in a proportion exceeding eight per cent and sometimes ten per cent. This is a healthy, digestible sugar, formed by the action of the malt diastase upon starch and it causes the stomach no inconvenience. This is not the case with flaked foods that are sweetened by cane sugar, beet sugar, maple sugar, boiled cider, glucose or grape sugar, as all these cause acidity in the stomach and are seriously injurious.

Our Boys and Girls

Tom Tit's Experiments

I AM going to suggest three experiments today, boys and girls.

I. Mesmerism.—Take a gold ring, as heavy a ring as you can get. Fasten a silk string to it, about 12 inches long. Attach the other end of the string to your forefinger and let the ring hang about half an inch above the surface of the table. Rest your elbow on the table to steady your hand. Hold your finger horizontally, with the thumb stretched out as far as possible from the hand.

Now, if there is nothing on the table, the ring will soon cease to swing, will, in fact, become stationary. If, however, you place some silver, say, three or four half-dollars, beneath the ring, then the ring will immediately begin to oscillate backward and forward, toward you and away from you.

Bring your thumb now in contact with your forefinger (or suspend the ring from your thumb), and the oscillations will become precisely transverse to their previous swing. Or you can produce the same result by having some one take hold of your disengaged hand. As soon as the transverse motion is plainly perceptible, then have some one of the opposite sex take the second person's disengaged hand, and behold! the ring will change back to its first form of oscillation.

Can you tell Tom Tit what it is that produces these effects?

II. Hearing With the Teeth.—Now try an experiment to show whether the teeth are conductors of sound; in other words, whether we can "hear" through our teeth.

Lay a watch upon a table, the glass or face downward. Stand off at such distance from it that you cannot hear the ticking. Now take a stick long enough to reach from you to the watch, place one end on the back of the watch and grip the other end between your teeth. Put your fingers in your ears to shut out disturbing sounds and then listen. You will find the ticking of the watch as audible as if it were held close to your ear.

This is only one experiment. You can try others of your own originating to prove the same thing.

III. Lighting a Candle Without Touching the Wick.—Burn a candle till it has a good, long snuff. Then blow it out with a sudden puff. A wreath of bright white smoke will curl up from the hot wick.

Now strike a match and touch the smoke even at a distance of two or three inches above the candle. You will find the flame will run down the smoke and rekindle the wick!

This experiment must be tried in a room free from draughts, and with nobody moving about and no doors opening and closing.

Tea Cup Signs.

One leaf alone, alone you'll be,
Two together, the priest you'll see;
Three in groups, your wish you'll gain,
Four, a letter from loving swain.

Glad Rags --- A Lesson

LITTLE boys and little girls who have pockets full of money, playrooms full of toys, beautiful silk frocks and nursemaids at their beck and call! What perfectly good times they must have! So think the children of the little side streets and the little country villages, perhaps.

But, children, let some one that knows tell you, "It isn't so!" Half of those children would give all they have to be able to join those little Raggedies, who seem to be and really are having a perfectly glorious time, although they have ne'er a penny, ne'er a toy, are dressed only in rags, and have no hired maid to brush out their frowsy locks.

Bless their little hearts, how well they prove that "glad rags" are more to be desired than sad silks!

The Great Lumber Fire

"BANG! Bang! Bang!"

"Clang! Clang! Clang-clang! Clang! Clang!"

"Bow-wow! Bow-wow-wow-wow!"

"Fire! Come on, boys, come see the fire!"

With all this wildly exciting medley of noises from bells, engines, dogs and boys, do you wonder that Jack Bevins and his dog Caesar rushed from the house in breathless haste and joined the great throng hurrying in the direction where the evening sky was even now lurid with reflected flames?

If Jack had run across any of his cronies, perhaps the events I am about to tell you would never have happened.

Skirting the huge furnace, as it were, where the flames were roaring beyond control, they worked their way through fire engines and debris to the corner where the roof of the office could be seen.

But alas! just as the young man was hurrying toward the office, regardless of balls of fire falling on all sides of him, a policeman halted him.

"Lemgeroum here," said he, "Get out of here immediately."

"But—but—but—" stammered the fellow, so desperate that words failed him just as he needed them most.

At this juncture Jack, who had fallen a little behind in the race arrived, and

He did look for them among the strange faces all about him, but not a soul did he find whom he knew.

It came about that he looked more closely at his fellows in the crowd than he would have if he had had a companion to talk to.

"If that's Leaman's lumber yard, our whole week's payroll in banknotes is locked up in the office, and if the flames reach that tin cashbox where I put them, nothing can save the banknotes. And I'll get all the blame—deserve it, too, for not having put the money in the safe. What made me forget? O Gad! I'm ruined!"

Thus it chanced that he noticed a thin, slight, anxious-eyed young fellow of 15 or thereabouts, who appeared extraordinarily anxious to push his way to the front of the crowd. Locked elbows, however, retarded his progress just as he came abreast of Jack Burns, who could plainly see him clench his teeth in desperation.

"Go on tiptoe outside and keep perfectly quiet while we peep. Sh! Sh!! Ah! see! There they come."

"Oh, mother dear, how happy they look."

"Yes, children dear, they are thinking of the six hungry brothers and sisters and the poor disabled father and mother at home—of how happy they will be to see the larder filled with plenty again."

Riddle.

What compound word of two syllables is the answer to the following riddle?

Did you ever see Didymus Finnegan Jinks,
With his smiles, and his frowns, exclamations and winks?
Oh! never before, since creation, methinks,
Did the world ever witness the equal of Jinks!

He would get in a rage, and seem ready to burst,
If any to question his strange quibbles burst.
You must know that he set up to practice my FIRST,
But of its professors was, really the worst.
No better by far have no dealings, methinks,
With the said Didymus Finnegan Jinks.

His coat it was seedy, and shabby his hat;
His trousers were bare where he frequently sat;
His hair it was long, his head it was flat,
And his voice was a squeal like the mew of a cat;
So better by far have no dealings, methinks,
With the said Didymus Finnegan Jinks.

One day he came out in my SECOND quite new,
And he seemed to delight to expose to the view
The silk of his hat and the sole of his shoe;
But he scarce to his neighbors would say 'How d'ye do?'
And yet there could be no mistaking, methinks,
That this was but Didymus Finnigan Jinks.

Now what made the change in this comical man,
Who from shabbiness straightway to foppery ran?
He had found a new victim; and, as 'twas his plan,
To empty his pockets at once he began;
And many there are who do likewise, methinks,
As well as did this Didymus Finnigan Jinks!

Whether my WHOLE succeeded or not, Didymus never troubled a jot;
He always got paid to the last of the "shot."
And his victims were left to bemoan their lot;
So always beware of the smiles, frowns and winks,
Of men like this Didymus Finnigan Jinks.

THE TALE OF THE LITTLE MOUSIES

"LITTLE folks, little folks, come quickly—but very, very quietly—and see the pretty sight—in the pantry."

"Oh, what is it, what is it, mother, dear?"

"Come and see for yourselves. Sh! don't make any noise. There, look!"

"O-o-o-oh! How dear little mice!"

"A-a-ah! With Jimmy's little cart."

"What have they the cart for, do you suppose, mother dear?"

"Sh! Speak low, my darlings! We'll ask them and see. Keep perfectly still while I talk to them. S-s-s-t! S-s-s-t! S-s-s-s-t! Can-n-n-nn little mousies. We're your friends, ne-e-ever fear! What is the matter, pretty mousies, what are you here for with that little cart? Don't be afraid to talk, for we are your friends."

"Oh, missus, we're ver-ry, ver-r-ry poor!"

"Indeed, missus, poor as poor can be!"

• • •

"Why, you po-o-or little mousies! Are there just you two?"

• • •

"Oh, no, there's six mor of us at home."

"Yes, six, 'sides Pinky-ears and me."

"Is your father living?"

• • •

"Yes, but—boo-hoo! boo-hoo! P-Pinky, you tell!"

"Why, missus, he—he—he had a dreadful fawl!"

"From one of these pantry shelves he fell!"

"And now he can't walk at awl, at awl!"

"Sprained three ankles, for he fell pell-mell!"

"And musser carried him home like a bawl!"

• • •

"So you have a mother. Can't she find food for you?"

• • •

"Boo-hoo, no! Musser has roomaticks!"

"She's laid up helpless, too."

"We haven't enny food at home."

"We're hungry an' don' no wot too do!"

• • •

"Poo-or little things! But why have you that cart?"

"'Cause, 'cause—the folks at home want some dinner."

"Pieces, missus, there are ten of us; don't think us greedy"—

"But we'd be oh! so very, very happy"

"If you'd spare some crum's and feed the needy."

• • •

"Why, of course, you poor dear mousies. Suppose you hide behind the starch box, for I know the little folks' clatter will frighten you. Now, children dear, find some bread crumbs. Yes, Jimmy, you may take that quarter loaf, and some pieces of cheese, and fill the cart. That's good. Now tiptoe outside and keep perfectly quiet while we peep. Sh! Sh!! Ah! see! There they come."

"Oh, mother dear, how happy they look."

"Yes, children dear, they are thinking of the six hungry brothers and sisters and the poor disabled father and mother at home—of how happy they will be to see the larder filled with plenty again."

He did look for them among the strange faces all about him, but not a soul did he find whom he knew.

It came about that he looked more closely at his fellows in the crowd than he would have if he had had a companion to talk to.

"If that's Leaman's lumber yard, our whole week's payroll in banknotes is locked up in the office, and if the flames reach that tin cashbox where I put them, nothing can save the banknotes. And I'll get all the blame—deserve it, too, for not having put the money in the safe. What made me forget? O Gad! I'm ruined!"

Thus it chanced that he noticed a thin, slight, anxious-eyed young fellow of 15 or thereabouts, who appeared extraordinarily anxious to push his way to the front of the crowd. Locked elbows, however, retarded his progress just as he came abreast of Jack Burns, who could plainly see him clench his teeth in desperation.

"Go on tiptoe outside and keep perfectly quiet while we peep. Sh! Sh!! Ah! see! There they come."

"Oh, mother dear, how happy they look."

"Yes, children dear, they are thinking of the six hungry brothers and sisters and the poor disabled father and mother at home—of how happy they will be to see the larder filled with plenty again."

saw at a glance the dreadful predicament of the young man—so near and yet so far!

The policeman glanced at him in surprise.

"Get out of here, boy. Don't you see how dangerous it is!"

Jack thought it best to conciliate the policeman, so he turned away, calling to the young man:

"Better come along. It is frightfully dangerous here."

But the moment they got out of earshot of the policeman Jack said:

"Maybe now you can slip around to the office without him seeing you. I'll keep him busy watching Caesar and me."

"But—it is dangerous around here," expostulated the young man. "You oughtn't to take such a big risk for me."

"Go; don't lose precious time!" begged Jack.

With a swift look of gratitude, then a side glance in the direction of the policeman, the young fellow plunged into a deep shadow, then sped silently toward the office.

A large, flaming stick crashed down close to Jack's feet, startling him dreadfully, but he held his ground. Caesar began to whine in token of uneasy apprehensions, but Jack merely repulled:

"Steady, Caesar; just a few moments longer."

The flames roared, crackled nearer and nearer, leaping to the skies, darting down to their very feet, as it seemed. The furnace heat blew into their faces with the force of a blast. But Jack held his ground.

Would the young man never return? Had he—oh! terrible thought—had he been swallowed up in the furnace to share the fate of the banknotes?

The policeman rushed up to him, having just discovered his presence.

"You fool, you! Don't you know you're looking into the jaws of hell?" he shouted, and with a rough grasp of Jack's coat collar, dragged him ignominiously into a place of safety, whither Caesar was only too glad to follow.

But little did Jack care how he was treated, for his heart was gladdened by the sound of the young man's voice calling after him:

"All right, boy. I have them safe."

FOR YOUR MAY-DAY PARTY

WHAT have you decided to have on the little place cards for your May-day party?

If you can draw, suppose you paint little forget-me-nots on them and letter prettily the word "Forget-me-not" in one of several languages, using the English word in one.

The French, "Ne m'oubliez pas," on another;

German, "Vergissmeinnicht," on another;

The Spanish, "No me olvides," on another;

Italian, "Non ti scordar di me," on another, and so on.

And, if you choose, you may letter prettily or neatly write on the other side of the card some pretty sentiment such as the following:

"Farewell! a word that must be, and hath been;
A sound that makes us linger; yet—farewell!"

• • •

"Wher'er I roam, whatever realms to see,
My heart, untravel'd, fondly turns to thee."

• • •

"Though lost to sight, to memory dear."

• • •

"Absence breaks slender ties, but rivets strong ones."

• • •

"Though the deep between us rolls, Friendship shall unite our souls."

TEACHING DOGS TO RETRIEVE

A FEW practical words to you boys and girls about teaching your dogs to retrieve, which is something all wish their dogs to learn.

Begin when they are pups. Almost any dog, of course, will chase a ball and easily acquire the habit of fetching it for his master.

Next he must learn to fetch game.

If the first bird he brings in shows the marks of his teeth, he has held it too tight in his mouth—a bad habit to form. Don't let him form it. Teach him better at once by giving him for his next fetching exercise a ball of yarn wound over pins in such a way that on the least undue pressure the pins will prick his mouth.

After a few runs after the ball, your dog will have learned for good and all to mouth any object with great caution and delicacy; therefore your birds will be safe.

If for any reason, however, he needs further discipline, arrange pins in a skinned bird pasting some feathers over them, so that here, too, the dog will feel the pin points if he mouths too hard.

Keep this discipline up till you are certain that this time he has thoroughly learned his lesson.

For the words of command to teach a pointer or setter in the hunt, consult any hunter of your acquaintance.

IDEAS FOR A JUNE PARTY

OF course you want it out-of-doors. If you have plenty of ground at home, good! But if not, then better plan to take your guests to the park or the woods.

Suppose your party is at home.

Decorate your porches with potted plants and bowls of flowers. Hang daisy chains from post to post. Swing hammocks under the trees. Place rugs here and there on the grass and scatter chairs around. Prepare a swing, a croquet ground, a ring toss game, a guessing nook, a gay donkey for the tail pinning stunt blindfolded, you know.

In a corner arrange a table for serving lemonade, shading it with a large Japanese umbrella.

Set small refreshment tables out here and there, each with a pretty centrepiece and a bowl or vase of flowers.

Provide a soapbubble contest. Place the girls on one side of a tennis net or a rope, and the boys on the other. Have the girls blow bubbles, and the boys try to keep these bubbles from floating across to their side of the partition.

Also arrange a birthday flower hunt. Get artificial flowers—snowdrops for January, primroses for February, violets for March, daisies for April, hawthorns for May, roses for June, poppies for July, waterlilies for August, goldenrod for September, asters for October and holly for December.

Tell each child to hunt for the flower belonging to the month his birthday is in.

In a week or so some suggestions will be offered.

Roxie

A knowing-looking Irish terrier was seen the other day following a man into one of the Long Island dog shows. He wore a large collar inscribed as follows:

"I'm Roxie, the Long Island dog. Whose dog are you?"

It seems that Roxie is an orphan, has no owner, and looks out for himself. Every morning the year round he boards the newspaper train out of Long Island City, greets the trainmen in the usual manner of an old friend, jumps out at every stopping place to say "Good morning; glad to see you!" to everybody in sight, returns to Long Island City on the homeward trip of the train and is on hand for the following morning's trip as usual.

Everybody loves Roxie, and he never has to go without a meal.

A HOMEMADE MAGIC LANTERN

YOU boys and girls all know what a magic lantern looks like, so you will be able to follow the directions for a homemade one that will give you hours of fun to pay you for your trouble.

This plan comes from the Scientific American originally, but as described here is somewhat simplified so as to be practicable for you.

Take an ordinary packing box made of wood, about the size of the box part of the usual magic lantern, a Kerosene oil lamp with an Argand burner (or a Welsbach burner and rubber tube for attachment to the nearest gas connection), a small fish globe and a burning magnifying glass (common double or plano-convex lens).

Cut a round hole in one end of the box, large enough to admit a part of the globe (which you must suspend on the inside from the top of the box). Close behind the globe set the Kerosene lamp.

Next make a strong solution of common table salt, and with it moisten a piece of common window glass. Stand the glass up vertically in front of the box exactly on a level with the globe partially protruding through the hole in the box.

Try the light from your burner on it to see if it is properly focused on the glass by the globe.

Now set up a screen or curtain upon which you wish to cast pictures. Between it and the piece of window glass place your reading glass in such position that the rays of light are focused through it upon the screen.

When everything is in correct positions, you will find the salt solution on the window glass crystallising, each group of crystals taking beautiful forms, which will appear on the screen in the shape of beautiful fairylike trees.

By dropping different colors into the water with which the globe should be filled, you can cause the pictures on the screen to take different colors.

You can keep the panorama going on indefinitely by renewing the application of salt solution to the glass.

ANAGRAMMATIC LETTER

A GIRL named Geraldine received a letter from a young man named Fernando.

Fernando did not wish any meddling person to understand it if it should be seen, so he twisted the order of letters in the capitalised words in order to make them seem different words altogether.

Can you read the letter?

Here it is:

My dear ERIN-GLADE:

I send you a letter in A HAG-MAN, knowing that the HOUSE-RATS of such learned books as yours will soon come to an RED NUTS AND GIN of my meaning.

I can imagine that NO STERN ACTION of your good father, the CRYMANGLE, should this EARLY BAT of my feelings for SURLY FOE FALL into his hands.

So I will place it upon the I CREEP SAFE, where you will find it when you descend to your quite SPRUCE GARDEN.

Any of his I HIRE PARSONS would expect the heaviest NINE THUMPS which words could inflict, in approaching the CRYMANGLE as the accepted THERE WE SAT of his only AGED RUTH.

Please advise me whether to employ a PLINY ATE NO TRIPE, or whether to come myself with what MAD POLICY I can command.

LOVE TEDDY,

How This Proverb Originated

"Money makes the mare go"—a proverb familiar to all Americans—originated in England.

It was in the first place a line in a humorous song and was worded "Money will make the mare to go," meaning the sort of man who drives his horse as he drives a bargain—so hard that no one can possibly get ahead of him.

The song ran as follows:

"Will you lend me your mare to go a mile?"
"No, she is lame leaping over a stile."
"But if you will her to me spare
You shall have money for your mare."
"Money will make the mare go."

The Chorus of Frogs

"Yaup! Yaup! Yaup!"
Said the croaking voice of a frog;
"A rainy day
In the month of May,
And plenty of room in the bog!"

Yaup! Yaup! Yaup!"
Said the frog, as it hopped away;
"The insects feed
On the floating weed,
And I'm hungry for dinner today."

"Yaup! Yaup! Yaup!"
Said the frog as it splashed about;
"Good neighbors all,
While you hear me call,
It is odd that you do not come out."

"Yaup! Yaup! Yaup!"
Said the frog; "It is charming weather;
We'll come up and sup,
When the moon is up,
And we'll all of us croak together."

SUNLIGHT SOAP

is better than other Soaps but is best when used in the Sunlight way. Follow directions.

SUNLIGHT WAY OF WASHING

FIRST.—Dip the article to be washed in a tub of lukewarm water, draw it out on a washboard and rub the soap lightly over it. Be particular not to miss soaping all over. THEN roll it in a tight roll, lay in the tub under the water, and go on the same way until all the places have the soap rubbed on, and are rolled up.

Then go away for thirty minutes to one hour and let the "Sunlight" Soap do its work.

NEXT.—After soaking the full time rub the clothes lightly out on a wash board, and the dirt will drop out; turn the garment inside out to get at the seams, but don't use any more soap; don't scald or boil a single piece, and don't wash through two suds. If the water gets too dirty, pour a little out and add fresh. If a stretch is hard to wash, rub some more soap on it, and throw the piece back into the suds for a few minutes.

LASTLY COMES THE RINSING, which is to be done in lukewarm water, taking special care to get all the dirty suds away, then wring out and hang up to dry.

For Woollens and Flannels proceed as follows:—Shake the articles free from dust. Cut a tablet of SUNLIGHT SOAP into shavings, pour into a gallon of boiling water and whisk into a lather. When just lukewarm, work articles in the lather without rubbing. Squeeze out dirty water without twisting and rinse thoroughly in two relays of lukewarm water. Squeeze out water without twisting and hang in the open air.

☞ The most delicate colors may be safely washed in the "Sunlight" way.

$5,000 REWARD will be paid to any person who proves that Sunlight Soap contains any injurious chemicals or any form of adulteration.

5c. Buy it and follow directions. 5c.

pretences. Two men named Douglas Bevan and Frederick whitby were arrested at Liverpool in connection with the charge. Mr. Bates, who prosecuted, said that Whitby was ill, and unable to attend, but, as it appeared from the papers he had only been a tool in the hands of the others, he asked for his discharge, which was granted. Mr. Bates further stated that warrants were out against other persons, and that the police were on their track across the water.

A short time ago mysterious cheques began to arrive at Irish banks—the mystery being occasioned by the weird signatures they contained. Inquiries brought to light the fact that they were in Irish, and some correspondence ensued. In the end the directors of the National bank agreed to accept cheques signed in Irish, provided the signature was repeated in English. One of the advantages of this system, as the bank pointed out, is that it acts as a double protection on the property of depositors and bondholders.

SCOTLAND.

The total land area of Scotland is 19,069,421 acres, the population 4,472,103, and the valuation for 1905-6 £31,264,176 according to a parliamentary paper issued recently.

Mr. John Reid, of Govan, Glasgow, whose death in his seventy-fourth year is announced, was the last white survivor but one of Dr. Livingstone's African exploring parties. Sir John Kirk is the only remaining survivor.

The work of heightening the roadway at the entrance to Tweedside mill, Peebles, has been begun, and the alteration of the Parish church steps will commence next week. These are the concluding portions of the Tweed bridge improvement scheme.

Thomas McMullin committed suicide in a police cell at Falkirk by cutting his throat with a piece of window glass. He was in custody on a charge of stabbing with intent to murder. He managed to break the window in his cell and so obtained a fragment of glass, with which he cut his throat.

The representatives of Messrs. Stirling & Kinniburgh, contractors, Glasgow, brought the first of their plant on to the ground at Harelaw Farm, where the reservoir is to be created in connection with the new waterworks at Chirnside. Mr. Ferguson, inspector of poor, cut the first sod, and Mr. Bilsland, on behalf of the firm, presented Mr. Ferguson with the implement he had used in cutting the first sod as a memento.

A fine act of heroism was displayed in Glasgow when William Munro, a lad of 17, descended into a naphtha tank and rescued two workmen who, when cleaning a tank at the Glasgow Chemical Works, had been overcome by the gas. Several men who tried to help them retreated, unable to endure the fumes. There were cries for volunteers, and Munro promptly stepped forward. He was lowered into the tank, a veritable death trap, where he fastened ropes around the seemingly dead men. Munro then climbed out, and the men were dragged up and taken to a hospital.

A railway accident occurred this month on the Caledonian mail line between Eccleschan and Kirtlebridge. One passenger, a lad of 15, was killed, and several travellers were slightly injured. The express goods train, known as the "Flying Goods," was on its journey south from Buchanan street, Glasgow, and when near the Service bridge the axle of the third wagon broke. The wagon turned turtle and derailed three others behind it, scattering them over the down or north-going line, and causing them to tear up the track for a long distance. The goods train had hardly been brought to a standstill when the express which leaves Carlisle at 8.10 p.m. and is due in Glasgow at 10.20 and in Edinburgh at 10.30 was seen travelling along the level stretch from the south. A speed of 70 miles an hour is sometimes attained on this part of the line, and at the time the express was running at its customary high speed when it ran into the wreckage. So great was the force of the collision that the heavy express engine and nine of the eleeven coaches were forced from the metals and driven along the side of the track for a considerable distance, and were at length brought to a standstill by an embankment and hedge. In such circumstances it might have been expected that with almost a full complement of passengers the death roll would have been heavy, but it was in the second carriage only that the one fatal injury occurred, and there that the majority of the passengers were injured. This coach was thrown completely across both lines broadside, and the one victim, a boy named Harold Blackwood, the son of Mr. William Blackwood, a foreman fitter, of Barrow-in-Furness, was afterwards found beneath it.

Fishing Exploits On The Rice Lake Waters

How Two Young Lady Novices Were Unsuccessful in One of Their Expeditions—Rod and Gun for May Tells the Story.

"Rod and Gun in Canada" for May has the following story from the pen of Miss A. R. McKee:

The August day was warm and delightful; blue Rice Lake lay before us smooth and inviting, and Molly and I decided to try our luck at fishing for bass. Alluring tales of large catches made near Jubilee Point had come to our credulous ears, and, though inexperienced, we were young and hopeful. So directly after dinner we set out for the boathouse with great expectations. Two fishing poles, a supply of harvest apples and a sock. Molly's big brother (not thinking we would use one of his) had advised us to use a sock for holding our bait, and this we intended to catch near the boathouse. There, when one is going rolling, the frogs hop about in multitudes, but when we appeared with our two bamboo poles there was never a hop. So we climbed a fence into a nearby and froggy pasture field and then our afternoon's sport began. The prospective bait looked so slippery.

"Just locate a frog, grab a fold of your skirt and swoop down on him suddenly," directed Molly. We both did this carefully and often, but the swoops greatly outnumbered the frogs caught. However, after half an hour's hot and strenuous toil we had captured seven. They were a bit big, but we had to be satisfied.

On arriving at the fishing grounds we found several canoes and skiffs already anchored there. Somehow the occupants spotted us for greenhorns, and advice as to a good place to anchor came rolling in. Not desiring many neighbours, we rowed on some distance and stopped beside a good natured looking man in a large straw hat (we heard him called Hugh). Hugh kindly told us how to drop anchor. I had no trouble in doing this, but Molly clutched me tightly lest I should disappear over the gunwale.

"Now we had better bait our hooks," remarked Molly, briskly. "You hold the frog and I'll shut my eyes and jab the hook into him, poor little fellow."

"Into my hand, you mean. No, thanks," I answered.

We finally had the frog on safely, and were none the worse friends. We found that our second line had no hook, so took turns in holding the pole that we could use. I was Molly's guest, so had first go. Molly is very tender hearted, and had me pull the frog in often to see how he looked. She reported him each time as "doing as well as could be expected."

But no bass bit.

Then Molly tried. Hugh, for some unknown reason, decided to move a short distance away. Before he left he said, "If you ladies have any trouble getting your anchor aboard yell like anything, and I will come and help." We thanked him and said good-bye, and he rowed off and anchored beside a stout man whom we had decided was a New York millionaire. This man looked like an American and had a financial air and an expensive guide. His elaborate fishing tackle made our plain book and line look very primitive but we remembered the luck of the famous boy with the bent pin, and were not envious. But no luck came.

Occasionally our affluent neighbour would grunt, "a perch," and viciously throw his line to the guide to have the offending fish removed. Molly and I, patiently taking turns with our rod, would have been grateful for even a perch, but none came our way.

Slowly the summer afternoon wore away. The August sun shone serenely down on us — a soft breeze gently ruffled the waters. Nothing broke the stillness but an occasional exclamation: "A perch!" and the distant "whir-r" of a steam thresher far away. During those halcyon hours of sunshine, even our millionaire must have forgotten that a hurrying world lay beyond the circle of the hills.

Still not a bite. Even the expensive tackle had caught nothing but despised perch.

"It's time to go," said Molly, at last. "Shall I yell like anything for Hugh?" But this was not necessary.

Sadly we started for home — our seven frogs still with us. We kept our patient little bait on as he still looked pretty husky, and we thought we might use him on the way home.

We rowed quickly along and were feeling hot and tired, when we met Jerry, an Indian acquaintance. Jerry looked cool and comfortable, and was placidly smoking, but he answered our breathless 'Any luck?' by showing us several fine lunge under some boughs in his canoe.

"Any luck?" asked Jerry, in his turn. "None," we answered mournfully, "and we have no trolling line with us."

"Just use your pole for one," he advised. "I often do that."

So when we left him we towed our durable little froggy along after us. But no lunge bit.

When nearly home we thought we might as well set our frogs free. Those dumped out of the sock swam off gaily, and the one let off the hook bravely set out for the shore, too. He looked a bit feeble, but to this day we believe he got there just the same.

Of course, big brothers and others asked us where our fish were. Molly and I did not care. We ate a huge supper, feeling like true sportswomen—for had we not caught seven—frogs? And we slept the sleep of the merciful—for had we not liberated seven from the warm and woolly confines of a sock prison.

Rome was not built in a day. Before we are old and infirm Molly and I may be famous for our fishing.

TABAH AFFAIR AND TROUBLOUS TURKEY

A British fleet is gathering in the vicinity of the Dardanelles and a squadron is hastening to the Red Sea. Storm signals are up and the waters o fdiplomacy are being lashed into fury. Will the Sultan brave Great Britain? is the question asked in the Chancelleries of Europe, and if he does what will happen?

It is time for us in Canada to know soemthing more about the Mount Sinai Peninsula than we learn in Deuteronomy. The Sinai Peninsula has suddenly become important in World-politics. For a long time there has been a revolt against the Sultan's authority in Arabia. To aid in puttting it down and in getting a firm grip on the Arabs, Abdul Hamid has been building a railway with the aid of German capital from Damascus toward Mecca. This railway passes near the Sinai Peninsula, part of which under an old convention belongs to Egypt, and therefore in effect to Great Britain. The Sultan, ignoring the fact that Egypt is really part of the British Empire, decided to "relieve" the Egyptian troops in the Sinai region. He sent 5,000 men to garrison Akabah, the best natural harbour on the Red Sea, and famous in the days of King Solomon as Elath, whence the galleys sailed to the Land of Ophir. He proposes to connect Akabah with his Damascus-Mecca Railway and make a naval depot of it. So far he was strictly within his sovereign power. For Akabah was Turkish territory.

His next step, however, roused the sleeping lion. He authorized the seizure of Tabah, a town in the Egyptian part of the Sinai Peninsula, and his officers in carrying out his orders, actually imprisoned some British officers who made a row. He was asked quietly to give up Tabah. The usual delay followed. Commissioners were sent from Constantinople, who reported to the Sultan that the town was Turkish territory. Lord Cromer moved most energetically at Cairo, and the result is that British troops are hurrying to Egypt and British battleships are steaming towards the Dardanelles to teach the Sultan that Egyptian soil is British soil, even if still nominally a part of the Turkish Empire. The lesson will be a hard one for Abdul Hamid, but it must be learned some time or other.

A Magazine of Much Interest

This Month's "Rod and Gun" Contains Many Excellent Articles.

Fishing and fishing stories are the predominant notes in the May number of "Rod and Gun in Canada," published by W. J. Taylor Woodstock, Ont. It is appropriate that the opening of the fishing season should be marked in this way by Canada's leading sporting Magazine, and the generous manner in which the fare is given ought to rejoice the heart of every fisherman. Mr. F. P. Armstrong leads off with a well written description of his capture of a salmon, not notable for his weight, but his fighting qualities, and the graphic account given of the death of this champion enables the reader to follow every episode in the long encounter, and his triumph of the angler, with the deepest interest. How the members of an American fishing club found Temagami an ideal fishing ground and enjoyed the best outing of their lives is told by Mr. T. P. Bresnan, who was one of the party. Mr. E. Connor relates how Parisian anglers pursue their favourite amusement despite the difficulties in their way, and gives an account of a typical Parisian angling match. Many fishermen will be astonished to learn how much the Dominion Government is doing in the art of fish culture as told in a special article on this subject. Notes on the fishes of the Northland is interesting, and an account of the unsuccessful efforts of two lady novices on Rice Lake, Ont., is amusing. The possibilities of Algonquin Park as a fishermann's paradise are told both in prose and illustration, and makes one wish to be able to start off at once to visit that favoured spot. In "The Angler's Motto" Mr. W. R. Gilbert appeals to the higher class of sportsmen and writes with grand effect about the true angler who does not fish for fish alone. Mr. Woolsey's account of his fishing trip to Chats Rapids is both amusing and interesting. Canadian Fishing Territories is a rapid run through the Dominion, giving a bird's eye view of the principal fishing grounds sufficient for the reader to realize that the choice of the fisherman in Canada is almost infinite in its wonderful variety. A special Article is devoted to the organization meetings of the Alpine Club of Canada (at which the Magazine was adopted as the official organ) and the constitution of this new and important Canadian club is given in full. Hunters are not forgotten. "Watching a deer-lick" is a delightful piece of realistic writing which appeals to even a wider class of readers than sportsmen, and should be enjoyed by every one. A Lone Deer Hunt, and Joe's Panther Story both furnish good reading, and the more serious side of Canada's game problems receive due attention in articles on the proposed settlement with the club lessees in Quebec Province, and a summary of the report and recommendations of the Ontario Game Commission. The departments all show marked vitality and progress. Canada's first automobile and motor boat show, the widespread preparations for acquatic sports throughout the Dominion during the coming summer, the pastime of trap shooting and sporting news items all combine to make an excellent number. Even these do not exhaust the list, for Viscount John continues to discourse his quaint philosophy, and the canvas covered canoe and its treatment comes in for treatment.

A NEWSPAPER WITH ENVIABLE RECORD

A French Journal the other day recorded the fact that for the first time in 300 years, an issue of the paper was not published. There is a journal in this section, however, that has the French paper beaten. The Millbrook Mirror this week says:—As intimated last week that there would be no Mirror published this week, an explanation as to its appearance is perhaps necessary, although our readers will no doubt be pleasingly surprised upon receiving it. The reason of its appearance after the notice of last week is strictly owing to some advertising therein that could not be held over. Of course, you are pleased at its appearance. We might say that we have not missed an issue for nearly two years but we may at no distant date "take a week off." We thank all readers of the Mirror for their hearty support and congratulatory remarks concerning this great journal..

The Half-Day System In The Rural Schools

Introduced Into the County Last Year by Inspector Brown --Its Benefits to the Farmer, the Trustee and the Teacher--Theory Put Into Practice in Two County Schools--The Possibilities of the New System.

Last year a couple of the rural schools of the county departed from the usual line of work which has been their custom for so long, and instituted what has been appropriately termed the "Half-day System." This system was introduced into the county by Mr. J. C. Brown, County Public School Inspector, who has always been very liberal in his views in connection with educational progress in the county during his long term of office.

This system means a great deal to the farmer, and it is only in the rural districts that it would satisfactorily work. By this system the school is divided into two parts, the senior and junior classes. The former attends during the morning of each school day from 8 o'clock until 11, and thus the teacher has three hours at her disposal to look after the educational interests of the seniors, without being tampered by the necessity of maintaining order among the remainder of the school. Then, in the afternoon, the junior classes attend from 1 o'clock until the usual hour of closing, and they, in their turn, receive the undivided attention of the teacher.

The discipline under the Half-day system ensures to the farmer have been the chief reason for its inauguration. The Half-day System lasts only during the summer months of the year—from May until the end of September, or as long as the trustees wish to retain it. The farmer is thus enabled to send his grown up sons and daughters during the summer, as they, being in the senior classes, get their freedom at 11 o'clock in the morning, and are home prepared to assist in the labours of the farm and kitchen in the whole of the lengthy afternoon. Another great saving for the busy housewife during this season is that she has no lunches to "put up" for the school children. Those who have attended in the morning are home shortly after 11, and the whole family have their mid-day meal together.

Theory in Practice.

Many theories which look well in print do not turn out so well in practice, but Mr. Brown, who visited the two schools in the county which adopted the unique system last year, reports that the standard of the educational progress made was of a high order. He also stated that, of the pupils of these schools who tried the Entrance examinations, one hundred per cent. succeeded. Experience has shown, he said, that the system has proved a success.

A number of the trustees of the schools in question have been communicated with, and all are in harmony with the project. The school grounds and property are better preserved on account of the short period the scholars are in attendance during each day.

It is understood that the Half-day System is this year spreading throughout the county, and the new scheme promises to be a universal one. The sections that were liberal enough to give the project a trial last year, were Nos. 1 and 16 of Otonabee. No. 16 is this year pursuing the same course, and is again working on the half-day plan which is more popular than ever.

Americans "Wise" To Riches Of Cobalt

Evidences go to Show That They Know a Good Thing and That They Will Take Some Money Out of Their Knowledge—They Are Rushing Into Silver Camp—Have the Money, Too.

H. F. Gadsby, he of "The Clock" fame, writing to the Toronto Star from Cobalt, says in reference to the attitude Americans are taking in Cobalt:—

The signs go to show that they are getting wise to Cobalt in the United States. A capitalist from Cleveland, some tender toward Mr. personal comforts, confided to the Liars' Club in the smoking compartment that he dared the danger of chills and bad water just to see what Cobalt looked like. One of his visits was to the Open Call Mining Exchange, which does business in the hours sacred to coal oil lamps. In Cobalt they never miss a chance to turn a penny. The doctor's office hours are twenty-four every day. The lawyers toil till midnight, when they withdraw to a back room and sleep on the job. The Mining Exchange simply falls in with the spirit of the game by opening up its shop at 8 p.m. and keeping busy as long as there's a trade in sight.

Cobalt Northern Spies.

Another group from New York consisted of three people. One whom they called the Captain, quietly dressed, but richly, trousers nicely creased, whiskers of the mutton-chop kind, smoked fat black cigars and behaved himself very muchlike an English officer on the retired list. He smoked a lot and said nothing. He seemed to be the Main Guy. One of his pals, smoked more, but told nothing. They were all very tight-lipped about their business. The third man was the geological sharp they were taking along with them. He had expert written all over him. These mysterious persons registered at the Cobalt Hotel, left their suit cases there, and disappeared in the twinkling of an eye. Somehow or other they spelt money, and one guessed idly what brought them so far from Wall street. They are probably going to pick up all the good things that have been missed.

THE WASTE OF WILD LIFE TO FEED ON WILD LIFE

A dramatic incident in which a mouse, an owl and fox play the leading parts is well told by a writer in the May Canadian Magazine:—

Slowly the poplar woods slipped by beneath the owl, and he began to cross the road. Hovering a moment to scan its open surface, his eye caught a movement at the other side. For a breath he hung motionless, then suddenly, with quick, fast-following wing-beats, he shot earthward, a fire in his eye, a warmth at his heart. The little field-mouse had once more ventured forth and, transfixed at first by the great grey thunderbolt that hurled itself at him, he waited, fascinated, for death to come, but the open beak and hanging, wide-stretched claws nerved him, and he dodged swiftly, sharply, but each second more hopelessly, till at last the terror came nearer, nearer, smothered him—snuffed him out.

The owl stood upon the snow, one claw upon the already quiet body of the mouse, ready for his long-sought meal. He dallied a little. After all the waiting, watching, it was so good to be sure of his supper. Slowly he lowered his head, ready for the warm, juicy mouthful. But as he did so, there was a stir behind the low-hanging evergreen bough. The fox crouched a little lower in his tracks. His muscles stiffened, they became hard as iron. His eyes gleamed, and his mouth was half-open. He gauged the distance, moved just clear of the bough, and with a little run and a great jump landed with a snarl and snapping jaws, fair upon the owl. His teeth had missed their mark, but with one foot he held down, deep into the snow, a great wide-spreading wing. Again and again he lunged forward, at the head, at the neck, and again and again he missed or was met by snapping beak and open, grasping, ripping claw. His hold on the wing was slipping, slipping. He was losing. He could taste warm blood, but it was his own dripping from his lacerated muzzle. His head was sore from the repeated blows of the free wing. He was nearly done. But with bared fangs and red, gaping mouth, he lunged still again and again. Then ah-h! His teeth drew together, sank through the feathers and deep into the flesh, the warm red flesh.

Some Recipes You Should Try

There is nothing more wholesome than salads, and one of a tempting variety should be part of the daily menu. They are particularly good for dinner, as they counteract the effects of a heavier load.

• • • •

Dainty individual salads are prepared by arranging on plates the small cup-shaped leaves of crisp lettuce, them together so as to form little nests. For a filling use one cup each of chopped celery, English walnuts, apples and a little salt. Into each lettuce cup place a large tablespoonful of the mixture. The mayonnaise dressing may either be put on top after the cups are filled or mixed with the ingredients before filling.

• • • •

Nut and Cherry Salad.—Use preserved or home canned cherries that have been put up without pits. Drain off all of the juice and into the middle of each cherry place a hazel nut that has been blanched by lying in boiling water for a few minutes. On each salad plate put several lettuce leaves, heap a few spoonsful of the nuts and cherries on them, and pour a good mayonnaise dressing over them. The salad should be placed on the ice until ready to serve.

• • • •

Creamed Spinach — After washing the spinach through four waters put it into a large pot and cover closely. The moisture that remains on the leaves together with the juice of the vegetable will form enough liquor to prevent its scorching. Cook for twenty minutes, stirring frequently, sprinkle with salt and put into a colander to drain. When the liquid is thoroughly pressed out put the spinach into a chopping bowl and chop as fine as possible. Put into a saucepan one tablespoonful of flour and two of butter and when they are blended pour in the spinach. Cook for several minutes and pour over the spinach half a cupful of cream in which a pinch of soda has been dissolved, and cook three minutes longer. Add pepper and salt and a pinch of nutmeg, and beat hard for several minutes.

• • • •

If any of the creamed spinach is left over it may be made into a very appetizing dish. Add the beaten yolks of two eggs and a teaspoonful of butter with pepper and salt to taste. Then beat into it half a gill of cream and the whites of the eggs beaten light. Put into a buttered puddish dish and bake in a quick oven.—New York Evening Mail.

• • • •

Apple Deserts.

Apple Snow—Three large tart apples, three whites of eggs, half cup powdered sugar, half cup of jelly. Stew or steam the apples, cored and quartered, but not pared, and then rub them through a hair sieve. Beat the whites of the eggs stiff, add the sugar, beat again; add the apples, and beat till like snow. Pile light in a glass dish; garnish with jelly or holly leaves, serve with boiled custard.

Compote of apples. — Six ripe apples, one lemon, half pound of loaf sugar, one and a half pints of water. Select the apples of a moderate size. Peel and cut in halves, remove the cores and rub each piece over with a little lemon. Put the water and the sugar together into a lined saucepan and let them boil until they form a thickish syrup; then put in the apples with the rind of the lemon, cut thin, with the juice of the same. Let the apples simmer until tender; then take out carefully and drain on a sieve. Reduce the syrup by boiling it quickly for a few minutes. When both are cold arrange apples neatly on a glass dish, pour over the syrup and garnish with strips of candied citron. This a receipe from the famous Seyer, and may be expected to be famously good.

Scotch Apple Tart—Pare, core and quarter six good sized apples. Put them in a deep dish, cover with water, add two-thirds of a cup sugar, two cloves, and a grating of nutmeg, tablespoonfuls whisky, rind of one lemon and juice of two, a few small pieces of butter, about a tablespoon. Cover the top with a good pie crust and bake in a moderately quick oven for one hour.

Apple Fritters—Two eggs, half pint milk, a little salt, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup flour. Beat the eggs lightly and add milk, flour, salt and baking powder, and beat until light. Pare, core and slice apples across, dip the slices in the batter and fry in hot butter. Serve hot

Seeding Is Finished;

---REPORTS FROM COUNTY SAY---

Prospects First-Class

In Spite of Cold Weather of This Week, Crops are Promising All Over County.

Reports From Near-by Townships State That This Week Sees End of Seeding.

In Most Places Farmers Are Satisfied With Spring Seeding Conditions.

To-day sees seeding in the County of Peterborough practically completed, and as a general thing the farmers are well satisfied with the prospects. All that is required now is warm weather and an occasional shower of rain, and the tillers of the soil will be supremely happy.

In some respects this spring has been an unique one. There has been comparatively little rain but this fact in view of the cold weather, which has prevailed for the past week, has been, perhaps the salvation of the crops.

Reports from different sections of the county, as gathered and published to-day, indicate that the spring work is progressing well towards completion. In some places, and on high land, seeding is finished, and, taken altogether the farmers have every reason to be satisfied with the prospects. The backward season has retarded the development of the fruit buds, thus diminishing the danger from spring frosts. The cold weather has also been kind to horses. They have been able to do more work without suffering from the heat.

The reports from the different sections of the country are given below:

THIS WEEK SEES FINISH OF SEEDING IN OTONABEE

(Examiner Special.)

Indian Favar, May 12.—Seeding in this section was finished this week, and considerable of the grain is already up, and the prospects are good. The remarkably dry spring has, of course, helped the farmers in getting in their crops, since no time has been lost by wet weather, as is usually the case. The fact that the ground is dry, too, has really worked to the benefit of the crops, because had the ground been wet, the cold spell of the last week would have killed the seed. As it is, while there has been little growth, the seed is in splendid condition now to spring up with the the warm weather, which is promised now.

FARMERS OF DUMMER ARE SATISFIED WITH PROSPECTS

(Examiner Special.)

Warsaw, May 12.—The farmers of Dummer in this village to-day report that in the greater part of the township seeding operations are completed, and in some places the grain is beginning to show itself above the ground. As a general thing the farmers in this section are pretty well satisfied with their prospects. The acreage in grain this year is about the same as in 1905.

DOURO IS AFFECTED BY PREVAILING COLD WEATHER

(Examiner Special.)

Douro, May 12.—The only complaint the farmers here are making is that the weather has been too cold for the grain to grow after it has been sown. The seeding is progressing well, and the whole township is practically through the work of sowing. Yesterday and to-day has given promise of some warm weather, which is all that is required now to make ideal conditions, from the farmer's point of view. What grain there is above the ground is looking well.

SMITH FARMERS HAVE FINISHED THEIR SEEDING

(Examiner Special.)

Lakefield, May 12.—Smith farmers who were in town to-day, are enthusiastic over the prospects for crops this year. The fall wheat, of which there is considerable in this township, has wintered well, and the spring crops are principally in by this time. Some of the grain is coming up nicely, and with a couple of weeks of warm sunshine Smith will be in good shape to reap a record harvest, if conditions continue favourable during the summer.

IN NORTH MONAGHAN PROSPECTS ARE EXCELLENT

(Examiner Special.)

Springville, May 12.—North Monaghan farmers have little to complain of this year so far. While they would have been better pleased had the weather this spring been somewhat warmer, the conditions generally are pretty favourable, and the crops are looking well. Seeding here, in common with the other townships, is about concluded, and the farmers are now waiting for the warm weather and the rains, which will put them in good shape.

LAND BOOM IN PETERBOROUGH.

Is Peterborough on the verge of a land boom?

While it is rather dangerous to say that this is actually the condition prevailing, the indications seem to point to the fact that this city will this year see the greatest degree of activity in land sales that it has experienced in its history.

Inquiry from the real estate men gives the information that there is an active demand for building lots, and a number of big sales are reported.

Of course as long as there is a demand for land, there will always be a supply, and there are in Peterborough hundreds of persons who have "the best building lots in the city", and "for sale cheap" too. Almost anyone who is looking for land can be accomodated—if he is willing to pay the price.

There appears to be a notion, too, that the value of real estate in Peterborough is increasing, and so it is, if by value one means the price one is able to get for it, because recently a number of cases have been reported of where land was bought at what was considered a pretty fair price, only to be sold in a few days to some purchaser who wanted it badly enough to pay a good margin of profit over the first price, in not a few cases 100 per cent. profit being realized.

The condition of the real estate situation in Peterborough has not, those who should be competent to judge, say, reached the danger point, and that there is bound to be a steady upward inclination in prices of good real estate for some time to come seems probable.

On the outskirts of the city, particularly, there is a good steady—not so very steady either—but active business being done in building lots, and it is stated that the recent announcement of the Canadian General Electric Company's intention to extend their works here has stimulated this activity.

Peterborough has reached the stage now when sub-divisions are due to spring up almost any time and there should be money in it, too; that is, of course, assuming that you do not pay too much for the property.

TAYLOR FAMILY RELIEF FUND

The hearty manner in which the public are meeting the Examiner's appeal for relief for the Taylor family, consisting of father, ill and suffering from cancer; mother and eight children, of which the eldest, the only breadwinner, is lying in the hospital with both legs crushed off by a railway accident, shows that human sympathy is something more solid than a mere sentiment. While the contributions have been liberal there is still need for the helping hand. In addition to the $140 acknowledged yesterday $34.25 has been received since. The further contributions are given below, and the list would doubtless have been larger but for the fact of the Examiner going to press at one o'clock, compelled the exclusion of later donations.

Contributions in kind may be left at the Children's Shelter, corner Stewart and Charlotte streets. It may be mentioned that in the issue acknowledged it was impossible to place a value upon a large parcel of clothing left at this office, which would represent many dollars to replace with equal money value if purchased at a shop.

Closing Of The Bridge

---SO BUSINESS MEN SAY---

Causes Inconvenience

Some Statements Made by North End Grocers Regarding Losses Experienced.

Douro Farmers' Trade is Practically Cut Off --Will Not Come Up George St.

Chairman Board of Works Says Question Will be Considered Soon as Possible.

A number of the business men in the vicinity of the Smith street bridge were interviewed yesterday by the Examiner in reference to how they were affected by the closing of the bridge to traffic. From the following statements it will be seen that they have been considerably inconvenienced by its closing. The chairman of the Board of Works, however, states that action is being taken in the matter and something will be done as soon as possible.

Chas. Curtis.

From his statements Mr. Curtis seems to be the greatest loser from a business standpoint and the man who is affected most by the closing of the bridge.

Mr. Curtis said: "It affects me very seriously; if that bridge were closed for a whole year it would mean about 3,000 miles extra for my teams to travel. We make about 1,000 trips into the city per year. The Hunter street route being about two-thirds of a mile further. I have now several orders to fill in the northern part of the city and by the closing of that bridge my teams and waggons have to go three miles farther than they should."

Mr. Curtis, in conclusion, remarked that the Smith street bridge couldn't be re-opened any too soon.

Jas. Edgecombe,

Mr. Jas. Edgecombe, grocer, when asked by the Examiner if he would like to see the bridge opened again, replied: "Well, I guess I would; it is a great drawback to me in my business. Many of the farmers who have been dealing with me won't come up after going away down through Ashburnham. I have lost considerable trade since its closing. I don't know what the council was thinking about in closing Smith street bridge and opening the Dickson dam bridge."

Taking a broader view of the matter Mr. Edgecombe said it depreciates the value of not only the property across the river, but also that above London street. It also shuts off the people in the north end of the city from driving in the East Nicholls Park, and, therefore, from a pleasure standpoint, was a hindrance.

J. T. Braund.

Mr. Braund, the grocer, on the corner of George and Smith streets, was also interviewed in reference to the question. Mr. Braund thought that the council was paying very little attention to the matter which was an injustice to the business men and residents of the north of the city.

"How does it affect you?" was asked.

"Since that bridge was closed," he replied, "I have not been able to get enough butter and eggs to keep things moving, have considerable trade with farmers in Douro, who will not come up after having to go down through Ashburnham."

"Have you any customers on the other side of the river?" asked the reporter.

"Yes, quite a number," Mr. Braund replied, "and before the Dickson dam bridge was opened, my delivery waggon had to go eight miles further every day."

Mr. Braund did not blame the council for closing the Smith street bridge, but he did blame them for not having it repaired at once and giving the city its due service.

C. S. Curran.

Mr. Curran, another grocer in the north, and, was of the same opinion as the others.

He has not been in his present premises very long and was just beginning to get the trade of many of the Douro farmers. When the bridge was closed to be repaired he hadn't seen many of them since.

His loss, he said, would amount to several hundred dollars per year.

Thos. Lush.

Mr. Lush, the baker, was also "held up" by the reporter, who asked, "Does the closing of the bridge give you any inconvenience?"

"Well, I guess it does," he returned. "I think the city council should wake up and see that repairs are made immediately."

Mr. Lush said he was one of the many who used the bridge, and the loss sustained was great, on account of the immense traffic over it.

R. Hicks.

Mr. Hicks, chairman of the Board of Works, was asked if any steps would be taken in connection with repairing the bridge or building a new one. He stated that the Board was enquiring how much would have to be spent on repairs and in rebuilding, and until these were obtained nothing could be done.

"If it is going to cost $600 for repairs this year," he said, "the city might as well wait until next year and have a new bridge; but," he added, "something has got to be done right away."

MEN OF PETERBOROUGH OF TO-MORROW

MR. W. E. WASSON.

Mr. Wasson, the present head of the firm of W. A. Sanderson and Co., one of the largest jewelry firms in this district, was born in Warsaw, and lived there until 1889, when he removed to Peterborough, and has since lived here. He has been associated with the business, of which he is now the directing head, ever since he came to Peterborough, and three years ago, after the death of Mr. W. A. Sanderson, became a member of the firm.

Mr. Wasson is one of the most popular young men in the city, and has taken an active participation in sports. He is president of the Peterborough Hockey Club and played goal on the team that won two Intermediate O.H.A. Championships. He is also manager of the Quake. Football Club this year, while his association with lacrosse dates back a number of years. He was the first captain of the Old Athletic Lacrosse team, and besides playing the game, has filled a number of positions on the executive.

CAMPAIGN

—AFTER THE BIG—

INDUSTRIES

Council Will Shortly Issue Advertising Matter Describing Advantages.

Manufacturers' Committee are Going After New Industries-- The Method.

While Peterborough will go after every industry that there is any possible chance of securing, it is not likely that any new system will be employed by the council of this year.

Ald. McWilliams, chairman of the Manufacturers Committee, was asked to-day if the committee had considered the advisability of appointing a commissioner of industries, as some cities, a number about the same size at Peterborough, were doing, whose duties it would be to go after new industries. He stated that he did not believe the city could afford to spend the money necessary to pay such an official, who must, necessarily, be a good man, and while it was desirable to secure all the industries possible, he thought that the Manufacturers Committee, and the City Clerk, were doing all that any commissioner could do to interest manufacturers in the advantages possessed by the city. A week never passed that the city clerk, or the chairman of the Manufacturers Committee, did not write to persons whom they understood were looking for a location for a manufacturing plant. A pretty sharp look-out was kept for such concerns, and Ald. McWilliams thought that Peterborough was getting its share.

The committee proposed in the very near future publishing advertising matter descriptive of the city, from a manufacturer's standpoint; and they will be pretty widely circulated. It is felt that a strong argument in favour of this city will be that the Canadian General Electric Company is so well satisfied with it that they have practically decided to double their works here.

ARRANGED

—WITH COBOURG—

FOR CAMP

3rd District Officers Preparing for This Year's Summer Camp in that Town.

300 Acres Have Been Secured--Some Figures as to Supplies Required.

Cobourg, May 12.—Lieut.-Col. Williams, chief staff officer, A.D.C.; Major W. J. B. White, Senior A.S.C. officer; Lieut. Perrin of the Royal Canadian Engineers; all of Kingston; were in town this week to confer with the local officers and the town council about the military camp to be held here in June. They made a careful survey of the camp grounds comprising in all over 300 acres. They also visited the new ranges, with which the visiting officers were delighted. Col. Williams said he would recommend that four additional ranges be constructed for use of the camp.

The camp is to commence on June 18, although advance guards will be here probably a week beforehand. The camp will be composed of six regiments of infantry, two regiments of cavalry, brigade of artillery, army service corps, army medical corps, and signal corps. There will be from 2,500 to 3,000 men and 1,000 horses.

There will be required for the camp about 2,500 lbs. of meat per day; 3,200 lbs. of bread per day; 350 lbs. butter per day; 150 lbs. sugar per day; 150 lbs. tea per day; 200 lbs. coffee per day; 350 lbs. bacon per day; 4 tons oats per day. About 80 cords of wood will be required during the camp, about 5 barrels of coal oil and 5 tons of ice.

These estimates do not include salt, pepper and miscellaneous sundries.

Before the camp begins there will be required 12 teams, 12 drivers and 12 waggons for use in making arrangements.

Forty acres of land for manoeuvring purposes, secured from Mr. Owen Healey, lie on the east side of D'Arcy street.

Former Assistant Pastor of St. Paul's Gets an Important Appointment in Toronto.

Is Secretary of Amalgamated Y. M. C. A'S of the University of Toronto.

W. M. MacKay, B. A., who for a year was associate pastor of St. Paul's and Knox churches, has just received a good appointment in Toronto, in connection with the new amalgamation of Y.M.C.A.s. in the colleges affiliated with the University of Toronto.

In the past, while each College has had its Association, there has been no central body, but this year an amalgamation was effected, and over the new Association, which embraces all the branch bodies, Mr. MacKay has been appointed General Secretary.

This is a good appointment, and it is understood that the salary will be $1200 to $1500 a year.

Mr. MacKay has abandoned his proposed trip to Scotland to take the post graduate course. His father who lives in Oxford county has, it is feared, entered what is believed to be a protracted illness, and this has influenced Mr. MacKay in his decision to remain in Canada.

There is little doubt that he will be successful in his new sphere of work, and his many friends here will watch with interest his progress.

Bill Passed Giving Control of Water Supply to Board of Health

In Response to Mr. W. H. Moore's Agitation Bill Was Introduced and Passed

One of the last bills passed before the Legislature closed its session was one which is of considerable interest to Peterborough. It is a bill which adds to the Public Health Act, and the effect is to give to the Provincial Board of Health control over the streams and waters from which water is taken for domestic uses. It will be remembered that the city's private bill had a clause giving this power, so far as Peterborough was concerned, to the Water Commissioners, but Mr. W. H. Moore, who was representing the Commissioners when the bill was up for consideration, agreed to withdraw that clause on the promise of Hon. Dr. Willoughby, that he would, on behalf of the Government, introduce a general bill giving control to the Provincial Board of Health. Time went on, and the promised bill was not introduced, and Mr. Moore wrote Mr. Bradburn and Dr. Willoughby, reminding them of the latter's promise, and stated that unless the bill was introduced there would be trouble here.

As a result the following clause was added to the Public Health Act:

No sewage, drainage, domestic or factory refuse, excremental or other polluting matter of any kind whatsoever, which, either by itself or in connection with other matter corrupts or impairs, or may corrupt or impair the quality of the water of any source of public water supply for domestic use in any city, town, incorporated village or other municipality, or which renders or may render such water injurious to health, shall be placed in, or discharged into, the waters, or placed or deposited upon the ice of any such source of water supply near the place from which any such municipality shall or may obtain its supply of water for domestic use, nor shall any such sewage, drainage, domestic or factory waste or refuse, excremental or other polluting matter be placed or suffer to remain upon the bank or shore of any such source of water supply near the place from which such municipality shall or may obtain its supply of water for domestic use as aforesaid, nor within such distance thereof as may be considered unsafe by the Provincial Board of Health, after an examination thereof by a member or officer of the said Board, and any person who shall offend against any provision of this section shall, upon summary conviction, be liable to a penalty of not less than $100 for each offence, and each week's continuance after notice by the Provincial Board of Health or local Board of Health, to abate or remove the same, shall constitute a separate offence.

REVISE THE

—CANADIAN GENERAL—

AGREEMENT

Meeting of Representatives of C. G. E. Co. and City Held To-day.

Some Minor Difficulties Which it is Expected Will be Easily Overcome.

Mr. J. A. Patterson, K. C., of the firm of Kerr, Davidson & Patterson, solicitors for the Canadian General Electric Co., of Toronto, is in the city to-day representing the company in the negotiations between the latter and the city, in respect to the agreement of the company with the city in the matter of the fixed assessment.

This morning a meeting was held in the city clerk's office, at which the chairman of the four committees and the Mayor, with the City Solicitor, representing the city, and Mr. C. G. Patterson and Mr. J. A. Patterson for the company, were present, when the terms of the by-law were agreed upon.

The bylaw as prepared by the City Solicitor, it is understood, was hardly what the company expected in some minor respects, but it was not anticipated that any difficulty would be experienced in arriving at a satisfactory agreement. It was for this purpose that the meeting was held this morning. Nothing was done at this meeting, however, and it was decided to meet this afternoon at 1.30, which meeting is now in progress.

Bishop O'Connor Pays Visit To Douro Parish

In Connection With the Proposed Improvements to the Church There—New Cement Walks to be Laid.

Examiner Special

Douro, May 12th. — His Lordship, Bishop O'Connor and Rev. Father McCoil paid a visit to this parish yesterday for the purpose of considering the improvements which will be made to to the church here. Rev. Father Keilty proposes to have a new concrete walk laid at the front of the church, and the woodwork of the structure will be painted. These improvements will greatly benefit the appearance of the church. His Lordship expressed his approval of the plans for the improvement of the property, and it is expected that the work will be commenced almost at once.

The Bishop met a number of the parishioners of the Douro church on his visit here, and was pleased with the satisfactory condition in which the parish was found.

WORKING HOLIDAYS.

The Methodist religious body is adopting apostolic methods, of the Paulist type. According to the Toronto Star:

"Rev. James Allen, superintendent of Methodist missions in New Ontario, has prepared a plan by which he will give a number of the Methodist ministers in Toronto, a holiday outing in the northern wilds, this summer, and at the same time, make good use of their time. He will in the language of one of them, 'have us paddle all day and preach at night.' The plan is to arrange an itinerary, so that the people in many settlements who seldom hear a sermon, may have an opportunity to hear the best men of the Methodist ministry in Toronto. The ministers will be removed from place to place, will camp out, fish, hunt, paddle, and have all the fresh air and exercise they need or want. 'Their old sermons will suffice.'"

The reference to the "old sermons" has a patronizing sound, much to be regretted. In the new country which it is proposed to cover, will be found, no doubt, men who are of sufficient culture and education to differentiate between fresh, spontaneous Gospel wheat and rehabilitated husks. To the mass of the people who will be addressed "old sermons," which passed current at par in Toronto, will be as unsuited to primitive forest conditions, as a pneumatic-tired vehicle would be on the rocky, rooty, rough, corduroyal and forebidding trails of a new country. The mistake that many ministers, and moral reformers, make, is the adoption of patronizing attitudes; of assuming that their hearers are of lower mental quality than is really the case. No doubt these ministers who propose taking a working holiday, can do themselves, and the people they encounter in the northern wilds, a great deal of good by such a rational and two-edged holiday. To benefit themselves, and enjoy their holiday, they will need to leave city habits behind—city habits of a double kind—they will have to dress according to forest conditions, and their habits of speech and intercourse with the "natives" will have to be a departure from city methods, and adapted to their temporary environments. Under proper conditions, the summer tour of these ministers can be the means of doing much good. But, like their great prototype, St. Paul, they will have to be "all things to all men to win—success." The proposed form of ministerial holiday is rational and compensatory. City persons during the slumberous summer time, leave their flocks to browse where they will, in the absence of the shepherds. It is, therefore, fitting that while the sheep of the sheltered fold are left to shift for themselves, the mountain goats should have some attention. The minister, like the newspaper man is always on duty—the collar is always pressing his shoulder—his services subject to demands at all times, in season and out of season. He must be always about his Master's business, always ready with the word in season, which he can speak with as good effect in the intervals of leisure, as in the daily round of duty. His rest will be sweetened, and his recreation intensified, by the effort of doing good to others while seeking to benefit himself. The act of doing good to others, reacts; as Lord Byron says:

They who joy would win
Must share it; happiness was born a twin.

PROVINCIAL FINANCES.

That the expenditure of the Province has suddenly advanced to over six and a quarter millions is a matter for serious reflection. The total estimates submitted are $6,288,393, as compared with an expenditure of $5,396,016 in 1905. For 1901 the total outlay was $5,287,453, and for 1903 it was $4,889,982. A ten-year retrospect shows that in 1896 the total expenditure was $3,703,379. While there has been a gradual increase in expenditure from year to year commensurate with the growing needs of the Province, the large advance which has helped to make an increase of 66 per cent, in ten years is a matter of recent development. Some of the increases of the present year are food for reflection. The estimated outlay on civil government has increased from $374,970 to $427,000, on education from $1,131,000 to $1,482,000, on administration of justice from $501,524 to $564,700, on public institutions and maintenance from $907,307 to $1,012,700, on agriculture from $405,534 to $460,000, on hospitals and charities from $268,182 to $341,000, on Crown lands from $321,731 to $492,000, on public buildings from $234,977 to $414,000, and on colonization roads from $178,313 to $243,000.

While the revenue of the Province has been obtained largely by the sale of timber and by exploiting other forms of natural wealth there has been but little tendency to criticize expenditures. Such taxation as has been levied to supplement the returns from the inherited estate has been so devised as to avoid ruffling the public complacency. The taxation on railways and other corporations is shifted to the shoulders of the public in imperceptible ways, and the succession dues affect only a small section of the community. A revenue from inherited wealth and from imperceptible and really direct taxation is a continuous temptation toward extravagance. This temptation has been firmly resisted during a long Liberal regime, but the past session shows that a change has come over the spirit of the Legislature. It is only by the active manifestation of public disapproval that an era of extravagance can be averted. The public must show a lively appreciation of the fact that the burden of public expenditure must be borne by the business and industry of the Province. Every dollar spent means a dollar less for our merchants and manufacturers, and this fact is not modified by the many sources of revenue which the Province is fortunate in possessing. The road to extravagance is easy.—Globe.

COMMERCIAL AND MORAL TOO.

The Toronto Star, under the above heading, deals with some points of a recent article upon "The Pulpit and the Press," which appeared in The Examiner:

Between the Rev. Dr. Crothers, of Peterborough, and The Examiner of that city, there is a debate on the old question whether a newspaper is a commercial or a moral enterprise. Perhaps the best answer is "both." The Examiner says that the ordinary secular newspaper is on the same plane as a merchant or a manufacturer. This is strictly true, but the similarity consists, not in the absence, but in the presence, of moral obligations in all callings. Every merchant, every manufacturer, every workman, is a trustee for the public. He does not work for wages or profits alone, but in fulfillment of his duty to render good service to his fellow men. A merchant is under the same obligation to sell wholesome food and honest cloth, as a newspaper is to furnish truthful information and give honest opinions and do justice to all men.

Therefore, when it is said that a newspaper is a "commercial enterprise," the question of morality is not excluded. It is a very low view of commerce to say that it is merely a means of overreaching one's neighbours and acquiring money. Honest work is the greatest service that a man can render to his fellows, and it may be rendered in building a house, making a garment, or preparing an article of food, just as well as in disseminating information or opinions.

Perhaps a good deal of the lax business morality of which so much is heard to-day is due to the false notion that the daily business of a merchant, or manufacturer, a workman or a farmer, is without moral significance; that morality and religion are things to be preached and talked about, not to be woven into the fabric of daily toil and business. It is said that some of the old cathedrals of Europe are monuments of religion in a double sense; that they were not only built to furnish beautiful and appropriate temples, but that every stone was carved and laid with a deep sense of the obligation of honest work. Of a still earlier period Longfellow wrote:

"In the early days of art
Builders wrought, with greatest care,
Each unseen and hidden part,
For the gods see everywhere."

There is no objection to the ministers reminding newspapers of their moral obligations; everybody needs such a reminder occasionally. But the obligation is that which rests upon every man in every calling; honest work and fair dealing.

The Star is not quite correct in stating that there is a debate "between Rev. Dr. Crothers and The Examiner on the old question whether a newspaper is a commercial or a moral enterprise." There is no debate. The reverend reader of the address on the press made some sweeping statements with too broad a broom, and The Examiner simply did a little sweeping on its own account, swept off a few rhetorical and sophistical cobwebs which obscured the naked truth. Nor is The Star correct in saying that The Examiner said "that the ordinary secular newspaper is on the same plane as a merchant or a manufacturer," nor is it correct in assuming that The Examiner denied that the secular newspaper had no moral obligations to fulfil. The Examiner only argued that it was under no greater obligation to preach morality specifically through its columns than any other business enterprise. The Star is right in arguing that everybody, the newspaper included, in his calling and relation to his fellow men, should practically preach morality by his daily life. A newspaper, properly conducted, can thus become a great moral force, without specifically preaching righteousness in a way that would permit a charge of cant to lie. We doubt the honesty of a man who is always asserting his honesty, as we would be justified in doubting the morality of a newspaper which will turn aside from its business to specifically preach morality. As The Examiner said in the article criticised, "newspapers are generally on the right side of moral questions"—when it is necessary to take sides—but it is not called upon to enter the domain of the pulpit and "preach morality off its own bat," so to speak. The Examiner did not exclude, as The Star suggests, "the question of morality from commercial enterprise," but it simply took the ground that it was not its chief duty to specifically preach morality, except by living it, promoting its interest when such promotion was incidentally indicated. The secular newspaper stands—and its standard is no higher for others than for itself — for honest, square, golden rule dealing in public and private life; it sets its face, like "the everlasting flint," against fraud, dishonest dealing, graft, and every unjust and ignoble practice. It lives its morality, it does not preach it and farm out the practice of it. This applies to newspapers as a class.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Canada is daily filling a larger field of vision in the world. Her matchless equipment for homes for millions—her possession of priceless mineral wealth, as developed by recent discoveries, and her general growing prosperity, are encouraging. In other ways, too, we are sweeping into the limelight. Forbes, a Canadian artist, has painted portraits of the King and Queen of such merit that they are being mercilessly criticized by writers who use green ink. Albani, one of the greatest of the singers of modern times, is closing a triumphal reign as Queen of Song by a triumphal farewell tour. Now another Canadian prima donna is advancing to the vacant place. Miss Pauline Donalda is winning the highest praise in London, as Marguerite in Faust. Sherring, of Hamilton, has beaten the world in long-distance running, a feat which has redeemed the name of Britons in the field of athletics. Canada is making good Sir Wilfrid Laurier's claim of her possession of the twentieth century on this continent.

WAS TROUBLED THREE YEARS

An Andover Man Endured the Torments of Indigestion for Three Years Till He Got Cured at Last by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Here is a plain and straightforward story told by Mr. Samuel Simon, of Andover, N.B., of his sufferings and relief by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets that all dyspeptics will read with interest.

"For three years I endured unspeakable misery from indigestion. By the counsel of my friends I decided to try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After giving them a fair trial I found to my joy that I could eat any food and relish it. Before I took Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets my only solid food was a biscuit, and that I could hardly swallow. I consider Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have made a miraculous cure in my case, and I give them all the praise that is their due."

Ex-Reeve's Son Passes Away

James Clarke, of Douro, Died After Long Illness.

Examiner Special

Warsaw, May 12. — James Clark, son of the late George Clark, ex-reeve of Douro, died yesterday morning at his home, about six miles south of here, after a lingering illness. Deceased was a sufferer for some time from stomach troubles, and this was the cause of death. The late Mr. Clark was about 56 years of age, and had been a life-long resident of the township in which he died. His father was one of the early settlers of the county and was for a number of years reeve of the township.

The late Mr. Clark was unmarried, and leaves two brothers, Michael, of Douro, with whom deceased lived, and George, of Stirling.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon from the family residence to the Douro cemetery.

WESTERN VISITORS IN THE CITY

Mr. Timothy McMahon, wife and family, arrived here from Colquet, Minn., on Thursday and are visiting Mr. McMahon's sister, Mrs. Ellen Coughlin, Concession street, East City. Mr. McMahon has not been in Peterborough for 28 years, being only a boy when last here. The changes that have been made during that time in the city, Mr. McMahon says, are wonderful and beyond his utmost expectations. He is now considering whether he will return to Minnesota but it is quite probable he will reside in future in Peterborough.

MILITARY NEWS OF LOCAL INTEREST

BY OUTPOST

Signalling Corps.

The institution of the Signal Corps, of which the officers have already been selected, is creating considerable interest in military circles. Col. Miller to whose energy and activity the new corps is attributable, will have the members selected after the next Tuesday's drill and begin to have them thoroughly drilled as soon as an instructor is procured. Lieuts. Wallace and Kelly are the officers who have been appointed to take charge of the corps.

Rifle Practice.

The Peterborough Rangers will soon commence rifle practice. Last year about the first of May the practice began on the Curtis range, but owing to the regiment having to get new targets and also make a number of other alterations at the ranges they have not yet been able to begin.

The changes will be at once made and the sharpshooters will have another chance to test their skill with the rifle.

Salute on Victoria Day.

The following from The Toronto Star gives a part of the programme which the 9th Field Battery will follow this season:

The 9th Field Battery, under the command of Capt. J. H. Mitchell, paraded at the armouries last night and the prizes were presented to those who were successful in the gun laying competitions held at the Petawawa camp last fall, and the fuse-setting competitions at the last Niagara camp.

A salute of 21 guns will be fired on the 24th of May. The battery will go into camp at Niagara on the 12th of June next. The battery will muster at the armouries at 2 o'clock on Sunday next to take part in the garrison church parade.

Ross Rifle Cartridges.

The effectiveness of the new Ross cartridge in the hands of troops may be judged from the fact that at a range of 700 yards, the extreme height of the trajectory is only five feet compared to a height of ten feet with the present service 303 cartridge.

At this range, the danger zone with the service ammunition is 100 yards wide, while, with the new ammunition, this is increased seven times.

The use of this ammunition, with its wonderful trajectory, removes the necessity of correct judgment of distances in shooting at an enemy.

Field Ambulance Unit.

One of the most popular military corps in the city is the No. 3 field ambulance unit, commanded by Lt.-Col. H. R. Abbott. This corps was formerly known as the No. 2 Field Hospital Company, and consisted of but three officers and 21 non-commissioned officers and men. Under the re-organization scheme of that most efficient officer, Col. E. Fiset, director-general of medical services, the field hospitals now become field ambulance units, each unit complete in itself, and consisting of a tent division (which represents the old field hospital), a bearer division (formerly an independent unit known as a bearer company) and transport division, consisting of three ambulance wagons and a water cart, with the necessary horses and drivers, making the total personnel of the unit, seven officers, 63 non-commissioned officers and men, and 11 horses.

Recruiting is now going on to bring the corps up to the new establishment, under Capt. A. R. B. Williamson, adjutant, Lt.-Col. Abbott expects to take to the camp a unit second to none in the Dominion.—Kingston Whig.

Trooping The Colour.

Next Tuesday evening the 57th drill will consist of trooping the colours, providing the weather is favourable. The regiment will drill on Central Park, as a large field is necessary for this movement. The band will be in attendance to provide the music.

The Concert and Box Sale Was Very Successful

Enjoyable Affair Held at All Saint's Last Night.

The Junior Auxiliary of All Saints' church held a most successful box sale and concert in the Sunday school last night. The attendance was large and the financial results left nothing to be desired. A novel feature, from which the name of the affair was derived, was the sale of closed boxes. The purchaser was thus in the dark as to what he or she was buying. The boxes sold readily, and the returns from this feature were gratifying.

A most enjoyable programme was rendered by the children. The young people displayed much cleverness, and each number was warmly applauded, an encore being demanded in nearly every case. Following is the programme:

Instrumental Duet, Pearl Haskell and Mabel Hooper.
Recitation, Irwin Scott.
Solo, Helen Rush.
Instrumental duet, Irene Spicer and Olga Johnston.
Solo, Gladys Mulholland.
Recitation, Lillian Lightfoot.
Dialogue, "Advertising for a Servant," Bessie and Margery Latimer, Pearl Haskell, Mabel Hooper, Lillian Lightheart, Pearl Hooper and Everest Heath.

The dialogue was of a humorous character and was exceedingly well rendered by the children.

Rev. Wm. Major acceptably filled the position of chairman.

The children and their officers are to be congratulated upon the successful outcome of their entertainment.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation of prizes to the seven members of the Auxiliary for faithful attendance upon the meetings during the year. Seven girls were given prizes donated by the district Auxiliary at Toronto. Those who were rewarded were:

Annie Spicer, Lillie Lightfoot, May Latimer, Irene Spicer, Pearl Haskell, Lillie Spicer, Bessie Latimer.

Rev. Wm. Major made the presentation, and addressed a few words of commendation to the girls. Last year only two were rewarded in this way.

Slaves to Spring Catarrh Restored to Health By Pe-ru-na.

Honest People Tell Their Experiences. Spring,—the Time to Cure Catarrh.

Mrs. John E. Mills, 36 Mulberry St., Lynn, Mass., writes:

"I have been troubled with catarrh since I was ten years old. At times my head troubled me so that I was obliged to stay in a dark room. Nothing helped me and my physician said I could never be cured.

"I began taking Peruna this spring and find myself greatly benefited by it. I have not had an attack since I took my first bottle. I think in time it will cure me. It has already improved my appetite and my general health and I have gained twenty pounds in three months.

"I have recommended it to several of my friends, who also find it very beneficial. I advise any one troubled with catarrh to use Peruna."

Mr. J. Q. Craig, a well-known athlete, whose home address is Bridgeton, N. J., writes from the Hotel Donavin, Delaware, Ohio, as follows:

"I can say of Peruna that, as a tonic for the spring of the year, it is the best for athletes, and as such I can give it a hearty recommendation."

Peruna does not fail to prevent the lassitude and languor incident to the approach of warm weather, if taken in time.

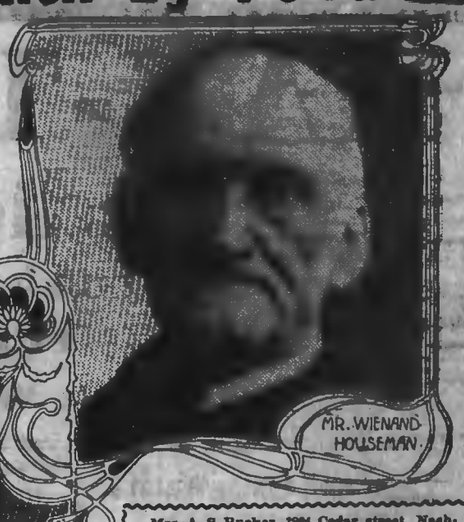
Mrs. A. S. Rucker, 1334 Cedar street, Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"I wish to tell you what Peruna has done for me. In the spring of 1902 I was very sick and so weak I could scarcely be up. I was alarmed at my condition.

"I had a bad cough for some time and I tried several cough medicines, but grew worse all the time. I knew if I did not get relief, I would soon go into consumption.

"So I decided to try Peruna. I had confidence in it before I took it and found it was just the medicine I needed, for in a short time my cough ceased and my strength returned.

"I have enjoyed better health since taking it than I had for several years previous."



Mr. Wienand Houseman, a prominent and aged citizen of Seneca Falls, N. Y., is the inventor of a number of implements of modern warfare. He writes:

"For several years past, I and my family used your Peruna as a tonic and for the purification of the system in general and find that it is an excellent medicine to restore weak nerves to a healthy condition."

Spring Catarrh.

Almost every one has come to believe that spring is a season that brings derangements of the body dependent on blood impurities.

This belief is an old one, is nearly universal, and has arisen, not as the result of the teachings of the medical fraternity, but has been learned in the bitter school of experience.

Nervous Depression.

Depression of the nervous system at the approach of spring is a fertile source of blood impurities.

There are general lassitude, dull, heavy sensations, continual tired feelings, with irregular appetite, and sometimes loss of sleep.

That Tired Feeling.

That tired feeling, which is the natural result of the depressing effect of warm weather immediately after the invigorating cold of winter, quickly disappears when Peruna is taken.

The Correct Remedy.

Peruna meets every indication and proves itself to be perfectly adapted to all their varied peculiarities. Peruna invigorates the system, rejuvenates the feelings, restores the normal appetite and procures regular sleep.

Do Not Delay.

Get a bottle of Peruna when the first languid feelings make themselves apparent in the spring. Take it according to the directions on the bottle. Continue this treatment through the first months of spring

This course of treatment is no experiment. It has helped thousands. Why should it not help you?

A Spring Tonic.

Almost everybody needs a tonic in the spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain, and cleanse the blood. That Peruna will do this is beyond all question. Everyone who has tried it has had the same experience as Mr. Warren M. Taylor, 1216 8th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., who, in a recent letter, writes:

"I suffered from a general feeling of lassitude, with occasional creeping chills, followed sometimes by fever and biliousness.

"These symptoms manifested themselves mostly in the spring and fall.

"I suffered this way for about seven years.

"Last spring I began using Peruna and followed the instructions as set forth in one of Dr. Hartman's booklets which I picked up in a drug store and to my great joy I noticed that within a week I was nearly cured.

"At the end of two months I was entirely cured and feel as though I have a new lease of life."

Nature's Assistance.

Spring is the best time to treat catarrh. Nature renews herself every spring. The system is rejuvenated by spring weather. This renders medicines more effective.

A short course of Peruna, assisted by the balmy air of spring, will often relieve old, stubborn cases of catarrh that have resisted treatment for years.

A Word of Advice.

To those who have been afflicted with chronic catarrh we wish to say that the spring season affords you a splendid opportunity to get rid of your disease.

It may be you have been afflicted for several years; you may have tried different remedies. Perhaps you have become discouraged.

Now Is Your Opportunity.

This failure was during the winter months. But now is your opportunity. Nature comes to your assistance at this season.

Just help her a little and she will bring you out of the quagmire in which you have been floundering so long. Give Nature a little assistance, lest her struggles be in vain.

A Typical Case.

Geo. M. Fillmore, formerly 1st Lieut. 3rd U. S. Artillery, writes from 909 L St., N. W., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"I brought forward from winter into spring a sickening case of catarrh which was making existence miserable for me, until I was induced to try a bottle of Peruna.

"An immediate improvement gave me hope, if not relief. I kept up taking Peruna and it has so strengthened and relieved me that I am now confident of a cure. I heartily endorse Peruna for catarrhal affections and as a tonic for their weakening effects."—Geo. M. Fillmore.

A short course of Peruna now will be just in time. During the month of April you will find the strategic time to rid yourself of chronic catarrh, one of the most persistent, stubborn diseases in the whole list of human ailments.

After you have tried it you will say Peruna is positively the best spring medicine you have ever used.

A great many years of extensive trials of this remedy in this class of derangements have demonstrated its efficiency.

Numerous Testimonials.

Thousands of cases might be quoted in which Peruna has rescued people from the ravages of spring catarrh, and put them on a good, solid foundation of health.

We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements Dr. Hartman is constantly receiving. No other physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic letters of thanks.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

The Bed Danced Around Room

How a Friend of Mr. W. H. Cluxton Describes Earthquake.

Stories from eye-witnesses of the San Francisco earthquake are still coming in, and recently Mr. W. H. Cluxton received a letter from a friend in that city, who gives some of the graphic details. He says in part:

The first quake was a "peach," fully matured and highly developed. It was followed at intervals by some 15 little tremblings during the day. I was on the sixth storey of a large private hotel, and while I cannot describe my sensations, if you could fancy yourself awakened out of a sound sleep to find your bed dancing round the room, the plaster and pictures, glass globes, etc., showering down on your head, the building rocking like a drunken man, and expectin every minute that the next second you would be swallowed up, you may imagine how I felt.

Few Building Permits Issued This Year Yet

Great Majority of New Buildings are Being Erected Outside the Fire Limits—A Revision of the Fire Limit By-Law Will be Made in the Near Future—City Engineer Points Out Where Present By-Law is Likely to be Improved.

The City Engineer reports that this year very few building permits have been issued by him. This, however, does not indicate by any means that there has not been much building carried on in the city. It does not require an engineer's figures to prove this—one's observation tells him that. At the present time, however, only such buildings as are erected within the comparatively restricted area known as the fire limits come under the official notice of the city engineer. For buildings to be erected in this prescribed limits permits have to be procured, and in this area this year, Mr. Hay states, there has been very little building, compared with that being carried on outside that area. A large number of buildings, principally stores, have been improved and enlarged, but in many of these cases the engineer has not thought it necessary to issue permits. He has, of course, gone over the plans of the improvements, and in every case they have improved the conditions, so far as liability to take fire is concerned, and this is the only consideration which the city engineer has in the matter, except, of course, to see that the structures are strongly enough constructed to stand the strain to which they will be put.

It is probable that in the very near future there will be a change in the regulations governing the erection of buildings in the city. There is a feeling in certain quarters that the present bylaw defining the fire limits is not all that it should be, and that hardship is being done to some persons. At the present time within the area known as the fire limits, only fourteen inch brick walls are allowed, no matter how large or how small the building is, provided that it is a new building. Across the street from this area, any style of a building, so long, as the engineer puts it, it is not a nuisance, may be erected. The proposal now is to graduate the quality of building, and possibly narrow the area for fourteen inch walls, fix another area in which nine-inch walls will be allowed, and, outside of that section make some further, but less strict, regulations, and in this way secure a greater uniformity, and at the same time protect the property, while working no hardship to those who are building residences or other structures.

The city engineer has this matter under consideration at the present time, along with his other multitudinous duties, and it is expected that at a meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, in the near future, it will be dealt with.

Kidney Disease—Gravel.

"I was afflicted with kidney disease and gravel in its most severe form, having often a stoppage of water, accompanied by the most dreadful agony. By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the disease was eradicated from my system in less than six months. I have gained in weight, sleep well and feel better than I have for twenty years."—Mr. W. Smith, Port Dalhousie, Ont.

Sunday School Reports Were Very Satisfying

Annual Meeting of George Street and Grace Church Sunday Schools Held Last Night—Much Progress Made Financial Statement Shows Good Balance—Officers of Both Schools Were Elected.

The annual meeting of George Street and Grace Church Sunday Schools, was held last night in the Sunday School of the George Street Methodist Church, at which the reports of the year's work were presented, officers elected for the present year and many matters of importance discussed. These reports all showed a very prosperous year in both the Sunday Schools and one which was very gratifying to the pastor of the Church, Rev. Dr. Crothers, and also the officers of the Sunday School.

The report of the treasurer of the George Street Sunday School showed a balance of over $140 and the secretary's reports were also very encouraging.

The chair was occupied by the Rev. Dr. Crothers, who directed the progress of the meeting.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The George Street Sunday School Secretary's report was presented by Mr. A. E. Dixon, as follows:—

The boys recited 4,500 verses and the girls 13,358, a total of 18,058, being a weekly average of 347.

The average weekly contribution by envelopes was:—Boys, $1.33; girls, $2.67; total $4.55.

The library is in great need of attention, many of the best books being lost and others are worn out, and if the library is to be maintained at a satisfactory standard, a considerable sum should be spent on it in the near future.

During the year a change was made in the financial system of the Church, whereby the various funds of the church are paid to the Financial Secretary of the Church and by him paid to the Treasurer of the Church. By this system all contributions and other receipts from the school since 1st of January last are paid over to the Treasurer of the Church and all payments are made by him instead of by the Treasurer of the school as formerly.

On the 8th day of April last a special collection was taken up in aid of the Japan Famine Fund, amounting to $103.95 and the same was forwarded to Rev. Dr. Biggs to be applied for the purposes for which it was given.

Before closing the meeting Rev. Dr. Crothers congratulated those present on the large attendance and the spiritual interest manifested in the school and Missions by so many of the congregation of the church.

A DANGER TO CHILDHOOD

No mother would give her little one poison if she knew it and yet all the so-called soothing syrups and many of the liquid medicines given children contain poisonous opiates and an overdose will kill. When a mother uses Baby's Own Tablets she has the guarantee of a government analyst that this medicine does not contain one particle of opiate or narcotic, that it cannot possibly do harm. This assurance is worth much to the mother who cares for the safety of her little ones. Mrs. Chas. McLaughlin, DeLert station, N. S., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for colic, stomach trouble and other ailments of childhood and found them so valuable that I could not do without them in the house." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box by writing to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Bishop Sweatman And the Coadgutor

What St. Luke's Parish Magazine Has to Say of It.

St. Luke's Parish Magazine for May, referring to the proposed retirement of the Bishop of Toronto, says:

The continued ill-health of our beloved Diocesan Bishop is a matter of much regret to us all. We learn that the Bishop has been compelled, on the advice of his physicians, to ask the Synod for a Suffragan Bishop. Then at the forthcoming Synod the election of a Coadjutor will take place. We would urge our people to remember this great event in their prayers, that both clergy and laity may be guided by God the Holy Spirit to elect the right man.

If the opinion of prominent men is worth anything there are a few men whose names are seriously considered as probable candidates: Rev. Canon Cody, Rev. Canon Welsh and Rev. Canon Farthing. Any of these would make a good Bishop.

Kawartha's Grand Fishing Grounds

Where a Delightful Week May be Spent in Search of the Finny Tribe--Bobcaygeon the Centre of a Chain of Lakes.

An article on Canadian Fishing Territories appears in this month's issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, and in it the following reference is made to the local fishing grounds:—

Between Sharbot Lake and Toronto are many good fishing waters, such as the River Trent and its adjacent waters. The Canadian Pacific Railway has built a new branch line direct to connect with the Kawartha Lakes. These consist of ten beautiful sheets of water, known as Katchewanooka, Clear, Stony, Buckhorn, Chemong, Pigeon, Bald, Sturgeon, Cameron, and Balsam Lakes. They are situated 600 feet higher than Lake Ontario. To those who suffer from hay fever the pure air of these lakes affords relief, and a brief stay invariably effects a cure. Bobcaygeon in the centre of these lakes, (and from which all other lakes can be reached) is the terminus of the Lindsay branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which is the short line spoken of. Bobcaygeon is noted for its bass and maskinonge. There is two new hotels here and an excellent camping ground.

There is a long chain of lakes north of Trent, via Kaladar Station which brings us to a most charming resort called Bon Echo Inn on Lake Massanoga. Very pleasant are the thoughts of the writer connected with a pleasant stay of unfortunately a few days only at Bon Echo.

From Havelock Station a very large number of lakes are reached. All of these are in Ontario, be it remembered,

WILL INCORPORATE FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION

Capt. G. W. Bennett has received word from the Secretary of Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association that an application will be made in the near future for incorporation under the Benevolent Societies Act. It is the intention to select as directors of the new association members and officers of the Toronto Association, and also of each branch association formed in the Province. Mr. Bennett has been asked to send to the Secretary nominees of the local association for the office of director of the new incorporated body, and this will be taken up at a meeting of the association in the near future.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

RENENONS a nos moutons, let us recur to the general subject which engaged "Generally Speaking," last Saturday. This subject was the duty of citizens and authorities to make and keep the city externally beautiful. It will be apropos to remember that no city or town in the city lends itself to improvement and superiority in the regard of civic comeliness, will so richly reward general co-operative effort as this same city of Peterborough.

IT MAY BE thought that there is too much harping upon one string in this connection, but [illegible] There is so much popular inertia to be overcome, so much apathy to be eliminated. There is too little public spirit, or, at least, there is a lamentable indifference to exercising it. For years and years the Examiner hammered at the idea of cribbing the lake front bordering the circular sweep of drive from Lock street to the Little Lake cemetery, and planting an avenue of elms. At last these things were done, and now we have a double line of the most beautiful of our indigenous trees, forming a leafy arcade in the sweltering heat of summer — an avenue that will grow in beauty for a century to come, and coming generations will bless the memory of those who planted and fostered these trees, and left so splendid a heritage of beauty, comfort and aesthetic enjoyment.

IT IS ONLY by persistency of advocacy, by adding line upon line, and precept upon precept — here a little and there a little—or, rather, here a great deal and there a great deal—that desired results are accomplished. We need to have aroused more of a spirit of co-operation on the part of the citizens generally, and a livelier sense of duty upon the part of the civic authorities. Till we get the people aroused, till we get the vandal spirit laid that destroys by indifferent disregard for urban beauty boulevards and lawns, no general improvement is possible.

WHEN WE CAN get citizens to take a pride in their own property —the streets—when we get the public to regard injury to boulevards or littering the streets as degeneration, and the perpetrators as a common enemy deserving outlawry, we cannot have the best results.

IT IS BECOMING common in the city to dispense with fences between lawns and the streets, but in many cases the results are discouraging. On Gilmour street there is a good deal of building activity. Yesterday a lady told "Generally Speaking" of a bit of specimen vandalism, not an isolated example. A gang of plumbers were working at one new residence, when, having presumably finished, they proceeded to another building, tramping in procession on the way, across a private lawn, laid only last year, at a large expense to the owner. What sense of decency or regard for the sacredness and beauty of private property can such vandalism have?

LAST NIGHT "Generally Speaking" saw a crowd of eight or ten boys dancing, tramping, and—shouting, of ocurse—upon a boulevard or a corner—which, by the way, has had to be rebuilt twice within three years. The young imps had torn down the wire netting, the hideous necessity to prevent the vandal public from making a path over it, and all this in defiance of the city bylaw.

Peterborough Men Made Convenors

The Presbyterian Synod closed its session in Toronto yesterday, and the representatives from Peterborough have returned. Rev. J. G. Potter and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fowler, who were at the Synod from St. Andrew's, came home last night, while Rev. Dr. Torrance and Sheriff Hall returned on Thursday.

At the session yesterday the standing committees for the year were appointed. Rev. J. G. Potter was re-elected convenor of the committee on young people's work, and Rev. J. H. Edmison, a Peterborough boy, was made chairman of the committee on augmentation.

Improvements Are Being Made

Several Changes in Mr. W. J. O'Brien's Cigar Store.

Mr. W. J. O'Brien, the George street tobacconist, is making extensive improvements to his store which add greatly to the appearance and comfort of the establishment. A new floor has been put in and the partition between the cigar stand and barber shop has been removed. The interior will be repapered and painted and the exterior will also be painted in effective colours. These improvements will leave Mr. O'Brien the possessor of a neat and comfortable shop.

Five Months In Gaol For Receiving Stolen Property

Geo. Stevens, East City Junk Dealer, Sentenced This Morning—Fred. Boundy Goes to Gaol for Stealing Brass From Peterboro' Light and Power Company.

For stealing a quantity of brass articles from the Peterborough Light and Power Company, Frederick Boundy was this morning sentenced by Magistrate Dumble to four months in the county gaol, and for receiving these stolen articles George Stevens, the East City junk dealer was give a five months sentence to the same institution.

Boundy pleaded guilty to the charge last week, and the case was enlarged until to-day. The goods stolen were worth, it is said, from $100 to $150, and were taken from the company's storehouse in the rear of their offices on George street. The goods were disposed of to Stevens, it is alleged, and were shipped to Toronto, after having been taken to Lindsay in wagons.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams, who appeared for Boundy, asked for the mercy of the court on behalf of his client, in view of his previous good reputation, and good conduct, and in consideration of the fact that imprisonment would cast a stigma on his character thatt could not be overcome. He asked that sentence be reserved.

Mr. George Hutchinson, Boundy's employer, spoke of his good conduct, and also asked for leniency.

Mr. Dumble, in imposing sentence, said that there had been breach of trust and treachery on Boundy's part. The manufacturing concerns of the city were complaining that they were being robbed, and they must be protected. He then sentenced Boundy to four months in the county jail at hard labour.

Stevens had also pleaded guilty to the charge against him. Mr. D. O'Connell, his counsel, made a plea for leniency, and asked that the punishment be made a pecuniary one. He went into the particulars of the case at some length, stating that Stevens did not know Boundy, had not seen the goods or did not know that they were stolen. He admitted that a mistake had been made in not shewing the articles when a search was being made of his premises and in shipping them to Lindsay.

Stevens and his father also addressed the court, and explained the circumstances of the case.

Mr. Dumble said that he considered this case more serious than the preceding one. The junk business when conducted badly became a curse and a school for crime. When men knew that they had a good place to dispose of their goods there would be more temptation to steal. He had intended, he said, to send Stevens to the Central Prison for six months, but changed it to five months in the county gaol.

Mother Goose Paid Visit To St. John's Church

Unique Entertainment Given Last Night by Junior Women's Auxiliary.

An unique entertainment was held in St. John's Sunday school last night under the auspices of the Junior Women's Auxiliary. The affair was designated as a "Mother Goose at home" concert, and this well known friend of all the children figured largely in the programme. The school room was scarcely large enough to accommodate the large audience present, a fact which speaks highly of the standard established by the young people of St. John's in the past.

The main feature of the programme was the Mother Goose reception, in which some fifty girls took part. Miss Hazel Dean very cleverly acted Mother Goose, attired in the garb that is so familiar to the children. The girls were dressed to represent some of the well known Mother Goose characters, and each had to give a short recitation apropos of herself. The ——— were arranged by Miss Dean, and the effect was most pleasing.

The programme opened with a splendidly rendered instrumental duet by Miss Gladys Seward and Miss Grace Taft. Miss Greta Rountree and Miss Drina Palmer favoured the audience with violin solos during the evening, and the numbers were greatly appreciated. Both exhibited a command of that difficult instrumental that was most surprising. Miss Gladys Seward was also heard to great advantage in a piano solo. Mr. D. Hughes Charles made a very acceptable chairman.

The programme in its entirety was as follows:

Duet, Gladys Stewart and Grace Taft.
Mother Goose's Tea Party.
Presentation of prizes.
Intermission of 10 minutes.
Sale of Candy.
Violin Solo, Greta Rountree.
Piano Solo, Gladys Seward.
Violin Solo, Drina Palmer.
Musical Drill, 16 Girls.
God Save the King.

The prizes given by the Diocesan Board of the Woman's Auxiliary for regular attendance and good conduct were awarded to the following: Grace Crowe, Lillian Crowe, Marion McCabe, Ada Graham, May Nesbitt, Isabel Nesbitt, Stella Wallis, Bessie Ray, Gladys Seward and Frances Sloan.

The proceeds amounted to $50.

During the intermission a sale of candies was held, with successful results financially.

The officers of the Auxiliary, to whom much credit is due for the success of the affair, are:

Supt.—Mrs. W. R. Morris.
Assistants — Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot, Mrs. Dean, Miss McKee and Miss Bailey.
Secretary—Miss Grace Crowe.
Box Secretary—Miss Ada Graham.
Dorcas Secretary—Miss Teresa Simmons.
Treasurer—Miss May Nesbitt.

Insurance Men Received Pay From Two Sources

Officials Paid By Union Life Co. and National Agency.

ADVANCES TO MR. SYMONS

Expert New York Actuary Gives Evidence Before Royal Insurance Commission Touching Industrial and Child Insurance—Why Dividends Are Declared — Business Done by Union Life—Lapse Rate.

Toronto, May 12.—When the examination of the Union Life was resumed before the royal commission yesterday morning, Charles J. Harvey, consulting actuary and director of the company, was on the stand. Harvey, who is an expert on industrial insurance, and consulting actuary to several large American companies, said that he received a small retaining fee from the Union. His voting power in the company was given to Cashier Carrie.

Industrial Insurance.

Mr. Tilley commenced at once to delve into the intricacies of so-called "industrial insurance." Mr. Harvey's evidence on this class of insurance came to this:

Industrial life insurance is marked by weekly payments, usually collected by agents, and the insured pays for the collection.

In an ordinary company from 15 to 25 per cent. of the amount of premiums would be necessary to carry on the business. In industrials a hundred per cent. is necessary.

The premium is fixed, and the amount the insured gets for it varies. The amount is small—$500 being the maximum.

It was originally intended as a burial fund insurance.

In the Union Life the death rate was 15.8 per cent. of premiums receipts.

Child Insurance.

Child insurance was then taken up by the Dominion counsel. Witness said that in his opinion it was a splendid idea. It had decreased pauperism. The very fact that a man could insure his child for a small sum weekly was a boon to the poor man. The British Parliament had taken up the question, and to-day it was in force in both the old country and the United States. The idea that infants were murdered for insurance was ridiculous.

The financial side of the business was then gone into, and Mr. Harvey thought if the business of an industrial company was to be increased the company would be under financial restraint for many years. The company, if carefully managed, would be self-supporting, but the business could never be increased to large proportions. The weekly debit of the Union was at present close on to $4,000, which was sufficient if the company was satisfied to stay as they were. That was not the case. It was the aim of the directors to build up the greatest industrial insurance business on the continent.

Why They Declare Dividends.

"Why, then, do the company declare dividends?" asked counsel.

"For the simple reason that people will not put up their money unless they can see something coming back."

"In time the company would pay enormous profits, I suppose?" asked counsel.

"Yes. In many companies the shareholders have been satisfied without any dividends, such as the Colonial in New Jersey, which to-day after the early struggles of organization, was paying handsome profits."

Mr. Harvey admitted that the payment to shareholders of the National Co. was a means adopted to keep shareholders satisfied and willing to pay up calls on stock or make new investments in stock or debentures.

Witness explained the savings bank policy which he had instituted.

The Lapse Rate Low.

The examination of Mr. Harvey was continued in the afternoon by Mr. Tilley.

Mr. Tilley put in a statement showing the business done by the Union Life as follows: 1902, 524 policies issued and no lapses; 1903, 27,742 policies issued and 16,525 remained; 1904, 28,620 policies issued and 17,197 remained; 1905, 26,659 policies issued and 23,582 remained.

When asked what he thought of the statement, the witness said that the lapse rate compared with other companies was very low.

Mr. Harvey, in explaining the effect of a large lapse ratio, which he claimed was a heavy loss to any company, said that on the average premium, which was 5 cents per week, six weeks would be used up in paying the medical examination fee, which was 50 cents. There was no medical examination on infantile life up to 10 years of age. The loss on lapsed policies would be about $3.44 1-2. The Union Life was entirely a non-participating company.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hellmuth, the witness could not exactly say what the life of a policy was in the Union Life. The average policy took a year to become self-supporting.

The Salary List.

W. H. Carrie, bookkeeper of the Union Life, was the next witness.

The salary list of the Union Life, as admitted by Mr. Carrie, was as follows: For 1902 Evans received $510, Symons $198, Dr. Millichamp $460. For 1903, Evans $5,158.40, Symons $435, Dr. Millichamp $1,586.75. For 1904, Evans $6,225.36 Symons $4,270, Dr. Millichamp $2,197.75. For 1905, Evans $5,560, Symons $530, Dr. Millichamp $3,160 and W. K. Carrie $1,500.

From the National Agency Mr. Evans received for 1902, $1,740; 1903, $874; 1904, $258.64; 1905, $175. Mr. Symons received for 1902, $1,035; 1903, $1,580; 1904, $1,335; 1905, $2,375. Dr. Millichamp received for 1902, $499.92; 1903, $833.20; 1904, $371.54; 1905, $170. Dr. Hughes received for 1902, $1,310; 1903, $70; 1904, $525; 1905, $1,664.

Dr. Hughes has now a new contract which gives him $3,000 per annum.

Advances to Symons.

Mr. Carrie then gave the various amounts which have been advanced by the National Agency Co. to Harry Symons during the past three years. The total amount was $2,093.06, made up of small items, and two items, $1,650 and $1,123, which witness said were advances to Symons in connection with Electrical Development securities. The nature of these loans he could never find out. He had spoken to Symons several times, but had received no satisfactory explanation. There had been no collateral or note ever given by Symons.

Mr. McLaughlin told the commission that Mr. Symons had gone to New York. It was altogether too bad that he was not present to explain these amounts.

"It is too bad we have not the National Agency books here," said Mr. Tilley.

This closed the investigation of the Union Life and the court then adjourned, to meet on Monday, 21st inst.

Some Lively Times Regarding Immigration

Caused By Quarrel Between W. T. R. Preston and A. Jury.

RE TRAVELING EXPENSES

Return Relating to Squabbles of Immigration Officials of Canada in Britain Tabled in the House — Jury's Charges and Confession — Mr. Preston's Complaint—When Mr. Jury Went Broke.

Ottawa, May 12.—A return relating to the squabbles between Mr. W. T. R. Preston on the one hand, and Messrs. Grifith and Just of the High Commissioner's office, and Mr. Alfred Jury, emigration agent at Liverpool, on the other, was tabled yesterday.

It is alleged that Messrs. Grifith and Jury, and a Mr. Thomas Duncan, who is not now in the service, were charging first-class fares whenever they traveled, and only paying second or third class. This led to an order issuing from Ottawa forbidding the practice under penalty of immediate dismissal. Mr. Preston, in his letter, charges Grifith, Jury and Duncan with sending in fraudulent accounts.

Mr. Jury's Charges.

Mr. Jury, in one communication, says that Preston was aware all along of what had been done, but in a moment of pique stopped the first-class fares and ordered him to travel third, which he refused to do. Preston, he states, then held up the accounts until ordered by the department to pay them. "So far as I am concerned," observes Mr. Jury, "the difference between first and third class fares has not gone into my pocket for myself, but to recoup me for out-of-pocket expenses that one must incur if one wants to make oneself on terms of good-fellowship with the steamship agents in this country, and also to recoup me the money that I have to give to distressed Canadians who are calling at the office at the rate of two or three a day."

Mr. Preston's Complaint.

Mr. Preston was asked to establish amicable relations with the staff. He states that the animosity towards him only exists on the part of the officers named, and alleges that it is because he stopped their fraudulent accounts. "From that day to the present," he declares, "notwithstanding the most humiliating advances on my part, ill-will and constant insults have been my portion from the clique whose perquisites were threatened by my action, and who have been at work ever since to discredit me with the department."

Mr. Jury "Went Broke."

In a letter of the 26th of February, 1905, from Mr. Jury to Mr. Preston, the former complains that he has no funds, and he adds: "I am broke, and unless I get some money I cannot complete my lecture engagements. I have not any gold mines in the shape of the Canadian Labor Bureau or the North Atlantic Trading Co. to draw from. By the way, I see from the Auditor-General's report that it is a very good gold mine. Do you know if there are any shares for sale in that company? You may be able to get me in on the ground floor."

Mr. Preston was highly indignant on account of this letter. He wrote to the department, drawing attention to the charges contained in Mr. Jury's communication, and asked for his dismissal.

On another occasion Mr. Jury warns Mr. Preston: "Don't monkey with the buzz-saw; sign those cheques and send them along."

TERRIBLE PAINS ACROSS BACK

SUFFERED EIGHT MONTHS WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE. WOULD HAVE TO STAY IN BED FOR THREE DAYS AT A TIME

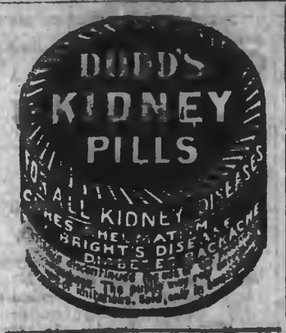
Doan's Kidney Pills CURED HIM

Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald, Hamildean, Ont., writes us as follows: "I was a great sufferer from kidney trouble for eight months. I had terrible pains across the small of my back. I would have to stay in bed for three days at a time and could not do any work. I tried several remedies but of no avail, and also plasters but they were of no use.

One day a neighbor of mine advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I was so much discouraged I told him I was tired of trying remedies, but he urged me to try one box so I purchased one, and before I was through using it, I found a change for the better so I got five boxes more, and I have had no trouble with my kidneys since. I would (not be without Doan's Pills in my house."

It is really not difficult to cure kidney trouble in its first stages. All you have to do is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They are a never-failing cure for all forms of kidney trouble. They quickly relieve the congested, overworked kidneys, and gradually bring them back to health.

Doan's Kidney Pills 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.



NEWS TO THE WEST.

Mr. Ames' Charges of Land Blanketing By Speculators.

Ottawa, May 12.—The debate instituted by Mr. Ames on the alleged blanketing of lands in the Northwest was resumed yesterday and continued until 9.30 last evening, when it quietly lapsed, and the House went into Committee of Supply.

Member after member from the Northwest during the debate rose and stated that the things alleged by the member for St. Antoine division did not exist to the extent stated, otherwise they would have heard of them.

Mr. Adamson, for example, referred to the eight cases cited by Mr. Ames, where the latter charged that men were holding illegally and through the unfair connivance of the department. Mr. Adamson knew four of the cases personally, and said that Mr. Ames was entirely wrong. Probably if looked into the remainder were equally groundless.

Mr. McIntyre, who, with Mr. Adamson, spoke well and forcibly, said he had recently passed through his constituency, a tract 100 by 200 miles, and heard no complaint about these matters. He had to come to Ottawa to hear the charges.

Mr. McCraney thought that Mr. Ames was very credulous, and had filled his notebook with gossip rather than with reliable information. He defended the administration of the land laws as being in the interest of the settler.

Technical Education Commission.

Ottawa, May 12.—S. M. Wickett, Toronto; Lieut.-Col. J. H. Burland, E. A. Whitehead and J. J. McGill, Montreal; G. A. Vaudry, Quebec, and J. P. Murray and G. M. Murray, Toronto, waited on Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. L. P. Brodeur yesterday, and asked for a grant for the appointment of a commission to enquire into the question of technical education. Sir Wilfrid said he would take the matter into consideration.

COULD NOT APPROVE.

C. N. R. Entrance to Ottawa Not Satisfactory to Railway Minister.

Ottawa, May 12.—The plans filed by Mackenzie & Mann for the construction of their proposed line between Georgian Bay and Montreal were discussed yesterday before the Minister of Railways.

Mr. Drinkwater of the C. P. R. wanted fuller information about the western end of the proposed line, and the western section was held over accordingly.

The entrance to Ottawa, planned to be made through one of the finest parks and showing thirteen level crossings, was laid over. The Minister plainly intimated, however, that it could not be approved.

The sections between Montreal and St. Andrew's and between Hawkesbury and Ottawa were approved. The section between Hawkesbury and St. Andrew's stands over in order that an arrangement may be made to keep north of the Carillon and Grenville road.

Butter Sells At 21c. Per Pound

Farmers and Gardeners Say the Growth is Backward.

There were very few changes in market prices this morning from a week ago. The usual large quantities of eggs and butter were present, these articles forming the chief production in the upstairs market. Butter to-day sold a little cheaper than last Saturday—20c and 22c per lb., being the general prices.

Eggs were offered at 14c and 15c per dozen. Chickens, which were very scarce, sold at from 90c to $1.25.

On the square potatoes and young swine were the most common. Seed potatoes to-day sold at 80c per bag; those for cooking at $1.00 and some at $1.25. Northern apples were offered at $1.00 per bag.

In the meat line veal only was visible and sold at 7 and 8c for front and hind quarters respectively.

Hay, which has maintained a high price all week, brought $14 for good timothy and $12 per ton for clover.

A number of the farmers and gardeners state that the growth so far has been very backward, an unusual circumstance at this time of the year.

Many Horses Work Out At Exhibition Track

Many Fast Trials of Speed are Being Held—Lady Gothard, Harry Direce and Other Horses on Track Daily—Programme for Victoria Day.

The race track at the Exhibition Grounds is a scene of great activity these days and a number of turf patrons spend the afternoons there. A large string of horses is at work and trials of speed are frequent. Among the horses which may be seen at the track daily are Harry Direct, Little Jap, Miss Paisley, and Lady Gothard, as well as several fast colts. All the horses are said to be turning out great bursts of speed. The track is now in splendid condition.

Arrangements are being concluded for the races on Victoria Day, which promise to be well worth witnessing. The programme consists of the 2.23 class, purse $100 and the colt race, purse $50. There are five entries in the latter class already and much interest is displayed in the youngsters.

Martin Connors' Lady Gothard is said to be doing some very lively stepping these days and should have a successful season. McCollum Bros., have a very promising colt at work, which looks like a space coverer.

Lindsay's Scheme To Throw Down League

The Post Gives Some Details of the Alleged Inner Workings of the Redskin Baseball Team This Year—Says No Truth in Story of Galt Battery.

It appears that the story to the effect that Lindsay Baseball Club had secured the services of Flaherty and Marshall for their battery this year, is not correct. The Post referring to the article published in the Port Hope Guide to this effect says:—

"The Lindsay Redskins were slaughtered last year, and deservedly so, having thrown down "Curly Mac", a clever pitcher who always caught on with the crowd and was a money-maker. This season the Reds have not even called a meeting to talk re-organization, and some one has been working a game with the officers of the Midland League and fostering the impression that Lindsay had a team to enter. Lovers of true sport are not in sympathy with that sort of thing—the town's name is back of any organization, and there should be no underhand scheming. It is whispered among a few of the knowing ones that the intention was—or is—to organize a dummy team, work up a couple of high gates and then disband and divide the spoils."

NOTICE

Take notice that the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough, intends after one month after the last publication of this notice, to undertake the construction of granolithic sidewalks on the following streets or parts of streets in the city of Peterborough, as local improvements, under section 678 of the Consolidated Municipal Act, 1903, and the other provisions of the said Act, and the By-laws of the city relating to local improvements and applicable thereto:

Bolton street, north side, from Thomas street to the Monaghan Road.

Cedar street, south side, from Park street to Cambridge street.

Victoria Avenue, north side, from Downie street to Dixon street.

Dixon street, east side, from Smith street to the end of the city limits.

George street, east side, from King street to the Canadian Pacific Railway.

And to assess the final cost thereof, less the cost of that part of the work which is incurred in respect of street intersections and opposite exempted properties, and less forty per cent. of the remaining cost of the work to be provided by the Municipality, under Section 678 of The Consolidated Municipal Act, 1903, upon the properties abutting thereon and to be benefitted thereby, and the number of annual special assessments therefor will be twenty.

Persons desiring to petition the said Council against undertaking any of the said proposed works must do so on or before the 29th day of June, 1906.

Threatened With Paralysis

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

It is customary to consider paralysis, insanity and other diseases of the nerves as afflictions which come upon a person without warning and which are, therefore, unavoidable.

As a matter of fact, such results are preceded by months, if not years, of symptoms, which point to an exhausted condition of the nervous system. These symptoms are such, however, that many pass them by as not being of serious concern and thinking that they will wear away of themselves.

Sleeplessness, nervous headaches, indigestion, bodily weakness, fainting spells, twitching of the nerves, inability to concentrate the thoughts, and loss of memory are among the most common indication of a run down nervous system. It is sometimes only a step from such symptoms to prostration, paralysis, locomotor ataxia or insanity.

Stimulants and narcotics, though sometimes affording temporary relief, only hasten the exhaustion of the nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, on the other hand, reconstructs and restores the wasted and depleted nerve cells.

Naturally, gradually and certainly this great medicine instills into the blood and the nervous system the life-sustaining principles which replenish the nerve force in the body and so effect lasting benefit.

Miss Emma Scott, Athens, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a world of good. I was troubled with fainting spells, bodily weakness, and spent restless, sleepless nights. I frequently had cramps in the stomach and would at times become entirely insensible, not knowing what was going on until others told me afterwards.

"I doctored with several doctors and they told me I was threatened with paralysis. They gave me relief, but could not cure me. After suffering for three years I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and it has done me more good than all the medicines I ever used."

Did Burglar Murder Spier? Is The Question

Bullet Found Same Size as His Own Revolver.

Examiner Special.

(Saturday Foreign News Service)

New York, May 12. — Physicians working under directions of the District-Attorney and the Coroner, performed an autopsy yesterday afternoon on the body of Charles L. Spier, who was shot mysteriously in his home on Staten Island, Monday morning. They found the bullet that had killed him lodged in the back beneath the left shoulder blade.

The little chunk of lead was battered by its contact with bones, but there was shape enough left to determine easily its original size. It was of 32 calibre, the same as those remaining in Mr. Spier's revolver. Nothing conclusive is proved by this discovery. The police assert it strengthens their theory of suicide. The dead man's family and friends declare the unknown burglar may have had a revolver of the same calibre.

The causes of the tragedy remained a mystery yesterday. There were no clues of a burglar, nor was there found any sufficient motive to induce the man to take his own life. A newly advanced theory was that Mr. Spier shot himself accidentally while looking for a burglar.

Fires Taught Falls A Lesson

A Volunteer Fire Brigade Formed in Fenelon Falls.

Special to The Examiner.

Fenelon Falls, May 12.—The occurrence of two serious fires in less than two months has aroused the people of this village to a realization of their position better than anything else could have done, and a start has at last been made in the direction of organized fire protection, which would, in the course of time, develop into a good system.

The Board of Trade called a public meeting in Twomey's hall on Monday evening to discuss the matter of fire protection, and to establish a volunteer fire brigade. The meeting was largely attended, and, after motions that a volunteer brigade be formed, and that it be under the control of the village council, Mr. R. A. Robinson, president of the Board, called for volunteers, and within a few minutes the secretary had a list of 30 names, which was considered sufficient for the time.

E. S. Greenfield Steals; His Firm Loses $150,000 and Falls.

Examiner Special,
(Saturday Foreign News Service)

Philadelphia, May, 12. — Through the defalcations of a confidential and trusted clerk, Edwin S. Greenfield, who is believed to have helped himself to $150,000 of the firm's money, Harrison, Snyder & Son, a stock brokerage firm, was forced to-day into bankruptcy by the principal creditors, who felt themselves compelled to protect their own interests.

Another Landmark Gone; End Of Murray St. School

Structure is Being Dismantled After Thirty Years Service, --Some Information About its Construction and One of the Contractors, Mr. Angus McPherson--Mr. Lynch the First Principal.

The old Separate School on Murray street which, for nearly 30 years has sheltered the majority of the Roman Catholic male pupils of the city will soon be a thing of the past. Men are at work demolishing the structure, and within a few days all traces of the institution will have vanished from the spot where it stood so long. The boys of 15 years who have been away from the city would be greatly astonished at the changes made in the locality. First the beautiful park-like grounds were changed into an athletic field. The splendid pines, beneath which schoolboy games were played, were removed, and in the place of the park there was a baseball field and a grandstand. This, too, passed away and the athletic field became a common. And now the old school itself is gone.

The old order changeth, and the things of the past must give way to the things of the future. The pupils of the present day will perhaps not experience any pangs of regret at changing from the old school into the magnificent new one just opened. Those, however, whose school days are over, will be sorry to see the place where their youthful days were spent, dismantled and razed to the ground, even though they realize that a forward step has been made and a new era reached in the history of education.

Mr. Angus McPherson, Paterson street, is more than any other individual in Peterborough, perhaps, interested in the old school, as he, with the late Robert Pope, were the contractors who erected the building, now being destroyed after 28 years of service.

Mr. McPherson was seen at his home by an Examiner representative, and gave some interesting information about the construction of the school. It was built, he stated, in 1878. The work started in the spring of the year, and was completed by the fall, when the school was opened with appropriate ceremonies. The rear portion of the building was built many years before that time, and until 1878 had been the only Roman Catholic school in the town. The contractors, in making the addition, simply demolished the end wall of the old building and built the new part in front. The result was a school commodious enough for all purposes, at first, indeed, more than sufficient for the number of pupils attending. With the growth of Peterborough came a corresponding growth in the attendance, and to relieve the congestion the Lake street school was built. Still the number of pupils grew, until the present St. Peter's school was built, which meant that the Murray street school had served its purpose.

The first principal of the enlarged Murray street school was a Mr. Lynch, and he was assisted by several male teachers, whose names Mr. McPherson could not recollect, but who are either dead or have long since left Peterborough.

Mr. McPherson has been a resident of Peterborough since 1871, coming here from Brantford.

The Sunday School Annual Meeting

Lakefield Methodist Sunday School Teachers and Officers Held Annual Meeting and Elected Officers--Mr. Thomas Doman a Veteran of the Crimea--A Former Resident Returns to the Village.

Special to The Examiner

Lakefield, May 12th.—Mr. Andrew Hamilton, of Arizonia, is visiting his father, Mr. Wm. Hamilton, of this village. Mr. Hamilton left Lakefield about ten years ago and was agreeably surprised on his return at the growth of the village.

Mr. Fred. Bates, of Peterborough, was in the village Wednesday.

The news of the death of the late Mr. Bertram McWilliams, of Gananoque, son of Mr. John McWilliams of the village came as a shock to the citizens of Lakefield.

The deceased, who was well known in Lakefield, went to bed in his usual health on Sunday evening last and was found dead in the morning. Heart failure is the cause of death. The body was brought to Lakefield Wednesday and interred in the Lakefield Cemetery.

Miss Retta Stewart and Miss Minnie Kittney, of Peterborough, were the guests of Miss C. Dorris, this week.

Messrs. T. Jewel and T. Isbister, of the village, spent Sunday in Bobcaygeon, visiting friends.

Mr. Roy Spears, of Otonabee, spent Sunday in Lakefield.

Mr. F. M. Dela Fosse is preparing a cricket team to play the Trinity College School team in Port Hope next week.

The Steamer Majestic is towing stone from the quarry at Dewert's Island, Stony Lake, to Lakefield, for shipment to Toronto, for the Barber Paving Co., of that city.

Mr. Lummis, of Toronto, and Mr. Bartlett, of Orillia, representatives of the company that have purchased The Dickson plant here were in the village this week.

Mr. Frank Gray is spending a few weeks in Cobalt.

A new lock-master has been appointed for No. 2, Mr. Patrick Sullivan, of Young's Point, having been appointed.

Miss Maud Bogue, of Peterborough, was visiting friends in Lakefield this week.

Mr. Chas. Blomfield, having secured a position with the Canadian Cordage Co., of Peterborough, left for that city Wednesday.

Mr. H. Whatley has his new greenhouse completed and stocked and is now open for business.

In last Saturday's Globe appeared a photogravure of Mr. Thos. Doman, of the village, who is so well and favourably known in Lakefield and vicinity. The picture was accompanied by the following:—

"Thomas Doman, late private in the 63nd Regiment, was born in Wiltshire, England, in 1835, and enlisted in 1854. He first went to Malta with his regiment, then to the Crimea, where he served until the fall of Sebastopol. He distinguished himself at the taking of the Redan and at the Quarries, where, ammunition failing, the British had recourse to stones and pelted the Russians with such good effect that they were kept in check until fresh powder arrived. He took his discharge at Kingston in 1862, and has resided in and around Lakefield, Ont., ever since, honoured and respected by his fellow townsmen."

At the annual meeting of the teachers and officers of the Methodist Church, the following officers were elected:—

Superintendent — Mr. J. W. Cornish.

Assistant Superintendent — Mr. Geo. Payne.

Secretary—Mr. J. H. Sherin.

Assistant Secretary — Mr. George Spence.

Librarians—Misses. Lightfoot and Montgomery.

Organist—Miss Clara Davis.

Orchestra Leader—Mr. John Baisdon.

The report which was presented showed the school to be in a flourishing condition. After the business part of the programme was completed, Rev. and Mrs. Leggott served refreshments and a most enjoyable social hour was spent.

The Rev. Mr. Whitelaw, of Omemee, occupied the pulpit of the Lakefield Presbyterian Church on Sunday last. Rev. Mr. Sinclair of Fenelon Falls, will occupy it on the coming Sunday.

"GAZETTE" WANTS SUCKERS KILLED

The Fenelon Falls Gazette says:—Suckers are up, and the boys who are "jigging" them ought to kill them as soon as they are taken out of the water. Like some other kinds of fish suckers are exceedingly tenacious of life, and the method of catching them is so barbarous that they ought to be put out of misery as quickly as possible. There is a stringent law against cruelty to animals, even of the worst kinds of vermin, and we don't see why fish should not be protected also.

The Canadian General Stock

A Disappointing Feature on Stock Market Yesterday.

The Toronto Star yesterday said, referring to the stock market:

The action of Canadian General Electric was disappointing. For some days buying of a good class, much of it for investors, has been noted, and the stock held around 142 and 143. Yesterday and to-day, however, there seemed to be more sellers than buyers, and the stock fell back to 141. An incident of the morning on the local exchange was the sale of a block of 500 at 141 by A. E. Webb & Co. What made the transaction look interesting to people was the circumstance that Webb & Co. are generally credited with being one of the principal local brokers for the bull interests in General Electric.

Much of the selling of this stock lately has, it is said, been done by people who took special precautions to conceal the origin of the stock.

One rather laboriously reasoned theory for the decline in General Electric, put forth on the "street," was that when the general improvement began in the local market, and General failed to advance, and the banks called for more margins, that some holders were not inclined to margin any deeper, and consequently the stock came on the market. Another theory put forth by a holder was this: "They're up to their old tricks. They're selling General at the bottom to buy Mackay at the top."

Fenelon Falls Man's Experience

Albert Beatty, Sole Survivor of Tug 'Clipper" Wreck.

Albert Beatty of Midland, a former resident of Fenelon Falls, and well known there, had a very narrow escape from drowning in Georgian Bay on Monday, being the only survivor of a crew of four men of the tug Clipper, which sprang a leak, was beached by her crew, and sank not far from French River early that morning. Mr. Beatty clung all day to the wheel-house of the submerged tug, and towards evening by tying together a piece of a door and a pail rack, and using them for a raft reached a small island, where he nearly perished from exposure before being rescued by a fisherman about thirty hours later.

Students Enjoy Rhine Lecture

A Delighted Audience Greeted Rev. Mr. Langfeldt.

The Port Hope Guide, referring to a lecture given there Thursday night, says: The lecture given by Dr. Langfeldt last night proved to be one of the most instructive and interesting entertainments given in Port Hope for some time. The Dr. is an able speaker, and his interesting description of the different places illustrated was indeed a treat. About 90 of the students from Trinity College School came in a body. The hall was filled, every available seat being occupied. The T. C. S. glee club, under the direction of Dr. Petrie, did excellently, and, had time permitted, would have had to respond more than once to the hearty encores. The ladies of the guild are greatly encouraged by the success of last night, and we are confident that at any future time Dr. Langfeldt visits Port Hope he will be enthusiastically received.

MR. TULLY WORKS IN RUSSELL, ONT

The Russell, Ont., Leader of this week says: Mr. J. A. Tully, of Peterborough, travelling agent for the Oddfellow Relief Association, is in town for a couple of days. He paid a visit to the local lodge on Tuesday and assisted in the work when one candidate was initiated into the mysteries of the order.

AUTOMOBILE SERVICE TO YOUNG'S POINT PROPOSED

The Examiner has learned on good authority that there will be an automobile service established to Young's Point during the coming tourist season at the Kawartha Lakes. Although the question has not yet been decided, as far as can be learned, negotiations are on foot by which the service will be undertaken by a local gentleman. If this line is established there will then be two automobile services to the lakes, the other going to Chemong. The distance is only about 15 miles, and as the road runs parallel to the river all the way the journey will not be an unpleasant one.

In all probability two round trips will be made each day, and there will no doubt be many citizens who will avail themselves of the opportunity of journeying quickly to the Kawartha Lakes, when otherwise they would not be able to go.

A TALK ON INLAID LINOLEUM and It's Advantages

For use in Halls, Dining-Rooms, Offices, Hotels and Public Buildings where the maximum resistance to wear is desirable.

The very nature and composition of Inlaid Linoleum insures durability, composed as it is of White Lead, Ground Cork and Oil with which is mixed the desired colour to produce the pattern. These ingredients being mixed to-gether as a pulp, are pressed on canvas between heavy rollers and subjected to a pressure of about 25 tons weight. Therefore one can easily conceive the superiority over the to ordinary printed Linoleum. The pattern is through the back--will never wear off--colours will never change.

We Offer This Week a Number of Pieces of

Inlaid Linoleum at 75c Sq. Yd.

Street Extensions To Be Carried Out

Mr. Thos. McKee Appointed Valuator of Property for George and Aylmer Street Extension—Will Expropriate if Necessary—R. Sheehy Gets Contract for Sewer on Stewart Street, South of Perry.

The Board of Works held a short meeting on Saturday night, but during the few minutes they were there they put through a lot of business. Ald. Hicks is evidently giving the same energy to his administration of this department of the civic service that he puts into his own business. The object of the meeting, as stated by him, was to get the work of opening George and Aylmer streets under way, and he wanted a valuator appointed to place a valuation on the property through which the streets would pass. He proposed to have the work pushed, and wanted to know just what it was going to cost the city. His idea was that if a satisfactory agreement could not be arrived at between the property owners and the city to take expropriation proceedings. The line by which Aylmer street was to be extended should be decided on at the present time.

The outcome of the matter was that Mr. Thomas McKee, on motion of Ald. Wilson, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, was appointed to place a valuation on the property, and in case an arbitrator is necessary to settle any difference between the city and the valuator, Mr. W. Langford be engaged.

Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the City Engineer be instructed to investigate and furnish the material to replace the fence owned by Mrs. Phillips, and destroyed by the Ashburnham outfall sewer.

A petition was received from the residents on Stewart street, south of Perry street, for a sewer for a distance of 400 feet. In connection with this piece of work, Mr. R. Sheehy submitted a tender of $1.15 a foot for the construction of this sewer, and this tender was accepted. He is at present building a sewer on Perry street, and it was thought that he should be given the contract, which is a small one, and could be done in connection with the other work. The price for the Perry street sewer is only 93c a foot, but City Engineer gave it as his opinion that the contractor was losing money on the job at that price. He thought that possibly $1.15 was a little high, but that about $1.10 would be a fair figure. It was decided, however, for the sake of the small difference to give the contract to Mr. Sheehy, in order that the work could be put through expeditiously.

Campbellford Old Boys' Association

Proposition to Form One in This City—In Connection With Inauguration Celebration on July 2nd—A Number of Campbellford Natives in Peterborough—The Leaders of the Movement.

There are in Peterborough a good many Campbellford people, and it is quite probable that a Campbellford Old Boys' Association will be formed here, in order that the proposal to hold an Old Boys' re-union in that town may be furthered by the local association, which, if it included all those who are eligible for membership would be quite large. Mr. J. F. Linton, perhaps the youngest Campbellford Old Boy in Peterborough, is taking an active part in the matter, and Dr. McGrath and Dr. Fredericks both of whom were former residents of that town are also prominent and sympathetic supporters of the proposal to form an association in this city.

On July 2nd the inauguration of Campbellford as a town, will be celebrated and all the former residents are expected to return to help those still there in the celebration. The old boys' reunion will simply be an incident of the celebration. There will be, in addition, fire works, races, games, sports, speeches, of course, a concert, and a military demonstration. In short there will be about everything doing that one could look for or expect, and above all, everyone will have a good time, or if they do not it will be their own own fault.

Campbellford has just recently awakened to the fact that the town possesses a magnificent water power, and now they are putting on airs about it. In connection with the celebration special envelopes are being issued and used by everyone who writes a letter out of town. On the face of the envelope is a half tone picture of the falls from which part of the power used is developed, and across the top the words, "Campbellford," "the second Niagara," while on the back is a list of the water powers which are said to exist within five miles of the town, and which, according to the figures given, total up to 44,000 horse power. In a case of this kind, though, no one will find any particular fault with them if they do exaggerate a little, and give Healey's Falls as capable of giving 12,000 horse power.

It is expected that in a short time a meeting will be held for the purpose of forming the local association, and in the mean time, any who contemplate joining should send their names to Mr. Linton, at the Dickson Company's office.

C. P. R. Laying Track On Peterboro' Division

Ten Box Cars of Italians Engaged in This Work A New Colony of This Nationality Domiciled in the City—The Company Practically Replacing the Steel on This Division—Increased Traffic Making it Necessary.

There are 10 carloads of Italians who are daily travelling out of and into this city who are pretty well pleased with their lot, and they have reason to be, for the C. P. R. has just installed them in new box cars, which will be their home for the summer. Yesterday the cars were standing on a siding, where they are brought every night, by the engine on the work train operating on this division, and where a reporter paid a visit to their habitation. They were in the midst of their preparations for dinner, which yesterday was of a special nature, but as to the details of the repast, and its composition, the reader will have to ask Niccolo Rennetti—or someone else. The Italian who acted as guide said that it was a special Sunday dinner, and there was no occasion—or inclination—to doubt the statement.

This particular bunch of former residents of Sunny Italy are feeling rather proud of their new quarters, and well they may, for there are many of their fellow countrymen who are not so well situated. The new cars are most comfortably fitted up.

The presence of so many of this class of workmen in the city at the present time is occasioned by the track-laying operations which the C.P.R. is carrying on in the vicinity of Peterborough at the present time. Practically the whole of the steel is being replaced with new rails, the increasing heavy traffic making it necessary to lay new rails, which the gang of men and the work train are now engaged in.

The whole track is being placed in first-class condition, and new ties and rails laid wherever necessary. It is expected that the work train will be engaged for the greater part of the summer on this division.

Poles Must Come Off George Street, Says Hicks

Chairman of Board of Works Wants to Get Rid of One Set—Bell Telephone and G. N. W. Company Wires on One Set—They Must Come Down—Bell People Want to Start Underground Work at Once—Application Renewed at Board of Works on Saturday Night.

The application of the Bell Telephone Company for permission to lay their wires underground on certain parts of streets in the city came up before the Board of Works on Saturday night again, when the city engineer's report on the application of the company was received. A definite conclusion on the application was not reached at that meeting because of the fact that on George street, from Charlotte to Brock streets, the Bell and G.N.W. wires are on the same poles, and it was pointed out that even if the Bell Company did place their wires underground the poles would still remain unless the G. N. W. Company removed its wires. A motion was finally passed to the effect that the Bell Telephone Company be given permission to place their wires underground, provided the G.N.W. Telegraph Company remove their poles from George street, from Charlotte to Brock streets.

Ald. Hicks was of the opinion that there should be a condition of granting permission to the Bell Company, as it would be useless to place their wires underground if the poles were still to remain there for the G. N. W. Company. Mr. Dean was present at the meeting, and said that while he would use his best efforts to induce the G.N.W. Company to remove the poles from the street, he could not guarantee that they would do do it.

It was finally decided that Ald. Hicks and Mr. Dean should take the matter up this morning.

In reference to the application of the Bell Company, the city engineer presented his report, in which he stated that the company wishes to build conduits on the following streets: George street, Sherbrooke to Brock street; Brock street, Chambers to Water streets; Hunter, street, Chambers to Water streets; Simcoe street, 165 feet east and west of George street; Charlotte street, George to Aylmer streets; Chambers street, from Hunter street 250 feet north.

He adds: I have selected as the best positions for the Bell Company's conduits:

George street, from Charlotte to Brock streets, between the Canadian Machine Telephone Company's manhole and the sewer.

George street, south of Charlotte street, between the sewer and the street railway tracks.

Brock street, 30 feet from south line of street.

Hunter street, between sewer and water main.

Simcoe street, between sewer and surface drain.

Charlotte street, between street railway and water mains.

Chambers street, east of Canadian Machine Telephone Co.

In the agreement with the Bell Company it will be advisable to require them to finish the street surface to proper grade, and the company to assume all liability for injury to the property of the city and of the different companies they may come in contact with. I make these suggestions, as no mention of these requirements is made in the specifications submitted.

Another matter to be considered is that, while the construction of these conduits will enable the Bell Company to remove their wires and cables off the poles, it will not dispose of the poles which are the property of the G. N. W. Telegraph Co., between Charlotte and Brock streets. This can be overcome by diverting the G. N. W. Telegraph Co. to some other street.

It was stated at the meeting that the company wanted to commence at once on the underground work, and that if satisfactory arrangements could be made with the city, a gang of men could be here this week to do the work.

Mr. H. Smith, who for some time has been foreman of the brass foundry at the C. G. E. Mr. Smith was a popular man around the works, and his departure will be regretted by those with whom he was associated.

Brantford Milk Being Tested

In Ten Cases the Liquid Was Below the Standard.

(Examiner Special.)

Brantford, May 13.—Dr. Pearson, the medical health officer, conducted a test of the milk samples secured yesterday, and found that the results were far more satisfactory. In ten cases the milk was below the standard set by law, and the remaining 17 were above. Dr. Pearson states that it is by no means satisfactory for this time of year especially. The test will probably be published.

Thousands of Women

ARE MADE WELL AND STRONG

Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Rests Upon the Fact that It Really Does Make Sick Women Well.

Thousands upon thousands of Canadian women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Their letters are on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office, and prove this statement to be a fact and not a mere boast.

Overshadowing indeed is the success of this great medicine, and compared with it all other medicines and treatment for women are experiments.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such widespread results for good?

Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work for a quarter of a century.

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has even approached its success is plainly and positively because there is no other medicine in the world so good for women's ills.

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womankind is not because it is a stimulant—not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and reconstructor ever discovered to act directly upon the female system, positively CURING disease and displacements and restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures, and physicians who have recognized the virtue in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due. If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience that it will effect a cure.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating (or flatulence), falling, inflammation, ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration, or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Anyway, write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It's free and always helpful.

MILK INSPECTION.

The people of Peterborough are in danger of getting microbes in the blood through a double source. At least there is a possibility of it. We hear complaints of the city water. That, according to a pessimistic point of view, is one source of danger. We hear demands for milk inspection on account of possible danger from impurity, especially if city water is, according to the doubting ones, used to improve the quality of the milk. In the case of an article of universal consumption like milk—upon which the tender lives of so many thousands of infants depend, it is imperative that there should be undoubted assurance to the public that the quality of the milk is placed in the same class as Caesar's wife. This is a matter in which it is to the interest of milk dealers themselves, to provide adequate inspection. In every class there are dishonest dealers whose dishonesty brings into suspicion dealers of honest methods. For some time at least every plumber in the city thought he may be as honest as the sunshine, will be watched because one plumber has been detected stealing brass fittings. To justify inspection, milk vendors who do business in the city should be licensed. This need not be an onerous provision; merely an nominal fee might be imposed, so that the name of every dealer may be on record, for purposes of inspection, and then every dealer selling milk without a license will be liable to punishment. This would protect legitimate dealers and at the same time protect the public, who by proper inspection would be assured of a wholesome quality of milk. We have no reason to think that as a class our milk dealers are dishonest and furnish defective, watered or adulterated milk, but it is easy to be on the safe side. In the City of Brantford recently the Medical Health Officer, under the city bylaw, made an inspection of twenty-seven samples of milk from as many dealers and in ten of these cases the quality of the milk was below the standard, a circumstance which is considered by the officer, as related in a paragraph in our news columns, very wrong and unwarrantable, especially at a time of year when conditions are favourable to the production of good and pure milk. If such conditions are possible under a bylaw where there is possibility or certainty of inspection, what may not happen in Peterborough where there is no provision for possibility of exercising oversight? When the Board of Health is done wrestling with the Isolation Hospital and water supply problems, they might well turn their attention to milk. They can do this in the interests of the citizens and of the milk dealers also. No honest and cleanly milk dealer will object to the most rigid inspection.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Owen Sound will probably be the next city to be incorporated, the population is now 10,765, and still growing—573 was added last year.

Saskatchewan the new province, one of the provincial baby twins, is in the throes of selecting a permanent captial—the choice has narrowed down to Regina and Saskatoon.

Turkey in her dispute with Great Britain has surrendered conditionally. But John Bull is out of sorts, out of condition. He will have no half measures. There must be unconditional surrender or—trouble for Turkey.

Mr. T. W. Gibson, director of the Bureau of Mines is made Deputy Minister of Mines. Mr. Aubrey White is made Deputy Minister of Land and Mines and Hon. Frank Cochrane's title is Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines.

A new era in trans-Atlantic travel and transportation is marked by the arrival at Quebec on Saturday of the new C.P.R. steamer Empress of Britain, after a most satisfactory voyage. She left Liverpool last Sunday morning at seven, and has made her first trip in close enough to record time to warrant the expectation that the fast Allan boats must look to their laurels when the new boat "finds herself." Let the marry war of competition go on.

Another victim is added to the list, increasing of late with alarming rapidity, of those who have died from taking headache powders. The public never seems to be happy unless it is pouring something or other in its stomach continually in the way of quack drugs, and through the generality of these poisons work slower injury than "headache powders" they lead to a habit that will on occasion easily bring the poisonous remedies for headache into use. In this case and in regard to these fatal drugs it seems better to bear the headache—"to bear the ills we have than fly to others that we know not of."

A Summer School At Kawartha Lakes

A Bobcaygeon Preacher Makes This Proposal—Will be Held This Year From June 26th to July 2nd—A Popular Idea.

The Bobcaygeon Independent says: A commendable movement has been inaugurated by Rev. Mr. Coon, one that deserves to meet with every success. He is arranging for a summer school, to be held here from June 26 to July 2, inclusive. The idea is to provide a holiday outing for the young people, under desirable auspices, and combined with useful instruction in the work of the Sunday school, the Bible class and the Epworth League. Mornings and evenings will be given to lectures by an experienced staff, and the afternoons to recreation. It is probable that the agricultural grounds will be utilized, being admirably adapted for the purpose. A large tent will be pitched for the evening meetings, and many of the attendants could, if they wished, camp on the grounds. It is possible that there may be between 50 and 100 present, and arrangements are being made for procuring board at very reasonable figures. The idea is an excellent one, and an effort should be made to make the visitors so pleased with the place and the outing, that it may lead to a development on a large scale. The Chatauqua gatherings commenced in just such a way, and it is easily on the cards for Rev. Mr. Coon's efforts to develop into a Kawartha summer school extending over the whole season and covering all the upper end of the island.

"Landscape" Trumps Examiner's Lead

An Excellent Letter in Reference to Civic Co-operation in Work of Making Peterborough the City Beautiful—Comprehensive and to the Point.

Editor Examiner: Your recent editorial notes on the necessity of citizens beautifying their property and street frontage is both timely and necessary.

As a whole, the citizens of Peterborough are lacking in good taste. They do not realize the value or desirability of neat, chaste, well-kept exterior surroundings. The humblest cottage or modern dwelling may be made a beauty spot, a feast to the eye, an evidence of taste and refinement on the part of the occupant and a constant reward for thought and labour. We have many of these in our town, and they show us what can be done, and should be a lesson to more pretentious dwellings with unkempt surroundings.

What we need is concerted action to make the Electric City the neatest place in Ontario. It is, time citizens should realize that nature and the snow-plow need a little intelligent direction and assistance in order to make our exterior domains attractive.

The suggestion of The Examiner that a Citizens' Co-operative League be formed should meet with hearty approval. Would it be possible for the Horticultural Society to take this matter up and organize the work?

We should have an organization with some funds;

First; for the suppression of vandalism. It ought to be made a dangerous thing for any such act to be committed; a substantial standing reward for information leading to conviction should be made, and thus the work of citizens protected, and where individuals did not care to prosecute the culprits, the society could do so. At present tulip beds are despoiled, lawns and boulevards trampled, hedges broken to such an extent that citizens interested in good appearance are utterly discouraged. Children carry home stolen tulips and other flowers, and the parents often become the real thieves by permitting the recurrence.

Second; the work should be organized in streets or districts, and responsible persons induced to act as officers for the sub-divisions, to solicit general co-operation of the district, furnish information, etc.

Third; individual and district honour rolls could be published quarterly, for early spring, summer, fall and winter effects, the latter, of course, referring to sidewalks.

Fourth; the society could secure co-operation and assistance in various ways from the Council—adequate bylaws with provision for enforcement, and also police assistance.

The above are merely starting point suggestions. Organization would bring forth many suggestions and incentives. But the greatest incentive of all would be the assurance of general co-operation and the knowledge that your neighbour would naturally be a helper, a protector and a stimulator of pleasant and desirable surroundings.

We sincerely hope The Examiner may be successful in bringing something of this nature to pass, and if it does we think the "harping on one string" will prove a general harmony.

LANDSCAPE.

NOTE.—The Examiner will gladly give space to brief letters upon the above subject. The letters need not, however, be brief if they are of as good quality as that of "Landscape."

Will Give The 57th Regiment Pleasant Time

A Good Programme Arranged for Dominion Day in Brantford.

The Brantford Expositor, referring to the visit of Lt.-Col. Miller to that city last week says:—

The visit of Col. Miller and the officers of the 57th of Peterborough yesterday resulted in the completion of all arrangements for their visit here over Dominion Day. From present indications it is going to be a big military day for Brantford.

The Peterborough men are thoroughly pleased with the prospects of visit before them. It will be their first trip west and they intend to make it as thoroughly enjoyable as possible in every way. They will come up over strength with close in the neighbourhood of 500 men. They are to arrive on Saturday night and stay over until Monday night. The exact hours have not yet been arranged for. They will travel, of course, in a special train.

The visitors and the local officers held a long conference yesterday when arrangements for the camping were made. The regiment will camp out at Agricultural Park. A majority will be under canvass, but some of them will probably be housed in the buildings.

The Programme of Visit.

The programme for the two days was also mapped out. On Sunday morning a joint church parade will be held at 9.30. It will be held in the open air. The place has not been decided yet, but it is probable that permission will be asked to hold the service in the grounds of the Institution for the Blind.

On Monday there will be a street parade directly after dinner to be followed by military manoeuvres and possibly a sham battle at the park. The morning and evening will be free.

It was decided not to hold the tattoo on the same date, as it is a difficult matter to get military bands on a holiday. The tattoo will be conducted as a later date.

TAGS--LICENSES DON'T SAVE DOGS

Taking out a license to live, by the owner, does not protect dogs. Dog-owners in the west end will have to keep tab, as well as tags, on their pets. The dog poisoner is again at work. Yesterday a fine silk-haired terrier was destroyed. He was never allowed out of the home grounds, except in company with his owner, or some member of his family. Yesterday he was taken out for a walk and during the ramble picked up the poison. It seems to be a hardship for owners of dogs that after paying taxes, and complying with the law, they have to keep their animals confined to save their lives.

Give Fair Play to

A really reliable remedy for headache—Zutoo.

If you have got it into your head that Zutoo Tablets will hurt you, you are mistaken.

It isn't fair to us for you to judge Zutoo by the drug cures.

It isn't fair to yourself to suffer from headache, when this really harmless vegetable headache cure is within your reach.

The fair thing for both of us is—to judge Zutoo on its merits—to test it.

If you find it does not cure your headache, sick, nervous or otherwise, in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling good every time—no bad after effects, then discard it.

But do not condemn it unfairly without a trial, and keep on suffering from headaches. You really do not have to, and one trial of Zutoo will prove it.

All we ask for Zutoo is fair play—that you give it a trial before concluding as to its merits or demerits.

Wont you do this? You'll be glad ever after if you do.

We'll send trial tablets for nothing, or you can buy them at dealers in 10c. and 25c. packages.

Bad Attack of La Grippe.

"A year ago I had a bad attack of la grippe and all the doctor's prescriptions proved to be of no avail. I was told to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and found it a great blessing as it thoroughly cured me. I told my doctor that I intended to recommend it to all my friends." — Mrs. R. An Explosion Of Gun Powder

Mrs. Thomas Fairbairn Badly Burned After Throwing Powder in Fire.

The Bobcaygeon Independent says: Last Tuesday, Mrs. Thos. A. Fairbairn, while burning a lot of papers in the stove there, happened to be among them a package of gun powder. She was alone, and just as she was about to put on the teapot the lid flew up and the flames burst out over her. Her hair and dress caught fire, but fortunately there was a barrel of water standing near by, and she at once put her head into the barrel and thus saved her life. Mrs. Fairbairn is recovering nicely and her friends hope no serious effects will result from her narrow escape.

South America Wants to Buy Canada Flakes

Peterborough Company Filling Many Foreign Orders.

The Peterborough Cereal Company is making a large number of foreign shipments of Canada Flakes these days, the people of those countries apparently appreciating the excellence of that product.

These are only a few of the many foreign orders which are being filled by this firm.

A REMINDER OF DAYS OF PAST

Monday's Globe contained the following from its dyles of May 5, 1836:

The Peterborough and Cobourg Railway last week carried 276 passengers, 624 tons of freight, 526 posts, 186 cords of wood and 2,079 railway ties. The receipts were $1,715.67, the earnings per mile per week being $61.27.

The Bates Shoe For Men.

The Bates' Shoe is a new candidate for men's favour, which has just been introduced into Peterborough by Mr. R. McWhinnie. It claims to embody the favourite New York styles. It is shaped like a shoe built on right principles and, above all, is easy on the feet. Query the clerks at McWhinnie's about it.

A New Scheme.

—Peterborough church society ladies can learn a new way of raising funds for the church purposes from the ladies of All Soul's Unitarian church, Washington. About 25 of these ladies hit upon the novel expedient of blacking the boots of the male members of the congregation. The parlours of the church were thus occupied three days last week and the receipts averaged over $100 per day.

Mr. Kirk Sells Again.

—Another change has been made in the liquor business in town. Last week Mr. P. Heaneye sold out to Mr. Kirk, of Peterborough, and two later Mr. Dan. Connelly purchased the stock from Mr. Kirk. Grace Church Sunday School

Financial Standing of the School for Past Year.

At the annual meeting of the George street and Grace church Sunday schools on Friday evening, Mr. Geo. W. Powell, who has been the superintendent of the latter for the past three years, resigned that office. The Kidneys and Uric Acid

THE ALL-IMPORTANT WORK OF THESE FILTERS OF THE BLOOD AND HOW THEY MAY BE KEPT HEALTHY BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

When the whole vital process of digestion and assimilation of food is completed there still remains the work of removing from the blood the uric acids, salts and water, and this can be accomplished only by the kidneys. The failure of the kidneys to perform this work treats on the whole digestive and filtering systems, chokes up the liver, and by means of the circulation of the blood sends the poisonous waste matter through the entire body, giving rise to pains, derangements and disease.

Because of their direct action on the kidneys and their enlivening influence on the liver and bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the most thoroughly effective treatment available for the cure of diseases of the kidneys.

Among the early indications of kidney disease may be mentioned:

Backache.
Fickle appetite.
Deposits in the urine.
Frequent desire to urinate, especially at night.
Rheumatism and sciatic pains, constipation and diarrhoea alternating.
Dropsical swellings.
Scanty, dark-coloured urine.
Persistent loss of flesh and weight.

Prompt relief is obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and by persistent treatment the kidneys are restored to health and activity.

No medicine which acts on the kidneys alone can possibly prove effective, because in the great majority of cases the liver and bowels are also deranged. Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, they bring about satisfactory results in the most complicated cases.

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose at bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular, healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the subsequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy, or other equally dreaded ailments. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Sobers Drunkards Does Hypnotic Eye

New York, May 12.—Prof. James H. Hyslop has announced in a public interview at the Hardware Club that he is able to sober drunkards simply by hypnotic suggestions.

The tuneful, tearful, festive, suspicious, haughty, pugnacious, friendly, scornful, roaring, argumentative, generous, sleepy, active and garrulous jags all look alike to him.

The glittering eye does the business. When it gleams it adds the swift penetrations of the flash-light to the irresistible impact of the 12-inch shell. Nothing can resist the the glitter of the well-equipped eye. Prof. Hyslop gave an example.

"I noticed," he said, "in the subway train an intoxicated man who was talking and laughing in a manner that disturbed all his fellow passengers. I sat down beside him. I smiled at him and patted him with my hand. After a time he became perfectly quiet."

Certainly. Here's your formula — not unlike the Duchess's suggestion in "Wonderland":

"Speak kindly to your little boy,
And beat him when he sneezes;
For he can thoroughly enjoy
The pepper when he pleases."

All you have to do with your wild-eyed bearer of alcoholic stimulants is to smile at him, hold him with your glittering eye and pat him soothingly on the shoulder.

Dangers of Intemperance.

THERE'S a striking temperance lesson in the story of the New York man who asserted in court that he would not be married except that a woman had got him drunk and run him through a marriage ceremony.

If you happen to be told "It's your move," one of these evenings, when you are talking with a friend on the streets, you will know it's the latest addition to our "gaurdians of the peace." Just skiddo, that's all.

On Thursday, the closing meeting in connection with the self-denial effort taken by the Salvation Army here will be held, when there will be a general in-gathering of the sums collected during the 10 days' self-denial. FOOD OR STIMULANT.

Ask your doctor if when he orders a patient to drink lots of pure milk he advises the addition of a large quantity of whiskey. He'll tell you "no" very emphatically. Yet there are people who, when ordered to get Scott's Emulsion, will accept some wine, cordial or extract of cod liver oil and think it is the same thing or better. If you want and need cod liver oil in its best, purest and most easily digested form, get Scott's Emulsion. If you want whiskey, that's another matter, but don't look for the same results.

Douro Residence Struck By Lightning On Saturday

Kitchen Caught Fire and Burned for Two Hours--Family All Away at the Time--The Solid Brick Walls Saved the Building--Chimneys Were Demolished--Barn and Fences Knocked Down.

Last Saturday afternoon Douro was swept by one of the fiercest storms in its history. Fences, barns and trees were left tumbled over in its wake and the damage done is yet unestimated. Probably the greatest loser is Mr. John Kemp whose residence was struck by lightning about half past seven in the evening. The house, which is about three miles from the city on the Dummer road, is occupied by Mr. Kemp's son, Lancelot and his family. Mr. and Mrs. Kemp were in Peterborough at the time and the children were staying with a neighbour so that the house was unoccupied when struck. Both chimneys were completely destroyed the electricity passing down through them into the cellar and grounded there.

When Mr. and Mrs. Kemp arrived home about 10 o'clock over two hours after the storm, the woodwork and window and door frames in the kitchen were blazing furiously. The fire was seen burning long before they reached home. Mr. Kemp got busy immediately and water was freely applied to the conflagration which was quickly extinguished, but not before considerable damage was inflicted, on the wood work. A National Cream Separator, worth about $75, more or less, was left valueless.

Mr. Kemp attributes the saving of the house to its construction. It is a solid brick structure with no baths on the walls and but for this fact it would certainly have been demolished long before the fire was discovered.

Not far distant a large pine tree was struck and splintered into three large pieces and twisted completely around on its trunk.

Just across the road a frame barn belonging to Mrs. Gemmell, was lifted up by the wind and laid flat on the ground.

Hundreds of miles of fence in Douro were tumbled over and yesterday morning the farmers were compelled to begin the work of rebuilding to prevent cattle from roaming over the newly sown crops.

Mr. Thos. Kemp, who was in the city this morning stated to the Examiner that Saturday's storm was the wildest he had ever witnessed in Douro.

Peterborough Branch Will Be Rushed

Sir Thos. Shaughnessy Says That Work Will be Completed as Speedily as Possible—Line East of Peterborough to be Improved, Too—This Branch to be an Important Part of the C. P. R. System.

In an interview with Sir Thomas Shaughnessey at Quebec, in connection with the arrival of the new steamer, "Empress of Britain," and the future plans of the C.P.R., the Globe says:

"The president of the C. P. R. was asked what the company had in view as regards the inland lake carrying fleet to keep up with the supply of grain that would result from the completion of the double track between Winnipeg and Fort William, and the building of the contemplated branch from Victoria Harbour on the Georgian Bay, to Peterborough, on the main line of the C. P. R. between Toronto and Montreal. He replied that both of these improvements would be carried out as quickly as possible, and when completed the company would undertake to provide new vessels for the lakes, and he hoped that they would be built by a Canadian shipbuilding company. Victoria Harbour would also of necessity be equipped with sufficient elevator capacity and dockage facilities to handle the grain from the western wheat fields. The line across to Peterborough would have a grade of but four-tenths of one per cent, and in order to make the transportation of grain as direct and as convenient as possible to the head of ocean navigation at Montreal, the line east from Peterborough would be greatly improved."

SPECIAL TRAINS CARRY MANY NEW SETTLERS

The immigrants coming to Canada seem to travel, in going to Toronto, principally over the C. P. R. line. At any rate, recently there has been a very large number of this class of passengers carried. On Saturday morning two train loads passed through, and on Saturday night the 5.15 express was run in two sections, the second train being an immigrant train. The same was the case this morning, the immigrant section going through shortly after 6 o'clock.

The greater part of these new settlers are from the British Isles.

NEW LOCOMOTIVES ARE GIVING GOOD SERVICE

Three of the big new locomotives recently put on the Havelock-Toronto run, are now on this division, working on passenger service. They are 1100, 1101 and 1152. It is understood that they are doing quite satisfactory work, and the master mechanic is pleased with the performance of these new locomotives. By their use a much heavier train can be handled and time can be made more easily.

It is probable that since this type of engine has been tried and proven satisfactory on this run, it will be used on other divisions where similar conditions prevail.

Canon Davidson To the Veterans

Local Clergyman Preached in St. James' Cathedral Yesterday.

Members of the Association of the Northwest Field Force of 1885, turned out over a hundred strong to attend divine service yesterday morning in St. James' Cathedral, Toronto.

They paraded at ten o'clock at the armouries, marched east on Queen, south on Yonge, and east on King streets, to the cathedral. Lieut.-Col. C. Greville Harston, was in charge of the Association, and the bugle band of the Queen's OWn Rifles led them with a bugle and kettle drum.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. Canon Davidson of Peterborough. Rev. Canon E. A. Welch, rector, and Rev. L. W. B. Broughall, curate, assisted in the service.

Canon Davidson chose as his text that passage in Romans, reading, "Yield yourselves unto the Lord."

As it was necessary, said the speaker, for metal to yield itself to influences that go to fashion it, it it was to be made into any particular form, so it was essential that men if they would become like Christ, must yield themselves to Christian influences. —Globe.

TAYLOR FAMILY RELIEF FUND

Contributions are still coming in to this most worthy fund, and the total now amounts to $216.25. One pathetic feature of the situation is the joy and hope the raising of this relief fund brings to the lad, Willie Taylor, now lying in the hospital with both legs missing as the result of the railway accident. He has heard of the fund, and has got the idea that it will be used to provide him with a pair of artificial limbs so that he will not be, in the future, a helpless, crippled young man, unable to maintain himself or help to maintain his little brothers and sisters.

It may be mentioned again that contributions in kind to the fund should be left at the Children's Shelter, care of Mr. Geo. Cochrane, who has charge of the work of distributing the fund. The following is the list of additional contributors and the amounts given:

Relation Of The Club to Church

Rev. Dr. Crothers Addresses Strangers' Fellowship Club.

The monthly meeting of the Strangers' Fellowship Club at the Y. M.C.A., on Saturday evening was a very interesting session. Pres. Harding was in the chair. After tea, several propositions for membership were accepted, and other routine business transacted.

Rev. Dr. Crothers was present by invitation of the club and gave a stirring address on the relationship of the club to the church.

It was decided to have the club photographed in the near future and a description of its work published in "Men," the organ of the Association for North America.

WEDDING BELLS

BRISBOIS—MERCIER.

At St. Peter's Cathedral this morning an interesting ceremony took place, when, at 7 o'clock, Miss Rosa Delima, daughter of Mrs. N. Mercier, Burnham street, city, was united in marriage to Mr. Cleophas Brisbois, also of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Collins, of the cathedral, in the presence of a large number of the friends of the contracting parties who are well and favourably known here. Miss Maggie Doherty played the wedding march, while Miss Annie Simons sang the "Ave Maria."

The bride, who was given away by her cousin, Mr. Eugene Archambault, wore her travelling costume of brown tweed trimmed with silk braid and buttons, and a tuscan hat with trimmings of velvet and flowers. She carried a prayer-book with mother-of-pearl cover. Mr. R. S. Morrell assisted the groom.

After the wedding the bridal party drove to the residence of the bride's mother, Burnham street, where, with about 20 guests, they partook of a dainty dejeuner, and congratulations were showered upon the happy couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Brisbois left on the 11.38 C.P.R. train for a trip to Ottawa, and on their return will reside on Burnham street. The bride, who is a very popular lady, was the recipient of a very large number of more than usually valuable presents, the gift of the groom to the bride being a handsome diamond ring.

School Board Want to Know Some Things

Who Ordered Separate School Torn Down is One of Them.

At the meeting of the Board of Education to-night it is probable that there will be some questions asked concerning the action of the persons who directed that the Murray street School should be torn down. The members of the Board, it is understood, are much displeased over the matter, and it is probable that they will speak their mind pretty freely to-night. They will want to know by whose authority the school was razed, and the material sold. Some of the members claim that the military authorities did not give the instructions to have this done. They claim that by the promise of the Minister of Public Works, the material was to have become the property of the Board of Education, and now the whole thing has been taken out of their hands.

Brazen Larceny Is Perpetrated

Stolen Brass Fittings Come Back to Original Owners.

The recent example of punishment for the stealing of brass goods brings out other examples of theft, discovered in an unexpected way. A local industrial establishment made a practice of making a quantity of brass castings, to be in readiness for use when needed. These were stored in what was considered a safe place. Recently one of these castings was needed but when the place where the store of castings had been put was visited they had all disappeared. This compelled the placing of an order in Toronto for scrap brass. The consignment came in and in it was found the identical castings stolen from the company some time before. The same company recently missed an iron pinion which had been left outside the buildings. This disappeared, but turned up lately in a consignment of scrap iron received from Toronto. There seems to be necessity for investigation. The perpetrators, if the Toronto dealers are honest and not mere "fences" should not be difficiut to discover. The prevalence of this thieving spirit places everybody in a condition of unrest which should not exist.

THE HAIR BRUSH

Breeds Dandruff, Which Causes Falling Hair and Finally Baldness.

Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says that dandruff is as contagious as any other malevolent disease, and that one common source of the spread of dandruff is the use of the same hair brush by different persons. The way to avoid catching dandruff or any other disease from another's brush is to insist on the use of Newbro's Herpicide. It not only kills the dandruff germ, but it is also an antiseptic that will prevent the catching of any disease whatever through contagion of another's brush. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Ross Served Term For Forgery Here

Kingston Convict Who Died as Pardon Came Well Known in Peterborough.

Wm. Ross, the convict who died at Kingston just as he was pardoned, is well known in Peterborough, having lived here in 1896. His facile use of the pen got him in trouble here where he was employed by the Hamilton Bridge Works, who had the contract of building the G.T.R. bridge at Auburn. He forged the name of the company to a cheque which was cashed by a local merchant. The crime was detected and he was sentenced to three months in the county gaol. He was convicted of a similar offence at Port Hope and served five years in the penitentiary, death's call coming with the pardon that was giving him liberty.

Monster Crowd Of Moulders Here

Big Excursion of Toronto Moulders to be Here June 9th.

The excursion season is again at hand, and from present prospects, Peterborough will secure its share this year, as usual. It is probable that one of the largest of the year will be that which will come on Saturday, June 9th, when the Moulders of Toronto, reinforced by those from Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope and Cobourg, will be here to spend the day. Last year the Toronto moulders went to Galt, and filled three special trains, so that it will be seen that this is no small influx to come to a city in one day. In addition, this year there will be the tradesmen from the other four towns mentioned, which should easily make another trainload. The city will be practically in the hands of the moulders that day, and there is no doubt that they will have a good time—moulders always do. The local members of the trade will no doubt give them a welcome befitting the occasion.

Water Street Sewer Will Be Built At Once

Board of Works Decides to Call for Tenders This Week.

At last the sewer which the residents on the north side of Water street, from Smith street, to Hilliard street, have been asking for, and which the Board of Health ordered as a sanitary measure, will be built. At the meeting of the Board of Works on Saturday night, it was decided to proceed with the work. In all 2100 feet of sewer will be laid, and the average depth will be, it is estimated, ten feet. Tenders will be asked for the construction of the sewer, and to-day the Engineer is advertising to this effect. It is intended to push the work right along, too, because the contractors are given only until Friday to get their tenders in, and award the contract. Some discussion arose as to whether it would not be advisable to have this work done by day labour, under the direction of the City Engineer, but it was decided to call for tenders, and the City Engineer will be allowed to tender on the job, if he wishes. It will be remembered that he has already submitted an estimate on this work, and his figures are now in the hands of the Board of Works, so that they have a pretty good idea of what it will likely cost. The Board wants to get all the sewer work under way at once, because there is a pretty big programme on for this summer, and to get through with it will take some tall hustling.

Electric Plant For "North Star"

Searchlight to be Established on "Water Lily" This Week.

It is understood that the electric light plant established on the steamer Water Lily is working very satisfactorily. Mr. Johnston Greer who has had the contract, expects to have the large searchlight that is being installed ready for operation early this week.

It is also rumoured that Mr. Wilbert Harris the proprietor of the North Star, proposes installing a similar plant. The introduction of search lights on the above named popular boats should certainly be beneficial in making the Otonabee River district a popular resort during the coming holiday season.

Goes Far Awa' To Bonnie Scotland

Mr. Robt. Burns Left This Morning to Visit in Scotland.

This morning Mr. Robert Burns, who has been a resident of our city for a considerable time, left by the 8 o'clock C.P.R. train for New York, where he will spend a few weeks with his brother, previous to sailing for his native land, his destination eventually being Aberdeen, Scotland.

He was associated with Knox Presbyterian church, and during Mr. McKay's term, acted as instructor in the club-swinging drill. He was also a prominent member of the choir of that church, and will undoubtedly be missed by his associates. During the past week he has been entertained at the homes of a number of his many friends.

He was a volunteer in the South African campaign, but did not choose to settle in that country at the close of the war. He is very favourably impressed with Canada, but when seen this morning he was undecided as to his future, but his many friends will hope for his return, and all wish him bon voyage.

No Quorum Of Board of Health

Meeting This Morning Had to be Postponed on That Account.

A meeting of the Board of Health was called for this morning, but there was the usual difficulty in getting a quorum, and the session had to be postponed. Chairman Eyres, Dr. Burnham and Dr. McNulty, were the only members on hand.

It was expected that a report would be received from Drs. Hodgetts and Smith, in regard to the West Ward school, and also the Isolation Hospital, but these reports have not yet arrived. The Board will probably meet as soon as they do.

Has Faith In City's Growth

Mr. T. G. Weston, a Former Resident, Pays a Visit Here.

Mr. T. G. Weston, a former Peterborough resident, now living in Sherbrooke, Que., and who travels for a wholesale hardware firm, is in the spending a few days on his way to Muskoka, where he will spend a holiday.

Mr. Weston lived in Douro for 17 years, where his parents resided for that time. They afterwards came to Peterborough and resided on Patterson street, and later removed to Port Hope, where they now live. Mr. Weston is greatly surprised at the growth which Peterborough is making and sees a great future in store for this city. Sherbrooke is looked upon as the most progressive of the small cities of Quebec, but Mr. Weston states that Peterborough has it beaten several ways, and he is satisfied that this city will be one of the greatest in the province in a few years.

Mrs. Weston will arrive to-night and will go with him to Port Hope and Muskoka.

Fell Through Glass Show Case

A Peculiar Accident in a Local Barber Shop.

One of the silent salesman show cases in Mr. W. Morgan's barber shop, was shattered in a somewhat peculiar manner on Saturday afternoon.

An intoxicated individual stumbled and fell head first into the show-case, demolishing the glass. Strange to say the man escaped without so much as a scratch to show for his dive into the glass case, the damage to which was considerable, but his pocket was considerably damaged.

Nothing Decided On Underground Wiring as Yet

Matter is Being Taken Up With G. N. W. Co.

There were no definite results to the conference between Ald. Hicks, and Mr. Doan, this morning. They saw Mr. W. J. Thompson, the local manager of the G. N. W. Telegraph Company, in reference to the proposal to have that company place their wires underground with those of the Bell Company, or to remove them to a back street, and Ald. Hicks is also taking the matter up with Mr. McMichael of the same company. It is expected that the matter will be decided in a few days, and in the meantime the Bell Company will doubtless get their plans prepared for proceeding with the work as rapidly as possible.

Runaway Was Spectacular

Otonabee Farmer Had an Exciting Experience on Saturday

A runaway with spectacular features occurred on Saturday afternoon on Dalhousie street. Mr. Welch, of Otonabee was driving along that street between Aylmer and George street, when his horse was frightened by a thunder-clap and ran away. Instead of turning at the corner of George, it crossed the road, and ploughed through the excavation being made for Kinnear & Co's new ware-house, climbed the embankment at the other side, crashed through a row of shrubs and ended by cannoning up against the driving shed in rear of the Oxford House. The shafts of the buggy were smashed but its occupants despite its rough journey was uninjured although badly shaken up.

Former Agent Exposes Tricks Of Standard Oil

Standard Oil Methods to Down Its Rivals In Business.

COMPETITORS LOOK YELLOW

Climax of Story Told Interstate Commerce Commission at End of Three Days' Investigation—Mean Trickery Reduced to Scheme For Scientific Cheating—Business Record So Black as to Be Scarcely Credible.

Chicago, May 14.—An amazing story of Standard Oil corruption and bribery, of the systematic training of employes to commit deceitful practices, if not actual crime; wholesale debauching of human character—a story that disclosed a business record so black as scarcely to be credible in the twentieth century—such a tale was told upon the witness stand Saturday before the interstate commerce commission.

Special agents of the Standard Oil Co. are sent out to trick the people into buying its oil instead of that of the independent companies.

This was the testimony of F. S. Hibbs, the attorney whom John S. Miller tried hard to keep from being produced. Hibbs, who for thirteen years was a tank wagon driver and salesman in the Peoria district for the Standard Oil Co., told in detail the six tricks which he and other agents of the company were taught to use to gull the unsuspecting public into buying the oil of that company. Prof. C. H. Hand, officially known as the general manager of the Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky, with headquarters in Cincinnati, was the man who taught the legerdemain with lamps.

Here are six of the tricks which Hibbs was taught before he was sent out on the road:

"It is an easy matter, under certain conditions, to make a poor oil show up better than a better grade of oil, if the lamp is properly manipulated," he said. Using a lamp which had been procured for the purpose, he illustrated.

Scientific Cheating.

"We were fighting the National Light Oil Co., in Mattoon, and these are the tricks I used. In making a test with a poor grade of oil we are instructed to take a lamp with a shallow bowl. Poor oil will not siphon as well as good oil, therefore, the shallower the bowl the better. For our competitor's oil we were told to take a new chimney, and an old chimney for our own. There is in glass a certain amount of magnesia, which, when heated, turns the glass dark, making it look as if the oil burned with a sooty flames. After awhile this magnesia burns off, and therefore, with a new chimney, the competitor's oil looked as if it gave a smoky flame, while ours burned bright and clear.

"In trick No. 3 we dried both wicks carefully. For our own oil we left the wick perfectly dry, but for the competitor's oil we dampened it about half an inch down with saliva. This trick was used in making a time burning test. When the competitor's wick burned down to the moistened place it no longer would siphon freely; therefore, the flames would die down, while with our dry wick it would keep on burning as brightly as ever.

Makes Competitor Look Yellow.

"Trick No. 3 was calculated to make the flame with our oil show up white and that of the competitor yellow and smudgy. To do this we trimmed the wick of the competitor's lamp and broadened it out at the top, making it have a wide burning surface. On the contrary, our wick was trimmed up so that it had a narrow burning surface, the top having a fine edge. The lamps were then placed side by side in front of a white background. White box covers or cloth was put up behind the lamps to give this background, and then, when the lamps were lighted, the competitor's flame would be a thick yellow flame, while our flame would be clear, and white, and thin. This was one of our favorite tricks.

"With our fourth trick we made the wick of our competitor's lamp char, and the flame was weak and uncertain. This was an easy trick. The wick which we burned in our competitor's oil was left long, so that it curled around the inside of the bowl of the lamp. This made the chimney more curious, as the oil had to travel farther. With our oil, however, we used a short wick that stuck straight down into the oil. The wick siphoned much quicker, and while the other wick was charring before the oil got to the top, our wick was burning evenly with a bright flame.

Fifth and Sixth Tricks.

"In order to get a perfect light the chimney must fit around the bottom of the burner snugly. Our fifth trick was to bend the base of the burner slightly, so that a current of air would get in under the chimney, and that would easily convince anyone that the competitor's oil was no good. Of course, the chimney in the lamp which contained our oil would fit snugly, and we could show a good flame.

"The sixth trick was a neat one, but it had to be manipulated carefully. In our case we carried a little dirty flour, and we would have a little on our fingers when fixing a lamp with competitors' oil. With this flour we stopped up some of the air holes underneath the burner, shutting off the draft. Of course, in our lamp the air holes would be nice and clean, and the difference in the flames was all to our advantage."

Hibbs testified that he had practiced these tricks at Aledo, Farmington, Keithsburg, and West Jersey, Ill., and with considerable success.

"Did you ever get information for the Standard by illegitimate methods?"

"I frequently did so. I was, for example, instructed to get the bills of lading of the Royal Oil Co. at Monmouth, Ill. I secured them by allowing a man a certain amount a month and the Standard paid the bills."

"In what way did you receive this information?"

"Most frequently it was mailed me at Peoria and sometimes it was handed me on a piece of paper. Often I secured exact copies of the bills of lading of the independent company."

The Sultan Has Backed Down: Britain Wins

Tabah Evacuated By Turkish Troops On Britain's Demand.

BRITISH DIPLOMACY WINS

How the Porte Announces the Fact In an Official Despatch to Turkish Commissioner at Cairo — Orders Withdrawal of Troops, But Contends Negotiations Are Proceeding to Settle the Sinai Question.

Cairo, Egypt, May 14.—The Turkish Government has agreed to evacuate Tabah and all other places in Egyptian territory occupied by the Sultan's troops.

Nothing Conditional.

London, May 14.—The Foreign Office has not yet received advices that the Porte has definitely acceded to the British demands, but the latest official despatches from Constantinople intimated that the Sultan was preparing to submit.

It is said at the Foreign Office that there can be nothing "conditional" in the acceptance as the demands of Great Britain are the irreducible minimum.

Demand Sultan Tries to Evade.

According to special despatches from Constantinople, printed in this morning's newspapers, the Porte's reply to the British note promised to restore the status quo ante on the Sinai Peninsula and the demilitation of the frontier by Turkish and Egyptian officials now on the spot. Sir Nicholas R. O'Connor, the British Ambassador to Turkey, insists on the delimitation by an Anglo-Turkish commission. This is the demand the Sultan is trying to evade, as it would acknowledge Great Britain's protectorate over Egypt and the severance of Egypt from the Ottoman empire, while the Sultan wishes to maintain before the world that Egypt still is a portion of his empire.

The Morning Post's Constantinople correspondent says that Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish Foreign Minister, subsequently furnished Ambassador O'Connor with explanations which he considered quite satisfactory, thus ending the crisis.

How Sultan Lets Himself Down.

The Chronicle's Alexandria correspondent sent an official despatch, which Ghazi Ahmet Mouhktar Pasha, the Turkish commissioner at Cairo, received from Constantinople. It says:

"As the occupation of Tabah was intended only to preserve the status quo of the Sinai Peninsula by preventing the erection of military fortifications, and as necessary guarantee have now been received, the Porte has issued orders for its troops to withdraw from Tabah to their original place. They will be conveyed by the British cruiser Diana. Negotiations are now proceeding to secure a final settlement of the Sinai question."

Tiflis, May 14.—The police here yesterday discovered an underground storehouse containing 250 loaded bombs.

Another Revolution in San Domingo.

Washington, May 14.—Reports have reached the State Department of the organization of another revolutionary movement directed against the Government of President Caceres of Santo Domingo. It is understood that Porto Rico is the base of operations, and it is supposed that ex-Presidents Morales and Jimines are the leaders of the movement.

The Reply To Czar's Message In Preparation

Commission of Douma Appointed For the Purpose.

MENACING SPEECHES MADE

Unmistakeable Democratic Tendency Displayed In New Russian Parliament, Which Shouts Unanimously For Amnesty For the Political Prisoners—A Complete Surprise In Store For Czar of Russia.

St. Petersburg, May 14.—After a nine hours' session the Douma Saturday adopted by acclamation a resolution offered by M. Radacheff to appoint a commission to prepare the reply to the speech from the throne, in which the Czar will be asked to grant full amnesty to political exiles and political prisoners and to suspend political execution.

Several of the peasant members made menacing speeches. M. Alladin, their leader, declared that unless amnesty was granted forthwith, the people would forcibly throw open the prison doors.

Other members protested that the appointment of a commission was needless, that the Douma itself ought to demand amnesty directly, but a majority of the House concurred in the belief that a commission would draft a more moderate resolution.

No speaker occupied more than ten minutes in delivering his remarks. The peasants were surprisingly forcible.

The Voice of Russia.

The session was marked by an overwhelming democratic determination to demand a constitution. The session has solved all doubts as to the attitude of the Russian people toward the Government and the Czar. The voice of Russia is against not the bureaucracy alone, but against autocracy as well.

The pity of it all is that it will come as a complete surprise to the sovereign himself, who until now, has hedged himself about with barriers against truth. He is for the moment under the full influence of the worst element of the refractionary leaders, who have brought Russia to her present dire extremity.

President Murontseff read several telegrams of felicitation, one being from the Finnish assembly, which greeted Russia's Parliament on behalf of the Finnish nation. This was th first despatch read, and was recognised as a Finnish declaration of separate political existence.

Shouted For Amnesty.

A scene of wild enthusiasm marked the reception of telegrams from political prisoners in Siberia and Archangel, welcoming a free Parliament. The members of the Douma stood up and shouted almost unanimously for amnesty.

A regiment of infantry was stationed outside the Tauride Palace, where the Douma met. A large and enthusiastic crowd was gathered about the building.

The balloting for vice-presidents resulted by 428 against 261 votes in the choice of the combination ticket, namely, Prince Peter Dolgorouikoff and Prof. Grodeskul of Kharkoff.

The Lower House adjourned until Tuesday.

The Polish deputies Saturday began their campaign for autonomy by introducing a resolution for a paragraph on that subject in the reply to the speech.

Father Gapon Found Hanged.

St. Petersburg, May 14.—The mystery of the fate of Father Gapon apparently was cleared up yesterday by the discovery of a corpse, which has almost positively been identified as that of the former priest, hanging in the upper chamber of a lonely villa in the summer suburb of Ozerki, Finland.

BOUND FOR OTTAWA.

W. T. R. Preston and A. F. Jury Both In on Empress of Britain.

Quebec, May 14.—The new C. P. R. steamer, the Empress of Britain, arrived at 10.30 Saturday night, with 1,439 passengers on board, mainly English emigrants bound for the west.

"We were only out of sight of land for four days," said Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, "and had only a few hours of bad weather."

Among the saloon passengers were W. T. R. Preston, and A. F. Jury, the immigration agent at Liverpool, who stated that Preston had a "gold mine." Their relations en route to Canada were quite strained, and both started at once for Ottawa.

USED UP AND TIRED OUT

MEN AT THE OFFICE
WOMEN IN THE HOME
CHILDREN AT SCHOOL

Every day in the week and every week in the year men, women and children feel all used up and tired out.

The strain of business, the cares of home and social life and the task of study cause terrible suffering from heart and nerve troubles. The efforts put forth to keep up to the modern "high pressure" mode of life in this age soon wears out the strongest system, shatters the nerves and weakens the heart.

Thousands find life a burden and others an early grave. The strain on the system causes nervousness, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faint and dizzy spells, skip beats, weak and irregular pulse, smothering and sinking spells, etc. The blood becomes weak and watery and eventually causes decline.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

are indicated for all diseases arising from a weak and debilitated condition of the heart or of the nerve centres. Mrs. Thos. Hall, Kaiden, Ont., writes: "For the past two or three years I have been troubled with nervousness and heart failure, and the doctors failed to give me any relief. I decided at last to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial, and I would not now be without them if they cost twice as much. I have recommended them to my neighbors and friends.

In every country village there is sure to be some one woman who is a famous ironer. Her clothes are all ironed by the time other women have theirs sprinkled, and she has a knack for fine ironing that astonishes her friends. She heard about Celluloid Starch years ago and always uses it. That's why she is a flat-iron expert. Common Starch doesn't fill the bill if you want fine ironing. Bad starch means poorly laundered clothes. Common starch doesn't work into the linen, and when the thin outside shell of polish once starts to crack, the goods quickly mass and crumple. Celluloid Starch soaks into the very heart and body of the cloth, and the hot iron swells and hardens the cells so they become part of the linen itself. By following directions Celluloid Starch produces just the right degree of stiffness, perfect pliability and a gloss (if you want gloss) that lasts and stays clean a long time.

If your grocer doesn't keep it, tell us his name on a postal card and we will send you free sample.

The Junior Quakers Win
---BY TWO GOALS TO NONE---
Their First League Game

Defeated Norwood High School Team on Their Own Grounds—Both Goals Scored in Second Half Against a Strong Wind—Some Clever Work by Both Teams—Return Game Next Saturday.

Special Staff Correspondence.

With a victory to their credit the Peterborough Quaker Junior Football team opened the football season in their group on Saturday afternoon by defeating the Norwood High School team by the score of 2 goals to 0 on the Norwood exhibition grounds.

Norwood is a village which has had an enviable record in football for many years and not even the most hopeful of the Quaker supporters expected they would trim them so badly.

However, the trick was done and nicely, too, and it was a very much pleased bunch of kickers who left the eastern village for home on Saturday night. The game, however, was stubbornly contested by the Norwood eleven, who, although they had practised only a few times before the game, were game to the finish and almost succeeded in scoring once or twice.

A stiff wind blew along the field which made scientific football almost impossible yet in spite of this some very clever plays were furnished the spectators. Both the Quaker goals were scored in the first fifteen minutes of the latter half. This was the peculiar feature of the game for during the first half they played with a fair wind, which handicapped the home team considerably. The visitors had by far the best of the play throughout and in the first half the ball scarcely passed centre field after ten minutes' play. Hard luck seemed to keep them from scoring yet the forwards, fed by the halves, worked like Trojans to put the elusive pigskin between the posts. When the whistle blew for half time Norwood was jubilant. They had held the visitors down and with a favourable wind felt that the time had come to "show up" their opponents. Just the reverse happened. The Quakers got going some and in eight minutes a well-placed kick by "Wally" Parnell, the skilful centre half, was punched through by Todd. In seven minutes after the face off Baker and Barrie went down the wing and the former shot in a hot one from a long range which Prest failed to embrace.

Norwood then made a last strenuous effort to notch a counter and although they had the visitors going for the latter ten minutes of play yet all their attempts to put the ball through were blocked by the splendid work of the impregnable defence of the visitors.

The game was one of the cleanest ever played on Norwood grounds.—not one minute being lost from injuries or rough play. The referee had both teams playing football all the time and no disputes resulted from his ruling. He was entirely impartial and meted out justice to all alike.

McFadden in goal handled everything that came his way in proper style. He had his hands on the ball three times during the whole game and only one of these looked dangerous. Evans on the back division never missed a kick and broke up with ease most of the passes which got behind the halves. He was ably assisted by Sisson, whose checking was faultless. They understood each other as if they had been nurtured in the game together and relieved whenever called upon.

The half-backs could not have played much better ball. Their following up and checking back so quickly completely demoralized the Norwood besiegers. They fed their forwards well and kept the latter shooting on goal most of the time. Parnell at centre checked Doherty and scarcely did that fast centre forward get away with any of his famous individual rushes. Parnell was also responsible for the first goal. Best and Deforge always kept vigilant eyes on their checks and showed up wonderfully well for junior men. Their placings were invariably fruitful and they played their positions like old-timers.

Of the forward line too much praise cannot be given Boycott and Armstrong on the left wing. They repeatedly carried the ball down the field doing some excellent combination and individual work. The former kicked perfectly on goal and the latter cleverly headed them in on Prest who was hard pressed many a time. Todd, the centre forward, was on the proper spot whenever needed and it was due to his aggressiveness that the first goal was notched. Barrie and Baker on the right handled the pigskin well and at times played a pretty combination game. The shooting of the latter was accurate and he succeeded in scoring the second goal from a long shot.

For the home team Prest in goal played a good game and but for him the score would have been much higher. Kenneth Kidd on the back division, although a youthful player was a source of great strength to the team and bids fair to become a skilful back. Powers was the star of the half-back line and intercepted many a rush by the Quaker forwards. Doherty at centre did some fast stunts, but was watched too closely by Parnell to become dangerous. He was well assisted by Miller and Londregan who sent some warm shots in from the wings.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Norwood High School—Goal, Prest; backs, Kidd and Morrow; halves, Cummings, (Captain) Rattan; forwards, Londregan, Miller, Doherty, Hendron, Rogers.

Peterborough Quakers II.—Goal, McFadden; backs, Sisson, Evans; halves, Best, Parnell (Captain) Deforge; forwards, Barrie, Baker, Todd, Boycott and Armstrong.

Referee—M. Sherin, Omemee.

Goal umpires—Graham and Ranton.

Linemen—Adams and Gibbs.

Timekeeper—Geo. Howson.

THE GAME.

Quakers won the toss and decided to kick with the wind and Norwood kicked off. The ball hovered around the centre field a few minutes and was then taken to Quaker territory. Boycott and Armstrong got off a nice combination, but Morrow relieved. McFadden had to get into the way of a hot one from Doherty's boot. Soon play travelled into Norwood territory and Baker shot on goal, but Prest stopped it. Shortly after Barrie just missed the post. Best kicked a pretty corner, but it was quickly gotten rid of and Doherty rushed but was blocked by Parnell and Todd. Baker and Barrie combined passed to Boycott who kicked from the wing on goal. Armstrong was there and headed it into Prest. Deforge soon sent another in which fell over the bar. At half-time play was in Norwood territory with no goal scored by either side.

SECOND HALF.

During first fifteen minutes of the second half the Quakers were the aggressors although kicking against a strong wind. Powers fouled about twenty yards from goal and Parnell shot squarely between the stakes. Prest found it too hot and dropped it and Todd rushed it through—score 1-0.

After the kick off the ball travelled down to the Quaker half. Sisson checked Doherty and Evans relieved. Armstrong and Boycott tore off another of their famous coms. down the left field, passed to Barrie and Baker, the latter sending it through on a long kick from right wing—score 2-0.

Norwood then wakened up and for the last ten minutes of play had things going much their own way. Rodgers, Doherty and Miller kicked on goal, but their shots went wide. When time was called the play hovered around centre field.

The return game will be played next Saturday afternoon on Riverside Park. The Norwood eleven intimated they were going to get down to solid practice this week so that there will no doubt be an interesting game here on Saturday.

"Dan" McCabe Signed With Brantford Team

Former Peterborough Ball Player's Presence in Telephone City Seems to Have Created a Furore—All the Teams Are After the One-Armed Wonder.

Dan McCabe has created some excitement in Brantford, as the following from the Expositor will show: "Dan" McCabe of Peterborough, is in the city in the interests of the Automatic 'Phone Company, and incidentally will do some ball playing. The rumour that he has signed with the Duifferins has not been verified, and the other teams declare that he has not. Mr. McCabe himself has not said anything about it as yet. According to all reports, McCabe Cabe holds the distinction of being about the only one-armed man playing the game. He has only one arm, the right, and in that one arm has centred all the strength that formerly was shared between the two. He pitches a "greased lightning" ball and has great control. On top of that the one armed wonder is also a hitter. He has a small bat made to order, and claims that he hasn't struck out in several years. He does it with his little bat every time. The presence of this well known player in town has caused all the managers to lose sleep, and there is a great scramble on.

GUILD LEAGUE PLAYERS WILL BE NAMED TO-NIGHT

To-night a meeting of the Guild Baseball League will be held, when the teams will submit the names of the players signed by them to play this season, which opens one week from to-day when Charlotte and the George street teams play the first game at the Central park grounds.

The meeting to-night will be held in the Y.M.C.A. Board Room. While the personnel of the teams has not yet been announced it is understood that each team will be considerably stronger than they were last year, and some good games are bound to result.

ST. PAUL'S TEAM PRACTICE TO-NIGHT

The initial practice, of St. Paul's Guild ball team, is called at Central Park grounds this evening. Manager Rosenburg requests the following players to turn out at 6.30, sharpe:—Alex. Gillespie, Bruce Gillespie, R Simpson, Rosenburg, Macdonald, Cameron, Stacey, Dunsford, Duncan, Green, Boyd, Swanson, Logan, Sherwood, Bruce, Dobson, Watt, Patterson, Stenson, Shea, H. Hall, Greer, R. Hall, Max Cameron, R. Turner.

BASEBALL

An exciting game was played Saturday morning between the West Ward and Separate School teams, the score at the end of seven innings of play being 11-7, in favour of the West Ward. The line-up of the teams was:—

Separate School—Catcher, Ray Rose; pitcher, C. Morrow; 1st base, C. Calligman; 2nd base, M. Murty; 3rd base, G. Bain; short stop, E Whaley right field, J. Murphy.

• • • •

Oshawa crosses the line first in the Midland League race.

• • • •

Is Lindsay giving the League the double-cross? The stand taken by the Post is significant and an investigation would no doubt throw some light upon the situation.

• • • •

It appears that Cadman may not play with Oshawa all this season after all, as the following Brantford despatch will indicate:—

It is likely that if the league scheme falls through, the St. Thomas team will play independent ball. Regarding their team, the St. Thomas Times says:—The executive also decided to sign Walter Cadman, a catcher who has been playing in the Toronto Senior Amateur league, and is very highly recommended. He will report in a week or so.

SICK HEADACHE

Many varieties of headache exist, those most prevalent being sick or bilious headache, nervous headache, headache from constipation, etc.

Headache is an effect of disease, the cry of the suffering body for relief from some oppressing disorder.

Undoubtedly the cause must be removed in order to cure the headache permanently. Wrong action of the stomach, liver or bowels is responsible for nine out of ten cases of headache.

In sick headache (a very common form) there is sometimes nausea and vomiting and usually constipation.

In nearly all forms of headache

has proved itself a specific—a medicine that has cured where all others failed.

Keep the stomach, liver and bowels in perfect working order by the use of nature's regulator and tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters, which cures all forms of headache by removing the cause.

Miss L. Smith, Morrisburg, Ont., writes: "I desire to let you know how much good Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. I was troubled with headaches all the time, and could get no relief, until a friend told me of your Burdock Blood Bitters. After taking two bottles of it, I can say that I am completely cured."

B.B.B. is for sale at all druggists and general stores. Do not accept something "just as good."

MILLINERY NOVELTIES

THE word MILLINER was formerly Milaner, because the Italian city of Milan, always famous for ribbons and satins, at one time dictated the fashions of the world. To-day it is Paris that decides what we shall wear, and yet not always Paris. A growing Canadian style, with wit to adopt only the ideas that suit Canadian faces, is beginning to be recognized. This is the spirit behind the new Hats we are showing, and their immediate success is absolute endorsement of both styles and values.

TURNBULL'S is not noted only for their low prices, but the name. TURNBULL, means High Quality Coupled with Low Prices.

Midland League Looks To Be On The Rocks Again

Lindsay Notified the Local Club That They Have Decided to Drop Out of the League--No Game Here on Wednesday.

It looks as if the Midland Baseball League will be disbanded. On Saturday night Manager Connors received word from Lindsay that that town would have no team this year, and hence there will be no game with the Redskins here on Wednesday as scheduled.

No communication has been received from the League headquarters as to what steps will be taken. It is possible that the League may be continued with three teams, Port Hope, Oshawa and Peterborough, but that scheme does not seem likely to be a money-maker. Cobourg, it is said, will not come back into the ranks under any terms.

The League has been working in hard luck all season. At the organization meeting four teams entered and the League looked good. Then came the trouble with Cobourg, and the organization seemed doomed to disbandment. Lindsay entered into the breach, and the schedule was drawn up again. Now Lindsay has dropped out and things are as bad as ever

OTONABEE VISITED BY A SEVERE HAIL STORM

Saturday's storm in this city, was merely a gale in comparison to the blizzard that swept over a portion of the township of Otonabee. Some of the farmers from that district state that hail stones as big as marbles fell for half an hour, and if the wind had been a little stronger all unprotected windows on the west side of houses would have been broken.

The storm seemed to be more severe in the Stewart settlement than farther north. A couple of windows in Mr. William Stewart's residence were smashed by the hail stones and it is very probable that other houses suffered the same fate. Hail stones were shovelled off verandahs two hours after the storm.

Lighning struck an elm tree near Mr. John Smith's residence, about three miles south of the city, and splintered it badly. Other slight damages have also been reported from Otonabee, but nothing very serious occurred.

The storm wave which swept across the township was about three miles in width.

Mr. Dunslow's Big Business

Places Many Silent Salesmen in Campbellford.

In connection with the Inauguration Celebration proposed for Campbellford for July 2nd, the Despatch gives a list of merchants who are making some improvements to their places of business, and in this connection says:—

The old style show cases are being removed from the interior of many stores and handsome silent salesmen cases are filling the space. During the past week Mr. Harry Dunslow, of the Peterborough Showcase Company, was in town and put in silent salesmen in the following stores:—J. W. Cairns 5; J. F. Maynard 4; Linton Bros. 1; Harper Shaw 1; P. J. Sarginson 1.

Another article in the same paper says:—

Mr. H. Dunslow, of the Peterborough Showcase Company, has been a busy man in out town during the past few days. He has been installing their cases in several of our business places. The cases are Silent-salesmen and are elegant in design. The framings are of quartered oak, finely polished and fitted with British plate-glass and bevelled tops. They are just a little better than any we have seen. Harry is well known here having chosen for his partner in life a Campbellford girl.

G. N. Graham's New Purchase

Buys a Handsome Horse from Mr. James Greer.

Mr. James Greer of South Monaghan, recently sold to Mr. G. N. Graham of this city, a handsome seal-brown five year old saddle and carriage horse, which is about the nicest piece of horseflesh seen here for some time. He stands 15 hands 3 inches high, has splendid knee action, and is equally good as a driver or saddle horse.

Mr. Greer, who bred him, has recently sold a number of high class horses, many of them going to New York, where they were snapped up by the millionaire horse lovers at fancy prices.

PROTECTION AGAINST TYPHOID

Impure water is the great propagator of typhoid fever. Filters may take out the mud but they do not remove all the disease germs. It is a proven fact that hundreds of cases of typhoid occur in homes where filters are constantly in use. The only way to protect the home against typhoid is to drink absolutely pure water.

"Sanitaria" Mineral Water is everywhere acknowledged to be the purest of waters. It is bottled at the springs at Arnprior, Ont., just as it bubbles from the virgin rock. A. Rountree, local agent, and most dealers in Peterborough, are ready to supply families with any quantity of "Sanitaria," both sparkling and still, in any size bottles desired. They deliver orders to the house and call for empty bottles free of charge.

Oshawa Took The First Game

Defeated Port Hope by One Run Saturday.

The Midland League season opened Saturday with one game, Oshawa at Port Hope, in which the visitors won. A dispatch says:—

Port Hope, May 12.—The opening game in the Midland League took place here to-day, between Oshawa and Port Hope, resulting in a victory for the visitors by a score of 8 to 7. Both teams paraded to the park, headed by the Citizens' Band, and Mayor Chalk delivered the first ball, amid loud applause. The ball displayed was snappy throughout the whole game, but a couple of bad throws and loose baserunning by the local club lost the game. Phelan and Cadman of Toronto were the battery for the visitors, and both men put up star games. Henry Samphila, the local twirler, did excellent work, having eight strike-outs to his credit and not allowing a base on balls. "Bobby" Streets made his initial appearance behind the bat, and made a favourable impression. Mr. J. M. Rosevear officiated as umpire in a satisfactory manner. The score by innings was:—

Port Hope 0	0	0	1	1	0	0	0	0	—2	7	3

Charlotte St. Won From the Brass Dept.

Good Game at Murray Street Grounds on Saturday.

The Charlotte Street Guild team defeated a picked nine from the Brass Department of the C.G.E., on Saturday afternoon by 11-5 in an eight-innings game. Rain stopped the contest in the eighth. There were many errors and a few features, the most spectacular being McMillan's sensational catch of a high fly to right. The batteries were:—Charlotte Street, Roddy, Pilling and Laing; C. G. E., Ryan and Curtis. Umpire, E. Dormer.

Star Centre Man For Shamrocks

An Eastern Player Who Will be Great Assistance.

The Peterborough Shamrocks have landed a new lacrosse player, who, according to all reports has a large section of the goods with him. He is a centre player and has figured prominently on one of the eastern senior teams. It is said that he has most of the eastern players taking the cow path for the woods. The new man will be out with the squad at Riverside Park to-night. He is also a hockey player and has decided to remain in Peterborough.

DUNLOP TEAM WANTS A GAME

The Dunlop Tire and Rubber Goods Co., baseball team would like to arrange a ball game for the 24th of May, with any fast senior team. Address Fred. New, Captain, Factory, Booth Ave., Toronto, Ont.

FOOTBALL

The Peterborough Quakers will practise to-night on Central Park at 6.30. As many as possible are requested to turn out in uniform in preparation for the big game next Saturday.

Guild Teams Are Signing Players

League Will Open on Monday, May 21st.

This is the last day for signing players in the Guild League, and the lists will be handed in to-night. Each of the three teams has corralled a large number of players, George street sending in about 30 names.

The race promises to be an exciting one. The league opens on May 21st, with a game between George street and the champion Charlotte street bunch.

Will Practice At Riverside

Initial Work-Out of the First Team To-night.

The first senior lacrosse practice of the season will be held to-night at the Riverside Park at 6.30. Every player interested is asked to be out. There is plenty of good material this year from which to select a winning and enthusiasm and energy is all that's necessary to make the good old national game boom in Peterborough. Peterborough has been in the semi-finals and finals several times in years past but have yet to land a championship. It's up to the boys to dig in in earnest this summer and bring the intermediate cup here.

LACROSSE

Referring to the Oshawa Shamrocks, who are in the district with the Peterborough Juniors this year, the Reformer of that town says:—

Despite the cold weather of the last few days the Shamrocks have had well attended practices every night and are fast rounding into shape. They have several new players with reputations, who have come into town during the winter months on their line-up, and these with the best of last year's team, tend to make us one of the strongest organizations in the province, and, from present appearances, the town will have this season a strictly amateur home brew team that it may be proud of. The management have decided to play an exhibition game on Victoria Day, May 24th, in Port Hope, with the C.L.A. team of that town, and expect to take quite a large number of supporters along with them.

* * * *

It's to be hoped that the junior C.L.A. teams of District No. 13 were well represented at the meeting to be held in the T.A.S. rooms to-night. There should be lots of material for crack junior twelves in this district and the new rule restricting the age limit in the junior series will give the youngsters all kinds of chances to show what they can do.

An Outing On The "Rob Roy"

A Pleasant Trip to Rice Lake Taken on Saturday.

Mr. R. M. Roy took a party of about a dozen friends for a delightful trip on his steam launch, the "Rob Roy," leaving the city last Saturday afternoon and returning this morning. One thing (the storm on Saturday night on Rice Lake,) occurred to mar the pleasure of the outing. The lake was at its roughest, but the staunch little craft had little trouble in forcing her passage. The rough weather was encountered in the run from Jubilee to Idyl Wild. The points touched were Harwood, Idyl Wild and Gore's Landing. The distance from the Locks to Idyl Wild, 27 miles, was covered in three hours—the Rob Roy's record run—and was certainly very fast travelling.

The Roy Roy has been thoroughly overhauled and has been equipped with a new propellor. She is now trimmer and speedier than ever. It was her first "exercise" this season.

A TALK ON INLAID LINOLEUM and It's Advantages

For use in Halls, Dining-Rooms, Offices, Hotels and Public Buildings where the maximum resistance to wear is desirable.

The very nature and composition of Inlaid Linoleum insures durability, composed as it is of White Lead, Ground Cork and Oil with which is mixed the desired colour to produce the pattern. These ingredients being mixed to-gether as a pulp, are pressed on canvas between heavy rollers and subjected to a pressure of about 25 tons weight. Therefore one can easily conceive the superiority over the to ordinary printed Linoleum. The pattern is through the back--will never wear off--colours will never change.

We Offer This Week a Number of Pieces of

LINDSAY PETERBOROUGH OSHAWA

"High-Handed and Illegal The Act of Shameless Man," Was Mr. Dumble's Charge

Heated Session of the Board of Education Held Last Night--Warm Debate Over Action of Mr. Eastwood and the Military Authorities in Tearing Down the Separate School--"A Few Bricks and Planks Have Caused More Fuss Than the Fall of Moscow," Said Col. Miller.

Few warmer sessions of the Board of Education have been held than the regular meeting last night. The demolishing of the old Separate school caused all the trouble, and hot words were the order.

The understanding among the members of the Board was that they were to have the material from the building. Thus when the work of work of tearing down the building began, and the Board were not consulted, they got wrathy. Their ire had not subsided last night, and the result was that the session was a spectacular one. Lieut.-Colonel Miller and Captain Eastwood of the 57th were present by invitation, and the conference, to say the least, was not an amicable one. It began amicably, but soon there was a sound of revelry by night. When the smoke cleared away it was found that no step had been taken, and that it was necessary to wait for advice from the Minister of Public Works.

Mr. Dumble was especially severe in his criticism of the tearing down of the school, and the appropriation of the material by the military authorities. He characterised the act as that of a "bold, shameless man," and as high-handed and illegal.

A proposal was made by Mr. Eastwood, who had been chiefly instrumental in the matter, that the School Board should pay the expenses already incurred in the matter, and the material should be placed on their grounds.

Mr. Dumble opposed this in an emphatic manner, and argued against any compromise in the matter. His opinion was that the Government should deal with the question.

In opening the discussion Chairman Ferguson said that as soon as he had heard that the building was being demolished he had sent the following telegram and letter:

"Hon. C. S. Hyman,
"Minister of Public Works,
"Please wire Vincent Eastwood to cease tearing down Separate school building; am writing full particulars.
"W. G. FERGUSON,
"Chairman Board of Education."

"Hon. C. S. Hyman,
"Minister of Public Works,

"Dear Sir, — On Sept. 29, 1904, a deputation composed of representatives from the Board of Education, Council and Board of Trade of the City of Peterborough, waited upon you as acting Minister of Public Works, to solicit the co-operation of the Dominion Government in the purchase of what was known in the city as the Separate school grounds, for the purpose of erecting thereon armoury as well as a Collegiate Institute building.

"During the interview you will recollect that the disposal of the Separate school building was brought up and you were good enough to allow the Board of Education the material in that structure.

"It was, therefore, with considerable surprise that the Board discovered that, unknown to them, someone had apparently authorized the removal of the Separate school building, and that the work of tearing it down had during the past week already begun.

"On behalf of the Board of Education I would now respectfully ask you to advise us whether we are, as we understood we were, to receive the material, or whether any instructions have been issued from your department otherwise to dispose of it?

"I am, sincerely yours,
"W. G. FERGUSON,
"Chairman of the Board of Education."

Mr. Eastwood was then called upon to state his position. He said on be-

Mr. Brundrette Honoured By The All Saint's People

Retiring Vestry Clerk Presented With Hymn Book and Prayer Book.

A meeting of the congregation of All Saints' church was held last night with the rector, Rev. William Major, in the chair. The building of the new church was discussed and some details were decided upon. The matter is going ahead rapidly.

After the business portion of the meeting the presentation of a hymn book and prayer book, very handsomely bound in Russian leather was made to Mr. W. A. Brundrette, has recently resigned from his position as vestry clerk, and who leaves in a few days for Alberta.

The presentation was made by Mr. Frank Wise, the Peoples' Warden, who referred to Mr. Brundrette's services in eulogistic terms. Rev. Mr. Major also spoke warmly of Mr. Brundrette. The latter made a suitable reply thanking the people for their kindness and expressing his regret at having to sever his connection with the church.

Greenfield

The City's Property Will Be Levelled Up

Chief Engineer Sing, of the Public Works Department, Agrees to Give City Use of Material Taken From River—Will Make Easy Access to Waterfront From Charlotte Street.

In more ways than one, the action of the Public Works Department in dredging the Otonabee River, is proving a mighty good thing for Peterborough. One of the chief immediate advantages is that the city will secure the material taken from the channel for the purpose of filling in the space between the bank of the river and the edge of the channel. It will be remembered that some few weeks ago when the city clerk and Ald. Elliott were in Ottawa, they saw Hon. Mr. Hyman in reference to securing the dredgings for this purpose and he informed them then that he would have the Chief Engineer, Mr. J. G. Sing, take the matter up. Later Mr. Merrick, one of Mr. Sing's assistants, was sent here, and he reported to his chief. To-day Mr. Sing himself came to the city, and he took the matter up with Ald. Hicks, chairman of the Board of Works, the City Engineer, and Ald. Elliott, and the result is that Mr. Sing has directed in view of the representations made by these gentlemen, that the dredgings be dumped from the dredge across the C.P.R. tracks on to cars, and where the city may wish it; and the latter will then take charge of the material and spread it over the area proposed to be filled in.

It is expected that there will be sufficient to fill in the space west of the C. P. R. tracks as far south as Charlotte street to a level of two feet above the water, which will be of a very great benefit to the city, as it will afford an easy means of access to the waterfront and will save to the city thousands of dollars.

Took Dose Of Iodine In Mistake For Cascara

A Lady Living in South Side Had a Very Narrow Escape on Sunday Night—Only for Prompt Measures the Mistake Would Have Proved Fatal.

A lady living in the south side of the city had a very narrow escape from death on Sunday night, and but for the prompt action of her sister, who is at present in the city on a visit, and the attending physician, there is little doubt an obituary would have to be written to-day, instead of the record of her escape from death.

It appears that on Sunday night the lady in question was complaining of feeling unwell, and decided to take a dose of cascara aromatics. Instead, however, of taking this medicine she made a mistake in the bottle, and before she noticed her mistake had taken a teaspoonful of iodine, which was in a small bottle about the same size as that which contained the cascara.

As soon as she had taken the dose she noticed her mistake and, looking at the bottle, found that she had taken the iodine, and communicated the facts to her mother, who immediately sent for a physician, but for whose efforts there is little doubt that the lady's mistake would have resulted most seriously, perhaps, fatally. Prompt measures were taken, and while she is far from well, she is on the road to recovery, and will be all right in a short time.

Rich Find Of Buried Gold

Burford Man Gets Valuable Document Telling of Buried Wealth.

Examiner Special.

Brantford, May 15th. — Last week while men were engaged excavating for the cellar for Mr. R. Gray's new house at Burford, they came upon a pot at the depth of about six feet, and in this pot was a glass bottle, wired over the top and sealed. Upon opening the bottle there was found a queer document, bearing the date of 1842. It was in part a map of the old London road and property adjoining. A line was traced from the road, at the point where Mr. Gray has bought to a certain spot, and instructions given on the paper that $2,000 in gold was buried nine paces north from this point. Some money had been buried nine years before during the Rebellion, at a depth of eight feet, and the party who buried it could not get the chance to exhume it again. The property formerly belonged to Henry Lester, father of John H. Lester, now of Burford. A search will be made for the money.

One Drawback.

MR. MELVILLE INGALLS, the western railway magnate, was indeed by a friend, while spending Sunday with him, to attend service at a church, the pastor of which is noted for the extreme length of his sermons.

As the friends were leaving at the conclusion of the service, the Dutchman, with a touch of pride, inquired:

"Dr. Blagh is a most eloquent minister, is he not?"

"Very eloquent," was the dry response of the railway man, "but he has poor terminal facilities."—Harper's Weekly.

One Thing He Knew.

THE MAN WHO, at a civil service examination for fireman, answered a question in municipal government with "What's that got to do with squirting a hose?" has been eclipsed. At the last examination of applicants for the fire department, one candidate seemed to have difficulty in answering several of the questions. He finally gave up trying, and wrote after each question: "I don't know; but I want the job."

He got it.—New York Sun.

High-Handed And Illegal

half of the regiment that they thought that they were perfectly within their rights in doing as they did. They were preparing the way for the new armouries. Referring to the meeting with Mr. Hyman some time ago Mr. Eastwood dealt with what had happened at that interview. The military authorities had thought that the building was theirs, and felt perfectly justified in making use of the material. They were desirous of getting the armoury under way as soon as possible. As regards the value of the building, he said that he had asked several builders as to what figure they would take the building away for, and only one had replied. Mr. Richard Sheehy had offered to do it for $300. The money from the material would be used for regimental purposes. The speaker dwelt on the claims of the regiment, which he said was one of which any place might well be proud. The regiment, however, did not want to show any lack of courtesy towards the Board.

To a question from the chairman, Mr. Eastwood said that he had no direct authority from the Minister of Militia or Minister of Public Works.

Col. Miller said it was unfortunate that the matter should lead to differences. The regiment did not want to do anything to antagonize the Board. The Government had deeded them the four south lots, with the old buildings upon them. Either side would have been satisfactory to the regiment. The plans for the armouries had been delayed through the disagreement over this matter. The regiment was anxious to see the work on the armouries started this year. There was no graft with any man of the militia, and he did not think that any member of the Board would say that the regiment was getting too much out of the old building.

Mr. Dumble said that a confession of guilt had been made on the part of the militia. They had confessed that they had done a high-handed, illegal act, to coerce the Government into speedy action.

Mr. Dumble then reviewed the position. The School Board had made the choice. Then the Board came to the conclusion that they had made a mistake, and tried to rectify it by passing resolutions. The City Council and the School Board decided to interview the Government, and although the militia had put up no money, yet they were through courtesy asked to meet with the committee. The militia had treated the Board with lack of courtesy. They had not come to the meeting. This showed, said the speaker, that the militia did not want to concur with the Board. The Board did nothing to help themselves. He characterized the act of tearing down the school as an high-handed, improper, illegal, shameless act. Any person who would ruthlessly pull down a $1000 school to force the hand of teh Government was ignorant of the law of the land. If prosecuted it would land the man who did it in the penitentiary.

Mr. Dumble went on to deal with Mr. Eastwood, and characterized his act as one that only a shameless, bold man would do. He charged Mr. Eastwood with a deliberate crime against the community.

Col. Miller.—"Mr. Dumble must think that he is in the police court. All lawyers seem to think that they have the right to bullyrag people." He said that the militia officers did not want to show any discourtesy to the Board, and explained why it was not possible for them to be present at the joint meeting referred to by Mr. Dumble.

Mr. Eastwood said he was quite sure that he had not been invited to the meeting to be bully-ragged. The language used by Mr. Dumble was contemptible.

"My reputation is just as good as Mr. Dumble's," said the speaker. "He is very fond of abusing people. He insulted me in his office to-day as no gentleman would have done."

"I didn't invite you to my office," said Mr. Dumble; "if you come you must take the consequences."

"I would be ashamed to speak to anybody as you did to me," was Mr. Eastwood's retort.

Mr. Hill asked if there had been a meeting of the officers before the work had commenced.

"No, it was not a matter to be discussed by the officers," replied Col. Miller.

Dr. Morrison said that he thought the chairman had taken the proper steps to arrange the matter. While he was always very sorry to see friction between men in different services of the community yet he felt in this case the Board was standing within its rights, and should endevour to know why the building was being taken off their hands. The Board had understood that the old school was its property. Speaking of the best lots for the purposes of the school, board, he said that with the old building out of the road he would say take the north side. If, however, the school were there, and available for public school purposes, the south side would be all right. The question was whether the Board was going to receive the material from the school, or was the militia to claim it. The chairman had acted rightly in communicating with the Government. If the militia were doing wrong their head might have something to say. The Board was entitled to the old material and needed all the money they could get out of it. They were waiting to see what action the Government would take in the matter of building a Collegiate Institute and Normal School together.

Mr. Dumble asked if anything had been done about the change of lots.

Dr. Morrison explained that Mr. Crane had thought that the matter could be mutually arranged between the interested parties.

Mr. Hill regretted that any friction should have arisen between the Board of Education and the military authorities of the city. It should not have been necessary. He had no intention of discussing the propriety or impropriety, of the pulling down of the Separate school building. That was another question. In September, 1904, a deputation of the city council, the Board of Education, and militia officers, waited on the Government at Ottawa with respect to the Separate school grounds. It was arranged then to purchase the grounds. The Board of Education was to receive the lots, four of them, on McDonel street, and the Government was to receive the lots on Murray street. Incidentally the material in the Separate school building was promised to the Board by the Minister of Public Works. No one disputed that. With that deputation was Mr. Eastwood, Mr. Ferguson, and Mr. J. J. Hartley. They all agreed that this promise had been made by Mr. Hyman. The council had a record of the promise in their minutes noting this. When these minutes were read Mr. Eastwood was present and when the minutes were read afterwards Mr. Eastwood and all the others were present so that there could be no doubt about this.

The secrtary of the Board, Mr. W. G. Morrow, read the minutes.

The question was did Mr. Hyman mean anything when he made such a promise. I take it that the promise of the Minister of Public Works meant something; that he intended to carry out that promise. The word of a Minister of the Crown should be as good as his bond, and until they heard to the contrary they must accept his word. Further he had a conversation about that time with Mr. Hall, our representative from this riding. He stated definitely on that occasion that the Minister had made such promises, and he said the Board would get the material of the Separate school building. He saw Mr. Hall four weeks ago, and he had informed him that as the work on the armouries had to go on the Separate school building would have to be taken down. He told Mr. Hall at that time that the building belonged to the Board. Mr. Hall last Saturday evening stated most emphatically that the material belonged to the Board of Education as promised by Mr. Hyman. When he made this statement Mr. Pringle, a member of the Board, was present, so that there was no doubt about it. They had a moral right to the material in the building, and as a member of the board, representing the people, he demanded that this be carried out. On the other hand, Col. Miller and Mr. Eastwood stated that they had no authority from the Government for taking the action they did in connection with the pulling down of the building. His own opinion was that proper steps should have been taken in connection with the disposed of the building. Tenders should have been asked for and the building sold to the person willing to give the most for it. This would have been the business way to have dealt with it. A time could easily have been stated—say from 10 to 15 days — and the building could have been removed easily in that time, and the man who bought the building would naturally be prepared personally to supervise the taking of it down. He did not think in this matter the officers had treated the Board with proper courtesy, and he was sorry to say so. No one could deny that the Board had the promise of the building; the promise had been made by the Minister of Public Works, Mr. Hyman. This promise had been made again and again by our representative from this riding, Mr. Hall. No one disputed that. Was it surprising therefore that the Board felt that they were entitled to the material. He did not agree with Mr. Eastwood that the material was only worth from $350 to $400. A leading contractor in the city had told a member of the Board a few days ago that it was worth $1500; but whether it was worth $400 or $1500 was not the question. If it were worth only $50 it would make no difference in the principle. What he did say was, that if the militia wanted the material of the Separate school building they might have at least consulted the Board. It was certainly a high handed action under the circumstances to proceed as the officers have proceeded, and the last person who should have consented to taking such action was the quartermaster, who understood thoroughly the circumstances. The chairman, he thought, had taken the right action in telegraphing to the Minister of Public Works, and find out whether he was willing to abide by the promises definitely made at the time the deputation waited on him at Ottawa in 1904. The word of a Minister of the Crown should be as good as his bond, and we had no reason to doubt his word until we had evidence to the contrary. Further he couldn't see how it was possible for the building to be taken from them after the promises made by Mr. Hall again and again.

Mr. Fair said that he had always understood that the material of the old school belonged to the Board.

"I do not object to the building going down," said Mr. Hill; "what I object to is that the militia are appropriating for their own use what has been promised the Board by the Minister of Public Works."

Mr. Eastwood started to dilate upon the efficiency of the militia, and argued that the Board should not begrudge such a small sum to them.—

"Don't talk bosh!" exclaimed Mr. Dumble.

Mr. Eastwood suggested that the Board pay for what had been done, and the militia would turn the material over to them.

It was suggested that Mr. Hyman might have broken his promise to the Board.

"The Minister has not broken his promise," said Mr. Dumble; "this man is stealing the building."

"I don't see why I should be insulted," said Mr. Eastwood.

Mr. Dumble vigorously opposed any compromise in the matter. He said that a great crime had been committed. The act was "illegal, audacious and unscrupulous." "Don't stand between him and the Government; don't compromise," he added emphatically.

"I can produce evidence, if necessary, that will be interesting to you," was Mr. Eastwood's retort.

Col. Miller said that if there was to be no compromise they would fight it out. One would think, he said that a plot had been formed to destroy the city and that its safety depended upon the board. "Just a few old planks and bricks," he said, "and they are causing as much fuss as the fall of Moscow!"

With this last sally, the militia representatives withdrew in a condition of mind that was far from being angelic.

The board did not deal with the matter further and will not do so until something is received from the Minister of Public Works.

Reports Received Were Encouraging.

Quarterly Board of George Street Held its Last Meeting of the Year.

The Quarterly Board of George street Methodist church held its last meeting of the church year last night when the reports of the various church organizations were received. Rev. Dr. Crothers occupied the chair.

The reports, which have been published before, indicated that the past year has been one of progress and were satisfactory in every respect.

The class teachers and local preachers were examined at last night's meeting and were approved of by the Board.

Messrs. Wm. Might and B. Shortly were appointed to represent the Board at the district meeting next week.

A FOOD AND A TONIC

What the leading Medical Journal of the world has to say about FERROL.

After making a thorough test of FERROL in its own laboratory the London (England) Lancet published an article from which the following is taken:

FERROL

"This is a successful combination of the well-known valuable remedies, Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus. The formula is no secret, and our analysis showed the presence and amount of constituents as described. The preparation is a good one and of distinct therapeutic value. The association of an easily assimilable oil, in a fine state of division, with a phosphatic salt of iron which does not disturb the digestive functions and which is easily tolerated, determines its success as a food and tonic in wasting diseases."

What the London Lancet recommends as a food and a tonic in all wasting diseases must have very special qualities.

No higher endorsation is possible. The results following the use of FERROL for the past ten years have proved that this endorsation is well deserved.

FERROL is not a patent mystery. The formula is freely published. It is prescribed by the best Physicians. It is endorsed by the most eminent Medical Journals. It is used in the prominent Hospitals, Sanatoriums, etc.

A Good Medicine.

—The patient getting discouraged with his physician's treatment, asks his opinion of Dr. Roscoe's Rheumatic Remedy. He replies, "It is a good medicine but it would kill you." To Amend The Building By-law

Meeting of Fire, Water and Light Committee To-night for This Purpose.

To-night the Fire, Water and Light Committee will meet, when the question of revising the building bylaw will be dealt with. It is called for the purpose of considering the advisability of contracting the area in which 13-inch solid brick walls have to be erected, and making a wider section, in which 9-inch walls may be built. It is felt by a number of the members of the Council that it is an injustice to persons building residences, to make them put up 13-inch walls everywhere within the area of the present limits, and it is probable that an amendment will be made to this effect. A number of applications will be received for light, and these will be dealt with.

Social Evening At Epworth League

Large Number Listened to a Delightful Programme.

The Epworth League of the George street Methodist church held a delightful social evening last night in the Sunday school room of the church. The programme was chiefly of a musical character, but a talk by Mr. J. E. Hodgson, B.A., of the Collegiate Institute staff on "Flowers" formed a pleasing feature of the evening. Mr. Hodgson spoke principally on the uses of flowers and quoted and read from Wordsworth, nature's greatest interpreter. The chair was occupied by Mr. C. Galley, the president of the league, and the remainder of the programme was as follows:

Vocal Duet, the Misses Chasty.

Solo, Miss Clara Bellegham.

Piano Duet, Miss Madeline Parker and Miss Ida Sanderson.

Vocal Duet, Miss Josie Callendor and Master Harry Little.

A floral conundrum competition also formed a very enjoyable part of the programme and created a great deal of interest. The accompanists were Mrs. Sanderson and Mr. McCann.

After the programme, refreshments, consisting of cake and ice cream, were served by the ladies. A vote of thanks was moved by Messrs. McCann and Robertson to Mr. Hodgson and the others taking part for their assistance in making the evening such an enjoyable one.

THISTLES AND DANDRUFF

An Interesting Parallel and a Valuable Deduction Therefrom.

Cutting down thistles no more relieves the land of thistles than does scouring the scalp cure dandruff. In each case permanent relief can only come from eradicating permanently the cause. A germ that plows up the scalp in searching for the hair root where it saps the vitality, causes dandruff, falling hair, and baldness. If you kill that germ, you'll have no dandruff but a luxuriant suit of hair. Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation in the world that cures dandruff and falling hair by killing the germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh special agents.

SPRING BILIOUSNESS

Is very prevalent just now.

Mr. G. Wilson and his son Bernard.

"The doctor said the poor little chap would suffer from these attacks until he was grown up, when he might have a chance to fight free of the ailment. His little face was as yellow as a guinea, and the whites of his eyes were the color of marmalade.

"My wife and I were in despair about the boy, and were at our wits' end what to do to make him better. But I read about Bilcans doing a child good, and got a box and doctored both Bernard and myself. They suited us both. As soon as I began to take Bilcans my appetite improved, and I could sleep comfortably at nights. I have never had a bilious attack since.

"As for little Bernard—just look at him, pointing to a sturdy little chap who had just come in, aglow with health and high spirits. "He was never able to go out of the house before, but he was out long before breakfast this morning. He eats well and sleeps well. He's got his natural color back, and is as hearty as any child could be. "We wouldn't be without Bilcans in the house if they cost their weight in gold. We rely on them as our family medicine."

A simple chapter of family history such as this is more eloquent than reams of argument and a assertion in favor of the excellence of Bilcans as a specific for biliousness, liver disorders, and sluggish and their manifold consequences.

Bilcans also cure headache constipation, piles, female ailments, skin eruptions, sick headache, bad taste in the mouth, foul breath, dizziness, fainting, buzzing noises in the head, feelings of uncomfortable fullness even after a light meal, wind pains, anemia, debility, etc. They act as a general tonic, and by improving the tone of the whole system enable it to throw off colds, chills, rheumatism, etc. They improve the general circulation, and are a boon to pale-faced girls and weak women. For all purposes to which a household remedy is put Bilcans will be found of excellent service.

Bilcans are obtainable from all druggists and stores at 50 cents per box, or direct from the Bilcan Co., Colborne St., Toronto, upon receipt of price. 6 boxes for $2.50.

BRITAIN NOT DECAYING.

The wonderful expansion of the British Empire is shown by a British blue book recently issued. In 1861 the total area of the Empire was reported as approximately 8,500,000 square miles. No important additions were made during the next twenty years, but during the last two decades territorial acquisition has increased the total area to about 11,000,000 square miles or nearly four times the area of the United States. This is more than one-fifth of the land surface of the globe. During the same time (1861-1901) the population of Great Britain and its colonies, dependencies and protectorates, has increased from about 259,000,000 to about 397,000,000. The total commerce, import and export, of all these people amounts to about $7,500,000,000 annually. The total annual expenditure for maintenance exceeds $1,600,000,000, and the debts amount to more than $6,500,000,000. Yet we are often told, says The Hamilton Times by our Tory friends that the old land is going to the dogs. Possibly if Mr. Chamberlain had his way this magnificent fabric would not last long.

COLONIAL TRADE.

From figures taken from the British Board of Trade returns just issued the Montreal Witness comes to the conclusion that the old country cannot afford to sacrifice its foreign trade for its colonial trade. The total over-ocean trade of the Empire in 1904 amounted to the enormous sum of $6,526,415,000. It is shown that 73.3 per cent. of this trade was done with foreign countries and only 26.7 cent. with different parts of the Empire. From foreign countries the British Empire imported $150,000,000 worth of meat and exported only $4,500,000 to them, showing how dependent upon the whole the Empire is upon foreign countries for her meat supplies. The same applies to grain, of which the Empire imported $194,000,000 worth and and exported $27,000,000 worth. From British possessions the United Kingdom bought goods to the value of $754,977,295 and sold goods to the value of $678,346,670, to which $515,000,000 was for manufactured articles, including ships. The reasoning of the Witness may well enough apply to present conditions, but these conditions are continuously changing in the direction of greater importance of Colonial trade. We know that Canada is yearly becoming a more important factor in the trade volume of the mother country. We have not yet reached the position when we can send the mother country the food supplies she requires but this stage is being rapidly reached.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is rumoured, says The Hamilton Times, that Mr. S. Price, the Tory workers of St. Thomas, is at last to be provided for, a job worth $3,000 and pickings being about to be created for him, to be known as mining commissioner. The "boys" are rapidly being billeted on the taxpayers, and it cannot be said of Whitney, as it was said of Ross that he is niggardly in the matter of salaries. The surplus is being made to fly.

The Barrie Examiner has won warm praise for its special number, "Beautiful Barrie," a title which, while it is alliterative, is, to a large degree, literally, appropriate. The work is most creditably executed in every respect, matter, manner and typographically. While the number is worthy of the enterprise of the beautiful town on Kempenfeldt Bay, it is only a forecast of a more prosperous future for the town. With the completion of the Trent Canal, Barrie's opportunities for growth and development will be very greatly enhanced.

The Senate of the United States has passed what is known as a publicity bill. It follows in some degree the practice in Great Britain, and closely resembles the laws of Massachusetts and Connecticut in the same regard. It provides for detailed statements of all campaign receipts and expenditures by political committees and candidates for office, when committees have expended more than $200 and candidates have expended more than $100. This is a beautiful theory, but how it will work out in practice remains to be seen. Will it not be difficult to secure returns that will cover all expenditures. How are the authorities to know that such a return embraces all the expenditures made. A man, especially a shrewd political worker, say a ward-heeler, will be pretty expert in covering his tracks, and if left to his own inclination will easily present a balance sheet which would mystify and mislead a college of actuarial experts. But there is no harm in trying. It is only by persistant efforts that the goal of even comparative purity and cleanness of political methods can be reached.

A SAMPLE MISREPRESENTATION

Mr. Foster, when charged by Mr. A. K. McLean, M.P., with falsifying the record in his recent speech on the North Atlantic Trading Company contract, strongly denied that he had said that the Government had paid out $5.00 for every immigrant coming to Canada from continental Europe to the Company. Mr. McLean was able to show, however, that this was the impression which his language had left upon the public, quoting from the Ottawa Journal, the Ottawa Citizen, the Montreal Gazette, the Toronto Mail and Empire, and the Toronto News, to show that this was the interpretation placed by them upon his remarks. Knowing George as we do have no doubt the impression he left on his hearers was the impression he intended to leave—he is rather an artist at that sort of thing. Any such statement is, of course, entirely erroneous. In 1900-1 there came to Canada from the countries mentioned in the contract 17,599 immigrants and the bonus was paid on only 3,152. In 1901-2 there came to Canada 21,998 immigrants and the bonus was paid upon 8,977; in the following year 34,484 immigrants reached Canada and a bonus was paid on some 13,000; in the following year 25,000 immigrants reached Canada and a bonus was paid upon 12,000; in the following year 28,000 immigrants reached Canada and the bonus was paid on 12,000. During these five years a total of 128,108 immigrants reached Canada, a yearly average of 25,621 and the total number upon whom the bonus was paid during the five years was 49,871 or a yearly average of 9,974. Thus only about one third of the immigrants earned a bonus for the Company.—Ottawa Free Press.

Peterborough Pastor Builds New Church

Rev. J. A. Wilson on Saturday Saw Corner Stone of His New Church Laid--His Honour Lieut.-General Clarke at the Function—Two Former Peterborough Preachers Were Pastors of That Church.

Churches over which former Peterborough preachers preside, seem to have a habit of making progress. On Saturday afternoon at Hamilton, St. Andrew's congregation, of which Rev. J. A. Wilson is pastor, laid the corner stone of a new church, and referring to the circumstances on that day the Spectator says:—

With becoming and impressive ceremonies the corner stone of the new St. Andrew's Presbyterian church will be laid this afternoon. The board of managers has made great preparations to make the event a notable one in the church's history. His Honour, the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Sir William Mortimer Clark, will lay the stone at 3 o'clock. Rev. J. A. Wilson, pastor of the church will be chairman, and the religious exercises will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Fletcher, jr. Rev. P. J. McLaren moderator of the Presbytery, and Rev. Dr. Lyle W. R. Leckie is to deliver a short historical sketch of the church and congregation. The choir has prepared an appropriate programme of musical selections and a brass quartette will also assist.

REV. J. A. WILSON,
Of Whose New Church the Corner Stone Was Laid Saturday.

Changed Hands.

In 1895 Rev. James Murray accepted a call to Knox church, St. Catharines and on April 16, 1895 Rev. A. MacWilliams, of St. Andrew's church Peterborough, was inducted into the pastorate of Wentworth Presbyterian church as his successor. Under the pastorate of Rev. Mr. MacWilliams the congregation continued to make steady growth, and the debt was materially reduced. At the annual congregational meeting of 1904 the name of the church was changed from Wentworth Presbyterian to St. Andrew's Presbyterian.

In June, 1904 Mr. MacWilliams accepted a call to St. Mary's, and in December of the same year, Rev. J. A. Wilson, the present pastor, formerly assistant pastor of St. Paul's Peterborough, was ordained and inducted into the pastorate of St. Andrew's. So great has been the progress during the year and a half of his pastorate that it has been found necessary to again enlarge. The old walls have been torn down, and what will practically be a new church with a seating capacity of eleven hundred, is now under process of construction.

A BROKEN CISTERN HOLDING NO WATER

Hundreds are inquiring why the horse-drinking fountain at the Hunter street bridge still remains on the street a useless piece of obstructive junk. This fountain was out of commission all last summer, and still it is dry. Its condition is only a mockery. Many a thirsty horse, which has been accustomed to taking a drink at other fountains, naturally turns in to stake his thirst at this useless bit of scrap iron, and is not only disappointed, but perhaps punished by his driver for turning out of his course. Why do the authorities daily over providing connection with the water mains? The Commissioners are ready, and it remains for the city authorities to do their duty. "The merciful man is merciful to his beast," and there is no greater act of mercy to a hard-driven horse on a hot day than a draught of water. The city should either put this drinking fountain into commission or cart it away to a junk shop.

Examiner Special.

New York, May 14.—The laboratories of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research were formally opened Friday, President Eliot, of Harvard University, and President Butler, of Columbia, honoured the occasion with their presence, and there were besides 300 men and women depely interested in the work of the institute, which seeks to discuss the cause, prevention and cure of infectious disease.

The new building was finished six weeks ago, and the formal opening exercises could have been held then, but, owing to the unfavourable absence of John D. Rockefeller, it was said, the ceremonies were postponed.

Nevertheless Mr. Rockefeller was not present yesterday, though he is no longer being harassed by Missourians. Neither was Andrew Carnegie present, though a place was reserved for him. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., represented his father, but remained inconspicuous throughout the proceedings. The speakers mentioned the name of John D. Rockefeller three times, but not one sound of applause was heard, nor was any demonstration of approval made.

Mr. Rockefeller not only conceived the idea of the institute, but is giving $1,000,000 for its erection and maintenance—facts which made the lack of recognition of his personality all the more remarkable. That the audience was not one lacking in enthusiasm was shown by the generous applause accorded President Eliot, President Butler and others.

Severe Form of Asthma.

"I first used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine with my daughter, who suffered from a severe form of asthma. The least exposure to cold would lay her up, and she would nearly suffocate from want of breath. I must say that I found it to be a most satisfactory treatment and it has entirely cured her." — Mrs. A. A. Van Buskirk, Robinson street, Moncton, N. B.

"READER" MAKES SOME SUGGESTIONS

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—I would suggest that it would be a nice thing for the ratepayers to ensure the lives of the members of the School Board. I understood that at the meeting last night Col. Miller threatened the members of the Board if they aroused his fiery tempeg. I would respectfully remind the Colonel that men of his size have before now been roughly handled by women.

I suppose the next row will be in connection with the Smith Street Bridge in reference to which again the interests of the people seem to have been ignored.

Material Owned By Board, Says Telegram From Ottawa

Mr. Hall Wires That Minister of Public Works Says Board is Entitled to Old Separate School Under Arrangements Made--Mr. Eastwood to Cease Operations

The confusion over the tearing down of the old Separate School building, and over the disposal of the material, which aroused such fiery words at last night's meeting of the School Board, seems to be over. At 2 o'clock this afternoon Mr. W. G. Ferguson, chairman of the Board of Education, received the following telegram from Mr. R. R. Hall, M. P.:

"Minister says Board entitled to building under arrangement made. Have wired Eastwood cease operations if Board objects. Can reasonable settlement not be made?

"R. R. HALL."

Mr. V. Eastwood, when seen by The Examiner this afternoon, said that he had received a telegram from Mr. R. R. Hall, notifying him that an endeavour was being made to come to an agreement in the matter, and in the meantime he was to cease operations.

Did Board of Education Change Views Suddenly?

Lieut.-Col. Miller Said To-day That 75 Per Cent. of the Members Had Quietly Told the Officers to go Ahead and Get the Old Building Out of the Way—Were Afraid of Losing Votes, He Alleges.

Lt.-Col. Miller expressed himself in strong terms to the Examiner to-day regarding the stand taken by the members of the Board of Education last night in the matter of the tearing down of the old Separate School. Mr. Miller said that 75 per cent. of the members of the School Board had come to the officers and told them to get the old building out of the way as soon as possible. Mr. Miller said that when the matter came up last night and those members saw the reporters ready to take down their statements, they had suddenly changed their opinions and became accommodating. He alleged that they were afraid of losing a few votes and hence they had made pretty speeches to the grandstand.

STEAM YACHT "MYRTLE" HAS BEEN SOLD TO MR. E. S. CLARRY

Among the changes in the ownership of local steamboats this season, is that of the sale of the steam yacht "Myrtle" to Mr. E. S. Clarry.

The "Myrtle" is one of the staunchest crafts of her kind on these waters, being 34 feet in length and having a capacity of 30 passengers. She was built some four years ago by a syndicate of C. G. E. employees and has given excellent service on Rice Lake and Otonabee waters. It is Mr. Clarry's intention to fit out the boat in first class style and charter her out as opportunity affords to persons requiring a boat of the kind for a day's outing. She may also be utilized to some extent in regular passenger traffic. When the alterations in the craft are completed Mr. Clarry will possess a yacht second to none on the near-by waters.

It is also understood that the "Flash" owned by the late David Breese has been purchased by Amos Shearer of Roseneath, and that the "Pearl" has been sold to a gentleman residing at Buckhorn.

THE INCREASED SALARY QUESTION TAKEN UP AT LAST

The Board of Education has at last taken up the question of increased salaries for the teachers of both the public schools and Collegiate Institute. This has been talked of for some time among the teachers, who felt that their salaries were not as high as they should be.

Mr. Hill brought the matter up at last night's meeting of the Board. He said that the teachers were not getting sufficient salary, and it could not be expected that good teachers would come under the present rates.

He moved, seconded by Dr. Morrison, that the salary schedule of the teaching staff be referred to the Supervision Committee, with a view to revision wherever necessary, and report to the Board.—Carried.

Trent Canal Matters In Federal House

The Lift Lock Investigation Was Considered Yesterday—Statement That Politics Had Something to do With Officials' Dismissals Denied—Mr. R. R. Hall Explains the Situation—Mr. Emmerson Asserts the Investigation Was Fair.

An Ottawa despatch to the Toronto Globe says:—

On a motion for a return in connection with the Peterborough lift lock and Trent Valley Canal Col. Hughes charged that Messrs. Rogers and Spence of the engineering staff were not responsible for the defective work, and that behind the inquiry which resulted disadvantageously to these gentlemen there had been political motives. He also charged that Mr. Bethune, inspector on the work, who was really responsible, had been negligent and intoxicated. Mr. Emmerson assured Col. Hughes that when the papers were brought down they would tell an altogether different story.

Col. Sam Hughes, in moving for copies of all correspondence, inquiries, reports or other data bearing upon the Trent Canal in connection with the lift lock at Peterborough and the works at Kirkfield, asserted that the report of the inquiry into the lift lock did an injustice to Messrs. Rogers and Spence of the engineering staff. He added that by adopting the plan of parallel dams in construction works at Kirkfield some $85,000 was added to the burden of the taxpayers. There had been a persistent effort on the part of certain local politicians at various points along the Trent Canal since the Liberal Government came into power to have Mr. Rogers' services dispensed with. Mr. Rogers was not required to be at this particular part of the work all the time. He had to cover the whole canal, but Mr. Bethune, who was inspector and was supposed to be on the ground all the time, was intoxicated from day to day, and negligent. Colonel Hughes asserted that work by Mr. Holgate, one of the experts who was called in to report upon the Lift Lock, had also given way when water was let in. The Government had spent several thousand dollars for an inquiry, which disclosed that the break in the lock at Peterborough could have been repaired for $200, and at Kirkfield for about $100. This, he asserted, showed that there was some political motive behind the inquiry; and he also complained that the first intimation the engineers interested had of the nature of the report was obtained from a summary published in the Globe. Ministers should have seen that the engineers had a better chance to defend themselves.

Mr. Emmerson's Reply.

Mr. Emmerson thought that when the papers were brought down a very different story would be told from that of Col. Hughes. Investigation had been made at the direct request of Mr. Rogers. He had never heard that Mr. Holgate had any political bias. Mr. Rogers had been charged with the superintendence of the construction of the lock, but the location had been made 174 feet farther south, which Mr. Rogers could not explain, and that had involved an additional cost to the country of tens of thousands of dollars. The investigation had been fair and Mr. Rogers had had the right to name any witnesses he wanted called. Nowhere could it be said that there was malice in connection with the affair. If the report bore harshly upon these gentlemen they had no one to blame but themselves.

Mr. R. R. Hall gave most emphatic denail to the statement that politics had actuated the proceedings against Mr. Rogers. As a matter of fact Mr. Rogers' salary had been raised within the last year. On account of the defective bank there had been $500 or $600 expended every year for leaks.

The motion was adopted after some further debate.

Water Services To Be Inspected

Water Commissioners Appoints a New Official.

The Water Commissioners met yesterday afternoon in the office of the secretary, when routine business was taken up. It was decided to make an inspection of all the buildings using city water which were not inspected at the time the last inspection was made, about two years ago, and all to which water services have been laid since that time.

A record is kept by the Commissioners of every building in which pipes are laid, giving the number of taps, etc. In this way the Board has a complete record of all the outlets for the water. It is expected that the inspection will be commenced at once.

The New South Ward School

It Will be Built West of the Proposed Extension of Aylmer Street.

Another step towards the erection of the new South Ward school was taken by the Board of Education last night, when the exact site of the building on the park lot was selected.

The members of the Board seemed to be unanimous in the opinion that the school should be built west of the extension of Aylmer street and facing that street, although several members suggested the advisability of having it face Park street.

On motion of Mr. Ackerman, seconded by Mr. Hill, it was decided to build the new school about 100 feet west of the extension of Aylmer street, and facing that street.

Mr. Pringle reported that the successful contractors had named their bondsmen as follows:—

Rutherford Bros.—Messrs. Jas. Bogue and Wm. Snowden.

McGregor and Reid—Messrs. Hugh Reid, Toronto, and V. Eastwood.

These bondsmen were perfectly satisfactory to the Board.

Drug Clerk Was Doubly Honoured

Presentations Made by Hockey Team and Pill Pounders.

Last night Mr. Wm. Darke, who has been connected with Ormond & Walsh's drug store for the past three years, was tendered a double honour before his departure for Western Canada. In the early evening the Charlotte Street Hockey team, City League champions, of which Mr. Darke was a strong supporter, surprised him at his residence and presented him with a fountain pen and a picture of the hockey team, accompanied by an address. The presentation was made by Mr. Wm. Gross, and the address read by Mr. H. Lang. Mr. Darke replied, thanking the boys for their kindness, and with the hope of meeting them again in the near future.

Later in the evening Mr. Darke was "held up" by a Pill Pounder contingent, and given a beautiful shamrock tie pin set with pearls. Mr. Ralph Quinn made the presentation with a short impromptu address. Short speeches were also made by the remainder of the drug clerks, who were sorry to see his departure, but wished him all success in his new sphere of life. Mr. Darke made a brief reply.

He left this morning on the 5.10 C.P.R. train for Wayburn, Sask., where he has secured a position in a drug store.

CAN COADJUTOR BE A RECTOR TOO?

The matter of the election of a coadjutor Bishop of Toronto, is delayed pending the investigations of a committee of the Executive Committee into the question whether the coadjutor can hold a rectorship as well, it being thought by some that the canon in this diocese does not permit that dual office as it does in Montreal. This would of course affect the salary to be paid to the coadjutor Bishop. The Bishop's salary is $4,500.

The Assassin's Dagger Cause Of His Death

Finds the Heart of Harsh Vice-Admiral Kuzmich.

BLOODSHED ON RUSS MAY DAY

Commander of the Port of St. Petersburg Stabbed to Death by Workman Infuriated Because of His Harsh Discipline—The Assassin Escapes —Czar Will Have to Choose In Amnesty Proposition.

St. Petersburg, May 15.—Vice-Admiral Kuzmich, commander of the Port, who was very unpopular with the workmen, was assassinated here yesterday by workmen whose May Day demonstration he had attempted to stop.

The admiral was killed at the new admiralty works, a Government institution where most of the 2,000 men employed there reported for duty at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. They wanted to march out at once in a body and celebrate the Russian May Day, but finally agreed to work till 7 o'clock. The admiral, however, cancelled this, and at about 9.30 a. m., according to an officer who was at the gate of the works, the admiral was emerging from a small shop in the works when a workman, who has been concealed around the corner of the building leaped on Kuzmich from behind and drove a long dagger into his back. The admiral fell forward on his face and expired immediately. The assassin fled into a large forge, where he was lost among the men employed there. The dagger which was found was concealed in a round stick like a sword cane.

Kuzmich had the reputation among the workmen of being harsh and despotic.

May Day Demonstration.

The workmen of St. Petersburg yesterday made an imposing showing in their May Day celebration. Practically every factory, mill and shop in the city was idle, over 200,000 men joining in the demonstration.

Why Every Family Wants Amnesty.

St. Petersburg, May 15.—A crisis over the question of granting amnesty already confronts the Emperor, who will be compelled to yield or accept the gage of battle.

Almost every family in Russia contains a member or relative who has suffered or is now suffering for his political opinions, and their demand for the release of all political offenders has fired the imagination of the country.

The Radicals in the Lower House insist that a demand for amnesty should be presented to the Emperor as an ultimatum. This the moderate leaders of the Constitutional Democrats have thus far succeeded in preventing, but if the tide continues to rise they must bow to the will of the Radicals or their leadership will be swept away.

It is extremely significant that a strong faction in the Upper House is advocating the necessity for meeting the popular demands.

The Porte Has Yielded To British Lion

British Demands Accepted In Full By Turkey.

NO CONDITIONS ATTACHED

Satisfactory Agreement Announced in the House of Commons by Earl Grey —A Joint Commission Will Delimit the Sinai Peninsula Boundary— An Anti-Pan-Islamic Demonstration by British Troops.

Constantinople, May 15.—The Turkish Government has notified Ambassador O'Connor of its full acceptance of the British demands.

Great Britain Satisfied.

London, May 15.—The Anglo-Turkish difficulty has been settled to the satisfaction of Great Britain, the Turkish Government having yielded on all points unconditionally.

Foreign Secretary Grey announced in the House of Commons yesterday that a satisfactory note had been received from the Turkish Government, acceding to the British demands that a joint commission be appointed to delimitate the Sinai Peninsula frontier.

A Counter Demonstration.

Alexandria, Egypt, May 15—The British garrison of Alexandria, consisting of infantry and artillery, with bands playing and colors flying, marched through the main streets of the town yesterday and paraded on the big square. The object of this military demonstration, was to re-assure and impress the natives who had been somewhat disturbed by the recent Pan-Islamic campaign launched by the supporters of the Turkish action on the Sinai peninsula.

Daring Robbery In Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, May 15.—A daring robbery was perpetrated on Main street yesterday afternoon when a man taking advantage of a lull in street traffic, consequent upon a downpour of rain, smashed the window in Henry Birks & Sons' jewelry store and snatched a tray of diamond rings valued at $7,000. He tripped in his flight and stumbled, losing fifteen of the eighteen rings which the trip contained. These were recovered, but the booty he retained was valued at about $1,200.

Transfering Their Policies.

London, May 15.—The British policyholders of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York are being organized into strong camps. Those following the plan outlined by the "protection committee," headed by R. C. Haldeman, the former London manager of the Mutual, yesterday flocked to the offices of the North British & Mercantile Insurance Co., where they filled out papers transferring their policies to the British concern.

Ottawa, May 15.—The petition against Mr. Thompson, the member for the Yukon, was dismissed and therefore he is confirmed in his seat.

Awful Things Foretold For End Of World

Rev. Mr. Baxter Startles London by His Prophesies.

New York, N.Y., May 14.—The New York Herald has the following in a special cable from London to-day:

Terrible predictions concerning what will happen to the poor old earth during the next twenty-five years were made the other day at Exeter Hall.

The prophets of disaster, a large number of whom were clergymen, were in attendance at "The prophetic and second advent conference," while they differed somewhat in details all agreed that the end of the world was at hand.

They were not quite sure whether the final catastrophe will come on May 2, 1919, or April 9, 1931, but they were quite sure that one of these dates will prove to be the right one.

There can be no doubt that the world has nearly outlived its usefulness, the prophets declared. The wars and earthquakes which have afflicted it recently are proof positive, and all that is required to fulfill these prophecies is the coming of antichrist, who is somewhat unkindly identified with Napoleon.

He will make his first political appearance as the King of Syria, but in 1922 he will attack and conquer Egypt. Then he will extend his rule over the other kingdoms.

There will be 10,000,000 Christians in the world at this time, the prophets declare, but evidently they will not all be equally deserving of favour, for in 1924 or 1928, 144,000 of them will be translated to heaven, while the other 9,856,000 will be transported to the desert near Mount Sinai, where they will have to wait three and a half years.

Members of the British Parliament of that time are evidently to be a lot of terrible sinners, for only a very few will be found worthy of immediate translation.

The Rev. M. Baxter declared that the great majority of members of Parliament would be left behind.

BLOOD POISON
On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the King of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; no matter it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itchiness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW AND IMPROVED TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and built up, the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. BISON FURNACE

With a Bison Hot Water Furnace in the basement, there is little need for brush or scraper.
No place in it for soot or dirt to lodge, and its flues are practically self-cleaning.
In most furnaces the water jackets are constantly covered with soot and ashes, requiring constant cleaning to enable the fire to heat the water—a dirty job.
The Bison has more good heating points than all other heaters combined.

Guild League Players Names Are Handed In

At Meeting of the Executive Held Last Night--Each Team Will be Considerably Stronger Than in 1905--League Season Scheduled to Open Next Monday.

The Guild Baseball League teams are now ready for the opening of the season next Monday when the Charlotte and George Stree tteams will first battle for supremacy.

At the meeting of the Executive held last night the three teams in the league submitted the names of their players for the season, and from the lists furnished it is easy to predict that the games will be fast.

The players granted permission by the Executive to play were:—

Charlotte Street—Harry Roddy, Bert Lang, Fred. Heaslip, Jas. Squires, N. E. McWilliams, George Crowe, Jas. Pilling, Robt. Ryan, A. McWilliams, Bruce Bell, Roy Walker, Ed. Andrews, B. Dusty, W.. Miller, W. Grose, E. T. Carr, Fred. Roddy, J. Sanderson.

St. Paul's—A. Gillespie, B. Gillespie, Max Cameron, R. Duncan, C. S. Sherwood, L. Dobson, H. Stinson, B. Carmichael, R. Hall, Ed. Ford. R. Simpson, G. A. Macdonald, W. J. Stacey, B. M. Green, J. Logan, R. P. Watt, W. Shea, H. Walkey, R. Turner, W. S. Shaw, M. Rosenburg, C. Rose Cameron, H. Dunford, T. Boyd, R. Bruce, L. Patterson, H. Hall, G. Green, H Chutsty, E. Fitzpatrick.

George Street—H. McMahan, R. Kendry, C. Curtis, W. Parnell, W Weatherstone, A. Weatherstoge, F. Parnell, L. Pedlar, W. McCory, C Wilson, W. Mathesal, A. Mulhern, E. Belleghem, G. Westherstone, G. Johnston, F. Craig, G. Robertson, W. Shaw, F. Lacombe, J. Clegg, C. Crone, A. Mann, J. Cameron, N. Miller, H. Crone, E. Allison.

The Secretary was instructed to arrange for police to keep the grounds clear of spectators in order that the work of the players may not be interfered with.

Some minor amendments were made to the constitution in respect to the penalty imposed for the failure of a team to appear on the ground to play at the hour scheduled.. It was decided that the team not ready to play should be handicapped two runs.

With These Misplays How Could They Win?

The Port Hope Guide Tells the Public a Few Things About the Team Which Lost the Game on Saturday.

The Port Hope Guide gives some of the reasons why the local team lost the game on Saturday to Oshawa. It says:—

There was a baseball game on Saturday afternoon between the Port Hope club and Oshawa and had the locals scored two more runs and kept the Oshawa nine from increasing their score they would have won the game. However, they didn't do this, and when the game was finished the score stood Oshawa 3, Port Hope 2.

The question naturally arises how was the game lost. Well it was lost in a number of ways. To start we will relieve Surphlis, Sheets and Henderson from any blame. Out at left field Pethick hadn't a chance, but he was very weak at the bat. Walters got through without an error but made a bad mistake at running from third to home. Wallace at first made a wild throw to third and he should cover the bag more rapidly. Boney made a poor throw to 1st and lost a chance to put a man out at 2nd. Brown's arm failed to get the sphere to first on one occasion and his collision with Henderson was the means of losing a fly. Andrus at third didn't handle the grounders as well as he should have nor did he use the willow as well as usual. Consider all these little mistakes and you will see how this game was lost on Saturday afternoon.

Three Teams For District No. 12 In Junior C.L.A.

Schedule Arranged at a Meeting Last Night in T.A.S. Rooms

The meeting of Junior C.L.A., District 12, held in the T.A.S. rooms last night, was not as well attended as it should have been as all the towns notified did not respond to Convenor Best's notification. Port Hope, the Peterborough Shamrock's II., and Oshawa were represented by Messrs. Glover (proxy), Doris, and Swanson, respectively. The schedule for the season was drawn up and was as follows:—

June 1, Port Hope in Peterborough.
June 9, Port Hope in Oshawa.
June 14, Peterborough in Port Hope.
June 23, Oshawa in Peterborough.
June 27, Oshawa in Port Hope.
July 2, Peterborough in Oshawa.
July 6, Port Hope in Peterborough.
July 14, Port Hope in Oshawa.
July 21, Peterborough in Port Hope.
July 23, Oshawa in Peterborough.
August 1, Oshawa in Port Hope.
August 6, Peterborough in Oshawa.

The following referees were chosen:—Peterborough, Glover and Lynch; Oshawa, Curtin and Miner; Port Hope, Burt and Brown.

A WOMAN'S BACK IS THE MAINSPRING OF HER PHYSICAL SYSTEM. The Slightest Backache, if Neglected, is Liable to Cause Years of Terrible Suffering.

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well, and regular in their action. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to have filtered out of the blood are left in the system.

The female constitution is naturally more subject to kidney disease than a man's; and what is more, a woman's work is never done—her whole life is one continuous strain.

How many women have you heard say: "My, how my back aches!" Do you know that backache is one of the first signs of kidney trouble? It is, and should be attended to immediately. Other symptoms are frequent thirst, scanty, thick, cloudy or highly colored urine, burning sensation when urinating, frequent urination, puffing under the eyes, swelling of the feet and ankles, floating specks before the eyes, etc.

These symptoms if not taken in time and cured at once, will cause years of terrible kidney suffering. All these symptoms, and in fact, these diseases may be cured by the use of

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

They act directly on the kidneys, and make them strong and healthy.

Mrs. Mary Galley, Auburn, N.S., writes: "For over four months I was troubled with a lame back and was unable to turn in bed without help. I was induced by a friend to try Doan's Kidney Pills. After using two-thirds of a box my back was as well as ever."

Price 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or sent direct on receipt of price. The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

LACROSSE

The team had its first work out last night at Riverside Park and there was a pretty fair turn ouut. The boys showed good form for their initial practice and should be able to make things hum when they get warmed up a little. Whitcroft was the new man out and he handled himself like a veteran. He has plenty of speed and weight and with practice should certainly make good. Among the others out were:—Crowley, Morgan, Regan, Dillon, Judd, Stroud and Mein.

THE RACES ON 24TH OF MAY

The entries for the race have closed and there will be a good field of fast green steppers. The entries for the 2.23 trot or pace close on the 22nd of this month. The list for this class is also pretty well filled and this race will be well worth the money.

Following are the classes and purses:—

Colt race	$ 50
2.23 trot or pace	1 00

The grounds have been apportioned off and marked ready for use and a prosperous season is in sight for the wielders of the racket. On Friday night also refreshments will be served on the grounds by the ladies so, that the opening of the 1906 season will be doubly enjoyable.

LAWN BOWLING

The Water Street Bowling Alley last night was the scene of an interesting game between a team from the C. G.E. and the merchants. Thirty ends were played, the latter winning by 63 points. The following were the teams:—

Merchants (1091)	C. G. E. (1153)
W. McIlroy (Capt.)	W. Crowley (Capt.)
R. Bradburn	McDonald

WILL ORGANIZE HARRIER CLUB

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

I think its pretty nearly time that the School Board quit playing dog in the manger. They are positively doing nothing to further their own interests or those of the people. Why in the world don't they give the regiment, of which the town has every reason to be proud, a chance to have the armouries built? The government promised immediate action as soon as the ground was clear. The regiment is anxious, and justly so, to have adequate armouries and are becoming tired of the present disgraceful drill hall, which is a discredit to Peterborough and to the regiment as well. What pride can an officer, private or any citizen take in pointing it out as the 57th's drill shed? The regiment went to Ottawa last year to show the authorities that they were worthy of good armouries. Those who saw them in the capital were of the opinion that they were a credit to Peterborough, which is more than can be said of the drill shed—and the school board.

Yours truly,

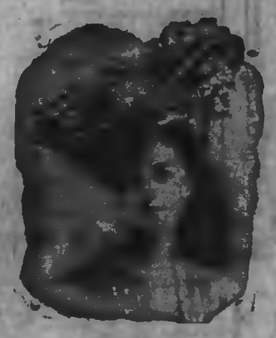
MILLINERY NOVELTIES



THE word MILLINER was formerly Milaner, because the Italian city of Milan, always famous for ribbons and satins, at one time dictated the fashions of the world. To-day it is Paris that decides what we shall wear, and yet not always Paris. A growing Canadian style, with wit to adopt only the ideas that suit Canadian faces, is beginning to be recognized. This is the spirit behind the hew Hats we are showing, and their immediate success is absolute endorsement of both styles and values.

TURNBULL'S is not noted only for their low prices, but the name. TURNBULL, means High Quality Coupled with Low Prices.

The West Ward School Receives Attention

The Matter Was Referred to the Property Committee at Last Night's Meeting of the Board—Heating System is Bad, Said Mr. Morrison—Text Book Supplies.

The West Ward School will now receive attention at the hands of the Board of Education, at least, the matter of inspecting the school with a view to seeing what is best to be done there was, at last night's meeting, referred to the Property Committee.

Dr. Morrison, who is acting as chairman of the Property Committee, in the absence from the city, of Mr. Crane, brought up the question. He stated that the committee had visited the school and found it in good shape with the exception of the stoves and closets. The stoves burned wood, and the ventilating system was not of the best. He inquired as to the policy the Board proposed following in connection with the school. If they intended to keep on using the school and to enlarge it, a furnace could be put in at a cost of $1,000. If, however, it was the intention of the Board to get another lot and build a new school, it would be unwise to spend any money on the present building.

On motion of Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. Fair, the matter was referred to the Property Committee, who are to report to the Board at the next meeting.

Mr. Pringle moved that the Supervision Committee be authorized to ask for tenders for the text-book supplies.—Carried.

Petition Asks For The Bridge To Be Opened

North End Residents Want Smith Street Bridge Re-opened for Traffic—A Petition Being Circulated and Widely Signed.

The people of the north end are evidently in earnest in their agitation for the opening of the Smith street bridge. A petition is being circulated among the residents of that part of the city, and is, it is understood, being largely signed. The petition is as follows:

To the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Peterborough—

The petition of the undersigned ratepayers and others presents for your practical consideration and action the fact that the closing to traffic for an indefinite period of the bridge across the River Otonabee at Smith street, commonly known as the "Smith street bridge," is a serious injury, damage, inconvenience and financial loss, in that it diverts traffic, renders access from other parts of the city and adjacent country to that part of the city in the vicinity of the bridge difficult, and prevents large numbers of the public from reaching this part of the city to transact business and for other purposes, and is in many unspecified ways undesirable. Your petitioners therefore pray that your Council take steps with the least possible delay, to put this bridge in a condition that will permit of its use for traffic, and not subject your petitioners and others to serious inconvenience, which the closing of the said bridge entails.

Miss Julia Marlow Collapsed At Ottawa

Miss Roselle Knott Asked to go to New York to Take Her Place in Academy of Music for Six Weeks Engagement.

A despatch from Ottawa to this city to-day states that Julia Marlowe, who, with E. H. Sothern, was billed to play in Ottawa last night, collapsed, and was unable to proceed with her engagement. She had to cancel her future engagements, and left for New York.

In this connection it is of interest to record that Mr. E. Shipman, manager for Roselle Knott, in "When Knighthood Was in Flower," who is in the city to-day, has received an offer from the manager of the Academy of Music, New York, for her to go to that house and fill a six weeks' engagement as Mary Tudor in the play in which she will be seen here to-night.

This Boy Was Very Extravagant

Stole $15 and Blew it all in in a Short Time.

A youngster, McCall by name, and of the tender age of 12 years, appeared at the police court this morning to answer a charge of having stolen from Mr. Richard Lees, 193 Smith street, the sum of $15. He pleaded guilty and was remanded until next Saturday, during which time he will be confined to the Children's Shelter. He will be permitted to go to school during his stay in the Shelter, and when he comes up again on Saturday his conduct in the meantime will be taken into consideration by the magistrate. The offence was committed a week ago last Tuesday and the boy got into the house by knowing where the door key was hung on the verandah outside. He had a "high old time" with the money and spent it all. He rented bicycles, bought ice cream and otherwise enjoyed the proceeds of the housebreaking. He also bought it is said, some electric light fixtures for chum. He was arrested by P. C. Stewart last night while coming out of the North Ward school.

"He was deliberate and cunning," remarked His Worship.

"I suppose he smokes cigarettes," he added.

"Well, I never saw him do that," said the boy's father.

"You'll make good the $15, will you not?" said the magistrate.

"Yes," said the father, "I've signed a paper to that effect."

MRS. ARCHIE PARKER SINGS IN BRANTFORD

The many musical and other friends of Mrs. Archie Parker, who heard her singing with delight while she was in Peterborough, will be pleased to learn that she is captivating Brantford with her smooth, round and beautiful voice. She took the principal role in an operetta recently produced in Brantford, and received many compliments, for the artistic presentation of her several numbers. It is stated that a peculiar incident befel. During the latter part of the operetta the lights went out and the excellent training and efficient rehearsal were exemplified by the fact that the singers continued without any interruption of the flow of melody. Mrs. Parker's many friends here, while greatly pleased to hear of the success in Brantford, are not surprised at it.
